M'CREA LIKELY TO LEAD PARTY

Minister of Mines Slated To Suceed If Ferguson Enters Federal Field.

CABINET CHANGES.

TORONTO, April 27.—Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines, is likely it is understood, to step into Premier Ferguson's shoes should the latter make the jump from Provincial power to the Federal field this year. Of late, considerable manipulation within the party field—all aiming at the selection of Mr. McCrea as Prime Minister in the event of Mr. Ferguson departing from the Ontario arena—is reported to have been made. In fact, the party is said to be pretty much agreed upon any future course of action.

The prospects of Mr. McCrea's elevation are much discussed these days in Parliamentary corridors, and they have given rise to rumors of changes in Cabinet personnel, which may become effective even before he "takes over"—if he does "take over." Coupled with retirement from the Ministry is the name of Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary. Rumor goes so far as to name Hon. W. H. Price, present Attorney-General, as Mr. Goldie's successor. If Col. Price drops his present office he is apt to take with him to the Provincial Secretary's Department, for purposes of enforcement, the new Liquor Control Act, in the fashioning of which he played such a prominent part.

The vacant Attorney-Generalship would then go, it is reported, to J. P. Moore, Conservative member for London North, whose probable rise to Ministerial rank was broadly hinted during the recent session of the Legislature.

SUNBURY, Pa., April 26.—A few minutes after he had been sentenced to death in the electric chair for murder, Leon C. Scovern dashed to freedom from the Northumberland County jail here yesterday, and a posse of more than a hundred was searching the valley for him last night.

The 19 year old slayer, during his confinement preceding the trial, had become somewhat of a trusty at the jail. As a result, when Judge Strouss pronounced sentence to-day the Warden, instead of placing Scovern in a steel death cell as is the custom, left him in the jail yard with other prisoners. They are believed to have aided him in his escape.

SUMMERS REFUSES CANADIAN BACKING

Prefers American Financing For Race With Young, He Says.

LOS ANGELES, April 27 (Canadian Press).—Byron Summers, Glendale swimmer, who three days ago chopped two hours and ten minutes from George Young's record of 15 hours 45 minutes for the crossing of the San Pedro Channel, announced to-day that he had refused an offer from Armand Vincent, Canadian sportsman, for backing in two races against Young in Canada. Summers said he preferred to have United States backing and was considering several other offers.

LABOR REFUSES TO CO-OPERATE IN FIXING TIME

Whips Won't Help Arrange When Union Bill Is To Be Discussed.

ARRANGE OPPOSITION.

Conservative Discipline Is Strong Enough To Ensure Part of Bill Passing.

LONDON, April 27 (United Press)—The decision of Labor whips not to co-operate with the Government whips in fixing a time-table for the reading of the Trade Unions Bill, shows the bitterness with which the fight over this legislation is going to be conducted.

Labor has decided to divide up sections of the bill for certain speakers, while many other Laborites will simultaneously tour the country in an attempt to stir up general opposition to the whole scheme.

Although many Conservatives are filled with misgivings, the discipline of the party is strong enough to maintain a common front and ensure passage of a measure, if only an amended measure, of the present bill.

VERMONT TRAIN VISITS TORONTO

Warm Welcome Given Governor Weeks and Party On Arrival.

Mayor Foster, representing the city, and Lieut. Governor Ross of Ontario attended the reception in honor of the visitors.

MOTORIST JAILED FOR NEGLIGENCE

Herbert Grauntley Goes To Prison For 18 Months For Accident.

BRANTFORD, Ont., April 27—Judge Hardy yesterday afternoon found Herbert Grauntley, Toronto motorist, guilty, and sentenced him to eighteen months imprisonment for wanton, furious and negligent driving here on March 18, as a result of which Miss Isobel Dutton had her foot so badly crushed that amputation of a part was necessary. Judge Hardy found that Grauntley was under the influence of liquor at the time his car caused the accident in which a street car was involved. In summing up his Honor said: "I am afraid that I must say it's pretty much the old story of the untold damage liquor will do to people. The accused is a young man in the prime of life and of previous good character, and it is for him most unfortunate. It is more unfortunate for the young lady, maimed for life. No amount of imprisonment can restore the damage. But I do feel that with the ever increasing number of accidents arising through carelessness, it is the duty of the court to find the accused guilty."

Students Impersonate Yorks, Deceiving Crowd

MELBOURNE, Australia, Apr. 27 (Canadian Press).—Two University youths dressed as the Duke and Duchess of York motored through the streets of Melbourne to-day and so successfully impersonated the royal visitors that the crowds were completely hoodwinked and cheered them vociferously.

The stunt was part of the "ragging" during the Duke's initiation into the Students' Association, after he had received the degree of Doctor of Laws. He good naturedly submitted to the hazing which included riding about in a shaky brougham, followed by a procession of cows, goats, and sheep.

The procession was headed by a banner declaring: "If the Duke cannot go to the country the country must come to him." This was in reference to the complaint that the official programme did not allow the royal visitors to see enough of the rural districts of Victoria. A mob of hilarious undergraduates during the initiation continually slapped the Duke on the back and referred to him as "the brother of our Horsey Prince." They also asked him to convey their kind regards to "The old man and the missus."

MUSICAL EPILOGUE.

Dainty Production Between Acts of Play at Knox Church.

A dainty musical epilogue in Japanese character, was given by seven young girls of Knox choir, Misses Morrison, Soper, Trotter, McCannan, Girard, Pollock and Hetherington, between the acts of the play presented last night in the lecture hall by the senior classes. Four numbers were given: 'Frolic,' 'Sisters' Trio,' 'Fan Song,' and 'Bride's Chorus;' the singing and actions were excellent, resulting from the training of R. J. Devey, who directed the numbers. The very pretty costumes and fans were kindly lent by Mrs. Devey, that worn by Miss Morrison being the costume worn at the 'Geisha' series of performances by Miss Hallahan (now Mrs. Dr. Ward, of New York) some sixten years ago.

Prices Move Irregular In Quiet Toronto Session

TORONTO, April 27 (Canadian Press).—Price movements were irregular and trading quiet on the market of the Toronto Stock Exchange today. The favorites were generally easier, while the sharp advance of seven points by King Edward Hotel to 48 was the strong feature. International Nickel was the leader in activity. Considerable liquidation near the close resulted in a loss of 3-8 to 58. Seagram was the next most active, and it too, sold down 3-8 to 24. Massey-Harris was active and firm at 36 1-4. Dominion Stores was in demand and sold up two points to 85. Brazilian weakened 1-2 to 139 3-4. Shredded Wheat was bought rapidly near the close and moved up 3 1-4 points to 69. Industrial Alcohol was steady at 28. The unlisted section was unusually active with heavy selling of Central Manitoba Gold featuring. The stock sold off to 1.45. Walker gained 1 1-4 to 46 1-2, G. and W. advanced 1 3-4 to 58 3-4, and British American Oil 3-8 to 27.

Strength At Liverpool Sends Chicago Prices Up

CHICAGO, April 27, Canadian Press. — Unexpected strength of Liverpool quotations gave an early upturn to-day to the wheat prices here. Indications pointed to good export business both in wheat and rye. Opening 1-4c to 3-4c up wheat held near to the initial range. Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer, corn starting at 1-8c to 3-8c advance but later reacting somewhat.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 134 1-8, July 131 1-8, corn, May 72, July 77 5-8. Oats, May 44 1-2, July 45 1-8.

General Trend Upward On Wall Street Market

NEW YORK, April 27.—(Canadian Press.)— Operators for the advance continued in control of the stock market to-day. Bangor and Aroostook touched a new high on the report that the road's quarterly earnings exceeded $8 a share. Broad demand for a number of railroad and industrial shares resulted in several notable advances, despite another violent decline in Pierce Arrow motor shares in reflection of the poor earnings statement. The preferred stock sank twelve points and the common went down to thirteen. Talk of recapitalization was again heard in connection with the jump in Case Threshing Machine and Commercial Solvents 'B,' which moved up 5 3-4, and 5 points respectively. Other noteworthy advances were Baldwin, Houston Oil and Warner Brothers Pictures, ranging from three to five points. The market began to ease off in the early afternoon on profit taking influenced by the resumption of pressure against the Oil shares, particularly Phillips Petroleum and Marland. General Asphalt was also heavy.

Standard Exchange Active But Prices Are Irregular

TORONTO, April 27. — Canadian Press. — Trading was active and the list broad, but prices were irregular on the Standard mining exchange to-day. McIntyre was the strong feature when it advanced 15c to 25.90. Noranda also scored a sharp advance, selling up 35c to 21.85. Towagamac was strong at 3.30, a gain of 25c. Kirkland Lake moved up 5 to .5; Lake Shore declined 5c to 19.00; Wright Hargreaves 3 to 11.02; Mining Corporation 5 to 3.50, and Premier 10c to $2. Teck-Hughes was up 8c to 7.03; and Central Manitoba Gold one to 1.44. Sylvanite dropped 15c to 3.65.

Escape Proof Prison Contains Tunnel Exit

JACKSON, Mich., April 27.—Three men escaped early yesterday from the new cell block at the State Prison here, and by so doing revealed that each of the 617 other prisoners in the block could have walked away as easily from the prison, which was not guarded on the outside, because it was said to be impervious to escape.

Built at a cost of about $500,000 the cell block was characterized as the "last word" in prison construction.

Each cell contains a lavatory, with hot and cold water, mirror, electric light and hot and cold air systems, and it developed yesterday a means by which any prisoner could crawl out of his cell and through a tunnel to freedom. Only the fact that the trio who escaped were unwilling to wait for general jail delivery prevented all the 620 prisoners from gaining freedom.

The electric light and mirror in each cell showed the way to liberty for the convicts. The light and mirror are fastened into the back of each cell with a steel plate held by four bolts. The plate can be removed from the back of the cell to permit replacing the light bulb, and it was through this aperture that the convicts made their way to freedom. They still are at liberty to-night.

GERMAN PAPER SCENTS REBUFF

Says Coolidge's Speech Was Refusal To Concur in British Policy.

ENDS ENTENTE GOSSIP.

BERLIN, April 27. (United Press.)—President Coolidge's speech at the United Press banquet in New York is interpreted by the Nationalist newspaper 'Boersen Zeitung' as a direct rebuff to the British for their Chinese policy.

"English diplomatts, attempting to establish a common policy with North America in China have now realized the futility of it all," said the newspaper.

"President Coolidge's remarks represent a clear-cut refusal addressed to London. North America is determined to maintain friendship with China. It also claims a special position in Central America. It dares to take a view which goes far beyond the Munroe doctrine. This also settles gossip regarding a permanent entente between North America, England and Franc."

HEADACHES

Modern science has proved that headaches don't "just happen." They have a cause. The ache is but an effect, and treating effects will do no real good. TO ADJUST THE CAUSE IS THE ONLY SOLUTION. Chiropractic has further proved that the cause is interference with the nerves that carry vital force or mental impulse, which is the source of all life within the body. The only place where such interference by bony structure can exist is where the nerves leave the spinal column through openings between the vertebrae. Headaches may be

DIRECT OR ADAPTATIVE

That is, they may be due directly to pressure upon nerve fibres which supply the tissues of the head and brain or they may be adaptative to abnormalities in other organs of the body. In either case the Chiropractor determines the location of the nerve pressure which is responsible for the headache. He releases this pressure and the ache disappears. This is not theory or a fanciful idea, but actual fact, a grand reality which has brought and is NOW bringing relief to numerous sufferers.

IS BLOCKADE TO PLANS ON DISARMAMENT

APPROACH LEAGUE.

Workers Report Anti-British Sentiment Strong in Union.

LONDON, April 28.—The obvious determination of the Union of Soviet Republics to create an effective fighting machine is causing no little apprehension here amongst those interested in preserving the peace of Europe and insuring future disarmament.

While it is argued in some quarters that at present the union has not sufficient money to build a great force ,the menace undoubtedly exists and keeps the countries bordering on Russia in a state of continual uneasiness.

This, according to observers, is preventing the adoption of any real disarmament plan in Europe, and there is a movement in London to approach the League of Nations with a view to ascertaining whether or not the Russians are willing to participate in some general scheme for the reduction of armaments.

Relations Strained.

Meanwhile, reports from British workers who have returned from the Reds' country, where they have been building electrical power stations, said the relations between Great Britain and Russia are very strained. Sir Austen Chamberlain's recent note to Moscow regarding Red agitators, was made the pretext for a number of mass meetings in factories and workshops ,where hatred for Britain was expressed because of the belief that she had designs on the collapse of the Soviet administration.

The British workers were uneasy amid these manifestations of hostility, and when they did leave with their work completed, they left very hurriedly, a red sentry firing a shot after them when they crossed the frontier.

Definite Antagonism.

Apparently the Soviets have created a definite and general antagonism against Britain as their greatest enemy, especially as the setbacks to their policy in China are attributed directly to her.

The Liberal party here, however, and naturally the Laborites, desire an understanding with Russia, so as to be able to bring her within the disarmament orbit, but it is the opinion of government officials that until she experiences a change of heart toward Britain no progress can possibly be made in this direction.

On the other hand Mr Auger categorically denies ever having suffered from the disease for which Dr. MacGregor gave the treatments.

FIRST FREIGHT FOR NEW SHED

'Live Stock' From Lindsay Delivered By Superintendents To Local Station.

FORMAL OPENING.

To the lilting strains of 'Where do you work-a John?" from Doug Widdess' "Merry Makers'" orchestra, the first truck load of freight was delivered in the new freight shed of the Canadian National Railway last night. The truck was in charge of "Conductor" R. H. Fish, General Superintendent Southern Ontario Division, C.N.R., and the "push a da push" was Dan McMillan, the jovial superintendent of the C.N.R. at Belleville. The lading consisted of live stock ,and was checked off to the local agent, Alpine MacNab, as Mrs. R. E. Orr and Miss Edwards of Lindsay. These were delivered in good order and condition. There were also some "dead heads" on the truck, as is usual on all railways, and these were delivered as "free—astray; regular billing to follow."

The community dance put on by the Peterboro Rotary Club last night to open the new freight shed, corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets was voted by the many hundreds of dancers and others in attendance as the "biggest and best" ever put on in Peterboro.

Sir Henry Thornton wired his greetings for the occasion, and there was also a letter from Major F. L. C. Bond of Montreal, former General Superintendent of this division.

Major Bond had taken a strong interest in the securing of this new building for Peterboro, while he was in charge of this territory, and turned the project over to his successor, Mr. Fish, who had seen the work carried to a successful finish.

"Committee Chairman, Rotary Club, Peterborough:

"Your letter 22nd received. Much regret must be in Moncton, N.B., today, and therefore unable to accept your invitation. Send greetings and best wishes to those present at tonight's dance."

From Major F. L. C. Bond came the following letter, addressed to G. McClelland, committee chairman, Rotary Club, Peterborough:

"Dear Mr. McClelland: I very much appreciate the kind invitation from the officers and members of the Peterborough Rotary Club to attend the function and community dance at Peterborough on Wednesday, April 27th; and it would have afforded me very great pleasure to have another opportunity of calling upon our clients in company with Mr. McMillan and Mr. MacNab, as these gentlemen have been so active in looking after the service which we owe to our patrons. I would also appreciate the opportunity of renewing many old and valued friendships.

"Unfortunately I will have to forego the pleasure on this occasion, but I sincerely wish you a delightful evening, which this function is sure to prove under the able direction of the Rotary Club of Peterborough."

KNIGHTON PAYS SUPREME PENALTY

Coroner Says Strong Feeling Growing To Abolish Death Sentence.

LONDON, April 28. Canadian Press —William Knighton, miner, was duly hanged at Nottingham yesterday for the murder of his mother, the Home Secretary having declined to intervene. Knighton was sentenced at the Derbyshire assizes, and then lost an appeal. His execution was cancelled and the case was sent by the home office to the appeal court but the court again refused to reverse the decision, setting the execution for yesterday.

"I don't know whether this kind of thing is likely to continue much longer," observed the coroner when the customary verdict of death had been returned. "The death sentence does not seem to be any deterrent. There is a strong feeling growing up for abolishing the death penalty. I don't know if we shall see it, but I think it is coming."

ONTARIO FIRMS NOT PROVINCIAL SAYS CHAIRMAN

M. P. White Tells Manufacturers' Association Outlook Must Be Wide.

SUPPORT OTHER PARTS.

Speaker Finds Greater Tendency To Buy Goods Produced in Canada.

TORONTO, April 28 (Canadian Press)—Ontario manufacturers could not be provincial in their outlook, Melville P. White, retiring Chairman of the Ontario branch, Canadian Manufacturers' Association, told the members of that organization at their annual meeting here today. More than half of Canada's industrial capital was invested in Ontario, said Mr. White, but most of the Ontario industry extended its marketing far beyond this province. Manufacturers should keep under observation conditions in other parts of Canada, he said, and give support to all reasonable measures designed to advance the welfare of people in other provinces.

Mr. White strongly advocated measures of economical operation and conservation of resources. He believed there was a more pronounced disposition than formerly, on the part of the Canadian public, to buy produced in Canada goods. He referred particularly to developments of Northern Ontario and the contracts recently entered into for the cutting of pulpwood and the manufacturing of wood produc within the province. The North Country, he said, was a market for machinery, materials, and food products of upwards of $50,000,000 per annum.

SPRUCE TREES AS WIND BREAK

K. G. Lech Plants 200 on Vacant Lot North of Home.

GOVERNMENT TREES.

K. G. Lech, secretary-treasurer of the William Lech and Sons, Ltd., of 788 Aylmer street, has taken advantage of the offer of the Ontario Forestry Department and set out 200 Norway spruce trees on the vacant lots at the corner of Wolsley and Aylmer streets.

It is the intention of Mr. Lech to make a wind-break out of these trees. At present they are set out in rows and they will remain in this position for at least two years, when they will be transplanted to the sides of the lot.

Trees are supplied free by the government as part of the reforestration policy. They will be inspected by government inspectors regularly and in a few years Mr. Lech hopes to have a fine wind-break.

Mr. Lech first had the land well fertlized and then ploughed. This venture of his will be watched closely by many citizens who are interested in securing trees for wind-breaks and reforestration.

NO BOLSHEVISM SAYS GOVERNOR

Sir Cecil Clementi Says He Will Have None in Hong Kong.

HONG KONG, April 28. —(Canadian Press.)—Sir Cecil Clementi, Governor of Hong Kong, to-day told the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce that his government was determined to "have no bolshevism in the colony."

Discussing action of the Chinese inhabitants of other foreign settlements or concessions in setting up local governments of their own, Sir Cecil declared:

"We shall certainly not allow any government existing within a government to be formed here by an armed violent proletariat as has been unfortunately the case in Canton, Hankow and other Chinese cities."

Sir Cecil said he did not believe the day of British influence in China was drawing to a close. On the contrary he believed that when the spasm of madness now convulsing China is spent, Great Britain and the colony of Hong Kong will be recognized throughout the eighteen provinces as the most potent, most beneficient and congenial co-adjutators of the Chinese people of the era of renaissance.

Plans To Bridge Atlantic Ocean In Fifty Hours In All Steel Submarine-Like Boat, Half Submerged

ROME, April 28.—Plans to bridge the ocean between Europe and America in fifty hours in a semi-submersible boat were announced yesterday after a long interview with Premier Mussolini by an Italian engineer, Ettore Bugatti, maker of a racing motor car which last year hung up speed records. The attempt, Bugatti said, will be made at the end of this year. The boat, a cigar-shaped, all-steel craft of his invention, is now being built at a factory in Lorraine, France.

Signor Bugatti refused to divulge the technical details of his new ship, beyond saying it would be about eighty-two feet long and ten in diameter. It travels half submerged, being supplied with large tubes in the upper part, through which air is drawn into the interior. Its engines develop 2,400 horsepower. The boat carries eight passengers. It is designed to travel at a speed of sixty-two miles an hour and can carry enough fuel for sixty hours.

Signor Bugatti's interview with Premier Mussolini dealt chiefly with the possibility of opening a factory in Italy for the construction of his motor car. After the interview the inventor announced that he would soon open a branch factory in Rome.

Customs Board Investigating Affairs of British American Brewing Company.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 28 (Canadian Press).—W. R. Bond, Vice-President of the British American Brewing Company, Limited, of Windsor, came a definite statement to the Roval Customs Commission yesterday that he had paid J. U. Piche, sub-collector of customs at Sandwich $100 a month over perhaps a year. The payments were made in consideration of the fact that Mr. Piche was required to be on duty from seven in the morning until six at night to clear liquor export shipments for the company, said Mr. Bond.

He undestood, Mr. Bond informed the Commission, that railways and other large companies paid their employees overtime, so he considered it only fair to offer to do the same for Mr. Piche. The financial arrangement which was entered into between him and the customs officer in 1923 was stopped, after some time, by order of an inspector of customs who visited the port and found out about it.

The revelations in regard to the payments came during the inquiry into the affairs of the British American Brewing Company. This firm has been investigated by Customs Commission auditors, and A. E. Nash, who is in charge of the audit took the stand. He estimated that the Customs Department had a claim against this company for sales and gallonage taxes up to April 31 of the present year amounting to approximately $312,000. This included sales taxes on export shipments of beer as well as on domestic shipments. As to whether the former are subject to sales tax is now the subject of litigation between the breweries and the Customs Department.

"Do you remember an investigation by an officer of the Customs Department in reference to payments with respect to which you gave certain explanations?" Mr. Rowell asked Mr. Bond, when the British American Vice-President was on the stand.

"Yes," was the reply.

"You have knowledge of payments made by your company to a customs official?"

"Yes."

"For how long had the payments been going on?"

"I don't know. It might have been a year."

Mr. Rowell stated that the investigation had taken place in the summer of 1923.

"I hesitate to name the official unless he is in the room," said counsel, looking round the court.

"Is he still a customs official?" queried the Chief Commissioner.

Mr. Rowell asked the assistant to call the sub-collector at Sandwich Mr. Piche was called, came in and took a seat in the courtroom.

"What was the arrangement you made?" Mr. Rowell then asked Mr. Bond.

"He was to get $100 a month."

"Who was the money paid to?"

"Mr. Piche."

"The sub-collector at Sandwich?"

"Yes."

Mr. Bond explained that the brewing company required clearances for boats carrying liquor from seven in the morning until six in the evening. Mr. Piche's hours, he understood, were from nine until four. Therefore he had told the customs official he would give him $100 a month for issuing clearances and doing other necessary work connected with the boats after and before these hours. "It was understood that he was to commit no infractions of the regulations," added the witness.

When the inspector objected to the payments, they were stopped."

Mr. Rowell left the payments for the time being, but Mr. Piche will probably be asked about them later.

Mr. Bond stated that the British American Brewing Company is practically a family affair of which L. A. Irion is President; R. E. Irion is Secretary-Treasurer, and he, the witness, Vice-President. The Secre-

SAW GRAY ON BUS NIGHT OF MURDER

Stood Watching Patrolman in Target Practice, Says Passenger.

NEW YORK, April 28—Nathaniel Willis of Queens Village testified at the Snyder murder trial yesterday that a few hours after the killing of Albert Snyder he saw Henry Judd Gray take a bus for New York.

He said he saw him waiting for the bus and watching a policeman shooting at a sign "for practice."

Gray, who with Snyder's widow is charged with the murder, was said to have boarded the bus with Willis.

This was the first direct testimony tending to prove that Gray was in Queens Village on that day. Both Gray's and Mrs. Snyder's confession say he was there but they have been repudiated.

The patrolman, Charles M. Smith, corroborated Willis' testimony and identified Gray as a man who watched him shooting at a sign and then court was adjourned.

The first real circus, aside from the game of the ancient Romans, was the show started by Philip Astley in London in 1770.

PEOPLE LEAVE DANGER AREAS OF LOUISIANA

Trek From Parishes About To Be Flooded, Resembles War Times.

PLANS STILL SECRET.

Engineers Fear Farmers Who Patrol Levee Will Cause Trouble.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 28. —(Canadian Press.)—Five thousand residents of St. Bernard and Plaquemine parishes in Louisiana were abandoning their homes to-day and carrying all their portable possessions to New Orleans under the menace of the Mississippi flood. The scenes along the dusty highways leading to nowhere, as men, women and children were trudging behind every kind of wheeled conveyance, were strikingly similar to those enacted thirteen years ago when the civilian populations of France and Belgium fled before the advancing hostile armies.

A great crevasse, designed to sacrifice two parishes in an attempt to save New Orleans from flood waters, will be created at noon to-morrow in a manner as yet undesignated by engineers, who feared that revelations of their plans might arouse troublesome resistance. Many farmers and trappers patrolled the levee with the avowed intention of opposing any move to break it, despite the assurance of city and state officials that complete reimbursements would be made for all damages.

Four Miners Killed By Explosion Of Gas

WILKES BARRE, Pa., April 28. —Four men were killed at the Trusedale colliery of the Glen Alden Coal Company at Nanticoke yesterday, when they were caught by an explosion of gas.

An official check-up made in the afternoon says that none was injured. Two of the men were married and two were single.

ICE ENGINEER EXPLAINS WORK

Dr. H. T. Barnes Tells How Thermite Breaks Up Floes.

TO PREVENT FLOODS.

Development of the science of ice engineering, which is the practical results of over 30 years studying of the physics of ice, is the work of Dr. Howard T. Barnes of McGill University, who is in the city to-day.

Dr. Barnes will deliver his address on 'Ice Engineering" at the meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada tonight in the Board room of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Barnes told the Examiner this afternoon that ice engineering had to do with the control of ice, the prevention of ice, and the relieving of the accumulation of ice which causes floods.

The control of ice means treating ice formations with chemicals like thermite and calcium chloride ,solution that the disintegration and movement of this ice can be made to conform to regular and definite ways at will.

Ice Prevention.

Prevention of ice means the introduction of methods by which the water is kept free of ice formation over definite areas. This may be accomplished by utilizing artificial heating methods or by chemicals to destroy the ice forming power of the water.

These methods have been very successful, said Dr. Barnes, and will be used more in the future as soon as the wonderful possibilities are better known. Icebergs have been destroyed and Dr. Barnes predicted that in a few years the St. Lawrence River would be open the year around as far as Montreal. Last winter Dr. Barnes was engaged by the city of Belleville, and the result was that the Moira River, which used to cause a large amount of damage during the spring flood, rose only eight inches this spring.

How It Works.

Dr. Barnes said that thermite was a mixture of metallic aluminum and iron oxide, which was non-explosive and non-poisonous. The thermite is enclosed in a metal container, which is set on the ice. The top of the container is ignited by an electric current causing a temperature of 2800 degrees F. The aluminum commences to burn, using the oxygen of the iron. The complete charge turns into a mass of molten superheated steel and aluminum oxide slag in about eight seconds at a temperature of 5000 degrees, or twice as hot as a blast furnace. The very high temperature rapidly melts the container and the intense heat rushes int the ice, converting the molocules into oxygen and hydrogen gas.

Sydney More Americanized By Movies Than Melbourne

SYDNEY, N.S., April 28 (United Press).—Giving evidence before the Commonwealth Movie Inquiry, W. A. Gibson, one of the most prominent figures in the Australian moving picture industry, declared that Australians were becoming more Americanized in Sydney than in Melbourne. "But I don't think," he added, "that it will do any harm. Americans are pretty live people and carry on business along the right lines."

This declaration was made when the chairman asked Mr. Gibson whether he thought American movies were Americanizing Australians. In the opinion of the witness, there are influences other than the movies.

CONFERENCE ON BORDER RULING

When Policy of U. S. Has Been Formulated By Departments.

DETROIT PROTESTS.

DETROIT, April 28. Canadian Press. — The new immigration regulations which would levy a head tax on Canadian occupational immigration, will be protested by Detroit business and industrial leaders, according to Louis J. Flint, director of the Detroit Board of Commerce.

Flint said he would attempt to discuss the matter with James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, in Washington, next week.

TO FORM POLICY.

WASHINGTON, April 28. — Canadian Press. — Frank B. Kellogg, Sec. of State, has taken up with the Labor Department the request of the Canadian Government for a joint conference on immigration regulations affecting the movement of Canadian citizens across the border to work in the United States cities close to the international line.

Acceptance of the Canadian suggestion for a joint conference is foreshadowed, but formal communication may be delayed for a few days to await the preliminary exchange of views and the formulation of the United States' policy between the State and Labor departments. The regulations issued by the Labor Department, placing some restriction upon Canadians, who cross daily back and forth into the United States, where they are employed, were made effective six months after their promulgation a week ago.

POULTRY FARM NORTH OF CITY

W. A. Young Starting Up-To-Date Ranch Near Jackson Park.

INVITES INSPECTION.

Chicken ranching is becoming popular in the outlying districts of Peterborough. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Young, of Montreal, are recent additions to the colony, and have purchased the Mosley property, between Jackson Park and the Chemong road. Mr. Young has recently been connected with Price Brothers as a construction engineer and has been travelling all over Ontario for that company.

The Youngs intend to make the house into a real modern home and are fitting it up with electric lighting and up-to-date plumbing. There are five acres of land on which Mr. Young is intending to plant vegetables which will be for sale in the summer. His first shipment of fowl will be in at the first of the week which will run about four hundred chickens. The poultry house that is erected will accomodate one thousand.

As soon as everything is in running order, Mr. Young extends a cordial invitation to the public to come out and visit his ranch.

Mean Miscreant Makes Off With Children's Pet Pup

Another candidate has been found for the title of the "World's Meanest Man."

One of the dogs which were offered for sale by the Humane Society on their tag day was bought by a good friend for two little kiddies whose father died as a result of war injuries.

The other day the children brought their new friend down into the business section of the city to buy a collar. When they were returning home a man followed them as far as Hunter street bridge and there, while no one was watching, took the little dog from the children and made off with it.

The two little tots returned home heart broken as they had thought a lot of their dog. The pup or the miscreant have not been seen since but if he is ever caught he will be made to answer for his villainous act.

BRITISH SHIP RETURNS FIRE OF CANTONESE

Attacks By Cantonese on Foreign Warships Continues on Yangste.

ARMIES ON MOVE.

Despatch Reports Cantonese Mint at Hankow Afire.

LONDON, April 28 (United Press). —Fighting between foreign sailors aboard Yangtse River warships and Chinese ashore continued yesterday, the Admiralty announced in a communique. The latest foreign vessel fired on was H.M.S. Cockchafer. The incident occurred near Chinkiang, and the vessel returned the fire with six-inch guns.

Navy Heads Meet.

Earl Beatty and Sir Hugh Trenchard, active heads of the navy and air service, respectively, met with the Cabinet yesterday to discuss the China situation.

Signs of military activity in the neighborhood of Hankow and Wuchange were reported by official British despatches from Shanghai. Trenches were dug behind the native city of Hankow and at Hanyang, and field guns were moved into selected positions. It was reported the admiralty despatch said that Nationalist troops had refused to fight on the Honan front.

Report Mint Afire.

LONDON, April 28.—An Exchange Telegraph despatch from Hong Kong yesterday reported receipt of a message saying the Chinese Government (Cantonese) mint at Canton was ablaze. Arson was suspected, the message added, and Tai Chuk-Man, described as leader of the Reds, had been arrested.

Armies on Move.

SHANGHAI, April 28.—(Associated Press). — Several armies of varying size are moving in different sections of China. What were supposed to be Northern troops to the number of 80,000 in the neighborhood of Wuhu, up the Yangtse River from Nanking, are not Northerners but contingents of the second, fourth, seventh, eighth, thirty-seventh and fortieth divisions of the Nationalists, heretofore regarded as neutral or uncertain as between the Hankow and Nanking Governments. Most of these troops are proceeding down the river to Nanking, but it has not been determined whether they are on their way to join or attack Chiang Kai Shek, commander of the moderate section of the Cantonese.

Chiang has issued a last call on Hankow, urging those in favor of the Nanking Government to join him without delay, and developments are being watched closely by both sides.

Canton Independent.

Four columns of Nationalists are on their way to Canton, which recently declared its independence of both the Hankow and Nanking governments. In this connection advices from Kiukiang, Kiangsi Province, say that 5,000 troops arrived there the last two days and more are en route from the upper river points. These troops are considered favorable to General Chiang.

Supporters of Marshal Sun Chuan Fang, once overlord of five provinces in Central China, are encamped in large numbers around Yangchow, but the situation there is uncertain. Negotiations are apparently continuing regarding the surrender of Sun Chuan to General Chiang. In the meantime troops are on the move from Nanking in the direction of Chinkiang, ready to advance across the river on Yangchow, if Sun Chuan fails to surrender.

Nothing has been heard for two days of General Chiang's western army which was reported to be advancing on Sunchowfu from Linhwaikwan, Anhwei Province. Considerable forces are also on the move in Honan.

Cemetery Desecrated.

The North China Daily News published a despatch from Kiukiang that the foreign cemetery there has been desecrated by Nationalist troops. Tombstones were pushed over and broken and much marble was stolen. From Hankow comes word of continued tension and a state of agitation owing to the radical campaign in that city. A great fleet of foreign warships is lying off Hankow ready for trouble which is continually being predicted.

The Nationalist leaders aver that because of the orders promulgated by General Chiang the situation is well in hand, as much under control as possible in the midst of a civil war in which foreign elements are participating. Nationalist troops have been stationed at the more important points to prevent May Day outbreaks, and foreign residents are taking every precaution to protect themselves and their property.

CAMPBELLFORD AND MILLBROOK STUDENTS IN ORATORY FINAL

Will Meet In District Competition at Cobourg Collegiate.

ON FRIDAY EVENING.

A. L. Riendeau Heavy Buyer of Pelts This Season.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 28.—The good wishes of the people of Campbellford and especially of the staff and students of the High school will be with Miss Margery Ackerman in the district oratorical final competition at Cobourg on Friday night. The eloquent Miss Ackerman is Campbellford High School's entry and hope in this eliminatory contest. She won the preliminary engagement in her own school and is pitted against five others on Friday night. The competitors for the district honors and the schools they represent are as follows:—Verne Trewin of Blackstoc; Merill Ferguson of Bowmanville; Margery Ackerman of Campbellford; Birnie Hodgetts of Cobourg; Jean Fairbairn of Millbrook and Hazey de Guerre of Oshawa.

The subject of each oration must be "Canada's Diamond Jubilee; Her Achievements Since Confederation." The rules require that the orations must be delivered, not read. The matter and its arrangement, diction, delivery, poise, manner, will all be considered by the judges in making their decision. The winner of this district will presently meet the winners of other districts, and the competition proceeds on the basis of the survival of the fittest or rather the most forensic until the Dominion champion is declared. From that stage the affair takes on an international color, but meanwhile, it is understood, prizes are available for certain winners.

Miss Ackerman won high compliments in her local victory, and all her friends will be supporting her in spirit tomorrow night.

Bought Many Pelts.

Totalling his purchases of muskrat skins, Mr. A. L. Riendeau ascertained that he had bought more than 8,500 pelts this season. He believes he paid the highest price in the district at $2.75 when other buyers were twenty and twenty-five cents below his figure. All the skins were brought to his store without the services of any traveling buyer, and trappers came all the way from Brighton, Marmora and Madoc. Mr. Riendeau is confident he made a very favorable impression on the trappers and next year expects to buy more heavily than ever. The largest sum paid to any one trapper was $904.10, and many received $300 and $400 for their month's work.

Building Steel Boat.

Harold Spencer has completed the hull of a 20-foot steel cabin-motorboat in his welding shop at the corner of Bridge and Rear streets. The steel plates or sheets have been shaped and welded together, and the next stage is the addition of the wood work on the lines of the cabin model Mr. Spencer made. He plans to have his craft on the river in a few weeks.

FIRE DEMONSTRATION.

Lakefield Brigade To Show New Addition To Its Equipment.

LAKEFIELD, April 28.—A demonstration will be given at the Fire Hall at 7 o'clock this evening of the Phomene extinguisher, which is especially for gas or oil fires. The village has purchased one of these, and the public is invited to see the demonstration.

The need of such an apparatus was felt at the blaze of the tar barrels at the Rink in October last. This increases the equipment and consequently the efficiency of the brigade.

WEATHER CAUSES SPLENDID GROWTH

BURNBRAE, April 28.—During the early part of last week growth was very rapid in this district, both clover and wheat making great strides. The warm, cloudy atmosphere seemed to undo the evil effects of the previous frosts and little evidence of winter-killing was observed except in the case of second-year alfalfa, which is practically a total loss. The last few days, however, have been very cold, with quite heavy frost, and crops will be set back considerably.

The spring seeding goes on rapidly and the land is drying well, with very little rain. Due to the cold there will be practically no germination of seed, but farmers are getting it into the soil so that it will be there for warm weather.

Cheese factories are running again but are having difficulty getting enough milk as the high price of cream is attracting many patrons to the creamery.

Mr. Stanley Nelson has rented the farm of Mr. John Little in 6th Concession. Mr. Little has sold his dairy herd, but will continue to reside on the farm.

The figures last announced in the Zion League contest show the Whites in the lead with 28 points over their nearest rivals, the Khakis. The Reds and Blues are some distance behind. That the plan of giving points for church attendance is proving satisfactory was evident at the last meeting, when only two of those present had not been in attendance at church on the previous Sunday.

MOONSHINERS OPPOSE ORDER FOR BREAKING RIVER LEVEES; MAY MEAN CALLING ON TROOPS

Will Fight To Defend Homes Unless Paid in Advance.

TREK STARTED.

Army of 50,000 Fighting To Save Southland From Inundations.

NEW ORLEANS, April 28 — The State of Louisiana yesterday prepared for war to avert armed conflict in the flood region.

Bloodshed was regarded as a possible outcome of the order of Gov. Simpson to the State Board of Levee Engineers to dynamite the dykes on the eastern side of the Mississippi river in St. Bernard Parish, below New Orleans, to save this city from flood.

Residents of the parish—many of them feud-fighting swamp dwellers, have openly announced that they will fight to defend their homes—unless they are paid cash in advance to permit the yellow waters of the river to sweep unchecked over the farms and swamps and homesites of their district.

In reply, Gov. Simpson ordered the entire State National Guard to mobilize for active service.

Never Compensated

The slow trek of residents had started yesterday. Some grumbled against the evacuation order, protesting they would receive no compensation for the property destroyed. Others were fleeing hurriedly, making the best of the acute situation.

Five years ago the levees were opened in about the same spot. Farmers were forced to evacuate and they complained they did not receive anything for the property destroyed in the necessary inundation of their territory. Several volunteers carrying shotguns to-day were reported patrolling the levees in an attempt to forestall the dynamiting. Thus far, however, there has been no concerted opposition.

Divert the Flood.

Engineers believe that if the levee is dynamited south of New Orleans on Friday, permitting the flood waters to spread across the St. Bernard parish to Lake Borgne and thence to the Gulf of Mexico, the tremendous pressure of the water swirling down from the upper reaches of the river will be relieved and New Orleans will be saved from millions of dollars in property damage.

St. Bernard Parish is a sparsely settled region. A thin strip of rich land along the Mississippi is cultivated but the rest of the parish is largely swamp and lake and the chief industries are trapping and moonshining. Prohibition agents and deputy sheriffs who have gone into the parish after offenders against the law know what a life is worth on the dismal islands in the swamps.

New Orleans citizens have offered to pay all the losses sustained by the parish. An immediate relief fund of $150,000 and compensation for damage when assessments can be made after the flood goes down were proposed.

Have Grave Fears.

VICKSBURG, Miss., April 28. — An army of 50,000 was fighting yesterday to save the southland from inundation.

Along the slopes of the Mississippi river, which in many places has broken its bounds, workmen patrolled the levees attempting to stop any new leaks.

"We are leaving nothing undone," Charles H. West, senior member of the Mississippi River Commission, said. "We have 50,000 men working on the levees. But we fear when the great force of the river hits."

West is afraid that many sections of river bottom land can not be saved, despite the precautions taken by the government, state, and relief organizations.

From throughout the territory came word of distress yesterday.

Disease has taken hold in several communities it was reported.

Chief fears expressed here were that the Mississippi and Red Rivers would combine to send destruction to new fields. The flood is not expected to hit that southern section for three days. But more than 200,000 people in Louisiana might be forced from their homes, it was said.

REFUSE APPEAL.

Second Trial Denied Port Essington Indian Sentenced To Hang.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 28. Canadian Press.—The appeal of Joseph Sankey, Port Essington Indian, who was found guilty, and sentenced to hang on May 25th, for the murder of Miss Loretta Chisholm, the young school teacher, last May, was refused this afternoon.

Counsel for the condemned man sought a new trial on the ground that new evidence favorable to the prisoner had been revealed, and that the trial judge admitted evidence which should have been excluded.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

I LOVE THE PINE

I love the pine
For all its quiet greenness,
Set like a sign
Above life's hate and meanness;
I love it for
Its fring along the shore
That welcomes home
Wayfaring ships that wander,
From storm and foam
An islands over yonder;
I love the tree
That, far from wave and sea,
A signal still
Upon the hill,
Calls home some truant son
When day is done.

I love the pine
I would that men were like it:
The winters whine
Around the lightnings strike it
It wears the scars
Of all the autumn gales;
Yet what avails?—
It frolics with the stars,
And every field
And forest is its minion
Because it did not yield
To their opinion.
I love the pine
Because through all life's weather
Though rain and shine
Through cold and hot
It cared not whether
I loved the pine or not.

OLD MASTERS

I will arise and go now, and go to Innisfree,
And a small cabin build there, of clay and wattles made.
Nine bean rows will I hav there, a hive for the honey bee,
And live alone in the bee-loud glade.

And I shall have some peace there, for peace comes dropping slow.
Dropping from the veils of the morning to where the cricket sings;
There midnight's all a glimmer, and noon a purple glow,
And evening full of the linnet's wings.

I will arise and go now, for always, night and day.
I hear lake-water lapping with low sounds by the shore;
While I stand on the roadway, or on the pavements gray,
I hear it in the deep heart's core.

—William Butler Yeats: "The Lake Isle of Innisfree."

Y.P.U. MEMBERS HEAR MISSIONARY

Rev. Howard Veals Addresses Omemee United Church Branch.

The weekly meeting of the Young People's Union was of special interest on Monday evening, when the Rev. Howard Veals, a recently returned missionary from China, addressed the gathering. The missionary appeared in a typical Chinese costume of the better class, and his address was illustrated by lantern slides, which showed many incidents in Chinese life, and costumes. Among the pictures was the means of transportation of live hogs to market, namely, on a wheelbarrow, they having been bound on their backs to the barrow.

A group of Buddhist priests was shown. In order to become a priest, one must suffer the torture of having nine candles burned down into his scalp. If able to endure this torture he is considered fit to be ordained into the priesthood. Among other slides shown are splendid river scenes, the city gate of Chengtu, memorial arches on the highways, and professional beggars, who are yet allowed to practise in all the large cities. At the conclusion of this interesting address Mr. Veals sang a verse of "More Love to Thee" in the Chinese language. "We know very little of the people in Western China. There are many evils, which must be overcome, and we hope that the gospel which we are trying to take to them will do away with many of these. We must bring them face to face with Jesus Christ and other conditions will rightify themselves," he said.

Miss Rita Kennedy had charge of the meeting, assisted by Miss Jessie Lamb in the reading of the Scripture. Mr. Wilbert Clemett rendered a pleasing number and was forced by applause to render an encore.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Miss Lila Parsons, seconded by Mr. Sandy, for the splendid entertainment provided by Mr. Veals. Mr. Sandy in a few words, while referring to the work among the Chinese, said that while many there are in this community who do not attend church or have never even adopted the principle, yet they must have no doubt felt the influences.

Approve His Refusal To Attend Bull Fight

NEW YORK, April 28. — Canadian Pres. — The Prince of Wales was congratulated on Tuesday by the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in a cablegram sent to the British embassy at Madrid, because the Prince refused to attend a bull fight which had been arranged in his honor.

"Your disapproval of a cruel sport shows your own fine spirit of humaneness," the message read.

GIRL FOUND TO BE SUICIDE

Letter Shows Girl at Fort Francis Took Her Own Life.

WAS DESPONDENT.

TORONTO, April 28.—"If I don't see you tonight I shall say goodbye to life, hope and happiness." This tragic sentence taken from an unfinished letter found in the purse of dead Mary Pickard shows that this girl, who was found frozen in a snowbank at Fort Frances, took her own life.

The official statement of the attorney-general's department was issued yesterday. Behind the official report there seems to loom a tragedy of love. The report follows:

On March 26, 1927, some children playing in the bush about two miles west of Fort Frances, found the dead body of a woman lying in the snow a few yards off the roadway. The body was frozen solid, but according to medical testimony had evidently thawed and frozen alternately indicating that the body had been there for a month or more.

A purse containing letters and thirteen dollars in cash was found in the fur coat, the letters indicated that the body was that of Mary M. Pickard, Marysville, N.B., and a reply to a wire sent to that address confirmed this.

On April 2, 1927, other boys found in a pool water about 20 yards from where the body was found, a pair of women's shoes, two towels, and a bottle of lysol.

With the exception of the fur coat which was lying by the body, the clothing was all very light, with no shoes on the body, and overshoes on over silk stockings.

Enquiries show that Miss Pickard left the hospital at Melrose, Mass., where she had been in training in the summer of 1926. She was in North Bay in October, 1926, and arrived at Winnipeg at the latter end of October, 1926. She obtained employment at the T. Eaton Company in Winnipeg. She left the above company on January 10, 1927, and took a train to Fort Frances on January 11th.

All information points to the deceased being in a very unsettled and despondent state of mind during her stay in Winnipeg.

In an unfinished letter found in her purse is the sentence, "If I don't see you tonight I shall say goodby to life, hope, and happiness."

From the autopsy it appears quite certain that she had not met any violence and apart from the analysis of the stomach contents which has not yet been received, there is nothing to prove that she did not die from exposure.

The inquest is standing adjourned awaiting the report from the analyst regarding the stomach contents.

WEDDING BELLS.

PLATT—VIPOND.

LAKEFIELD, April 28.—A wedding which possesses a considerable amount of local interest, as the bride is well-known in the village, took place recently, being recorded as follows:

"Owing to the indisposition of the mother of the bridegroom, the marriage was solemnized very quietly in St. Thomas' Church, Belleville, on Tuesday of Miss Pauline, Vipond youngest daughter of the Rev. Frank Vipond of Streetsville, and Dr. G. A. Platt, son of the late Dr. J. M. Platt, M.P., and Mrs. Platt of Picton. The Rev. John Lyons, rector of St. Thomas', officiated. The bride was given away by her father, and attended by her only surviving sister, Miss Dorothy Vipond of Toronto. Dr. Platt served overseas in No. 7 General Hospital with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel."

MRS. JOHANNA WOODBECK.

APSLEY, April 28. — Another old pioneer of this district in the person of Mrs. Johanna Woodbeck, passed away early on Monday morning, at the advanced age of 87 years. Mrs. Woodbeck was noted for her wonderful powers of endurance and capable management of the homestead, which she has run, with the help of a hired man, since her husband died 30 years ago. Her faculties were unimpaired, and she was active in her duties to within a few days of her death. She leaves four sons, Albert of Havelock; George Edward, in the United States; Arthur and Sandford at the Ridge; and two daughters, Mrs. Sharp, of Hastings, and Mrs. George Parcels, Havelock.

A large number of friends, relatives and neighbors attended to pay their last respects to a young life, who was beloved by everyone.

The service was in charge of Rev. M. H. Hinton, and the hymns sung were "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," and "My Heavenly Home."

The floral tributes were many and beautiful, and the bearers were young boys of the village: Iden Bonds, Bernard Collins, Max Scott, Ormond Crufkshanks and Walter Dodo.

Interment took place in Trent Valley cemetery.

J. J. HATLEY.

After many weeks of patient suffering, Mr. J. J. Hatley, who for over half a century has been prominently identified with Orillia's mercantile and industrial development, and a leader in every important movement in the interest of the town and its citizens, passed peacefully away in his eighty-third year at the family residence, Colborne street, on Sunday, April 17. Mr. Hatley had been in frail health for several months past, but with his characteristic energy managed to be out of doors almost daily. Three weeks ago he took his last walk up town, since which time he had not left his room. All the family were with him when he died, with the exception of his eldest daughter, Mrs. E. A. Langfeldt, who resides at Devil's Lake, North Dakota.

Mr. Hatley was a native of London, England, and was married in Toronto in May, 1870, to Miss Elizabeth Beerling, of Dover, England, who predeceased him in 1916. He is survived by three sons, Bernard W., Charles D., and J. Brooke, Orillia; three daughters, Mrs. E. A. Langfeldt, wife of the Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, of Devil's Lake, North Dakota; Miss Clare and Miss May at home; one brother, Richard, in London, England, twelve grandchildren, and three greatgranchildren.

The late Mr. Hatley had a wide acquaintance all over the district, and was held in the highest esteem by a very large circle of friends. He was a devout adherent of the Church of England and an active worker in St. James's church, and for a considerable time before his death was its oldest communicant. He served as church-warden for many years, and was a mainstay of the congregation on many an occasion. Of a generous and kindly disposition, he accomplished a great deal of good during his life, and many people will remember him with affection for the kindly and generous deeds he had done in their behalf.—Orillia News-Letter.

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Langfeldt attended the funeral on Thursday, of Mr. Hatley.

ALDON LONGMUIR

TRENT RIVER, April 28. — The death occurred on Tuesday, April 26th, of Aldon James Albert, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Longmuir, aged three months and three weeks. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon from the family residence, Havelock Road.

EMILY FARMER DIES SUDDENLY

HEALTH HAD BEEN BAD.

OMEMEE, April 28.—George Fee, a prominent farmer, living about a mile and a half south of Omemee, dropped dead last night while preparing for supper. Mr. Fee had been apparently in his usual health, going about his work, and his death was entirely unexpected.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Miss Lila and Mrs. Milton Sherin, and one son, Lt.-Col. J. J. H. Fee.

TRAPPERS REPORT VERY POOR SEASON

Worst in History Say Veterans of Omemee District.

OMEMEE, April 28.—The trapping season being over, local trappers are disposing of their catch, which is much smaller than in previous years. Local men, who have been engaged in trapping for years, claim this is the poorest season in history. Some attribute the small catch to the breaking away of the dam in the early spring, causing an overflow of water, so that traps could not be set at the proper time.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28. Canadian Press. — Former Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, will be able to leave the Jefferson Hospital, where he has been a patient since last Saturday, in a "couple of days."

This was announced last night by his physician, Dr. S. Solis-Cohen, who added that Mr. MacDonald had "virtually recovered" from an acute sore throat, and all that was necessary now was a few more days of rest to regain his strength.

The first corduroy material was made of silk and worn exclusively by the kings of France. Thus its name —"Cord du Roy."

CONCLUDE CASE IN FREIGHT RATES

OTTAWA, Ont., April 27 (Canadian Press).—The case for the C.P.R., in the freight rates investigation, was concluded before the Board of Railway Commissioners yesterday when E. P. Flintoft finished his argument at the afternoon session. Alistair Fraser began presentaton of the argument for the Canadian National Railways and will probably continue during to-day's sessions and into tomorrow.

Summing up his argument for the C.P.R., Mr. Flintoft claimed that it had been shown that freight rates were not increased in the same proportion to the increases in wages and material prices during the period, 1916 to 1920, and the company's surplus during the last three years of that period had consequently been eliminated. It had been shown that freight rates had been reduced during the period 1921 to 1925, in excess of the decrease in operating expenses so that notwithstanding more efficient methods of operation that had been put into effect there had been no improvement in the company's situation and the average surplus had been still further reduced.

"Fair Return."

Based on the "fair return" on investment (as fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission) during the period, 1921-1925, the average net earnings of the company were short of $15,931,459 per annum. Counsel maintained that the company is being administered in an honest, efficient and economical manner, the benefit of which, he claimed, have accrued directly to the public so that they are enjoying service at freight rates lower than any comparable service in other countries. It was only, he said, by reason of the fact that the C.P.R. had been financed on such conservative lines in the past and that so much money had been put back into the property without being capitalized that it had been able to survive during the war and the strenuous years following it. The railways had not been allowed to take advantage of the period of high prices during the war, and since the war the reductions in expenses had not kept pace with the decrease in rates, and, therefore, notwithstanding that the year 1926 was a period of abounding traffic, the surplus was less than $7,000,000 on a business of nearly $200,000,000.

It must be borne in mind, declared Mr. Flintoft, that the prosperity of the country as a whole depends to an important degree on the prosperity of the railways, for the latter are the largest single employers of labor and purchasers of materials. If their net earnings are not ample it will be difficult to attract the new capital needed for additions and improvements and there would be curtailment of service and loss to the shipping public. Consequently in any readjustment reductions in revenue must be made good by corresponding advances in rates.

In conclusion, Mr. Flintoft commented upon the great importance of the decision which the Commission was called upon to make, the huge interests which would be affected by that decision and the widespread interest with which that decision was awaited throughout the Dominion.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, college student, works as a dancing partner for rich women in a New Jersey roadhouse. There he meets the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on—Sally, the cigarette girl. Reciprocating his interest, she warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the Inn, who finds her "thrill" in "hunting" Bob for her lovenest apartment. Mrs. Hammond tells Bob she is an authoress, secretly in search of color. He stoutly declares he hasn't believed the gossip about her.

Mrs. Hammond had led Bob Ward, gently and insidiously, to commit himself in the matter of trusting her motives; to voice his candid opinion that she was a "square shooter." What more could she want? She continued, ingratiatingly:

"But women of my peculiar position are bound to come under the suspicion of little and evil minds, so I am going to trust to your innate sense of fineness, Bob, and speak quite frankly. To begin with, you are too nice a boy to be working at such a place as the Palisado Inn—"

"It's the only way I could find to go on and fulfill my ambition!"

"Then I shall open a way to you to do so without demeaning yourself. I am hopelessly rich, Bob. But I am not going to offer you charity. I am merely going to offer you, as a sister would, the loan of plenty of money to finish your schooling and get set in business—and the use of an apartment, meantime, to take care of your living needs and comforts!"

"Yes, I have heard that you keep a secret apartment."

"An apartment!"

Instantly all his former doubts and fears of this ravishing creature flocked back to reassail him.

He remembered everything that anyone had said. Mazie's sneers about the lovenest, that he would be asked to share, sooner or later, if Mrs. Hammond liked him! Had the innuendoes been justified, after all? Was Mrs. Hammond proposing a—dishonorable arrangement with him?

Hardly daring to breathe, his mouth a bit ajar, Bob stared wide-eyed into Mrs. Hammond's face.

Mrs. Hammond bore the scrutiny with entire self-possession.

"I know exactly what's running through your mind, Bob!" she chuckled, with a superbly simulated air of lightness. She was boldly resolved upon spiking all his guns, upon spilling all the wind out of his sails, by anticipating his knowledge and his arguments. She leaned toward him, her big eyes wide with feigned virtue: "Someone has warned you against this very thing! A 'lovenest,' I suppose they called it!"

Bob nodded dully. He remembered that but a few moments before he had burst forth with stout declaration of belief in the innocence of her motives in all things. As a gentleman, as a man of character, he could not now betray a fickle tack of constancy in his faith. He would be outspoken.

"Yes, Della, I have heard that you keep a secret apartment on Park Avenue. If it is true it is certainly puzzling. Why should a woman like you, of high social standing and character, want such a place?"

"So they have even traced me down to that!" She shrugged her beautiful shoulders contemptuously. "What creatures!"

Impulsively she laid a slender hand on Bob's knee and stared with an injured, appealing manner full into his troubled face.

"Bob, surely their methods condemn their words! They have told their version. Let me tell mine. Naturally, people of immoral calibre jump to the most disgusting conclusion, always. But the simple and whole truth of this matter is that I have hired this apartment, with the full consent and knowledge of my husband, in order that I may pursue my literary work and sociological studies in the seclusion that my temperament demands. What with the press of social responsibilities, the constant interruptions of an elaborate household, the petty worries of life, I could not work at home without grave and unceasing distractions. This secrecy insures my privacy, guarantees unbothered solitude and quiet in which to work. There is nothing strange about it, Bob. I am an author. As an author, I need certain desirable working conditions. Of course, you know that this is the case with many writers. Most of them have been put to some extreme to gain what I might call time freedom. Surely you know how Nathaniel Hawthorne, for instance, went up into his attic on a rope ladder—and pulled the ladder up after him. I have no rope ladder, and even if I went into the garret they'd ring a telephone extension for me! So I am forced to my present plan. There, Bob, my dear boy friend, you have my whole story!"

Bob had listened attentively; his last doubts vanishing into thin air as her explanation unfolded in all its reasonableness and plausibility. Now Mrs. Hammond—lightly, yet with an artfully feigned note of earnestness which seemed to show how much she hung on his answer, how much she trusted his common sense—laughed and declared:

"Really, Bob, I ask you again, is my scheme so very strange? You must choose between the malign whisperings of a very poor grade of evilmonger and my story. Come, boy, take your pick! Do you still think I am a horrid witch, an ogre, seeking to lure unsuspecting young innocents into my secret and fearful castle, to encompass their moral destruction!"

There was an elusive note of sarcasm in her merry laugh; a challenge, very carefully sent forth, to his sanity, to his intelligence.

Bob, completely taken in, sat bolt upright and exclaimed:

"Of course I don't believe any of the vile gossip I've heard. I never believed it. I know you're not an ogre!" Bob joined with Mrs. Hammond in a hearty laugh. It was all so ridiculous. He went on, chuckling: "I can imagine, though, Della, that you are the most temperamental sort of an author. You seem so high strung. You bet I know how much you want quiet and privacy to work. Gosh, you'd go crazy in Mrs. O'Sully's boarding house, where Freddy and Arch and the rest of the tramps are liable to break out singing any hour of the night. I often wish I could have a quiet place to study."

Mrs. Hammond relaxed her perfect body against the perfect cushions of her perfect automobile—and laughed in that low, gleeful way of hers, deep in her velvety throat, for she was perfectly happy. She had won the first skirmish with his moral qualms. The main thing was to get him into her apartment. Once he was established there she could unloose the rest of her bag of tricks and vamp him down to the point where he would bend to her passionate will; where his emotions and passions, and the clean, strong body of his young manhood which she coveted, would all be plastic putty in her warm hands.

She closed her eyes for a blissful moment, to quiet the quivers that were tingling in her veins. Presently she said:

"After all, Bob, you see, it will be a strictly business proposition. You are to consider my help in the nature of an advance royalty on your brilliant career; a loan to be adjusted later on."

While the generalities of the proposition had found approval in Bob's mind, there were certain details that caused him growing uneasiness.

"But, if you live here, Della, alone—how can I—will it be—right?" he stammered.

Again her musical laugh filled the luxurious interior of the limousine.

"You silly lad," she chided. "Of course I don't live there. I told you that I merely use it for a sort of working place, a studio. It's just a tiny thing, you know. Pretty, though. You'll have it all to yourself, except that after a while I may ask your permission to come and work there at times during the day. Not yet, though, because I'm occupied with unavoidable social burdens for the present. There is maid service. You'll have nothing to do or worry about except winning honors with your degree and thus making me proud of you and justifying my faith in you."

A wise man or woman won't use a dangerous hairdye; nor anything that gives hair the dull, dyed look that's worse than grayness. Kolor-Bak is a very different proposition! CELEBRATING "ON THE AIR."

It is pleasing to note that included in the plans for Canada's Diamond Jubilee celebration is a proposal to link up all the Canadian broadcasting stations in putting on the air a jubilee programme that will not only include selections by the carillon of bells shortly to be installed in the Victory Tower at Ottawa but songs by Edward Johnston and other great Canadian artists.

The radio should have an important place in the jubilee programme, not only to carry the spirit of the celebration to all parts of Canada, but to give the thousands of United States set-owners who would undoubtedly listen in a firm impression of our loyalty to Canada and our faith in this country.

The jubilee will have failed in some respects at least if it does not convey to the world at large some indication of the confidence of Canadians in the future of this Dominion, and the radio, better than any other medium, can be used to advantage for this purpose.

It is to be hoped that the present plans for this great Canadian broadcast will be successfully completed and carried out.

A REASONABLE SUGGESTION.

"A Mother" writing to The Examiner last evening suggested that the dressing rooms at the bathing beaches, as part of the clean-up campaign, should be thoroughly house-cleaned before being opened for use.

The Examiner heartily endorses this suggestion, and would amplify it to the extent of recommending to the city fathers that an effort should be made to provide more adequate accommodation and better conditions at the beaches.

There is no better summer recreation than swimming, and no better contribution to a safety-first campaign than a general knowledge of the art.

Conditions at our beaches should be such that bathers would not think of swimming at any other point in the river, and that parents could, with perfect confidence, allow their children to patronize the beaches.

Without a great deal of expense, it should be possible to bring about a marked improvement in many respects, and it is to be hoped that this question will be given early attention by the Council so that when the bathing season arrives patrons will find conditions materially bettered.

SUPPORT BOYS' WEEK.

The boy of today is the citizen of tomorrow.

The youngster with his school books and his baseball glove may twenty-five years from now be Mayor of Peterborough or asking for support as a candidate for Parliament.

It is obvious then that too much attention cannot be given to the all-round development of the city's boyhood; it should be cultivated as an asset bound to show rich profits in good citizenship later on.

That idea explains Boys' Week, the campaign launched by the Rotary Club, but co-operated in by many other local organizations, which during the week after next proposes to centre attention upon Peterborough's boys, and at the same time to impress upon the boys their responsibility in regard to their homes, their choice of profession, their city and their church.

A programme full of interesting features running throughout the week and terminating with a son-and-father day in every church in Peterborough, promises to provide an unusual demonstration featuring the boy in all his activities.

The Examiner urges the support of the community on behalf of this novel and most meritorious effort.

PETERBOROUGH'S MILITIA.

Owing to the fact that larger appropriations for militia training this year have made it possible for the units to increase their strength, the Peterborough Rangers and No. 3 Company, 4th Batt., C.M.G.C., have room for a number of recruits, the strength of the Rangers to be increased to 162 and of the Machine Gunners to 55.

It is not expected that any difficulty will be experienced by the two units in securing the additional men needed, inasmuch as the training is being made very attractive and a three-day camp at the end of June is being looked forward to with a good deal of relish by both infantry men and machine gunners.

In addition, these units will play a prominent part in the Diamond Jubilee celebration, and with both organizations in charge of officers and non-coms with overseas records to their credit, the young men of the city are likely to show a keen interest in their activities.

Better days are evidently in sight for Canada's militia.

The new Minister of Defence, Hon. Mr. Ralston, is keenly alive to the necessity of making the militia training effective and efficient, and increased appropriations this year are very much appreciated by those officers who have been maintaining their units under great difficulties.

In the Rangers and the Machine Gun Company Peterborough will have two smart organizations, membership in which is likely to be regarded by local young men as a privilege.

STOP THE STATIC.

While thousands of radio fans are wondering when the night shall be filled with music instead of the horrible discord of the past year, news comes from Ottawa that Canada and the United States have reached an impasse in their negotiations concerning the control of broadcasting. During the winter reception conditions in Ontario were most unsatisfactory by reason of the fact that a score of United States radio stations, in defiance of Mr. Herbert Hoover, pirated Canadian channels and insisted upon telling the world about somebody's shaving soap or somebody else's baking powder, until everything was chaos. Canada was long-suffering and slow to anger, but finally something had to be done about it. After Hon. Vincent Massey had prepared the way, a Dominion delegation consisting of Mr. Alex. Johnston, Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and Commander C. P. Edwards, Director of Radio for the Dominion Government, with one or two experts, went to Washington to confer with the United States radio representatives. Canada's delegates discovered that our Minister Plenipotentiary had been quite successful in his first diplomatic adventure, but they struck a snag when they contended for twelve exclusive waves and sixteen shared waves as the minimum requirements of the Dominion, having regard to the large area to be covered. It should be explained that technical considerations limit for practical purposes the number of channels available for broadcasting stations in the United States and Canada to 96. Some of these channels are more valuable than others, and, roughly speaking, 50 of them are good for high-power stations and the balance more adapted to low-power stations. Under the existing arrangements between the two countries, six of the good channels are regarded as belonging to Canada, and she shares eight more with United States stations. When the Canadian delegates suggested twelve exclusive waves and sixteen shared waves as the minimum the Dominion could do with, the United States experts argued that, on a basis of population, Canada already had more than she was entitled to. The Canadian delegates pointed out that the water powers and the fisheries in the international waters lying between the two countries are shared equally without regard to population, and declined to consider a division of the air on the basis of population, contending that the number of waves this would make available would not guarantee an adequate service from Sydney to Vancouver. The division on the basis the Canadians proposed would give the United States 67 exclusive waves, and Canada 12 exclusive waves, the remaining 16 waves to be used jointly.

It is interesting to note that the 83 exclusive wavelengths used by the 200 broadcasting stations of Europe were allotted at a conference held in Geneva. Germany heads the list with 12, France and Britain have 9 each, Italy, Russia (west), Spain and Sweden have 5 each, Poland 4, Czechoslovakia 3, Austria, Belgium, Finland, Holland and Rumania have 2 each, and other countries, such as Albania, Bulgaria, Denmark, Esthonia, Greece, Hungary, Ireland, Portugal and Switzerland, have 1 each.

For the sake of the millions in Canada and the United States who enjoy the melody that comes to them on the wings of the night, it is to be hoped a solution of the problem will speedily be found. It would be a calamity if Uncle Sam and Jack Canuck, who have been good neighbors for more than a hundred years, were to start an argument over the radio.—Toronto Globe.

ALL PARTIES AT FAULT.

The last-minute spending orgy of the Federal Parliament has aroused criticism throughout the country. It is deserved, but in Conservative newspapers it is directed almost wholly against the Government. While the Government, having the controlling majority, must bear the blame as it accepts the credit for Acts of Parliament, the passing of estimates without full consideration has developed into an abuse for which all parties in the House must accept a share of responsibility. To the public it is amazing that the date for adjournment should be set without giving due thought to the necessities of business. Toward the close of the last session it was decided that the members should get away by Easter, and from then on getting away was the chief point. Public business, estimates, took second place. Was there any reason why the members should not remain another few days, or weeks if necessary, to see that the estimates received proper attention?

The Winnipeg Tribune is one Conservative newspaper which does not hesitate to place the blame where it belongs—with all parties. "Every session of Parliament," it says, "winds up with the same disgraceful spectacle—millions of dollars to be voted as appropriations, and no time for questioning or discussing them." And this is how it happens:

> The party Whips get together. They agree as to the closing hour for the session. The estimates are unfinished. It doesn't matter. "If there is anything wrong with them you can bring it before the Accounts Committee next session," says the Government Whip. The Opposition Whip agrees. The estimates slide through as fast as the Chairman can read them. Occasionally there is, for form's sake, an item questioned. But no time is lost.
> And so millions of dollars were again voted with no more than a perfunctory discussion. Two members who protested were told that an agreement had been reached. The members wanted to get home. What else mattered? They had sat or dozed through debates for weary weeks, and hadn't they been there long enough? What concern was it of theirs if the estimates were not ready earlier? And what concern was it if the estimates were delayed until the end, that they could be rushed through without question to cover up some appropriation which might not stand close investigation?

The custom, as The Tribune states, has become a disgraceful spectacle. The party Whips should not agree on a closing date without such an important item of business as the estimates having full discussion, and while this custom prevails all the parties are at fault. —The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Boys' Week, May 9-15, a campaign to enable the community to know the boy and the boy to know the community.

The list of five traffic accidents recorded in Peterborough yesterday carries its own warning as to the necessity of being careful at all times.

The Quebec campaign begins to assume regular form with the Leader of the Opposition charging graft and Premier Taschereau responding by declaring that his opponent is a coward.

As the custom inquiries continues to develop new evidence of fraud, those members of Parliament who described the investigation as a waste of time and money have plenty of reasons to feel that they must have been mistaken.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

THE LEAF
By Dr. Frank Crane.

The most important of all living things is the leaf.

Many leaves such as spinach, lettuce, etc., are eaten raw in salads or cooked directly.

Most of the foods, however, begin with a leaf and result in a fruit or vegetable. Apples, pears and other fruit, to say nothing of tomatoes and bananas, are all a modification of living forms in some way or other.

The tree is nothing but the developed leaf, as all tree trunks start with a leafy bud.

The leaf products eaten by man produce a certain amount of heat as nourishment. Burned in the fire they give out a definite amount of light and heat.

Dr. Gager, of the Brooklyn Botanic Garden, said in a recent address that Dean Swift's description of extracting sunbeams out of cucumbers for later use during raw seasons are not so absurd after all.

The most striking effect of the vegetation of the earth is its green leaves. Even when these do not appear green, as in copper-leaved beeches, the green coloring matter is there, but it is overwhelmed by the presence of another pigment.

Now this leaf-green depends upon sunlight and it might be called, without too greatly stretching the truth, canalsuled sunlight. The leaf-blade also gets water and various salts from the soil, oxygen and dioxide gas from the air. This process can only take place in the presence of light, and is perhaps the most fundamental of all the processes of life.

So the food that we eat, whether vegetable or animal, the clothing we wear cotton woolen or silk, the frame dwellings in which some of us live and the wood, coal, gas in electricity that heat and light our buildings depend eventually upon green leaves.

Most of our butter and milk comes from animals that feed on leaves. All the wood and coal in the world was formerly inside of a green leaf and the heat and light of our houses is the sunlight of previous geological ages captured first by green leaves and stored up in our coal mines.

When Adam and Eve, according to tradition, made for themselves clothing of fig leaves it was an act typical of all future clothing as well as of all future nourishment of the race.

If you are going to be a heathen and worship strange gods we might recommend to you as an object of adoration the green leaf.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., April 28 (Canadian Press) — The export trade in grain on the Montreal market yesterday was more active owing to the improved demand from foreign buyers overnight and the sales of wheat were estimated at half million bushels in addition to a few loads of barley of which the bulk was for May shipment with a few loads for June.

There was a steady demand from Canadian and United States exporters for ocean grain room from the port of Montreal and owing to the somewhat limited supply available to continental ports, a stronger feeling prevailed and rates scored a further advance of 1-2c per hundred pounds. Engagements to Antwerp and Rotterdam were made at 17 1-2c per hundred pounds, and to Hamburg at 18 1-2c per hundred pounds, while the rates to the United Kingdom were firm at 3s to 3s 3d per quarter.

A feature of the local cash grain market was the improved demand from exporters for wheat and sales of 120,000 bushels of No. 1 Northern were made at 16 1-4c per bushel over the Winnipeg May option, C.I.F. Montreal. There was no further change in spot prices for coarse grains and a moderate amount of business was done in car lots.

In sympathy with the continued strength in the cash wheat situation at Winnipeg, a stronger feeling developed in the local market for spring wheat grades of flour and prices were marked up ten cents per barrel. The demand from all sources was fair.

Owing to the above there was a firmer feeling in the winter wheat flour market, but prices were unchanged with a fair trade passing.

The undertone to the millfeed market was firm under a good deof rolled oats continued quiet but values were steady.

Prices for all grades of eggs were well maintained and the demand continued active. The receipts were 2,294 cases.

There was no further change in the local butter situation, the tone being steady at the late advances noted, but the demand was quieter. The receipts were 634 packages.

There was an improved demand from local buyers for fodder made cheese to-day, and a moderate amount of business was done with sales of No. 1 grades at 16 1-2c to 16 3-4c per pound. The receipts were 439 boxes.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, April 28 (Canadian Press)—Higher prices for wheat yesterday accompanied a big volume of export business, but other support was lacking and gains failed to hold well. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, at the same as yesterday's finish to 1c higher; with corn 3-8c to 7-8c off; oats 1-8c to 1-4c up and provisions varying from 16 cents decline to 30 cents advance.

Corn displayed firmness early, but slowness of shipping demand from the east together with improved weather for planting had a bearish effect later. Oats were responsive to exports sales of about 500,000 bushels.

For the most part provisions were lower, sympathizing with downturns in the value of hogs.

CURING INFLUENZA

If you do not follow the advice in my last article, but finally develop influenza, your chances for a cure are very good if you strictly follow the simple instructions which I am about to give you. At this season of the year, if you feel the slightest backache in the lower back, you should take your temperature. If the temperature is found to be above normal, go home at once, if you are working, and do not try to finish the day's work. Take an enema as soon as possible, using two quarts of warm water. If the results are not good at first, repeat the enema until successful.

Next, take a hot tub bath, lying in the water for about twenty minutes, with the water as hot as can be borne. Dry quickly afterwards and get in between woolen blankets. Put on a woolen sweater or coat and do not wear any cotton, linen, or silk under-clothing; no clothing except that made of wool should be allowed to touch your body. Put plenty of covers over you and a hot water bottle at your feet. It is advisable to secure some one to help you as you will soon begin to sweat and must not uncover. The woolen bed clothes should be pinned down, or well tucked in so that no cold air will be drawn under the covers, if you turn over. At the start of this sweating treatment, drink a glass of hot water and repeat the full glass of hot water every thirty minutes, as long as awake. You will soon begin to sweat and will continue to do so until the fever has disappeared. It is sometimes necessary to keep up the sweating for three or four days before the fever will be entirely eliminated.

A daily enema should be taken using a bed pan, if necessary, so as not to stop sweating. If the fever remains high and you do not sweat, the nurse must give you sponge baths every hour, until you again start sweating.

It seems needless to say that no food of any kind should be given. The water may be flavored with lemon or orange juice, if desired. Do not, under any circumstances, get up and cool off before the fever has entirely disappeared for at least twenty-four hours.

When your temperature is normal, you may start eating any kind of food in proper combinations. However, you will not be very hungry for a few days, so should keep the quantity of food very small.

Calisthenic exercises should be taken the second day as soon as the fever is gone, and short walks taken each day, gradually increasing the distance daily. You will be very weak after the fever and will be able to build up to normal strength through such exercises. This after treatment to develop vitality is very important, if you wish to avoid such bad after-effects as tuberculosis, kidney and liver disorders. During the fever, the hacking cough will persist, but you will not raise much mucus until after the fever has disappeared; then you will be surprised that the mucus seems to increase for a week or two. It may not diminish, but become progressively worse, if you do not diet properly and take the exercises which I have recommended for you.

These are just plain, common sense instructions, which have worked without failure in thousands of cases. Use this advice and pass it on to your friends.

Will Try To Form League With Sulphide and Madoc.

TWEED, April 28.—On Tuesday evening a number of baseball enthusiasts attended a meeting held in the Council Chambers for the purpose of reorganizing the Baseball Association.

Tom Beatty was elected chairman and Mr. Foster secretary. The chairman read a communication from R. A. Elliott, of Deloro, asking Tweed to send delegates to a meeting in Belleville, where they would try and form a league consisting of Belleville, Point Anne, Deloro and Tweed.

Much discussion followed this communication, and it was thought that the teams mentioned were a little too strong for Tweed to bump up against this year, as Tweed has to start with several new players who could not stand the pace with the stronger teams.

A second communication was read from H. J. Burgoyne, Sulphide, asking Tweed to join in with them in helping to form a league between Sulphide, Madoc, Tweed and perhaps Frankford and Stirling.

All present thought this would be the proper league to form this year, and it would enable Tweed to get a real good team in shape for next year.

The next item of importance was that of finding a manager, and on motion, C. R. Maguire was elected manager, and H. Rollins assistant manager.

After some discussion as to who would handle the finances, it was decided to leave the treasurership with the manager, and that the assistant manager act as secretary.

Twilight games were mentioned and met with the approval of the fans who were present, and all thought record crowds would be in attendance at all games.

It was decided to get in touch with Mr. Burgoyne of Sulphide and see what could be done about calling a meeting of the prospective teams and also drawing up the schedule.

C. R. Maguire and H. Rollins were appointed delegates to the meeting.

BASEBALL TEAM IN CAMPBELLFORD

Trent Town To Enter Re-organize Northumberland League.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 28.—In addition to the Softball Association Campbellford will also have a hard ball team in the re-organized Northumberland League this year. Charlie Davidson, who is president of the Northumberland League, has been quietly working since his election, in an effort to have this town represented in the league, and the prospects are bright for a smart team. There is plenty of material for a good team, and with Charlie Nadoo managing the outfit, they should improve as the season advances.

"Toey" Ibey the youthful curve ball pitcher, should be better than in any previous year, and there are a couple of other slab artists in town that might turn in a winning game if the occasion arises.

Rev. Mr. Daniel has accepted the appointment of secretary of the league, and a meeting of representatives will be held in Warkworth on Thursday, May 5, at 8 p.m., when a schedule will be drawn up and other matters of importance dealt with.

Colborne, Brighton, Warkworth, Campbellford and Hastings have signified their intention of entering the League and the executive are anxious to have Roseneath enter to make a six club compact league.

The decision to play hard ball will cause a lot of worry to managers of softball teams with championship aspirations, for a numhber of the athletes declare if they play hard ball, they will pass up the game some critics are prone to characterize as too gentle for any but the fairer sex.

There is a possibility of the hard ball enthusiasts meeting in conjunction with the softballers next Tuesday night, for organization purposes.

SAINT PHILOMENA

The production of Saint Philomena, a three-act drama, enacted by the pupils of St. Peter's High School, under the direction of the Sisters of St. Mary's Convent, was presented last evening in the assembly room of the St. Alphonsus Lyceum.

The hall was filled to capacity and the attentive audience was well entertained for about two hours by the youthful actors.

The Roman character of the play was admirably depicted by the picturesque costumes and also by the effectively contrived settings for the different scenes. The softly shaded lights added to the general appearance of the background.

The impersonation of characters was excellently carried out throughout the play and much credit may be given to both the teachers and the pupils.

An Outline of The Story.

The play opens with Prince Lucius, Governor of a Roman Province in Greece reading a despatch from the Emperor, Diocletian, which summons him to Rome. His wife, Aglae, having heard of the edicts against Christians, is apprehensive of evil and tries to deter him from responding to this order. Lucius, aware of his obligations to the Emperor, hastens to depart.

Cathra, the freed slave of Lucius' household, who, while professing great love for her master's family and loyalty to her faith, is in reality a traitor and going to the cavern of an Egyptian sorceress, Nitocris, tells her all about her mistress. Meanwhile Aglae, anxious to pierce the veil of the future regarding her husband and her daughter, Philomena, also visits the cave secretly. Before Nitocris will reveal anything she demands from Aglae the silver cross she is wearing as an emblem of her faith and requires her to offer incense to the pagan gods. Aglae yields but learns nothing beyond the great triumph that awaits her daughter in Rome.

In Rome, Philomena makes dear friends of St. Innocentia, a noble Roman maiden, and of Martius, her cousin. Lucius intrusts Philomena with the mission of presenting to the Emperor an important petition. Charmed by her beauty the Emperor freely complies with every suggestion of Lucius and makes offer to the parents for the hand of their daughter. Despite the entreaties of her parents, Philomena refuses to become the wife of the pagan emperor. Enraged by her refusal he throws her into prison where she is cruelly scourged. Miraculously, her wounds heal.

Our Lady of Dolors comes to Philomena and promises to obtain light for her father, and pardon for her mother, on condition that she be content to have her sacrifice ignored, and her name forgotten by future generations. Nitocris also visits the prison and promises to free Philomena if she but consents to offer sacrifice to the Roman gods. Struck by the calm exterior of the maiden the sorceress desists. At the same time she reveals to the girl her mother's visit to the cavern and the renunciation of faith which she made there. In gratitude Philomena promises to procure for her the grace of conversion.

Lucius and Aglae enter and plead with Philomena until Nitocris interferes. Lucius learns of his wife's duplicity and of her renunciation. Nitocris gives Philomena her mother's cross. Lucius refuses to forgive his wife, even though his daughter pleads, until Nitocris intervenes and tells him that it is his duty as a Christian to forgive.

Philomena bids her father farewell, and calmly goes forth to meet the soldiers and win her crown of martyrdom. The closing tableau shows the conversion of Nitocris.

The cast of characters is: St. Philomena, Aileen Reynolds; Prince Lucius, Wilfrid, Lebar; Aglae, Margaret Mulvihill; Cathra, Anna McCormack; Nitocris, Mary McCarthy; St. Innocentia, Dorothy Buchannan; Martius, Eugene Snider; Our Lady of Dolors, Rory Roche; Fore-runner of Lucius, John Carroll; Angels, Adeline Giardino, Margaret Hurley; attendants, slaves, chorus of invisible spirits: (Herb. Masterson will take the part of Prince Lucius tonight.)

Between acts, several songs by the High School girls with Miss Marion Hayes at the piano were heartily applauded as also were a number of excellent selections by the orchestra, composed of Olive O'Connell, Mary Reynolds, Hilda Sunivan, Veronica, Scollard, Mildred Kennedy, Norine MacPherson, Helen Archambault, Frank Grant, Joseph Nolan, George Reynolds, Edward Hiland and John Garden.

The play will be repeated to-night.

PILES GO QUICK

Without Salves or Cutting.

Thousands who have piles don't know that quick and permanent relief can be accomplished with internal medicine. Cutting or any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will not remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is stagnation of blood circulation in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in many, many cases with a marvellous record of success, such a wonderful record that HEM-ROID is now sold by druggists every where under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from McDermid & Jury to-day. It has given quick and lasting relief to thousands and should do the same for you.

CURATIVE VIRTUES FOUND IN TOMATO

Has Long Been Considered One of the Most Healthful Foods.

For centuries past the Tomato has been adjudged the most healthful of foods and medical science is constantly finding new virtues in it.

That tomatoes are the most easily and quickly digestible of all the fruits and vegetables, is a statement vouched for by the American Medical Association Journal.

On many hospital diet lists, tomatoes are put ahead of all other foods designed to reduce obesity. Tomatoes are very effective blood cleansers. Their natural health acids regulate and tone up the stomach, and are a natural corrective for the kidneys. The tomato is recommended and specified by celebrated physicians and specialists in Europe as well as in America in the food treatment for diabetes.

Spring and early summer bring a craving for the healthful acidity of tomatoes. The delicious and refreshing flavor of tomatoes comes from the health acids which abound in this palatable vegetable. The tomato is therefore a natural and proper "spring tonic."

Nor is it necessary to wait for grown ripe tomatoes to enjoy this tonic. As a matter of fact canned tomatoes are to be preferred because they are more truly "fresh" and possess in full measure all the food and health virtues of the naturally matured vegetables. For delicate children invalids and convalescent patients, many doctors now prescribe tomatoes or tomato juice. A typical testimonial is that given by a noted Chicago physician, Dr. Hugo Friedstein: "There is no doubt about it; the curative value of the tomato is extraordinary. Its vitamine content alone is acomplishing the undreamed-of in the feeding of infants and invalids."

LILLIAN GISH AT THE HEIGHT OF ART IN "SCARLET LETTER"

Lillian Gish has played her Romola and her White Sister, her Mimi and her Civil War heroine—but a new Lillian Gish astounded the audience at the Regent Theatre last night, when she played "Hester Prynne." She seemed literally inspired.

"The Scarlet Letter," Nathaniel Hawthorne's famous classic proved an ideal vehicle for a famous star, its dramatic plot of a woman, carrying a brand of shame through life for the sake of the man she loves, making a theme so powerful that it enabled her to rise to the heights of a true genius.

But there was something else behind it all. For six years Miss Gish has longed to play this vivid role, as monument in film to her ancestors. She comes of original Puritan stock, and is one of the leading members of the Daughters of the Revolution, and playing the role was to her almost a religious rite.

Gripping Performance.

As the little seamstress whose great love caused her to rise to almost angelic heights, Miss Gish plays a mighty drama of love and human souls. Consummate artistry marks every phase of her struggle against intolerance, and the mighty climax holds one spellbound. Those who loved her in "La Bbheme" or "The White Sister" will adore her in her new role.

Lars Hanson, the famous Swedish actor, makes an ideal "Arthur Dimmesdale," a role that required remarkable acting skill, and Henry B. Walthall celebrated his first picture with Miss Gish since "The Birth of a Nation" with a masterly portrayal of her Nemesis.

MRS. SNYDER WILL TESTIFY

Defendant To Take Stand For Defence To-morrow Morning.

ALIBI EXPLODED.

NEW YORK, April 28 (Canadian Press) — Mrs. Ruth Snyder, co-defendant with Henry Judd Gray, her corset salesman lover, in the murder of Albert Snyder, magazine art editor, will take the stand in her own defence to-morrow morning.

Edgar F. Hazelton, of the defence counsel, made this announcement after the State had rested its case against the two defendants shortly after noon to-day. Court was adjourned until four o'clock this afternoon to give time to the defence lawyers to prepare motions.

The chief state witnesses to-day were Haddon Gray and Charles Platt, of Syracuse, N.Y., who testified regarding the alibi by which Judd Gray expected to prove that he was in the upstate city when Snyder was killed. Gray stated that his friend, whom he had known for many years, but to whom he was not related, had asked him "to help him out" while he was keeping a dinner engagement in Albany with "Mumsie." Gray had asked him to stay in his hotel room, answer the phone, and give the impression that he was in his room. Witness agreed thinking he was assisting in a mild flirtation. Gray later told him that he received a wire from "Mumsie" stating she had gone to New York. Judd Gray said he went there and found the woman's husband had unexpectedly returned home. He hid in a closet and while there burglars broke into the house, killed the husband and slugged "Mumsie." Accused had explained that he got his clothes bloodstained when he bent over "Mumsie's" husband to see if he was dead. Judd Gray showed the witness a photograph of "Mumsie" which he identified as Mrs. Snyder.

Witness said he did not realize that his friend was involved in the murder until he visited him in jail, where he confessed.

Platt corroborated Haddon Gray's story and testified regarding the disposal of blood stained clothing.

Michael Maloney of Syracuse, who burned a package of clothing at Platt's request, and Mrs. Anthony Doehm, stenographer for Platt, told of being given a suit case and turning it over to her husband, who burned it.

In the fourth quarter of the last century people when they desired to be uncomplimentary called Canada a "wooden country" referring of course to the widespread use of wood in the construction of buildings, bridges, sidewalks, pavements, etc. Today statesmen and economists, with far different feelings, describe the Dominion as the "softwoods storehouse of the Empire" and urge all Canadians from patriotic as well as from business motives to conserve and utilize this great resource with which a beneficient Providence has endowed the land.

ADASKIN RECITAL

(By Jeanette.)

Harry Adaskin, second violinist of the famous Hart House string quartette, of Toronto, with Mrs. Adaskin at the piano, were the visiting artists for the concert held in the hall of the Conservatory of Music last evening, supplemented by the Peterborough symphony orchestra, in a programme of exceptional merit and interest. The audience, although not very large, was intensely appreciative of the fine music rendered, giving Mr. Adaskin and the orchestra rousing and repeated encores for their final numbers, thus showing an untired appreciation of their efforts.

Mr. Adaskin is a violinist of great ability, with an aspect of temperamental rendition overlying a conscientious and thorough type of musicianship. He was equally at ease in the difficult and exacting music of the sonata and concerto which formed his two opening numbers as in the less demanding measures of the quintette of brief compositions which closed his programme.

A somewhat massive tone was given to Mr. Adaskin's music by his choice of two heavy renditions in close proximity to each other, but his playing of both was a delight. The gay music of Strauss was interpreted splendidly in the Sonata for Violin and Piano, Opus 18, in which Mr. and Mrs. Adaskin, as joint soloists, earned repeated applause from the audience. The facile and sympathetic music of the pianiste gave a noble background to the strings. The first movement of this Sonata, "Allegro ma non troppo," is swift and brilliant, the "contabile" or singing quality so apparent in the violinist's work being particularly noticeable in this section, which merges into an "Improvisation (Andante) Cantabile" played with muted strings and closes with batteries of arpeggios played in fluent style, with tiny, dancing grace notes springing from the swift bow, in the "Allegro" finale. Again the bland, sure, masterly touch was very evident. Throughout Mr. Adaskin's programme, even the highest limits of his instrument failed to evoke any touch of shrillness, his velvety, soft tone predominating from first to last. He is proficient also in the use of the bow. He dominates his instrument at all times, drawing from it every resource with skilful ease. In strong and light passages, playing with the broad, smooth legato bow or the light, dancing "sautille," Mr. Adaskin showed just what he could do with music of differing mood and tempo.

Lalo's Concerto in F, Opus 20, was the second violin solo offering, its movement varying in atmosphere from the speedy "Adante-Allegro" opening, to the pensive theme of the "Romance (Andantino)" and the vivacious final measures in the "Allegro con fuoco," played with the swift, unceasing roulades or little clearly etched dancing notes that seem to be favorites of this musician, in which his flair for difficult instrumentation, played easily and surely, is pronounced.

The final group by the violinist was charming and effective, and brought renewed and repeated encores at its conclusion. These were brief morceaux of dainty music, commencing with the beautifully soft, smooth melody of Beethoven's "Romance in G," followed by an exquisite thing in descriptive mood, entitled "Lotus Land," with piercingly sweet bird-like trilly intervals and a fairylike atmosphere to the brittle melody. A bright hit was "La Gitana," a gypsy song, and the "Nocturne in D" was a tone poem embodying in it a monody of autumn winds in the throbbing wistfulness of the double-stopping employed throughout. Again, in the final number, Schubert's "The Bee," was demonstrated in a manner that brought a whirlwind of applause, the dainty running measures of unceasing, liquid, merry little notes.

The symphony orchestra, directed by R. Gliddon, was at its best last night, and well deserved the enthusiastic applause which greeted its bright music. The quality of cheerful interest in their music which is always paramount in the playing of this organization, under Mr. Gliddon's direction, was apparent last night in the jovial, swinging rhythm of the overture, Von Suppe's "Banditenstreiche," in which the song of the "jolly bandits" was so well interpreted. The always popular descriptive rendition of the scene, "In a Persian Market," with the light music of the picked strings merging into the rhythmic beat of the approaching camel trains, the undertone of the brasses against the violins simulating the ascending and diminishing music of the bazaar, was very effective, and a robust, powerful selection, Donizetti's "The Daughter of the Regiment," formed a stirring finale to a fine programme, bringing repeated applause at its conclusion.

A quartette of string players, with three violins and a violoncello, composed of Dr. Park, A. McEwan, C. Gallagher, and C. Seymour, played in careful style Beethoven's "Allegro Quasi Presto" movement from Opus 18, No. 2.

"What I endured in that time could not be told," she said. "I was so weak I could hardly walk. My appetite was poor and my stomach gave no end of trouble. Gas and pains would bring on fainting spells.

"My nerves were so completely shattered that I jumped in fright every time the doorbell rang. My hand trembled so that it could not hold the pen to write my name. Night after night I've gone without sleep, too nervous to lie still for even a few moments. Even my housework became too much for me.

"I tried all kinds of remedies in those two years, but can honestly say Tanlac gave me my first real relief. It built me up so that I've gained 11 lbs., eat and sleep fine and have nerves as calm and steady as ever. Tanlac is worth its weight in gold."

RESURRECTION

RESURRECTION! The world of Nature is vibrant with it; it is pulsating everywhere. I shut my eyes and I can feel it, true as the poet said: "There is no death; what seems so is transition.

The other day I broke off last year's growth of the old perennials in the garden. They were dead, absolutely dead, nothing could revive them, dust they are and to the dust return, but what is this I see—new growth already formed, the old had to die, the new life had killed it.

What thoughts are here; I cannot give them utterance. I know my body is slowly dying, you I,—everybody, began to die as soon as we were born; but listen, a new life has been forming exactly in the form we are (To every seed his own body) and as soon as this body dies that other life is well on the way. Allan Fairbairn, in his "Musings At a Manse Window," says: "There is no spot but that you can say, 'The dead are here'". Is that so? I would like to, kindly contradict that statement. "Where are the dead"—I can quote the Lord's own Words to tel you where they are—they are risen and living. Let us look at Luke 20:37-38, "Now that the dead are raised, even Moses shewed at the bush, when he called the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob. For He is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live unto Him.

Think again—at the Mount of Transfiguration, Moses and Elias were talking with Christ, they were not in the grave awaiting a resurrection at some far distant date,—see again Rev. 22: 8-9, when John was about to fall at the feet of the angel to worship and was met with the words: "See thou do it not, for I am thy fellow-servant and of thy brethren, the prophets, and of them which keep the sayings of this book, worship God."

If anyone desires more light on these questions I would refer them to Swedenborg, his book on "Heaven and Hell;" things which he saw and heard with his own spiritual eyes, which God had opened and they will be enlightened.

Yours in the faith of the Resurrection,
—CHRISTIANA.

IT IS A SOCIAL ASSET TO BE ABLE TO PLAY THE PIANO.

From a social standpoint, we all know how popular is the young man or woman who can play the piano. How we do enjoy hearing such a person perform and how often will we enjoy dancing or singing to the music of the piano? How important, therefore, that we insist upon the musical education of the younger generation, and how important it is that we shall encourage every movement intended to stimulate an interest in music.

A new method of stimulating interest in piano instruction was successfully inaugurated in the recent piano playing contest in Detroit. Fifteen thousand students in the schools took part in the contest, and out of those there were chosen seven district winners, who participated in the finals. First prize, in the form of a grand piano and a trip to New York, went to Judith Sidorsky, a fourteen-year-old high school student. Besides the leading award, there were awarded seventeen scholarships. The contest meant much to the fostering of an interest in music for the home, as was shown in the determination of many parents to get their children in good form by intense practising for their entry in the next year's contest.

Ernest Schelling, pianist, once said: "A child's mind is so receptive for good or bad that if properly interested at an early age and taught to listen intelligently to beautiful music, it will always remember, and the early training will mean untold enjoyment and understanding later on."

GARDENING SERVICE

Early Planting.

As certain kinds of vegetables should be sown early in the spring for best results, one must be prepared to commence operations in the garden, just as soon as the soil is dry enough, advises W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist. Those plants of which the leaves are eaten should be started first. These include Lettuce, Spinach, Mustard and Cress, and there is little danger of planting them too soon. Other vegetables which are grown for their bulbs or roots such as Onions, Carrots, Beets, Parsnips and early Turnips may be planted about the same time, although they are not quite so hardy as the first mentioned. Although peas are about as hardy, they should not be sown until the weather turns warm as they are liable to rot. Of course it is a worthwhile risk to put a row or two in. Other vegetables which should be started early to get best results are Cabbages, Cauliflower, Tomatoes and Melons. These will not stand any frost, hence the plants must be protected in hot beds or cold frame, or in the house until danger of frost is past.

Fruit Trees and Shrubbery.

Fruit and ornamental trees, shrubbery and rose bushes are planted as soon as the ground is dry enough to dig. The same rule applies to bush fruits, strawberries and herbaceous perennials. Once the sap loses the moisture of early spring and the hot dry winds commence, a much larger proportion of plants is likely to die than if planted earlier.

A Short Cut.

With a little nitrate of soda one can make up for a late spring. In small gardens a heaping teaspoonful is sufficient for a square yard of soil, repeating the application about every ten days or two weeks. This fertilizer should not be allowed to touch the foliage if the latter is moist as it is apt to burn it. On this account it is safer to dissolve in water and sprinkle, or it may be broadcast by hand during or just before a rainfall or before the hose is turned on. It should not be applied until growth has started.

A Cutting Garden.

Often the beauty of the regular flower garden is marred when blooms are cut for decoration indoors. The practical gardener now has a special patch which he grows in rows like vegetables, making it easy for cultivation, for cutting purposes only. Here, too, are grown those flowers such as Cornflowers or Bachelor Buttons, Mourning Brides, Scabious and Gaillardia, which have beautiful blooms on poor foliage. The main crop of asters may be grown here, as these plants occupy a great deal of space before producing flowers. Zinnias, Marigolds, California Poppies and scores of others may be grown in both the cutting garden and flower border. An all-season cutting garden will have Annual Gypsophila, Scabious, Cornflowers, California Poppies, Calliopsis, Zinnias, African Daisies, Snapdragons and other stocks started as early as the ground can be worked. The cutting garden can be planned in conjunction with the vegetable garden for convenience.

Snapdragons.

Snapdragons are easily grown, and there is no finer annual for garden, decoration and for bouquets. The main factor in growing them is to sow early. The seedlings will come up and apparently stand still for several weeks, but in reality they are simply gaining speed for the sprint later on. For a sheet of bloom the intermediate length class is best, for edging the dwarf type is excellent, and for massing one should choose one of the giants. Do not plant in fresh manured soil, these flowers doing best in ground which was well fertilized and cultivated the previous year. During dry spells it is better to give the flowers a good mulch of lawn clippings rather than water frequently. Contact with this flower and all others an occasional soaking instead of the daily sprinkle gives much the best results. To grow large flowers, confine plant to single stems, pinching out the side branches as they appear. The medium and large types require a foot each way.

Annual Flowers.

With a little planning annuals will give continuous bloom from June until frost, but of course judgment must be used in the selection of varieties. The earliest bloomers must be planted as soon as the snow disappears. These will come up with the first warm days of early spring, defy frosts and keep right on growing. In this class will come the cornflowers, cosmos, annual larkspurs, calendulas, and several others. It is only necessary to thin these out and cultivate a little. Many of them, the poppies especially, are difficult to transplant, and sowing them to sow themselves in the fall or sprinkling the seed over the soil or snow now is the best way to handle them. For mid-season blooming there is the phlox, marigolds, gallipsis, salpiglossis, and nasturtiums. Verbenas and ten weeks' stocks will begin to make a fine display toward the end of July and continue for the rest of the year. Petunias will also come along about this time and earlier if given a start in the hot bed. Zinnias will be nicely in bloom by August and the asters about the same time. Cosmos and salvia will brighten up the garden from September on.

Deep Cultivation for Peas.

The deeper the soil is cultivated, the more sugar there will be in the peas. This vegetable requires cool soil for its roots to produce its maximum crop. By loosening up the soil to a considerable depth, the roots are allowed to penetrate for food and moisture and remain cool. With April nearly over it is time to think about getting in the earlier types. In this class will come the round seeded sort which will stand slightly more frost than the finer quality wrinkled peas. Do not sow while the weather is still cold and damp, however, or the seeds liable to rot in the ground. For small gardens probably more crop will be produced from the climbing types which can be supported on brush or chicken wire. Where one does not want to go to the trouble of providing a support of this kind, however, the dwarf types which, if grown in double rows, will support themselves, are most desirable. Make sowings a week apart as the pea crop is a short one.

Growing Good Spinach.

Spinach is now a standard Canadian vegetable, and is a most convenient one to grow. It is hardy, light frost having little effect on it. To be tender it must be grown very quickly. Spinach requires a well pulverized rich soil, and it must be grown in the cool weather. A quick acting fertilizer such as nitrate of soda is recommended for this crop. Some of the newer Danish or New Zealand types are best. Plants should be thinned to five inches apart, and the foliage on the everlasting types may be cut down several times and it will grow again.

Where the gardener must depend continually on commercial fertilizers, an application of hydrated lime, about one pound to two square yards, should be made every year. Lime is used to sweeten the soil.

Very light soils will be benefited with plenty of strawy manure, and the same treatment plus a little application of ashes or sand will loosen up clay.

In uncovering the perennials care must be exercised not to disturb such early growers as tulips, and other fall-planted bulbs, which will now be pushing their way through the soil.

An Ex-Buck Private Goes Back to France

It's Nothing Like the Day You Were Herded Aboard a troopship!

Dear Mac:

It's a thrill, and a real, big, goose-pimpling thrill, when the first deep, bass blast of the liner's whistle tells that the departure time from post—the sailing hour—is winging in.

After the anxious journey from Peterborough by train—a rush uptown at Montreal (and I don't need to tell what for)—a tearing back to the dock in a taxi—the hurry over the gangplank—we've picked out a good position at the rail.

A-woom-oom! A-woom-oom!

It's the warning blast for visitors. It's the announcement of the approach of the early hour that has been in the mind's eye of every ex-C.E.F.-er for eight long years. You can feel that blast in your feet. It is deafening—

A-woom! A-woom-oom!

Allez-oup!

Then, ah! There's a familiar note! The tootle of a bugle. An officious seaman passes, blowing another warning to visitors to "allez-oup." They allez-oup.

Out of the maze of craft in the harbor two puffing tugs appear. They bump their padded noses into the massive ship. Officers' cries are heard. Lines are cast off. Without a tremor, as smoothly as a giant ice-cake leaves its parent floe, the ship eases away. The gap to the pier widens, slowly. Handkerchiefs wave. Goodbyes are shouted. Then—

A-woom-woom!

The wide river sparkles a warm welcome in the sunlight. And you're away! Away to that oft-visioned voyage on the briny!

Out past the skyline of Montreal with its babelled towers and spires, the ship gracefully eases its way through the smaller boats that give it a wide berth. How welcome that skyline looked in 1919!

The Call to Adventure.

The harbor craft are thinning out. A small ship draws close. Two nimble lads man the oars of a dinghy and put over with broad sweeps of their blades. This is the mail boat. A few sacks are dropped over the side. The dinghy drifts away.

We are off. Home is astern. France, with all its treasures, is ahead. The France we left, with its Hell-Fire Corner, its Bird Cage, its Berlin Sap, its Observatory Ridge—Mississippi Trench—Telegraph Hill—Crucifix Corner—La Bassee, Ypres, Festubert, Etaples, Poziers, La Targette, Les Brebis, Tinaques, Hangard. How the memories crowd upon us as we face eastward once more!

But how different, now, than in 1915 and 1916 when we were trooping across! 'Member when you came down from Camp Borden, or Val Cartier, or Barriefield and stood in line, your shoulders aching from your heavy pack, and finally went aboard? Up on the deck—forward and aft—you and all the other Macs were herded through doors and down temporary stairs—not companionways—into the seamy, smelly bowels of the ship. It was stifling hot—fetid—and you hadn't had a bath. Perspiration rolled down. And then you got a mess-tin full of dishwater tea!

How Different!

What a different trip it is across the Atlantic now! The camouflage is gone; the woodwork that protected the decorations has been removed. Dining halls like palaces, lounges that look mighty good to soldiers of the line; swimming pools—

We managed to have a fairly good time going across before, but what a life it will be in 1927! Paul Adams tells something of it in this article.

You may have come up on the crowded deck and sunk your hobnails into the planking to get a breath of air. It tasted sweet, too. But then you probably ran into an officer who was making an inspection and had to cough a few times for his approval. If he didn't ask you to cough and say "Ah," he probably despatched you at once to get a life-preserver. The sides of the ship—if you went over later — were camouflaged artistically, but by the time you reached the ocean you didn't care so much about submarines.

Remember when the Doctor Caught You and You Had to Say "Ah"?

What's That?

But now in 1927 there's no "Hey, Mac, get back there!"

You have a cabin, too. White sheets! A soft couch to lounge on! A place to wash and brush your teeth.

You think of the day that Tom Jones—he was on every boat—tripped as he was coming downstairs with a huge mess-tin of slum, and fell. And then—

"What's that!"

You leap up with the exclamation at a familiar sound—the only bugle call that you ever were really glad to hear.

"Come to the cook-house door, boys. . . ."

And luncheon is served.

It's a dining saloon — not a crude, rough, dimly-lighted hole below decks. There's snowy linen and silver service with flowers on the table — not bare boards and a jangle of mess kits. And there are no hammocks swinging above, with sick soldiers in them.

Those Australian Rabbits.

Maybe you went out on a Army boat like a few hundred thousand others, and saw the cookie cut the wires off a bale of Australian rabbits and chuck the little dried bunnies into a huge steam cauldron! Maybe you bought stale, old hard-boiled eggs from a Chink for 25 cents a throw! Maybe you had tripe! Whatever you had you stood in line for hours to spend a few dollars for a few chocolates to take the edge off your appetite after dinner.

Now you choose between chicken on toast and fish, or a squab. Perhaps you'd like a nice thick steak, with gravy oozing. The rolls are warm and there's plenty of butter—did anyone have any butter on the way over before?

There are baked spuds, with paprikpa dashed redly over the flaky gashes in the top; and salads; and ice cream; and all the coffee you can drink, with cream in it, and sugar.

You don't have to snarl at the fellow who sits in the next chair, either. He won't reach over and steal half your chow.

You're right in the midst of that mid-section of the ship that you used to gaze on so longingly and hungrily—the section reserved for the officers and the pretty nurses. Their joys and comforts — that you envied so much—are yours. And you won't wake up with some other soldier's hob-nailed foot in the midst of your unshaven features.

Well, Mac, I must go up on deck again and get acquainted. I'll tell you more about the trip in my next letter.

Yours regardless,

PAUL ADAMS.

BASKET SOCIAL.

Held in Aid of Matthew's Anglican Church at Buckhorn.

YOUNG'S POINT, April 28. — On Friday evening, the 22nd, there was held at the Loyal True Blue Hall, Buckhorn, a very successful basket social, proceeds of which were in aid of St. Matthew's Anglican Church. An amount of $68.00 was realized. Preceding the selling of the baskets, which were all very prettily decorated, there was a short concert. Rev. R. T. C. Dwelly, of Young's Point, was the chairman, and he opened the programme with a few remarks.

Then Master John Fawcett gave a recitation, entitled "The Small Boy's Loquitor." Dora and Margaret Wilson sang a duett, "Dream Pal." This was followed by a reading by Master Gerald Fulton, "The Song of the Corn." Rev. Mr. Dwelly then sang, "The Wild Man From Borneo."

The main item of the programme was a comical sketch called "The Rag Carpet Cutting Bee," in which Mesdames C. Jones, M. Fulton, A. Montgomery, S. Woods, A. Chesney, W. Gillespie, F. Smith, Amy Weaver and Miss Gladys Smith took the respective parts. Then an old-fashioned darkie song was given by Carl Wilson, Dora and Margaret Wilson, Laura Fulton and Donald Smith.

Mr. Sam. Woods was chosen as auctioneer, and the baskets were sold, after which the company assembled settled down to the consumption of the various good things of which the baskets were filled.

School Opens.

The local school opened the morning after the Easter holiday with a good attendance. Mr. Frank Carrol and Miss Marie Charlton are the teachers.

THOMPSON MAKES DEFINITE CHARGES

Tells Reasons For Demanding the Resignation of McAndrews.

CHICAGO, April 28.—(Canadian Press).—George Washington and his little hatchet, King George of Great Britain, and such abstract elements as alleged British propaganda and unamericanism in Chicago school text books are to be paraded before the Chicago Board of Education as Mayor Thompson's efforts to oust Superintendent William McAndrews moved today from the stage of conversation to action.

The superintendent's request that the mayor present specific charges against him was met promptly by Mayor Thompson, who sent School Trustee J. Lewis Coats hurrying home from New Orleans to give the reasons McAndrews' resignation is sought by the administration.

Mr. McAndrews, in letter to the School Board, included several newspaper quotations of Thompson speeches as indicating why the mayor sought his removal. Among them were:

"The schools have been influenced to substitute the King of England for George Washington."

"The superintendent took the 'spirit of 76' from the school room walls."

"The schools are in the hands of a bunch of high brow pro-Britishers who are teaching the kiddies that the King of England was our best friend."

PEOPLE'S LEAGUE FINAL GATHERING

Interesting Programme Given at Concluding Meeting of Season.

NORHAM, April 28. — The People's league held a final meeting on Monday evening. The programme consisted of a reading by Irene Tweed, a paper by Madaline Lean and one by Flossie Everson and a talk by Rev. J. F. Everson in which satisfaction and gratitude was expressed for the attendance and the help received during the six months of services. Mrs. Everson, Miss Viola McAllister and Gordon Mitchell attended all meetings held, Flossie Everson and Mrs. Beret West and the President, Miss Lulu Mitchell missed only one meeting.

Several missed only two meetings. The average attendance was over 40. Twenty dollars was raised for missionary work and $11.00 for local expenses.

Following is the summary of a paper given by Mrs. Lorne Evans on "The Value of an Education."

The value of anything is determined by its serving power, and this is true of a farm, a book, of money or friendship. Serving power means its ability to contribute toward success in life. The contribution must be toward the building of character through which we shall be useful here and ready for life hereafter. An intellectual education is not enough for a person well educated mentally might be a failure just as a man, might have several sound organs in his body and die from a deseased one.

To be of much value an education must be of the Head, Heart and Hand It must be three-fold. Failure results from one side of the nature being developed at the expense of the others, or from no side being developed much.

"Little learning cracks the brain.

But drinking deeply sobers us again

Head education may fit a person to earn a big salary, but it also enables him to converse intelligently, to appreciate the wonderful things in life and in the world around and to enjoy the best society of the past and the present.

Heart education enables us to read proper literature, to make money in an honest way and to keep unclean things out of our lives as well as enjoy better health. It will lead us to participate in wholesome amusements and recreations of an elevating and uplifting nature.

When the head and heart are properly educated the hand will reach out in helpful service even as the sleeping plant responds to the call of springtime. When education is threefold we develop the four-fold life and increase in wisdom and in stature and in favour with God and man.

RESTRICT CATTLE IMPORTS TO STATES

Expected To Benefit High Bred Holsteins of Oxford County.

WOODSTOCK, April 28—That new regulations governing the importation of breeding cattle into the United States, regulations which will have a widespread effect on the cattle breeders of Ontario, and particularly of Oxford country, are to be put into effect in the near future, was the statement made yesterday morning by Fred Lee of Springford, noted Holstein breeder and director of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada.

Mr. Lee stated that he had received advance information on these regulations from an authoritative source in the United States. The new regulations will require that all cattle including pure breds, entering the United States, will in future be subjected to test before being admitted.

While the present regulations require the testing and inspection of grade cattle, these are not required for pure breds, the certificates of breeding and accreditation being accepted by the United States authorities.

The new regulations, Mr. Lee stated, were being put into effect on account of the large number of poor type pure-bred cattle in the United States, and with a view to restricting importations to only the very best animals.

The only assurance a breeder in this country would have that his animals would be admitted after being sold to United States buyers would be their high quality. While there will be some hardship to cattle breeders of Ontario in the new regulation, it is expected that it will stimulate sales of Oxford county pure-bred Holsteins, which are recognized as standing at the top of their breed on the North American continent.

ST. JOHN'S LEAGUE ENTERTAINS ZION

Visiting Young People Put on Programme at Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 28.—The young people of St. John's League entertained the young people of Zion League, Petherick's Corners, on Monday evening in the Sunday School rooms. The President, G. P. Phillips, on behalf of St. John's young people, extended a hearty welcome to the young people of Zion League. Mr. Fred. Barnum, President of the Zion League, responded to this welcome in a few words.

The Zion League gave the following programme, which was heartily enjoyed by all:

Selection by the Zion Junior Choir.
Recitation—Miss Nellie Bennett.
Solo—"Drifting," Miss Ruth Lawrence; accompanist, Miss Iva Rowe.
Reading—Mr. Earl Fairman.
Chorus—Six girls of Zion League.
Recitation—Miss Gladys Petherick.
Duet—Rev. C. D. Daniel and Mr. Fred. Barnum.
Dialogue—Six girls of Zion League.
Community singing, led by Rev. C. D. Daniel.
Current events—Mr. Lindsay Anderson.

An interesting contest was then staged between six of Zion League against six of St. John's, the men to eat a dry soda biscuit before the ladies could drink a tumbler of water, using a small spoon. This was greeted with much laughter, and the contest was won by Zion. A very important feature of the programme came in the form of lunch, which was served by St. John's.

Mr. Fred. Barnum, on behalf of the Zion young people, expressed thanks to St. John's for a pleasant evening's entertainment.

"Use Rinso," say washing machine makers

No rubbing! Away with the old-fashioned washday! The hours upon hours of steamy toil—rubbing, scrubbing, boiling! And at the end of the day—red hands, aching back, frazzled nerves!

Rinso has changed all that. Now you just soak and rinse—and your week's wash is whiter than you've ever seen it. Everything's clean and sweet and out on the line hours earlier.

Rinso does all the work for you. It gently loosens the most ground-in dirt—so that it floats away in the rinse. Just the most soiled parts—cuffs, edges—need a light rub to come snowy.

Use Rinso in your washer for whiter, cleaner clothes. The makers of eleven leading machines recommend it. Will not hurt clothes or hands, as it contains no acids, bleach or harsh chemicals.

KING ADOPTS VIOLETS.

LONDON, April 27.—King George is much less successful than his celebrated son when it comes to setting styles. Years ago he tried to popularize trousers creased down the sides instead of front and back. Now he is wearing violets on his lapel, even having a small strip of elastic sewed to his coat to hold the tiny bouquet. Sometimes the king switches to white carnations.

AMATEUR PLAY AT ALL SAINTS'

Melodrama and Comedy Combined in "An Arizona Cowboy," Westerly Thriller.

CLEVERLY ACTED.

Melodrama and comedy were combined in the annual play produced by All Saints' Dramatic Club in the Parish Hall last night. The title is "An Arizona Cowboy," and the scene of the action is laid in that wild Western State. Farley Gantt is a cowboy sheriff, faithful and active in the performance of his duty and loyal to his partner, Paul Quillian. Paul has come under the influence of Duke and Coralie Blackshears, city crooks, takes to drink and conspires to steal the ranch payroll. He refuses to stab the paymaster and Coralie does so, but is seen and convicted, although she accuses Paul.

Grizzly Grimm, a cattle rustler, hates and fears Farley, and conspires with Duke to carry away Margarite Moore, owner of a ranch, and Farley's sweetheart. They make away with her but are followed to their hiding place by Fawn Afraid, who leaves traces by which her father, Chief Big Elk, can guide Farley and the posse in pursuit. The party arrives just as Grimm is about to kill the Indian girl. When members of the posse go to seize Blackshear he fires at Farley, but the Indian girl, who loves him, steps in front of the bullet and is killed.

Hezekiah Bugg, who by his own talk was one of the greatest men living, "back in '89", and his wife, Petunia, small but able to boss her red-headed husband, provides much of the comedy end of the play. Bugg's part is well portrayed by Harry Carter, whose mannerism as he recounts the many strange tales of former prowess or dodges a broom in the hands of his wrathful wife are excellent. Mrs. Edgar LeBarr was the wife, and wielded a wicked broomstick.

Yow Kee, Chinese saloon keeper, constantly hiding under tables and hearing plots, and Young Un, only a poorhouse girl, help carry along the comedy at the same time providing a necessary link in the main drama. Young Un attracts Paul Quillian, who quickly forgets the adventuress, with her wiles, for the unspoiled little ranch girl. Homer Lundy acts the part of the Chinaman, and Miss Jessie Maconomy is a charming Young Un.

James Price, director of the piece, has the heavy part of Farley, and his portrayal leaves nothing to be desired. Spencer Hope is his partner, Quillian, and acquits himself well, first as the drunken victim of the crooks and then as a fine young cowboy. Harold Freeman and Joe Lancashire are a pair of villains, the former a dapper city crook even when he dons cowboy garb, and the latter a regular ranch bully. Miss Dorothy Worboy, as Margarite Moore, owner of the ranch, is a popular member of the cast, winning much applause. Miss Gertrude Smith takes the part of Coralie Blackshear, vampire and knife expert, in good style.

The two Indians, Fawn Afraid and Big Elk, are most important characters and have been assigned to clever and suitable persons in Miss Gwen Lucas and Ed. Waudby. They handle their broken English parts well and are most effective in the dramatic final scene.

Jack Hope, Oswald Price, and Jim Young are three decorative cowboys who say nothing, but are always ready to drink when somebody buys the "poison." This play is being repeated tonight and tomorrow.

tary-Treasurer, he said, is seriously ill with pneumonia, and will be unable to appear before the Commission. The President will be asked to testify today.

Heavy Export to States

About eighty-five per cent of the business done was in exports to the United States. For a time beer was shipped to "J. House" in Detroit, and later to "H. Johns" also of Detroit. Mr. Rowell addressed a number of questions to the witness to find out if these two consignees were genuine people. Mr. House was a real person, said Mr. Bond.

"Who made the arrangements with him about the shipments?" asked counsel.

"I did."

'Where does he live?"

'In Detroit."

'What is his street address?"

'I don't know."

'You gave him 20 per cent. credit and you don't know where he lives?" queried Chief Commissioner Brown.

"Mr. Bond explained that business had been carried on on a cash basis until the company knew the consignee was reliable.

He thought that Mr. Johns was merely a name, and he informed Mr. Rowell that it was likely that the same people were getting delivery of beer under the latter name as had formerly done so under the former.

"Give me the name of some persons who took delivery of beer?" requested Chief Commissioner Brown.

"Well there was Smith," replied Mr. Bond.

"That's a good handy name," commented the Chief Commissioner.

'It's the name he gave us," retorted the witness.

"Give us another."

"J. Arthur," was the reply.

J. F. Clapp, formerly in charge of shipping for this company told how orders were telephoned in from Detroit.

The auditor for the Commission stated that the company had made certain deductions in its returns which were not allowable for sales tax purposes. Also it had paid sales tax on exports sales up to February, 1925, and then had stopped, taking the ground that the sales tax was not applicable.

There will be further inquiry into this brewing company today.

$50 Payments

Earlier in the afternoon came an admission from A. D. Pearsal, customs sub-collector at Kingsville, that he had received a number of $50 payments from the liquor export firm of Hoffman and Dunford. Several times a day, he stated, his presence was required at the dock to clear liquor boats for this firm. He had to use a car or taxi to get down, as his office was a mile and a half from the dock.

"If you were put to any legitimate expenses, were you not entitled to receive them from the government?" asked Mr. Rowell.

"I don't know," was the reply.

He had been surprised when Mr. Hoffman came along and gave him the first $50, Mr. Pearsall said, and he did not know that it was coming regularly.

"Was not the idea that you were to get $50 a month to cover expenses?" asked Chief Commisisoner Brown.

"How many $50 did you get?"

"I don't know."

Mr. Rowell said that the records showed six amounts of $50.

"Have they paid you anything this Spring?" he asked.

"No."

"Do you expect to get any payments this Spring?'

The witness replied that he did not. Mr. Hoffman had a mtoor car now and would call and take him down to the dock in it. If he did not have a car to go to the dock in, he would have to walk. Figuring five or six trips a day, he would not have any time in the office at all, he said.

'Why didnt you go down in Mr. Hoffmans car last year? the witness was asked.

Mr. Pearsall replied that Mr. Hoffman had only an old car which was not working well. He admitted clearing some liquor shipments for Hoffman and Dunford after six o'clock, but he declared that he had cleared none on Sunday.

"Didn't it occur to you that you were doing wrong in taking payment?" asked Mr. Rowell.

"No, Sir."

"That you were violating the Criminal Code?"

"No, Sir."

Petty Smuggling

Inquiry into some cases of petty smuggling revealed the practice, which apparently prevails to some extent here, of purchasing goods in Detroit, bringing them into Canada, and mailing them to other places in the Dominion. Floyd N. Courtenay, computing clerk and cashier, told of seizures which he had made from the local post office. Since January 1, 1926, he had held about 450 packages of which 423 proved to contain smuggled goods. Cigarettes, dresses, radio parts were among the things smuggled. One parcel contained seven cartons of cagarettes.

The Commission took the ground that there should be prosecutions in such cases. "There should be prosecutions and publicity given to them," said Judge Brown. He did not think that the penalty which requires payment of the duty-paid value of the goods was sufficiently severe.

Mr. Courtenay told how a lady had smuggled several cartons of cigarettes in January of 1926. She had been warned.

"Now this is a good time to bring that lady before us," suggested Judge Brown.

The latest seizure of mailed smuggled goods had been a number of silk stockings, stated the witness. No name of the sender was enclosed in the package.

THIS CANADA OF OURS

Q.—What is rayon?

A.—The rayon industry is that of artificial silk. It is growing rapidly in Canada and has a bright future. Several large plants exist, chiefly in Quebec, representing an investment of many millions. Other concerns are considering entering this field of industry, which is a comparatively new one. Timber forms the raw material of the fabric.

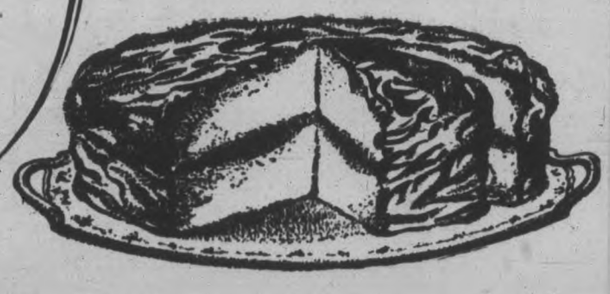
"I recognized the excellence of this NEW Cake Flour the first time I used it."

—N. L. PATTINSON
Domestic Scientist



By NELLIE LYLE PATTINSON
Domestic Scientist
Author of The Canadian Cook Book

THIS is what I found the first time I tried Quaker Cake Flour:—

A flour that is easy to handle;

That is used just like ordinary flour except that you need less of it;

A flour of superlative fineness which gives an exceedingly delicate texture to the cake.

The experience of everyone who has used Quaker Cake Flour is that it is uniformly good. It always bakes the same and produces cakes of wonderfully good colour.

Money and time are wasted when you make poor cakes. They are usually unwholesome and indigestible. It is easy now to have success every time you bake.

Quaker Cake Flour will ensure you against failure and the loss and disappointment it incurs. It has been thoroughly tested both by food chemists and domestic science experts. It has been tried in many home kitchens by skilled cooks and by beginners.

I am sure you will have a new delight in cake-baking if you will try Quaker Cake Flour. It is sold under the maker's positive guarantee of satisfactory results or your money will be refunded by your grocer.

The Quaker Oats Company, Peterborough or Saskatoon, will send you by mail a full-sized package for 30 cents in stamps or coin.

From one and all who have used Quaker Cake Flour have come expressions of enthusiasm and praise in such words as these:

"My cakes are lighter and more delicate than I have ever made before."

"My cakes keep fresh longer than ever before."

"Quaker Cake Flour is not expensive because I use less than of ordinary flour and because I do not have failure."

"Nearly all my friends came over to me and asked for the recipe of my wonderful cake."

The dietitian of a large institution in Western Ontario writes:

"The cakes turned out beautifully, and I found they remained fresh for a surprisingly long time."

Nujol type of treatment not habit-forming... physicians said!

RECENTLY we found that doctors prefer the Nujol type of constipation treatment for six distinct reasons. The chief of these is that it is not habit-forming. Most laxatives and cathartics are. We quote from actual reports taken at random from hundreds of questionnaires.

"Much the best treatment because it is not habit-forming. Laxatives only increase stability of constipation-habit."

"Laxatives have a tendency to form rigid habits of dependency, and are not corrective."

Doctors Advise Nujol

Eight doctors out of every ten told us they were advising the Nujol type of treatment for their patients in place of laxatives—and for these reasons:

1. Nujol is not habit-forming.
2. A more natural method.
3. A lubricant is better than a laxative.
4. Does not gripe.
5. Is not irritating.
6. Nujol gives lasting relief.

Unlike Laxatives

Laxatives and cathartics act by irritating the intestinal tract. They cause the bowels to frantically expel the contents of the intestines and thus rid the system of the drugs that pills and potions contain.

Nujol acts entirely differently. It contains no drugs, no medicine. Its action is mechanical. It merely softens the dried waste matter in the intestines and lubricates the passage so that the muscles of the bowels can expel the waste matter regularly, naturally and thoroughly.

Nature-given Remedy

Nujol appeals to the medical man because it is a simple, scientific and safe remedy for constipation, no matter how severe the case may be. It is gentle in its action and pleasant to take. Children love it! Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today. Doctors advise it for constipation, whether chronic or temporary. Avoid substitutes.

SOCIETY

The community dance and official house-warming of the new freight sheds of the Canadian National Railway Company, held last evening in the newly-erected quarters of the railway company, under auspices of the Rotary Club, proved to be one of the most successful affairs of its kind ever held in the city. There were nearly seven hundred people in attendance during the evening, and the jolly informal nature of the gathering gave them a delightful entertainment, spent in dancing to the excellent music provided by Stewart Widdess' seven piece orchestra. For three hundred and sixty feet, the length of nearly a city block, those present tripped and trotted, under long lines of colored electric lights, the wall of the long sheds decorated with bright buntings, and the orchestra stand fronted by the double flags of Canada and the United States. Refreshments were served from a well-patronized buffet stand in charge of ladies of the Rotary-Annes, who assisted the Rotary Club members in doing everything possible to add to the comfort and enjoyment of their guests. In an inner room, a few tables of bridge were played. The General Superintendent of the company, R. H. Fish, of Toronto, and the Superintendent at Belleville, "Dan" McMillan, were introduced to the gathering by President A. L. Killaly, in a brief appropriate speech, in which Mr. Killaly thanked the railway company for the opportunity provided in augmenting the Rotary Club funds by this event. Arrangements for decorations were looked after by Mrs. H. A. Lemmings and Mrs. F. Dainton, and for refreshments by Mrs. C. Barton. Mrs. F. M. Dela Fosse was in charge of the bridge tables and Mrs. M. Budd of the euchre games. Mrs. W. J. Kent distributed the prizes, which were won at bridge by Mrs. W. J. Kent and Mrs. P. Convery, with the consolation award to Mrs. C. H. Amys. SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Jim, Junior, and his bride, Fay, insisted upon Jim Lane's lunching with them, so that Faith and Bob were free to lunch alone and to talk unhampered of Cherry's trial. They had long since tacitly agreed to shun the subject of the trial and its probable outcome when Cherry's disconsolate father was with them.

"We'll lunch in our own little tea room, which the mob hasn't discovered yet, thank heaven," Bob told her compassionately, as they drove away from the court house. "No, we don't want a paper!" he shouted irritably to a newsboy who had clambered upon the running board.

"Wait, Bob!" Faith cried seeing the headlines. "Your aunt, Mrs. Allbright, has been robbed! Here, sonny!" She dropped a nickel into the boy's dirty hand and took the paper.

"'Cluny's daughter victim of jewel robbery'," she read aloud. "She was robbed on Saturday while she was attending the trial, dear, and the loss has just been discovered."

"How much?" Bob asked laconically, but there was a rather grim smile on his handsome, tired face.

"The loss is estimated at forty thousand dollars," Faith told him breathlessly, her eyes jumping down the column of type. "It says that this is the fourth big jewel robbery in the last six months, and not a single arrest has been made yet. The chief of police is quoted here as saying it looks like the work of one gang, directed by a 'master mind'."

"Old stuff!" Bob snorted contemptuously. "Just a nice, machine-made little alibi that Morehouse trots out when he's fallen down on the job. What's that headline about Cherry?"

"'Bates' testimony blow to defence.'" Faith read aloud, dispiritedly. "A subhead says, 'Cherry lays blame on Wiley, when confronted by preacher.' I knew the papers would seize on Bates' testimony as a sort of confession, and you can imagine what they'll do with Anderson's evidence about Cherry saying, 'To think I got rid of Ralph Cluny for a thing like you!' The late afternoon papers will be shrieking that Cherry confessed to killing Cluny, Bob!" She dropped the paper to the floor of the car and laid a trembling hand on his arm. "We've got to do something! Do you realize that Churchill has nothing—nothing—to combat all this terrible evidence with, but Cherry's own unsupported word? And when he puts her on the witness stand Banning will simply tear her to pieces. We've got to do something, Bob!"

"I've been hoping that Crowell, Churchill's investigator, would turn up something," Bob admitted dejectedly. "Seems to me a good detective could have got hold of something in connection with that threatening letter, but Churchill says they have run into a blind alley on that lead."

"Have you forgotten all about old Phil, the beggar?" Faith asked, reproach creeping into her tired voice.

"No, darling, I haven't forgotten about him. I've got a man stationed to watch Phil's corner and to report to me if the beggar shows up, and I've been down in Shantytown—Peach Tree Hollow—twice lately, to try to trace him. If he's living down there he's got the whole dirty district in cahoots with him to hide the fact. Looks to me like somebody's told him that I'm looking for him and he's hiding out. Old Kelly, who runs the news stand, you know, has promised to get word to me the minute old Phil shows up. Here we are, honey. Let's have lunch and try to forget about it all for an hour. It breaks my heart to see you looking so tired and discouraged. I wish you'd stay at home one day from the trial and try to get some rest."

"Stay at home when Cherry is fighting for her life?" Faith flamed at him. "Bob, I believe you've given up hope! You're beginning to believe she did it! And if you doubt her—No, don't touch me! I don't want to be made love to! I want Cherry to be free! I don't want anything else in the world!"

Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

To-day's Bedtime Story.

(Copyright 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE TAPPER

While hopping through the woods one day on his way to the eight and nine cent store to get some presents for his forty 'leven little bunny boys and girls Uncle Wiggily suddenly heard a queer knocking sound.

"It seems to be some one tapping on a door" thought the bunny rabbit gentleman to himself "but there are no doors in the woods. Of course the woods are out of doors" and the bunny laughed at his little joke. "But I wonder who can be tapping?"

At first he thought it might be the Ruffled Grouse a bird who makes a drumming noise with his wings but it was none of these or Mr. Longears would have see them.

"You did me a great favor," said the woodpecker.

Still the tapping sound continued and then all of a sudden it stopped and there was heard the fluttering of wings. At the same time a muffled voice called:

"Help! Help! Help!"

"Ha! I thought so! Trouble! That means an adventure for me unless this should turn out to be one of the bad chaps playing a trick to catch me" said Uncle Wiggily. He listened again. There was no more of the tapping sounds but again the voice called:

"Please help me; I'm caught!"

"Who are you?" asked the rabbit "and where are you. If you are the Fox or Bob Cat playing a trick I'm going to run for the Police Dog."

"I am not a bad chap, I am just a tapper" was the answer.

"Do you mean you are a cobbler or shoe mender?" asked Mr. Longears. "They are great tappers are cobblers."

"I am not that kind of a tapper" was the muffled answer. "I am a Woodpecker bird. I drill round holes in the trunks of trees that I may dig out the bugs and worms hiding underneath the bark. But I drove my sharp bill too deeply in a tree just now and it stuck fast so I am caught."

"Then I shall be very happy to set you free my tapper friend" said Uncle Wiggily. "Where are you?"

"Caught in the dead chestnut tree near the big beech" answered the voice and Uncle Wiggily soon hopped there. He saw the Woodpecker bird or tapper with his bill stuck deep down in the bark. Using his paws gently to push the bird's bill back and forth the rabbit gentleman soon loosened it so the tapper could pull himself loose.

"You did me a great favor" said the Woodpecker as he flew up on high branch to rest himself. "Some day I hope I may do a favor for you or one of your friends."

"Thank you but I am not likely to get stuck in a tree!" chuckled the rabbit. "I haven't a sharp beak like you my tapper friend."

Glad that he had enjoyed this little adventure Uncle Wiggily hopped on through the woods while the Woodpecker looked for more bugs and worms taking care however not to drive his bill too deeply into the bark again.

It was only a little while after this that Bumple Wogglejig the little green wooden boy who lived in the bungleump was running through the woods looking for Uncle Wiggily. But the rabbit had hopped on and Bumple could not find him. However Bumple found a tree with a round hole in it and at once the Wogglejig boy said:

"I'm going to stick one of my legs in that hole and see what happens." It did not take him long to find out what was to happen for Bumple thrust his left front leg so hard and so far down into the hole that he couldn't pull it out again.

"Oh help! help! I'm caught!" cried Bumple. "Help me Uncle Wiggily."

There was a rustling in the tree branches and a bird flew down.

"Are you a friend of Uncle Wiggily?" the bird asked.

"Of course I am!" answered Bumple. "Uncle Wiggily lives in our bungleump."

"Then I shall help you for Uncle Wiggily helped me!" cried the bird.

"Who are you?" asked Bumple.

"I am the Tapper or Woodpecker" was the answer. "Stand quietly now and with my strong hard beak I'll drill around the edge of the hole where your leg is caught and make it larger so you can pull yourself loose. Don't be afraid."

So Bumple wasn't afraid and soon the Woodpecker made the hole so large that the little Wogglejig boy had no trouble at all in pulling loose his leg. And then along hopped Uncle Wiggily.

"I couldn't do you a favor" cried the Woodpecker to the bunny "but I did one for a friend of yours."

"Fine!" cried the bunny rabbit and everybody was happy.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

This pleated black chiffon under set, designed to be worn under a black frock, is trimmed with black Chantilly lace.

It is a not particularly important fact of history that Anne Boleyn, one of Henry VIII's seven wives, wore a black velvet. History does not tell us why she wore that black night gown—whether from motives of economy or because of gloomy forebodings of her ultimate fate. Maybe it was becoming and maybe her bluebeard husband liked it. One thing is certain, and that is that the black satin night gown edged with black velvet was a far different sort of garment from the up-to-date black night gowns made of black ninon or georgette, as figh and dainty as any night gowns of flesh-colored georgette and lace.

A charming black night gown recently seen was of ninon with fine vertical pleats down he front and a yoke and deep ruffle on the skirt made of black chantilly lace. For some reason or other these black night gowns are enjoying much favor at the present time—perhaps because of the very easily explained vogue for black underthings. But of course the modern woman does not consider them economical.

Black frocks, especially black evening frocks have seldom been more popular than they are at the present time, and with the black evening frock black underthings are eminently desirable. Some women have put black shoulder straps on flesh or white combinations or slips to wear with black evening gowns—but the all-black garment is really more attractive. One prejudice against the black underwear of other times has been that black fabric frequently blackened the skin with which it came in contact. It is possible to get black ninon or georgette, crepe de chine or chiffon that is as "fast" as a dyed material ever could be. But it is a safe precaution to make sure that the black materials from which your underthings are made are of this fast black variety.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

FRIDAY, APRIL 29, 1927.

Astrologers read this as a most unfavorable day, for many malefic influences are active, they find in reading the stars.

In the early hours transactions in real estate should be fairly fortunate, but later it is wise to avoid investing money.

There is a sign indicating serious conflicts among the peoples of the Earth and today's configuration does not make for peace.

Unrest and discontent may be prevalent in family life under this rule of the stars. Divorces will increase in the coming months, it is indicated.

While there may be discouraging conditions apparent in the world the seers point out that the period of reaction is near.

There must be a final upheaval, occultists declare, in which the Earth has a frightful housecleaning, but after it there will be a period of splendid attainment.

In the purifying process to which world conditions must be subjected individuals necessarily must suffer, it is pointed out, but they who have spiritual insight will be fortunate.

Labor difficulties are foretold for next month in England, where there will be much anxiety for the government.

Lake Superior is to be affected by adverse planetary conditions in the late spring and persons living in this region should be prepared for unusual experiences, astrologers announce.

Certain parts of Texas also are subject to an adverse rule of the stars, which may cause disturbed industrial and political conditions.

There is the forecast of a summer of extraordinary weather conditions. Extremes may be looked for in many parts of the country.

Development of new agencies for war in the shape of explosives as well as gases is prognosticated, and they will be used, if the stars are rightly read.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a lucky year in which they should be successful in love as well as in work.

Children born on this day are likely to be steady and determined in whatever they undertake. They may be intense and for that reason difficult to direct. They must be taught self-control.

MANY TO ATTEND GIRL GUIDE CAMP

Some Leading Officials of the Imperial Council To Be Present.

TORONTO, April 28.—Applications to join the party attending the Jubilee Camp for Canadian Girl Guides at Victoria, B.C., in July, have been coming in steadily to headquarters, and, though the camp is confined to commissioners, guiders, patrol leaders, guides, and invited guests, the lists promise over 250 members in the party, with some 175 of these leaving Toronto by special train on July 5.

It was learned with regret that the Chief Scout, Sir Robert Baden Powell, and Lady Powell, who is the Chief Guide, would be unable to attend the camp, as they are returning directly to England from their sojourn in South Africa. However, Dame Catharine Furse, G.B.E., assistant chief commissioner of the Imperial Council of Girl Guides; Miss Alice Behrens, former head of training at Foxlease, England, who is now in Australia, and Miss Muriel Montgomery, general secretary of the Imperial headquarters, have sent word that they will be in attendance at the camp, and they have also graciously consented to be the chief speakers for the actual week of camp at Victoria, when the party will go under canvas on the campus of the University grounds.

Others attending the camp will include Miss I. L. James, of Havergal College, Toronto, who will act as train commandant for the journey, when the party will travel as a Guide Company; Dr. Edna Guest, of Victoria College, who will be the medical officer; Dr. Norma Ford, of the Biological department of Toronto University, who will be the camp Naturalist; Mrs. H. D. Warren, of Toronto, chief commissioner for Canada, who is the general chairman of the camp committee; Miss E. F. Mara, of Victoria, provincial commissioner for British Columbia, who is to be the camp commandant; Mrs. Burford Burke, of Regina, commissioner for Saskatchewan; Mrs. E. B. Smith, of London, Ont., commissioner for Ontario; Mrs. A. E. Elton, of Calgary; Mrs. Jackson Dodds, of Winnipeg, commissioner for Manitoba, and Miss Sheila Boyd, of Toronto, secretary of the Jubilee Camp committee.

Camp registrations from the various provinces are placed at about the following figures, to date: Nova Scotia, 2; New Brunswick, 3; Quebec, 36; Manitoba, 16; Alberta, 18; Saskatchewan, 10; Ontario, 88 (65 going with the party and the balance to join the camp at the coast), and British Columbia, at least 75.

CHANG ORDERS 21 STRANGLED

Twenty-one Chinese Taken in Embassy Compound Are Executed.

ONE WOMAN KILLED.

PEKING, April 28 (United Press) — Twenty-one Chinese captured when local police raided the Soviet Embassy compound here were strangled to death by order of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin.

The strangled Chinese included one woman and also the famous leader Lita-Hao.

The Chinese were alleged by Chang to be Communists. They were taken in a raid by Chang's men on the compound, permission for which had been granted by the diplomatic corps.

Executions by strangulation followed a "secret trial," according to the announcement of the infliction of the penalty. Russian prisoners seized during the raid were not executed and there remained today thirty other Chinese in prison.

Chang's death order was carried out at 1 p.m. today.

THIEVES TAKE SMALL SAFE

Carry 200 Pound Strong Box To Car and Drive Away.

FROM TORONTO STORE.

TORONTO, April 28 (Canadian Press).—Entering Arnold's meat market on Danforth Avenue early to-day, thieves dragged a small safe weighing about 200 pounds out to the street and, placing it into a waiting motor car, drove off. People living above the store heard the commotion below and telephoned the police, who found the doors of the store wide open but no trace of the robbers. The amount of money in the safe will not exceed $50. The automobile used by the thieves was stolen.

Canadian-grown seeds command recognition in foreign markets by virtue of their inherent qualities of hardiness and vigour of growth. It is a fact, of which Europeans have long been aware, that in the Northern Hemisphere, the farther north any plant can be brought to perfection the higher will be the quality and that of near descendants.

Could Not Sleep Heart and Nerves Were So Bad

Mr. Geo. Meek, Windsor, Ont., writes:—"I suffered with my heart and nerves and could not sleep at night for noises in my head. I managed to keep at my work somehow, until I began to have dizzy spells which got so bad I could not go to my work. I was afraid to go out any place, for very often I would stagger on my feet, and everything in front of me would turn black and fade away. While I was home sick a friend told me to take MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS. I got four boxes and by the time I had used them the pains and noises in my head ceased and I was able to get a good night's rest. Although that was six years ago I have never been troubled with that complaint again."

Price 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

OFFICER SAYS NOTHING PAID HIM BY BONDS

Piche, Sub-Collector, Denies Receiving Anything From Shippers.

CAN'T EXPLAIN TALE.

Formation of Foreign Exporting Company Investigated By Commission.

WINDSOR, April 28 (Canadian Press).—"I say it is not true. I deny it." This was the statement of J. U. Piche, sub-collector of customs at the port of Sandwich, when confronted with a declaration by W. R. Bonds, vice-president of the British American Brewing Company, that he (Bonds) had paid Mr. Piche $100 a month for about a year.

Yesterday Mr. Bonds swore to the payments and explained why they were made. Today, Mr. Piche denied absolutely that he had received money from Mr. Bonds or anyone else. Both witnesses were on their oath before the Royal Customs Commission.

"Can you suggest any reason why Mr. Bonds should come forward and make such a statement under oath?" asked Hon. N. W. Rowell, counsel for the Commission.

"No."

Didn't Work Long Hours

Mr. Piche also denied that he had been on the job from seven in the morning until six at night in order to clear liquor boats for the British American Brewing Co.

"I might have gone down some times at seven in the morning to look things over, but not on any shipper's suggestion," he said.

"Some people are liable to stab you in the back any minute——" Mr. Piche started to explain when Mr. Rowell was trying to get an explanation from him in regard to Mr. Bonds' statement. Counsel discouraged this line of explanation.

Export Company Probed

There was much discussion earlier in the sitting in regard to the Foreign Exporting Company yhich handled some export shipments for the British American Brewing Co. Mr. Bonds admitted that this name was used on export shipments partly so that United States authorities might not know the British American Export Co. was exporting beer across the border. He insisted that this export company had really been in process of formation, but it had never actually come into being.

H. O. C. Palmer, one of the Commission auditors, said he understood that the explanation for the Foreign Exporting Co. was that the American authorities had access to the books of the Canadian Customs. The British American Brewing Company was desirous not to appear on these books as an exporter to the United States, he understood, so shipments were made in the name of the Foreign Exporting Company.

NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH

A three-act comedy entitled "Nothing But the Truth" was presented by the Young People of St. Luke's Church, in the Parish Hall last night, under the direction of Stan. Curtis. The first act shows the interior of a brokerage office, where E. H. Ralston, Robert Bennett, and Dick Donnelly are partners of the firm. Here Bennett offers to bet Ralston that he can tell nothing but the truth, and in that bet lies the plot of the play. Ralston takes him up and makes a wager of ten thousand dollars.

In an effort to win the bet, Bennett finds himself insulting many people and among these, to his dismay, is the girl he hopes to make his wife. She is very rich, but Bennett holds to his agreement and doesn't yield. Bishop Doran, played by Gordon Maniece, is the outstanding feature of the play, for although it is not the principal part, yet it causes the audience to have many a laugh over the poor Bishop's predicament when he buys some worthless stock, but he manages to get his money back, and not only that, but he also obtains the interest on the money.

Two flappers, Sable and Mabel Jackson, played by the Misses Gertrue and Amy Droupe, cause a good deal of excitement when Mrs. Ralston is led to believe that they are flirting with her husband.

At last the twenty-four hours are up, and Bennett wins the ten thousand dollars from Ralston. There is much amusement caused when Bennett goes to the people who has insulted and tries to make amends. He is forgiven by everyone and he marries the rich girl that he has insulted: so peace is restored all round, and this all results from telling "nothing but the truth."

The following is the cast of characters: Robert Bennett, Mr. C. Hope; E. M. Ralston, Mr. R. Krant; Dick Donnelly, Mr. S. Curtis; Clarence Van Dusen, Mr. O. Heap; Bishop Doran, Mr. G. Maniece; Gwendolyn Ralston, Miss C. Finley; Ethel Clarke, Miss Q. Hope; Sable Jackson, Miss G. Doupe; Mable Jackson, Miss A. Doupe; Martha, Miss A. Heap.

Excellent talent was shown by all the persons who took part in the play and it is a good wholesome comedy. A great deal of this success is due to the earnest work that S. Curtis as director; R. Sedgwick as assistant director; E. Heap as stage manager; and V. Sedgwick as the assistant stage director have given to the organization to make it something worth while.

Music between the acts was furnished by a Panatrope loaned by the Heintzman Company.

JUDGE REFUSES ANY COMMENT

Will Not Talk Out of Court On Threatened Action.

AGAINST HIS ORDER.

TORONTO, April 28.— (Canadian Press.)—"I am a judge. Anything I have to say I will say in court."

This was the statement to-day of Mr. Justice Riddell, who is presiding at the trial of Mrs. Myra Fisher and John Vaughan on a charge of murdering the woman's husband, in Assize Court when questioned with reference to the fact that the Toronto Building Trades Council was considering an action following his ordering cessation of work on a building adjacent to the City Hall where the murder trial is in progress. Mr. Justice Riddell yesterday complained that the noise of the workmen interrupted the trial and ordered the work to stop.

"TOMATO WEEK" INCREASES SALE

Dealers Find That Concerted Advertising Helps Their Business.

Tomato Week is now on and almost every store in the city will display "the red fruit" during the coming week. The use of canned tomatoes is becoming more and more popular year by year. Last year was a successful year for the tomato manufacturers and retailers alike. In the "tomato week" that was staged last year the different companies had many letters from retailers telling how much their sales had increased by this extra publicity for the one week. Grocers large and small profited proportionately as comments from these respective merchan's to the manufacturers show. One man reported that his sales had increased 400 per cent during the campaign. To encourage better window advertising the "Canadian Grocer" magazine has offered prizes for competition all over Canada. In order that all merchants will have the fairest possible chance in the contest, Canada has been divided into three zones, with two classes of districts in each.

Zone 1 comprises Ontario and Quebec; zone two covers the western provinces, and in zone three the maritime provinces will compete.

Good evidence that advertising is the best possible way of selling is the window of the new office of The Examiner. How many persons could pass that window so artistically done without the feeling that they must have tomatoes for their next meal? Very few could and one could hardly blame them for a display such as this would catch the eye of every passer-by.

To assist dealers in making attractive window and interior displays, during this great campaign streamers and show cards may be obtained free by writing to the "Canadian Grocer."

DISEASE COST HIGH IN CANADA

Two Per Cent of People Ill at All Times, Says Foster.

PRODUCTION LOSS.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 28.—Sir George Foster, speaking at a social hygiene gathering here on the subject of preventable disease, presented some striking comparisons.

"Two per cent. of the people of Canada are continuously ill," said Sir George. "That must be of keen interest to the Minister of Health. It means that, out of nine million people, 180,000 are in sick beds or in a condition of illness where production or self-aid is impossible.

"The Minister of Immigration, working along with the Minister of Public Health, spends, I am not going to say how many millions, each year, to bring able-bodied men and women and children from foreign countries, plant them into our own regions, our own climate and amidst our own customs. And rightly so.

"It is an absolute necessity for Canada to have a population to produce and bring to flower and fruitage the waste spaces in our great country.

"But just think that, of the 180,000 who are ill each day, fifty per cent. of these cases are preevntable. That means 90,000 people. How many do we bring in, from overseas, to people Canada?

"Does it make up for the devastating work of preventable disease, that enemy which is attacking the health of the people out in the field of production?

"Along the same line, twenty-one million days of labor are lost annually in Canada through illness. One-half of that—fifty per cent.—is preventable. There are 10,500,000 days of work uselessly lost each year because of preventable sickness.

"Should the Minister of Labor be threatened with a nation-wide strike tomorrow, which would paralyze labor to the extent that I have mentioned —10,500,000 days of labor likely to be lost—it would be a lamentable situation. Yet we now face this very situation every day in the year.

"We would be acting wisely if we pooled our interests and attacked this enemy which is unnecessarily disabling such a large proportion of our people.

"My attention has been called to the fact that money is paid for this thing anyway. It is stated, on a careful estimate, that $270,000,000 is the total yearly cost of institutional care of the sick in Canada.

"Somewhere, somehow, out of the pockets of some of us, there has to come, every year, that tremendous sum of money to care for the illness in the country.

"If we could prevent even two per cent. of that, we would save money. If we were able to save fifty per cent. we would save much more."

JUDGE CHARGES MURDER JURY

Defence Counsel Says That Suspicion Is Not Enough.

WOBURN MURDER.

TORONTO, April 28. Canadian Press. -- Mr. Justice Riddell commenced his charge to the jury this afternoon in the case of Mrs. Myra Fisher and Albert Vaughan, jointly charged with the murder of Albert Fisher, the woman's husband, at Woburn, Ont., on Feb. 7th last. Fisher's body was found lying beside a motor truck in a burning garage at the Fisher home.

Colonel T. H. Lennox, M.P., defenec counsel, in addressing the jury to-day, said that Mr. Riddell had stated that there "might have been suspicion" but that suspicion did not warrant the jury in bringing in a verdict of murder.

ICE ENGINEER

These cause a very powerful explosion of the ice itself which gives rise to a great upheaval, accompanied by flames, often shooting 40 feet into the air.

Dr. Barnes said he had lifted ice masses, 1000 by 500 feet, one foot into the air with a 160 pound charge of thermite.

THE MARKETS

Mining Market Strong Kirkland Lake a Leader

TORONTO, April 28.— (Canadian Press.) —Irregular price movements featured the market on the standard mining exchange to-day. The volume of business was fairly large, with losses and gains being about equal in number. Kirkland Lake was an outstanding feature with an advance of 22 cents a share to 1.29. It was a leader in activity. Beaver in sympathy with the former, sold up 11 cents to 99. Aconda was strong, selling up three cents to 26. Lake Shore made a gain of 5 to 19.05 and Central Manitoba Gold one cent to 1.44. McIntyre dropped 40 cents to 35.50, Nipissing 24 to 6.06, Pioneer 8 1-2 to 91, Sylvante 20 to 3.50 and Wright Hargreaves five cents to 1095.

Stock Prices Undergo Sharp Downward Swing

NEW YORK, April 28 (Canadian Press).—Stock prices underwent another sharp downward readjustment to-day under heavy selling for both accounts. The selling centered largely in the steels and industrials, which were liquidated on further unfavorable trade news. Oils sank to new low levels for the year on prediction of trade executives that the era of over-production in the oil industry was likely to be of long duration and that disaster threatened some companies. A further decline in steel production, coupled with the threat of a serious suspension of work by the New York building trades, inspired the liquidation of steel shares. Growing estimate of flood damage brought about further liquidation of shares of railroads traversing the Mississippi Valley. General Motors was liquidated freely and sold down more than two points but Pierce-Arrow Preferred which recently sustained a bad break on the publication of a poor quarterly report, received better support.

Massey Harris Breaks Strong International Nickel Drops

TORONTO, April 28. — (Canadian Press.)— Massey-Harris, International Nickel and Hiram Walker were the centres of interest on the market of the Toronto stock exchange to-day. Massey Harris was the leader in activity and consistent demand for the stock sent the price up two points to 37 1-2. Nickel was the victim of profit taking and sold off 2 1-8 points to 56 1-4. Walker was irregular in its movements, selling as high as 49 1-2 at the opening to sag 45 3-4. It recovered partially to close at 47 1-2, a decline of 1-2. Industrial Alcohol was quiet and firm at 28 7-8, a gain of 1-2. Brazilian was somewhat stronger and moved up 1-2 to 139 1-4. Canners was off 2 3-8 at 58 and Dominion Stores 1 3-8 to 83 1-2. Kirkland Lake feetured the mining set when it advanced to 1.31 in large turnover.

Wheat Prices Move Up On Reports Of Small Acreage

CHICAGO, April 28 (Canadian Press)—Wheat tended upward in the early dealings to-day after something of a sag at the start. Talk of a probable reduction of spring wheat acreage on account of lateness of the season was current. Opening at 3-8 decline to 1-8 advance, wheat subsequently hardened all around. Corn, oats and provisions were easy, corn starting unchanged to ½ cent off and later holding near to the initial range.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 134, July 130 5-8. Corn, May 70 5-8, July 76¾. Oats, May 44¾, July 45 3-8.

Forest fires in Canada, the great majority of which were caused by carelessness, have burned annually, during the last six years, an average of about 1,400,000 acres of young growth of various ages, representing the annual increment on 25 million to 30 million acres of forested land.

SAFEGUARDING MILK

BY PASTEURIZATION

The consensus of opinion of those who have for years been carefully studying the relation of milk to disease is that there are only two kinds of milk that should be permitted by any Department of Health or Board of Health, to be sold for human consumption. These are certified milk, and inspected, scientifically pasteurized milk. We use the term "scientifically pasteurized" to distinguish it from the various commercial forms of pasteurization that have been used in the past.

The following are the definitions of "certified" milk and "pasteurized" milk, as contained in the Ontario Milk Act.

Use of the Word "Certified"

"It shall be unlawful to apply the term 'certified' to any milk which does not comply with the following standard:"

(a) It shall be from cows semi-annually subjected to the tuberculin test and found without reaction.

(b) It shall contain not more than 10,000 bacteria per cubic centimetre from June to September, both inclusive, and not more than 5,000 bacteria per cubic centimetre from October to May, both inclusive.

(c) It shall be free from blood, pus, or disease-producing organisms.

(d) It shall be free from disagreeable odor or taste.

(e) It shall have undergone no pasteurization or sterilization, and be free from chemical preservatives.

(f) It shall be cooled to 45 degrees Fahrenheit or under, within half an hour after milking, and kept at that temperature until delivered to the consumer.

(g) It shall contain twelve to thirteen per cent of milk solids, of which at least three and one-half per cent. is butter fat.

(h) It shall be from a farm the herd of which is inspected monthly by the veterinarian, and the employees of which are examined monthly by a physician.

TELLS HOW TO MAKE THE HAIR BEAUTIFUL

Simple Home Treatment Works Wonders. Stops Dandruff, Itching, Falling Hair, Makes Hair Soft, Lustrous, Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "Hair Tonics" in the world is this simple old-fashioned home recipe of plain Bay Rum, Lavona (de Composee) and Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home or by your druggist, in a couple minutes' time, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see!

Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavona, 6 oz. plain Bay Rum and ½ drachm of Methol Crystals. Dissolve Menthol in the Bay Rum, pour in 8 oz. bottle, add the 2 oz. Lavona, shake well, let stand for one hour—and the greatest hair dressing you have ever tried is ready for use. Ask your druggist.

Apply night and morning, rubbing briskly into scalp with finger tips or medium stiff brush. This cleanses scalp of dirt, dust, excessive oil and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage. Itching ceases, dandruff soon disappears and within a few days, you will notice that loose straggling hair takes on new life and stops falling out.

A week's trial of this simple home recipe will easily convince you of its superior value and we know nothing so delightfully effective and certain in action. Any druggist can make it up in a couple of minutes—get it today!

IS BIG BAMBINO ON GOLF LINKS

Consistent Outslugging of Stars Make Leo Diegel the Greatest Driver.

HAS WIDE SWING.

BY JIMMY POWERS

NEW YORK, April 28.—All-round tee bombardments of the past year have cinched a new title for Leo Diegel.

He is the greatest driver playing golf to-day.

Sl(?? Whew—how that man can lam a pill!

Babe Ruth, who is some little ball nudger himself, saw Diegel getting off a few practice blasts at New York. He stood silently for a minute watching Diegel send little white pellets sizzling down the fairway like rifle shots. Stark amazement was on his pan, beg pardon, on Mr. Ruth's countenance.

"Well," he muttered sadly as he turned to unlimber his own driver, "I'll be a cup of coffee."

Here is the secret of Diegel's long driving. He is not tall, yet he gets a very wide arc in his swing which is flat. He braces himself so he leans well toward the ball and he holds his arms OUT from the body.

He does not place any part of his clubhead BEHIND the ball when addressing it but holds it inside the ball at least three or four inches.

Funny? Well, Gene Sarzen laughed too. He laughed right out loud in print at the unorthodox style and Diegel challenged him to a series of matches and after it was all over, Leo took his winnings and told the orthodox little Italian to go buy himself a lollypop and new typewriter.

Diegel's most famous drive was pulled off at Troon, Scotland, scene of the British open. It was at the eleventh hole, measuring 340 yards. Leo unleashed a screamer that held the line to the pin all the way. After a long carry it landed in front of the green and rolled dead to the cup, but was traveling a bit too fast and stopped six feet on the other side.

Had there been a shade less punch Leo would have had a 340-yard hole in one to rave about.

In the 1926 P.G.A. Diegel's drives were longer than his partner, Walter Hagen, and he had the champion shooting first to the green three times to his one.

Leo had his lazy spells and if he works a little harder on his iron game he ought to get somewhere in the 1927 money. He's the type, though, who likes to dream happily under palm trees and throw monkeys at the cocoanuts.

You'd Be SURPRISED!

BY BILLY EVANS

To Babe Ruth, holder of records galore in baseball, goes the honor of having performed the greatest offensive and defensive feats ever staged in a single world series game.

When you take into consideration all the famous athletes who have participated in the diamond classic, it is easy to realize what a remarkable young man Mr. Babe Ruth really is, provided you don't know it.

Ruth's defensive performance happened in the second game of the 1916 world series between Brooklyn and Boston. Babe was then the star southpaw of the latter team.

This affair went 14 innings and was finally won by Boston 2-1. Sherry Smith, now with Cleveland, opposed Ruth. With two down in the first inning, "Hi" Myers hit a home run. That was Brooklyn's lone tally. He held the Dodgers scoreless in the ensuing 13 frames, allowing only five hits.

His offensive record was the making of three home runs in one game in the 1926 clash between New York and St. Louis, the most marvelous bit of super-slugging the game will probably ever see.

Quite some attraction, this fellow Babe Ruth.

PROPOSES RACE TO LOS ANGELES

World's Greatest Single Athletic Project Announced For 1927.

$50,000 PRIZE.

LOS ANGELES, April 28.—C. C. Pyle, promoter de luxe, has announced his worlds' greatest athletic project—a foot race from Los Angeles to New York, for a stake of $50,000.

The race will be open to all nationalities, Pyle said, and he expects at least 300 of the world's best runners to line up for the start of the race some time in January or February next year.

Arrangements for the trans-continental marathon will require nearly a year, Pyle believes. He said he planned to leave for New York next week to mold definite plans for the event. Hugo Quist, already has been detailed to tour Wales Wales and the Scandinavian country and he will sail from New York next month hopeful of bringing back from 10 to 15 runners from those countries.

Pyle hopes to enlist Indian runners from the plains of Brazil and Patagonia, and expects a score of Tarahumara Indians of Mexico to enter. He is especially interested in obtaining runners from the Riffian tribesmen who set a record of travelling 95 miles a day on foot during the Morocco war.

The race, Pyle figures, will cost him $250,000 in round figures, but he expects to make money. He intimated the "gate receipts" may even surpass the returns from his lucrative promotions of Red Grange, Suzanne Lenglen, professional football, tennis, and hockey leagues.

According to his plans, the race will be judged from city to city by civic bodies. Control stations will be named in principal cities along the route, where it is planned to hold the leading runners on an elapsed time basis until the others arrive.

CANADA STILL SUPREME IN PRO HOCKEY

Judging By Official Attendance Figues For Past Season's Operations.

BETTER ATTRACTION.

With City of Montreal as the Greatest Centre of Game.

MONTREAL, Que., April 28 (Canadian Press).—Canada is still supreme in professional hockey and Montreal is the greatest centre of the game, judging by the official attendance figues for the past season's operations, issued from the office of President Frank Calder yesterday.

In the 220 scheduled games of 1926-27 in the major pro. loop, the total paid attendance on the circuit was 1,119,961. In the 12 play-off games there was a paid attendance of 101,344, giving a grand total for the winter of 1,221,305.

Leaving out the attendance for the play-off games and confining the figures to the 230 League fixtures, the four Canadian clubs — Canadiens, Montreal Maroons, Ottawa and Toronto—played before a total of 538,543 as compared with a total paid attendance of 581,418 for the six United States clubs—New York Rangers, New York Americans, Boston, Pittsburgh, Chicago, and Detroit.

The Canadian division, which comprised the four Canadian clubs and the New York Americans, proved a much better attraction than the United States section of five clubs. The Canadian group had a total attendance mark of 661,728, while the United States division played before a total attendance of 458,233.

Following are the official figures for the 12 play-off games ending with the championship victory of the Ottawa Senators:

Total paid attendance	101,344
Gross receipts	$93,004
Team expenses	6,241
Officials' expenses	3,306
Players' share	38,148
League's share	31,886
Competing club's share	13,421

The players' pool was divided as follows among the clubs: Ottawa $11,099; Boston $8,393; Canadiens $4,986; New York Rangers $5,018; Montreal $3,813, and Chicago $3,837

Each club divided its players' receipts into from 12 to 14 shares, the champion Ottawa players receiving close to $1,000 each for the play-offs and the Boston players about $700 each.

REDS LOSE TO CHICAGO CUBS

Victory Gives Cubs Wavering Grasp on Sixth Place.

GAMES POSTPONED.

NEW YORK, April 28 (Canadian Press).—The Chicago Cubs won the only game played in the National League yesterday, defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 2 to 1, at Cincinnati.

Blake and Donohue staged a twirlers' battle with the latter losing his third, 2 to 1, decision of the season. The victory gave the Cubs a wavering grasp on sixth place in the League standing. Riggs Stephenson, Cub left fielder, had three hits in as many times at bat.

Only three games were scheduled yesterday and two of those were cancelled, threatening weather at Philadelphia causing postponement of the Phillies-Braves game, while rain kept the Robins and Giants from continuing their series at Brooklyn. Pittsburgh and St. Louis were not scheduled.

LEAFS DROP FIRST GAME AT TORONTO

10,000 PRESENT.

Rochester Defeats Newark 9-8 After 11 Inning Battle.

MAPLE LEAF STADIUM, April 28.—Toronto lost the opening game before a crowd estimated at ten thousand yesterday to Jersey City, 6 to 4. The Leafs tied the game up in the sixth, when Gordonier, who had pitched fine ball until that time, lost his effectiveness, and Ellis who replaced him was little better. Buckalew stopped the rally, but not until the Leafs had pushed over four runs on singles by Lamotte and Burke and Hargrave's double along with three walks. Buckalew held the champions after that, but Maley, who had taken Correll's place when the affair was knotted up, was not so fortunate, being touched for three hits including a double by Shannon, Daly's triple and Buckalew's single in the eighth with two out.

The heavy-hitting Orioles, of Baltimore, won the opening game of the Syracuse Stars' opening series, 8 to 7. Jack Ogden, after a poor start, was invincible on the mound for the Birds.

Rochester had to work 11 innings to get to Newark, finally winning 9 to 8. Mamaux proceeding the distance for Newark and allowed a total of 18 hits, while Thormahlen and McLaughlin let the Bear batters off with 12.

Reading's game at Buffalo was postponed because of rain.

A peak of interest on the British Columbia-Alaska International Boundary is mount Bagot with an elevation of 7,155 feet. According to the Geographic Board of Canada, the mountain is named after Sir Charles Bagot, British Ambassador to Russia and plenipotentiary to St. Petersburg in 1922 in connection with the negotiations in regard to the Alaskan boundary.

TIGHTEN HOLD ON THIRD PLACE

Philadelphia Athletics Down the Red Sox at Boston 4-1.

MADE IN 7TH.

NEW YORK, April 28 (Canadian Press).—The Philadelphia Athletics tightened their hold on third place in the American League yesterday by downing the Red Sox at Boston, 4 to 1. Lefty Grove held the Sox to six scattered hits. Bill Lamar's homer in the seventh with Grove on base put the game on ice.

Timely hitting in the extra round gave the St. Louis Browns their game at Cleveland yesterday, 4 to 2. The count was two all in the ninth. Rice stepped up in the tenth, doubled and scored when Smith threw past third on Schulte's bunt. Schang's single scored Schulte.

Chicago made it three out of four from Detroit, winning the final game in the big city by 7 to 2. George Connally, champion rescuer of the Sox, came to Jacob's aid yesterday, checked a Detroit rally and held everything while his team mates hammered a quartette of Tiger flingers.

It rained on Washington at New York.

WILL STAGE BOUT AROUND JULY 1ST

Rickard Planning To Match Former Champion With Paulino Uzcudum.

NEW YORK, April 28 (Canadian Press).—After receiving positive assurances yesterday that Jack Dempsey intends to stage a comeback, Tex Rickard announced he will match the former champion for a bout with Paulino Uzcudum on or about July 1, probably at the Yankee Stadium.

Shaping his plans immediately, Rickard declared he would match the winner of the Paulino-Dempsey fight with the victor in the Maloney-Sharkey bout, scheduled May 19 at the Stadium, to determine the opponent for Gene Tunney in a championship match in September.

Rickard expects no difficulty extricating Paulino from his present suspension by the New York boxing board for failure to go through with a Boston contract.

All "O.K."

OJAI, Calif., April 28 (A.P.).—Jack Dempsey said yesterday in answer to press reports of Tex Rickard's plan to match him with Paulino Uzcudun July 1, that it "is O.K. with me, and as soon as I have a chance to talk it over with him in New York I'll go through my part of the contract."

LACROSSE MEN IN CAMPBELLFORD TRYING TO FORM TRENT LEAGUE

Letters Sent To Seven Towns in the District.

MEYERS CUP OFFERED.

Charlie Holmes Boosting Fresh Start For Canada's Game.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 28.—An effort to revive lacrosse in this district is being put forth by several local men. One of the principal boosters is Charlie Holmes who has the support of Jack Nesbitt, Charlie Montgomery, Jack Cowell. Letters have been written to Hastings, Norwood, Havelock, Marmora, Madoc, Tweed and Stirling sounding the sentiment in these towns. No replies have yet been received, but there is plenty of time yet for action.

Campbellford has the nucleus of a team. The veterans are willing to turn out to keep the game alive especially to try to give it a new start, as so many other parts of Canada are doing this Spring. This fine Canadian game is making great strides across the border and deserves the interest and support of Central Ontario communities.

Mr. Holmes puts out the suggestion that a league might be operated independent of the O.A.L.A. just to begin in a modest way, each club to pay its own expenses and officials to serve without charge. Two groups might be formed, one comprising the easterly towns of Madoc, Marmora, Tweed and Stirling where lacrosse has made little or no progress in recent years.

The idea is well worth considering by the promoters of sports in the eight towns, and with a big measure of harmony a group or separate league should be successfully conducted.

The A. J. Meyers trophy has been offered to such a league with the only condition that a residence rule fix May 1 for eligibility of players.

DAVIS SHATTERS NEWMAN'S RECORD

Makes Run of 2,501 By Using "Pendulum Cannon Stroke."

LONDON, April 28 (Canadian Press Cable).—The "pendulum cannon stroke" invented by Tommy Reece bids fair to result in a revolution in the extent of breaks in billiards. Playing at Manchester yesterday in his championship match with Tommy Newman, J. Davis used the questionable stroke to make a run of 2,501, shattering the former record of 1,370 made by Newman, and Reece himself broke Newman's record last night when he employed the stroke in his match with Arthur Peall and ran up a mark of 1,852.

Reece invented his 'pendulum cannon stroke" in a match with Melbourne Inman here a few weeks ago. With the objects balls nestling in the jaws of the pockets he plays alternately from the top and side cushions, making simple-looking cannons alternately with the right and left hand. The permissibility of the shot is questioned by the Billiards Council, as it is in effect an evasion of the rule prohibiting 25 ball-to-ball cannons.

At the close of play yesterday in his match with Newman, Davis was in play with 4,001 points to the 3,526 of his opponent. The match is of 16,000 points.

The scores at the close of play last night in the Reece-Peall match were: Peall, 4,485; Reece, in play, 3,919. Reece is conceding Peall 3,500 points in a match of 15,000.

FORD COUPE at $275.00.

and many others.

THE popularity of the new models is one reason for the high quality of our stock of used cars. It is not necessary for us to take every car offered in trade nor is it necessary for us to make an excessive allowance on a used car to sell a new one. Therefore our stock of used cars is limited to machines in good running order, many of which are no more than broken in . All the used cars on our floor are of more than ordinary value as can be judged from those listed here. However, to fuly appreciate them, they must be seen, so call in at the showrooms and we will be pleased to help you in the choice of a good used car to suit your needs.

The direct revenues received by Dominion and Provincial Governments from the forests in the form of rentals, royalties, stumpage charges, etc., amount to about $15,000,000 annually. In Europe it has been found that increased expenditure on modern protective methods has always been followed by a much more than proportionate increase in revenues.

Fatigue and that tired feeling is the result of poison in the blood. When the kidneys fail to remove this poison from the system it leads to backache, rheumatic pains and sometimes to that fatal ailment known as Bright's disease. When this condition exists, don't delay, go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will quickly correct the cause of your trouble.

CALL SAVARD MASTER MIND OF EXPORT CO.

Office Manager of Mexico Export Co. Worked Under His Instructions.

GET DESCRIPTION.

Total Sales Over Stated Period Exceeded Amount Reported Exported.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 29. — The elusive "F. Savard," unseen consignee of wholesale liquor shipments from the Essex border, was indicated as the "master mind" behind the Mexico Export Company in testimony given before the Customs Enquiry Committee here yesterday.

H. Ogden Palmer, one of the commission's staff of auditors, told of a conversation with A. J. Wells, who had described himself as the office manager of the Mexico Company, and who said he was "working under the instructions of F. Savard."

The bank deposits of the Mexico Export Company exceeded $1,000,000 a month, from the time of its formation early last summer, Major A. P. Nash, auditor-in-chief, informed the commission. In December of 1926 the deposit ran into $1,750,000.

The deposits bear very little evidence of their origin, he testified. They were largely in cash and the deposit slip frequently bore initials only.

The commission was surprised when it finally encountered a witness who believed that he knew the mysterious Mr. Savard.

The witness was John H. Marshall, C.P.R. freight agent, who testified that he had received receipts from Savard for liquor shipments. He described the 'mystery man" as a tall, young man, apparently between 25 and 30.

"At least," he said, "I was present in police court when a man swore before Magistrate Gundy that his name was Savard, and that he was a liquor exporter.

"Have you seen him since?" "A number of times."

"Is he dark or fair?" Fair—well medium, I should say."

"Clean shaven?" "Yes."

"Brown hair?" "I dont know that; I never saw him with his hat off."

"How tall?" "I'd say a man about your height."

"Five feet ten?" "Nine or ten."

Lately, Marshall believed shipments to Savard had ceased and shipments to B. Syring had apparently succeeded them.

He testified that receipts signed in Savard's name had been in handwritings which varied widely.

Hon. N. W. Rowell scanned a number of receipts.

"There appears to be more similarity between one of the Savard signatures and the Syring signature than between the different Savard signatures.

Palmer also shed additional light on the vanishing of the Mexico Company's books at the time when his audit of them was in progress.

"I went to the office of the Mexico Company at 9 o'clock in the morning and found the safe locked," Palmer testified. "I waited until noon and no one came to open it. I thought it was curious and made enquiries. I was told that Mr. Stickells, the accountant, must be ill.

'I went out for lunch and when I returned an hour later the safe was open, and the books were gone. I don't know if they were taken while I was out or whether they had been removed previously."

"What explanation did you receive?" "Apparently no one knew anything about them. The only man whom I could get in touch with was Mr. Shanahan, and he couldn't tell me where anyone else was."

Palmer stated that when he commenced his audit he was informed that the financial records of the Mexico Company were kept in Detroit. The stock books were kept in Windsor and indicated some 200 different brands of liquor handled by the company.

'They told me that they received payment for their liquor from men in motor boats and that they deposited it in Detroit,' the witness went on. "But I have since found out that it was deposited in banks here. Mr. Wells told me that all salaries and expenses were paid from Detroit."

A towering, rugged figure, who might have stepped from the pages of Conrad or Jack London, took the witness stand when the name of Captain James E .Wright was called.

But Wright ,although he had spent twenty years navigating the Detroit river, d isclaimed the title of 'captain;" and also disclaimed all connection wth liquor shipments.

"You don't want us to believe you are so innocent as all that," Mr. Wright?" N. W. Rowell enquired.

"There never has been any whisky handled by James E. Wright, not so far as I know," the witness replied imperturbably.

"Were you aboard the Longboat, as an engineer?" "No, I was aboard her but only to tune up the motor.

"Nothing more than that?" "No."

"You had no trouble with the au-

Wife Pawns Husband's Teeth To Get Money For Movies Locks Him Out Of House and Sells Furniture, Too

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 29—Charges that his wife pawned his false teeth to satisfy her love of the movies and to buy books, were among the amazing testimony placed before Judge Macneille yesterday by John Maahe, 38.

Maahe also told the court that his wife Ananstacia barricaded herself and their four children for two weeks in their home, forcing him to climb over the back fence and through a window to release them. The house, he said, was practically barren of furniture, his wife having pawned it "stick by stick."

The children, the father testified, were only half clothed and practically without food. Judge Macneille ordered that Mrs. Maahe be given a physical and mental examination.

UNIONS WON'T ORDER STRIKE

Decline To Follow Course Of Extremists in Protest Against Bill.

CONSIDER MEANS.

LONDON, April 29.— (Canadian Press.)— Representatives of 4,000,000 British workers meeting here decided not to be stampeded by extremists into resorting to a general strike with the object of forcing the withdrawal of the government's trade union bill.

The meeting was a special conference of the executive committee of the unions affiliated with the Trade Union Congress and was called to consider the best method of opposing the government's bill.

This measure would make it illegal to call a strike calculated to coerce the government or intimidate the community and framed as a result of the general strike called a year ago in support of striking miners. The general stoppage tied up the country nine days before the strike collapsed.

While not directly represented at today's meeting the British communist party and extreme left wing trade unionists have been making a determined effort to persuade organized labor to declare a general strike against the bill. It was voted by a large majority not to allow an amendment to be moved instructing the general trade union council to that effect.

FIRE DRIVES OUT MANY EMPLOYEES

Dense Smoke Produced By Blaze in Tires at Rubber Plant.

FIREMEN OVERCOME.

TORONTO, April 29. — Approximately 50 persons employed in the Frankel Building, Queen and Portland streets, were forced to flee to the streets yesterday afternoon when a fire broke out near the boiler room in the basement. Dense smoke from a quantity of rubber tires burning in the basement made it impossible for a number of women and men to get down the stairs and they were forced to climb out windows and run down the fire escapes. Two firemen, Thos Armstrong and Chas. Andrews were taken ill from the smoke. Chief Russell estimated the loss at about $20,000.

Second Alarm.

Just how long the fire had been going is not known. The large stock of tires was burning, and so heavy was the smoke that firemen were unable to get down into the cellar. A second alarm was sent in, and Chief Russell, with the Deputy Chief and district chiefs, directed their brigade for nearly two hours before the flames were subdued. They succeeded in keeping the fire in the basement and on the first floor. The floors above, some of which contained stock suffered damage by smoke.

The outbreak was discovered in the southeast section of the basement occupied by the National Rubber Co. This firm also has the first floor and part of the second. Lines of hose were run in the front of the building and from a lane at the rear. In a few minutes from the time the fire reels arrived nine lines of hose were hurling water into the basement. The heat was intense and the smoke choking.

THE WEATHER

Cool nights and to a lesser degree cool days, are not conducive to rapid growth, but notwithstanding the cool weather that has followed the abnormally warm period of a few weeks ago, the season is considerably in advance of the average. Most of the maple trees are in bud at the present time, and this does not usually occur until about the eighth or tenth of May. The temperature this morning was four degrees below the freezing point, while yesterday it rose to 55 degrees.--W. P.

Killed For Inducing Girl To Discard Veil

TASKENT, Russian Turkestan, April 29.—(Canadian Press.)—An innkeeper named Dadish and Bey Majalebekov, a man of wealth, yesterday were sentenced to death for the murder of a communist agitator in the village of Durmen, growing out of a class war against Mosjem customs.

The communist's exhortations had induced an orphan girl, who was Majalebekov's ward, to discard the Turkish custom of wearing a veil.

CANADA MUST CARRY BRITISH IDEALS ALONG

C. H. Cahan Says Dominions Must Co-operate in This.

ADVANCE DOMINION.

Canadians Who Will Help Are Those Who Work For Common Good.

WINNIPEG, April 29 (Canadian Press).—"Canada, with the other Dominions, must co-operate with Great Britain to carry on the great ideals of the British race," declared C. H. Cahan, K.C., M.P., of Montreal, speaking to members of the Winnipeg Board of Trade at the annual meeting here last night.

Mr. Cahan dealt with "Canada of the Past and Future," and declared the Canadians of to-day, who will contribute to the advancement of the Dominions, are those who will sacrifice selfish and sectional interests for the common good of the Canadian nation.

BOARD TO FIX LAKE LEVELS

Niagara Frontier Planning Association Proposes Its Establishment.

MUST BE STABILIZED.

BUFFALO, April 29 (Canadian Press).—The Niagara Frontier Planning Association, in the report of a sub-committee made public today, recommended the establishment by Congress of a Great Lakes Regulating Board to co-operate with Canada in the examination and construction of works necessary to the regulation of the levels of the Lakes. "The regulation of the Lakes is advisable," the report states, owing to changes constantly taking place in their surface elevations, and to the large tonnage of freight and immense sums invested in boats, docks, warehouses, etc., which are adversely affected by the lowering of Lake levels below some fixed datum."

MISSION BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING

Local Workers For Grenfell Association Elect Officers.

The annual meeting of the local branch of the Grenfell Labrador Medical Mission was held on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. W. E. Conway, Park street. The report of the year's work was given by the secretary, Mrs. Gerald Wood, and, in view of the fact that interest in the Grenfell Mission appears to have fallen off during late years, it was decided to interest a representative of each church in the city.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Honorary president, Miss E. Edward; president, Mrs. W. E. Conway; vice-president, Mrs. F. M. Somerville; treasurer, Mrs. Gerald Wood; secretary, Mrs. Gordon Langley; convenor of the Dorcas committee, Mrs. J. Trussler.

MASSEY TELLS ABOUT ASSETS OF DOMINION

Territories Thought Useless Have Become Producers of Wealth.

MANY MANUFACTURES.

Canada Exports More Than She Imports Now, He Asserts.

NEW YORK, April 29.—(Canadian Press.)—"A general stock taking" of Canadian assets after nearly sixty years as a united nation was made by Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister to the United States, last night when he addressed one thousand members of the Bureau of Advertising, American Publishers' Association at their annual dinner. He described them as "assets beyond the wildest dreams of our forebears." The growth of Canada had been a succession of discoveries.

The greatest west, he said, when first discovered, was looked upon as a hopeless waste, but now in this great area was a vast ocean of wheat—30,000,000 acres—and Canada had the honor of being the largest exporter of wheat in the world.

Then was discovered north which concealed minerals of infinite variety and value past computation. One-third of the capital invested in the northern country had increased 600 p.c. in the last 30 years and it was surprising to realize, Mr. Massey said, that only one-tenth of the vast area could be regarded as having been seriously prospected.

Trade in Canada had increased 85 p.c. since 1913, almost twice as much as that of the nation next in the list, said the Minister. Although the world thought of Canadian exports in terms of natural products its exports of manufactured goods had increased nearly seven fold since 1901 until now it exported more manufactures than it imported.

5,000 PEOPLE REACH SAFETY

Area To Be Flooded To Save New Orleans Declared Evacuated.

FEW REFUSE TO LEAVE.

NEW ORLEANS, April 29 (Canadian Press)—Five thousand residents of the St. Bernard and Plaquemine parishes were safely in New Orleans today when the military authorities reported that the area affected by the decision to cut the Mississippi River levee at Poydras had been evacuated. A few, however, refused to leave, preferring to take chances in the flood. Early this morning the last few truckloads rolled into New Orleans bearing the household goods of those at the far down river points. Down the East River bank road, far into the two parishes, scores of houses stood deserted.

Hundreds Marooned

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 29 (Canadian Press).—The plight of seven hundred to a thousand persons still marooned in the flooded lowlands of Chicot County, Arkansas, was described as desperate today in a report to the Association Press by Mayor Gillison of Lake village. "They are clinging to small rafts and floating trees in water twenty to thirty feet deep or packed like sardines in barn lofts and other places that have not been reached by the raging waters," he said.

LEVEE FALLS IN.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., April 29.—(Canadian Press.)—An alarming condition is reported to be developing at South Bend, Ark., where two thousand tons of the levee have caved into the Arkansas river, just below the south-bend dyke. All motor boats available have been rushed to South Bend from Pine Bluff by the Red Cross here.

INSPECTION FINDS DOG BEING STARVED

Bull Dog Kept Tied Up In Stirling Home For Two Years.

One of the worst cases of starvation which Inspector Smith of the Humane Society has been called upon to deal with was brought to his attention the other day in Stirling.

Inspector Smith and the local veterinary surgeon of Stirling visited a home where they found a bulldog tied up. The dog was reduced to a skeleton and it is claimed that it had been tied up for two years. The Inspector took the dog and gave it to a person who will give it the very best of care.

BOTH LAWYERS FOLLOW SAME DEFENCE PLAN

Each Accuses Other's Client of Being Responsible For Murder.

CASE PROCEEDS.

Counsel Set Forth Reasons For Acquittal of Their Own Clients.

NEW YORK, April 29. Canadian Press. — Mrs. Ruth Snyder and her former lover, Henry J. Gray, turned upon each other at the Snyder trial to-day, each charging the other with the whole guilt of the murder of Albert Snyder, the magazine art editor, in his home at Queen's village N. Y., in the early hours of March 20 last.

"We will show you," Edgar F. Hazelton, counsel for Mrs. Snyder, shouted, "that Judd Gray was the motivating personality behind all this; that he was continually broke, and planned to get money by whatever means." After remaining faithful during an unhappy married life with her husband, Hazelton said, Mrs. Snyder met Gray, who "showered affection such as she had not known" on Mrs. Snyder, and she "inevitably gave way."

Samuel Miller, counsel for Gray, said it would be shown that Gray's confession was obtained under duress. Gray, he said, was not of rational mind and was "hopelessly intoxicated at the time of the crime, and was "dominated by a will not his own."

"He struggled against that driving power," said the lawyer, "but without avail. He had no motive for the crime, nor any intent. He was dominated by a cool, dominating, deadly, abnormal, inhuman woman—he was in the abyss, driven by this malicious character."

His Second Choice.

Mr. Hazelton asserted that Mrs. Snyder married the art editor after his first fiancee had died. He did not forget his first love and shortly after their marriage he had repulsed Mrs. Snyder and said that if his first sweetheart had lived he would never have married the accused.

"Bickering started and she remained faithful and bore that man a child to bring back love into that house," he contained. "But the child annoyed him. The bickering grew worse. He was a good provider, but love was not in his heart." Counsel declared that it was Gray who first mentioned insurance and advised Mrs. Snyder that her husband ought to be covered. He further declared that it was Gray who inspired the murder and that with "his eye on the insurance" he pressed her to "get rid of the governor" and threatened to kill both her and himself if she did not take her husband's life.

Emotional Address.

Hazelton's address was exceedingly emotional. He acted out the story of the murder so realistically that he tore the collar from his neck. After the reading of Miller's brief statement Mrs. Josephine Brown, aged mother of Ruth Snyder, took the stand to tell what she knew of her daughter's married life.

Mrs. Snyder took the stand in her own defence this afternoon to lay the blame upon her lover, Henry Judd Gray.

Ninety Per Cent. of People Potential Crooks Is Claim Of Forgery Bond Official As Expressed To Bankers

ASBURY PARK, N.J., April 29 (United Press)—C. F. Sessinger, as head of the Forgery Bond Department of the National Security Company of New York, does not have a very high regard for the integrity of most people.

Ninety per cent of the population of the United States are potential crooks and 98 per cent are potential liars, Sessinger told a meeting of bankers here. Mechanical check writing devices cannot prevent expert forgers from doing their stuff without detection, the speaker said.

And as for those who get caught—

Ninety per cent of the criminals in prison are dope users and the rest will be addicts if they stay in prison long enough."

No Hot Dog Barbecue At Snyder-Gray Trial

NEW YORK, April 29. —(A.P.) The fellow who paid $100 for a hot dog concession at the Snyder-Gray trial is out that much and a little more. A smiling man with a wheelbarrow full of lumber appeared in front of the court house and started hammering. A policeman asking how come, was shown a receipt and a permit. It took an hour to convince the raving concessionaire that he had been fleeced.

SAYS BRITAIN WORKING FOR WORLD PEACE

British Ambassador To U. S. Outlines Ideals at New Orleans.

IMPROVE RELATIONS.

World Holds More Wholesome Dread of War in Future.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 29. — Canadian Press. — "The interests of Great Britain are centred first and foremost in the maintenance of peace, and you may rest assured that if journalists or others say the contrary they are talking what is obvious nonsense." Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States, declared here at a luncheon before the English speaking union of New Orleans.

"The more the British succeed in promoting peace and friendship in Europe," he continued, "the more will they gain the confidence and friendship of America. We shall surely improve Anglo-American relations in direct ration to the improvement of European relations."

Most Useful.

"I am more hopeful of settled peace than I have ever been in my whole life before," he said. "After the war, victors and vanquished alike were dissatisfied; blamed their neighbors and forgot to examine their own shortcomings. Gradually this feeling has given place to the more wholesome dread of a new war in the future."

BIG SISTERHOOD AIDS CLEAN-UP

Will Renovate Interiors of Several Homes Where Need is Great.

SUPPLIES REQUIRED.

The society of the Big Sisterhood is making an effort to assist in the general Clean-up Campaign in the city by renovating the interiors of several homes which are in need of such attention. They are asking housewives who are getting rid of surplus furniture and clothing during the house-cleaning season, to send such supplies to their rooms in the city buildings.

One family where industry at least is not lacking, is in dire need of house furnishings, also clothing. The father is a bread winner and has employment, but the people are trying to pay for their own home and have allowed their household supplies to run to a low ebb, being at present without sufficient ready money to replenish them. A bed, spring and mattress, with sheets and pillow cases, and bedding, are needed here; also towels and clothing for the mother. Four children are at school, and a new baby will arrive shortly. Clothing and supplies mentioned above would do much to make this home more comfortable.

Anyone wishing to have articles delivered is asked to telephone to 788W or 2924W, while the room of the Big Sisters in the City buildings, is always available in which to leave supplies.

TROUT FISHING OPENS MAY 1ST

Rush of Anglers Expected To Various Fishing Grounds of District.

MANY STREAMS.

With the opening of the trout fishing season on May 1st, a rush of anglers to the various fishing grounds in this district is anticipated. Durham and Northumberland counties are noted for the numerous trout streams within their confines and tourists from all parts of the province as well as from the United States annually visit this district in search of the speckled beauties.

Fishing season for speckled trout opens on May 1st and remains open until Sept. 14, both dates inclusive. Rainbow trout season does not commence until June 2nd. Speckled and brown trout which may be taken must be over seven inches in length and the catch is limited to twenty per day. No more than six of the Rainbow variety may be taken.

To the various issuers of licenses 32,00 forms have been sent out. It was found that a total of 29,752 licenses were issued, only 784 being for Ontario residents. The explanation is that residents of the province do not require licenses except for Nipigon and Eugenia waters. Non-residents must pay a fee to fish any place in Ontario.

BRIGADE CAMPS AT OWEN SOUND

Northern Ontario Militia Units There During Old Home Week.

FOUR REGIMENTS.

OWEN SOUND, April 29. — Announcement was made here yesterday by Col. G. D. Fleming, of Owen Sound, that the 22nd Infantry Brigade, of which he is Commanding Officer and Brigadier, will go under canvas at Camp Sarawak, about two and a half miles north of the city, from July 5 to July 14, both days inclusive. It will be the first concentration camp of this kind ever held in Owen Sound, and coming, as it does, during the progress of Old Home Week, when thousands of visitors are expected here, will be of added importance.

The 22nd Infantry Brigade covers an area as far north as the James Bay to the southern boundary of Grey and Simcoe Counties in the south. It consists of the Algonquin Rifles, from the District of Timiskaming, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Malcolm Lang, M.P., taken over from Col. Brodie, O.C., of Sudbury; the Northern Pioneers, from Parry Sound and Muskoka, commanded by Lieut.-Colonel Forrest; the Simcoe Foresters, commanded by Lieut.-Col. G. E. McLean of Collingwood, and the Grey Regiment, commanded by Lieut.-Col. T. J. Rutherford, Owen Sound.

PLACE HOPE OF SALVATION ON CUT IN LEVEE

Flood Waters Lashing Summit of Dykes at New Orleans.

PARISHES DESERTED.

Expected That Engineers Will Dynamite Break at Noon To-day.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 29 (A.P.).—This picturesque city of half a million people turned hopefully last night for salvation from the floods which already have laid waste more than eleven thousand square miles of the richest areas in the three lower Mississippi Valley States.

This hope was staked on the breaking of the levee at Poydras, 12 miles south, at noon today as a means of lowering the level of the raging torrent which already at places lashes at the very summit of the protecting dykes along the famous crescent bend where the water everywhere tops the city itself.

Louisiana State officials pointed out to Secretary Hoover yesterday the spot where dynamite charges are to be set off to make the first artificial crevasse in the hundreds of miles of levees ever found necessary in all the history of Mississippi River floods.

This spot is opposite the celebrated old Poydras plantation, the original grant of which dates back to the days of French control of the Mississippi Valley. Plans of State engineers regarding the exact methods to be used and the extent of the break to be made still were carefully guarded secrets.

Use Small Charge

Those versed in river engineer lore, however, said there would be little of the dramatic about the actual break itself; that probably small charge of dynamite would be used so as not to weaken too great a stretch of the levee, with the mighty rush of the flood current left to complete the break thus begun.

Opposed Order

There had been a tense feeling in the territory to be flooded ever since the proposal to dynamite the levee first was broached early in the week, with some of the trappers of that section refusing to leave and with other residents who have sought refuge in camps here expressing dissatisfaction with the forced removal.

While prepared for any eventuality, State officials anticipated no open resistance when their forces move to the scene early today to carry out their drastic plan for the relief of New Orleans, which has the tacit sanction of the Federal Government and the full approval of the army engineers.

Some expressions of doubt as to whether the Poydras break would completely remove the flood danger here still were heard yesterday, but encouraging forecasts came from the weather bureau here, an official statement declaring that the Poydras cut would cause the river to fall for from three to six days with a nearly stationary stage thereafter until the flood crest had passed.

This would mean that the inundation of the parishes of St. Bernard and St. Plaquemine would be very gradual, with time still left for the hundreds of residents who have refused to join the caravans of refugees to make their way to safety.

Select Place

Selection of the place for the 1,000 foot break was made yesterday by Colonel Marcel Garsaud, general manager of the New Orleans dock board, who cruised down the river with Secretary Hoover, personal representative of President Coolidge in the flood area; Major General Jadwin, chief of army engineers, and James L. Feiser, acting chairman of the Red Cross.

As the party was returning upstream on a government craft, three rifle shots rang out from the west bank, across the river from where the crevasse is to be made. Whether the shots came from civilian guards on the levee or from trappers beyond was not determined, but if they were directed at the launch they went wide of their mark.

Appeal for Help

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 29 (United Press). — Urgent calls for more rescue boats came yesterday from inundated town in Southern Mississippi and Southeastern Arkansas as the flood stages of the Mississippi River and its tributaries rose higher in that section.

Hundreds of persons were still endangered near Belzoni, Miss., and many boats put out from Vicksburg and other points to make rescues in that section.

Removal of refugees in the Sunflower River district was nearing completion, and all boats possible were being diverted to the section near Belzoni.

Other boats were sent into Southeastern Arkansas, where hundreds were fleeing to the hills for safety.

PEKING NOW READY TO SEIZE CHINESE-EASTERN RAILROAD; TREATY VIOLATION IS CHARGED

Reports From Harbin Mention May 1st As Probable Date.

OPPOSED PROJECTS.

Efforts Made To Play Up Documents Seized in Embassy Raid.

PEKING, April 29.—The Chinese intention to take over entire control of the Chinese-Eastern Railroad, now jointly operated with Soviet Russia, is continually emphasized in reports from Harbin, which now go so far as to mention the date, May 1.

According to the program indicated the Chinese would not seize the road right away, but would begin with demands on the Russians "to observe the terms of the Mukden agreement," which it is claimed they are not doing. The Russians would not comply because the question is now under discussion. Whereupon the Chinese would maintain the appearance of legality in seizing control forthwith, not owing to the Bolshevist propaganda, etc., but on the basis of their non-compliance with the Mukden terms. This it is thought, ought to obviate a possible protest by the foreign powers, some of whom have become rather nervous about giving the Chinese a further precedent for vigorous action where foreigners are concerned.

Russia Could Cut Revenue

On the other hand it is objected that the Russians would retaliate by diverting traffic around by the Amur route to Vladivostok, which would impair materially the road's earnings. But that serious, and in the long run perhaps vital, economic loss would perhaps be outweighed by the immediate gain.

It is significant that new efforts are being made to play up the Red documents seized in the Embassy raid of which a private view will be given to the foreign press today.

It is no secret that the Soviet has steadily opposed important Sino-Japanese railroad projects in Northern Manchuria, whose path would be smoothed by single Chinese control. Soviet railroad officials at Harbin are undoubtedly in a state of extreme nervousness and appear convinced of the Chinese intention of their speedy expulsion. But while the Soviet is unwilling, perhaps, indeed, temporarily unable, to reply by force to what is tantamount to an act of war, despite the more or less genuine legal pretex, the Chinese authorities of Manchuria are not blind to the danger of possible action by Mongolian "bandits" of which it is reported there is quite a considerable number concentrated on the Mongolian-Manchurian border.

Outer Mongolia enjoys nominal independence, but is actually unde Soviet influence, and any such threat cannot be ignored at this juncture in view of the financial difficulties of Manchuria and the spread of underground Nationalist activity.

Steals Pork Sandwich Burglar Is Given Life

OAKLAND, Cal., April 29.—(A.P.) —Walter J. Hunter was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday for stealing 85 cents and a roast pork sandwich.

The severe sentence was the result of three previous prison terms served by Hunter. Superior Judge Leon Gray, pronouncing the sentence, declared the law gave him no alternative.

Hunter was arrested for burglarizing the home of Dominic Gunari. His loot consisted of the small change and a sandwich which he made for himself in the kitchen before leaving.

GREAT SUCCESS WITH CHICKENS

Hastings Man Gets 769 From 800 Eggs in Two Settings.

HASTINGS, April 29.—Mr. Bill Whitred, of Hastings, who has been in the chicken business for the past year, reports splendid success again this year. Out of the first setting of four hundred eggs in the incubator he had three hundred and eighty hatch, and on Wednesday, April 27th, the second hatching came off. Out of four hundred, three hundred and eighty-nine chicks were hatched, making a total of seven hundred and sixty-nine chicks. The chicks are pure bred white Leghorns. Mr. Whitred is proposing selling some of the chicks and marketing others in due time.

OLD MASTERS

The sun, the moon, the stars, the seas,
the hills and the plains—
Are not these, O Soul, the Vision of Him who reigns?

Is not the Vision He? though He be not that which He seems?
Dreams are true while they last, and do we not live in dreams?

Earth, these solid stars, this weight of body and limb,
Are they not sign and symbol of thy division from Him?

Dark is the world to thee: thyself art
the reason why;
For is He not all but thou, that hast power to feel "I am I?"

Glory about thee, without thee; and thou fulfillest thy doom,
Making Him broken gleams, and a stifled splendor and gloom.

Speak to Him, thou, for He hears and Spirit with Spirit can meet—
Closer is He than breathing, and nearer than hands or feet.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

APRIL WEATHER

Just you and I and the windy weather,
Just an April rain we may face together,
Though a hill we climb, though a storm we meet—
Well, some may wish for a day all glitter,
But the sweet without you would be bitter,
And the bitter with you would be sweet.

The rain may beat on our upturned faces,
But we'll find a flow'r in the hardest places,
And we'll share the peace and we'll share the pain.
Oh, some may wish for the sun forever,
But we only ask that we need not sever,
And it will not matter about the rain.

Just you and I, and the heart's thanksgiving,
On the hill called life, on the road called living,
Though the wind may blow, though the rain may beat;
Well, some may wish for a life all glitter,
But the sweet without you would be bitter,
And the bitter with you would be sweet.

Took Lives Of Her Children On Eve Of Relief Would Have Received Cheque On Following Day

WINDSOR, Ont., April 29 (Canadian Press)—If Mrs. Humma Thomas, who murdered her four children at Ford City Tuesday morning and subsequently cut her own throat, had waited one day longer she would have received a cheque from the mothers' allowance board, which would have gone far toward solving her financial difficulties.

This fact was revealed yesterday when notice was received by the local mothers' allowance committee that Mrs. Thomas' application for assistance had been passed and a check mailed to her from Toronto on the evening of the murders.

The unfortunate woman, whose home was to be sold for taxes next week, is thought to have gone insane in the belief that her children were also to be taken from her. Her husband died last January.

Mrs. Thomas, whose suicidal attempt failed to result in instant death, is not expected to live, it was stated at the Hotel Dieu Hospital yesterday.

The four little victims were buried in Windsor Grove cemetery this afternoon. The eldest of the children celebrated her tenth birthday last Saturday.

LINDSAY TRIAL IS POSTPONED

Magistrate Gives Accused Until Next Week To Get a Lawyer.

MOVED TO NORWOOD.

HAVELOCK, April 29. — Richard Lindsay of the 12th line of Dummer, who moved to town recently, and who has been in Peterborough jail since last Friday, when he was arrested by Provincial Constable Maker on a charge of making moonshine on the property of Matthew Lytle, came up for trial at the town hall here yesterday afternoon before County Magistrate Langley.

The case was remanded until next Thursday afternoon at two o'clock as Lindsay had no lawyer and Mr. Langley would not go on with the case unless he was represented. The trial will be held in Norwood, as it is a shorter distance to bring the witnesses.

Mr. Langley warned the defendant that if he failed to secure a lawyer for next Thursday, and was convicted, it would mean a jail sentence.

Joseph Weiring of Peterborough, appeared for Inland Revenue Officer Buller. Nine witnesses against Lindsay were also present.

WONDERFUL AUTOMOBILE ROADS.

The most wonderful automobile road in America, the Banff-Windermere Highway 104 miles in length, is in danger of losing its well earned laurels by the opening of another, and if possible, more wonderful road, the Great Divide Highway between Field and Lake Louise, which was completed last summer. But Prof. Laird's tour "Across Canada and Back," which leaves Toronto by Canadian Pacific Railway July 25th, 1927, for a 21 day trip, includes both these drives in his itinerary, and they are only a small part of the wonders to be seen. There is Banff, the beautiful; Lake Louise, the Pearl of the Rockies; Emerald Lake, second only to Lake Louise in beauty; the Yoho Valley ,one of the most marvelous Valleys in the world, with Takakkaw Falls over 1,200 feet in height pouring into it, and all the magnificence and grandeur of 600 miles of Rocky Mountain scenery. Vancouver and Victoria, those marvelous Pacific Coast cities, as well as Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, are only a few of the places to be visited, and three great bodies of water are also on the route, the Great Lakes, the Kootenay Lakes and the Strait of Georgia between Vancouver and Victoria.

Write for illustrated booklet of this marvelous trip to W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Toronto, or to Prof. Sinclair, Macdonald College P.O., Que.

known dead have been counted by relief workers in the flood zone, and officials estimated 200,000 persons were homeless.

Property damage will exceed $200,000,000.

The estimates—it is impossible to state the terrific toll of the flood definitely—were made by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, relief dictator.

Additional damage is threatened to many Louisiana, and Mississippi towns, according to information at Red Cross headquarters. Henry M. Baker, head of the Red Cross organization, is keeping in constant touch with all areas in order to manoeuvre the facilities for aiding refugees with greatest effect.

Central Louisiana was also effected by the floods as volume of the swollen Red River increased. Hundreds of persons have had to evacuate the valley.

The Red Cross has also sent 15 boats up the Arkansas River for evacuation work in that territory. Arrival is expected soon of the first of 100 coast guard boats requested for relief work.

DENY MOTIONS TO FREE PAIR

Attorneys For Defence Contend There Is Reasonable Doubt.

SEE NO CONSPIRACY.

NEW YORK, April 29. — Motions by the defence counsel at the Snyder murder, trial to dismiss the charges against Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray were denied yesterday.

Counsel made the motions after the state had rested its case. The grounds for the motions were that defense counsel said reasonable doubt of guilt existed after all the evidence against them was recorded. Defense counsel also contended that no conspiracy between the defendants had been shown.

They asked that the jury be instructed to bring in a verdict of not guilty.

As motion followed motion, all intended to free the defendants, Justice Scudder merely repeated the one word "denied"

Gray's counsel based one motion on the ground that Gray's confession said he had only struck one blow in the killing of Snyder and that witnesses had testified the beating did not result in death, chloroform (which the confession said Mrs Snyder applied) being given as the cause of death.

Court was then adjourned for the day.

GRANT USE OF YARD.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 29.— It took the Board of Education less than one hour to dispose of the business of the regular monthly meeting in the public library last night. One of the shortest sessions on record.

J. H. Bell and R. J. Allen were the spokesmen for the deputation representing the Softball Association, asking permission to play the Association games on the High School Grounds. They stated the Association represented nearly 100 families in town, most of the players being working men, and the 'distance to the Agricultural Grounds was much farther than the High School grounds. The Board was glad to grant the request and Mr. Massie is to supervise the laying out of the diamond. The Board's only request, in the granting of the spacious grounds, is that players and spectators alike refrain from trespassing on the lawn. The grounds on which the games will be played is covered with cinders. These have been rolled with a farm roller and will get a further smoothing off when dry enough for the steam roller to operate.

Principal Greig of the High School informed the Board the gymnasium equipment had been ordered, part of it from local dealers, and uniforms had been purchased also from town dealers.

He reminded the Board of Cadet Inspection on the High School Grounds on Friday afternoon, May 6th, and he hoped every member of the Board would be present.

Chairman Birmingham of the property committee reported the fire escapes practically completed. There was an exit to be cut, and it should be cut, outside of class hours, probably on a Saturday.

Trustee Anderson: "Could it be left till Summer holidays."

Chairman Dr. Watson: "Not if there was a fire."

Anderson: "The pupils could jump out the windows."

Dr. Watson: "They might break their necks."

The Board decided to complete the escape immediately.

Mr. James Johnston addressed the Board, asking them to petition the Council to have the deep ditch on Rannie Street tiled and covered. It adjoined the Public School property and the Board should be interested in the proposition.

Trustee O'Sullivan said the Council had promised to do this work, when asked by the Board before. However, a committee was apointed to interview the Council at the next regular meeting.

The Secretary was instructed to notify William Thain to remove his goods and chattels from the High School property by May 15th.

Before adjourning Trustee George O'Sullivan moved that this Board wish Miss Margery Ackerman every success in the oratorical contest at Cobourg Friday night.

TORONTO, Ont., April 29.—(Canadian Press).—Eight prospective women graduates from the faculty of medicine in the University of Toronto were honored at a dinner by the Women's College Hospital. Speakers, who told of the experiences met with by women doctors in the early days, included Dr. Augusta Stowe Gullen, whose mother Dr. Emily Stowe, was the first woman doctor in Canada. To achieve this position, it was necessary for her to attend the medical college, where she was the only student of her sex.

Dr. J. W. S. McCullough, provincial M.O.H., declared that the women's hospital of Toronto, which was the only one in Canada, was altogether too modest and unassuming. Public opinion had changed greatly and there was far more confidence in women doctors than there had been in the past, he said.

Three other persons were in the plane with him at the time, including two children. Chamberlin, together with Bert Acosta, who was an aviator instructor in Toronto during the war, holds the world's flight endurance record.

NO REPLY YET ON CONFERENCE

Believed U. S. May Discuss the Whole Subject Before Regulations Enforced.

EXPECTED TO-DAY.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—(Canadian Press.)—The Canadian legation has not yet received a reply from the United States government to a note asking for a conference on border immigration. It was rumored Thursday that a reply was ready, but yesterday the state department made no sign. The Canadian Press learns, however, that the state and labor departments conferred and changes in the United States reply were made.

The Canadian Press also learns that the original reply would have discouraged the idea of a conference. The fact that the reply was held up and that the last minute changes were made in it, suggests that the United States may agree to discuss the whole subject before the new regulations governing the daily crossing of the border by residents of Canada who work in the United States Press was informed. The decision lies are enforced.

The immigration department does not object to a conference with Canada on the subject, the Canadian with its state departments, which apparently was not favorable at first.

A definite reply will probably be forthcoming Friday.

AUTO UPSETS IN DEEP DITCH

Campbellford People Have a Narrow Escape From Death.

TOP OF CAR RUINED.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 29.—Mrs. Arthur Free and Murray Free of town and Mrs. Frank Dorland of Wooler miraculously escaped injury when the motor car in which they were riding turned completely over on the hill leading off Sebastopol Street at Black's stables.

Mrs. Dorland, the driver of the car, lost control of the machine, when she changed gears going up the hill, and it backed down into the ditch and turned over, completely demolishing the top and windshield. The front fenders were also badly bent, and the radiator damaged. When the occupants crawled out from under the wreckage slight cuts on Mrs. Free's head and knee was found to be the extent of the casualties.

The car was turned right side up by passers-by, and was able to proceed to a garage under its own power.

thorities on the other side over liquor?" "No."

With a shrug of his shoulders Mr. Rowell excused the witness from further testimony at the present time.

Captains of rum ships carrying Mexico export liquor, often "got tired waiting" for customs clearance, and sailed without that formality, Mr. Palmer testified on resuming the stand.

The company's total sales during an eight-day period which he had investigated were far in excess of the amount reported exported. Total sales were 6,855 cases, of w hich export declarations covered only 4,558.

Officials of the company told him as a partial explanation of the discrepency, that many of the captains simply sailed without waiting for clearance.

Clothing Afire, Jumps From Blazing Airplane

RANTOUL, Ills., April 29.—(Canadian Press.)— Transformed into a human torch when his clothing ignited after his airplane caught fire, while 1,800 feet in the air, Lieut. Stewart W. Towlf, jun., of the arm air corps stationed at Chanite Field here, yesterday saved his life by making a parachute jump from the burning ship.

As his parachute opened, he beat out the fire in h is clothing and landed safely, although severely burned on the arms, shoulders and back.

BRITISH REDS PLOTTING NEW LABOR STRIKE

Conspiracy Results From Trade Union Measure Now in House.

WANT WITHDRAWAL.

Proposal Coming Up at Conference of Labor Men To-day.

LONDON, April 29. — A communist plot for the organization of a new general strike in Great Britain as a retort to the government's trade unions bill, was revealed yesterday, and at a special conference to-day of representatives of the trade unions, the left-wingers will advocate that unless the bill is withdrawn within a certain period, agitation shall be started for another general strike.

The organization of workers into defense corps for the protection of the demonstrators against the bill also will be recommended, but naturally there is little chance of the communists being able to carry the conference with them.

Still in Unions.

While the Reds were supposed to have been ejected from membership in the trade unions many still remain under various guises, for so long as they refrain from openly proclaiming themselves they cannot be deprived of their rights. Communist activity however is very great. Some government members have even received threatening letters, which the police are investigating, while in every part of the country reds are to be found agitating for drastic action against the government.

"Labor Lent."

The intensity of communist feeling in this respect is shown in the proposal made by the organ of the Social Democrat federation that all trade unionists should drink no beer, wines or spirits, and should cease smoking for three months. Should this "Labor Lent" be adopted it would place Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill in budget difficulties because it would mean a reduction of £25,000,000 in revenue. According to the proposal this Lent would begin when the trade unions bill passes its third reading.

The Conservatives laugh at the idea, declaring that the average trade unionist would never give up his beer and tobacco for the sake of any party, but at the same time it is an interesting indication of the present mentality of Labor.

PRICE OF LIQUOR TO BE INCREASED

Cost of Handling Said To Be Reason For Jumping Cost.

TORONTO, April 29. — The hope of cheaper liquid refreshments of a stimulating kind, after May 16, appears to be waning, in fact an increase in prices, rather than a decrease is expected. The Ontario Liquor Commission is engaged at present in the revision of the price list for government dispensaries.

The additions to prices are understood to be based on the anticipated added expense of handling and selling liquors under the new system. One comment on the present prices was to the effect that the dispensary charges for champagne were little short of ridiculous. According to the price list effective since Feb. 8th, 1927, Clicquot, Heidsick, Mumm's Pol Roger and Pommery have all been selling at $3.25 a reputed quart, and $1.75 a reputed pint. That these prices will be increased seems quite certain

Increases of from 25 cents to a dollar a quart were prophesied for the more popular varieties of distilled liquors

Engine and Nine Cars Plunge Into Cave Hole

PITTSTON, Pa., April 29.—(United Press.)—A locomotive and 9 mine cars plunged into a cave hole which suddenly o pened under the tracks at the No. 9 collinery of the Pennsylvania Coal Company here yesterday.

The hole, which appeared without warning as the train approached it, was 50 feet deep and 80 feet wide.

Farmer Uses Syrup To Oil His Cultivator

HIAWATHA, April 29.—During the week a farmer in this locality had the novel experience of using maple syrup as a lubricant for the wheels on his cultivator. When asked how he discovered his error, he said that the stickiness of the fluid led him to a- that it was not machine oil that he had.

The wife of the man a few days previous had purchased two bottles of oil in Peterborough, one harness oil and the other for machines. A neighbor had presented him with a sealer and colored bottle of maple syrup after the sap season was over. Somehow the three bottles came to be on the same shelf, which accounts for the uncommon incident.

Matinee Ladies

BY William B. Courtney

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, college student, works as a dancing partner for rich women in a New Jersey roadhouse. There he meets the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on—Sally, the cigarette girl. Reciprocating his interest, she warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the Inn, who finds her "thrill" in "hunting" Bob for her loveliest apartment. Mrs. Hammond tells Bob she is an authoress, secretly in search of color; and offers him the free use of her studio, apparently with innocent motives.

Bob was quite overcome by the munificence of Mrs. Hammond's offer. It was, in fact, too munificent.

"How could I ever save up enough to pay you back, Delia? Why, it must cost you a small fortune to maintain that apartment."

"Oh, we'll pro rate the cost, on some fair basis. After all, it's my workroom. It's merely being loaned to you. And the cost isn't so awfully much. There's only a bedroom, bath, living room, dinette and kitchenette. Your meals will be served by the maid, brought up from a central kitchen. What do you say, Bob? Like to run over now and have a look at it?"

Bob hesitated a long, long minute. He felt Mrs. Hammond's eyes studying him, and after their conversation he was ashamed to appear dubious; but, also, somewhere in the back of his mind he felt another pair of eyes upon him. The starry eyes of little Sally Smith. Caught between two pairs of eyes; that was it!

"You know, Sally Smith, I'm awfully fond of you."

Still, if he felt that Mrs. Hammond's offer was morally legitimate, strictly businesslike, purely philanthropic, why should the phrase "caught between two pairs of eyes" leap into his mind? There should be no conflict between these two women in his life. What each meant to him, was doing for him, would benefit the other. Mrs. Hammond's philanthropy would insure his futuge success and prosperity, and thus aid his love for Sally, and Sally's love for him.

There was only one thing to do before he could with safety and honor accept Mrs. Hammond's proposition. He must go to Sally, acquaint her with the offer, and convince her of Mrs. Hammond's purely friendly motives. He must get Sally's tacit approval, and in getting it, win Sally's trust and faith in Mrs. Hammond.

Bob abruptly faced Mrs. Hammond, and declared:

"It's bully of you, Delia. I still don't understand why you should single me out for your generosity, for your wonderful counsel and aid; but I do appreciate it, deeply. I may be able to repay the money debt, but I can never repay the deed—"

"You will accept, then, Bob, and move in, and make yourself at home!" eagerly.

"I—I think I will. But I want just a little more time to think it over. There are so many things to be considered, you know, Delia." He hesitated, uncertain in his guilelessness whether or not he ought to be completely frank. He decided that he would; and continued,

"I want to tell Sally Smith about your goodness. I want her to understand that in doing this you're doing her as much of a service as you are doing me. I want—to get her approval."

Mrs. Hammond set her perfect body back into the perfect pillows of her perfect car again. Only this time she was not perfectly happy. This time her beautiful body was not relaxed—but taut as a harp-string, and quivering as such a string might, under the lashing of a passionate storm.

Yet, her eternally inscrutable smile masked the sting of her defeat. Of Victory suddenly turned to defeat!

CHAPTER XIV

Meanwhile, the skeins of the elaborate net that Mrs. Hammond was weaving around Bob, had reached into the gentle life of Sally Smith, and were tangling her combed-honey hair, her slender legs, all unbeknown to her. For Sally was such a precious little gosling, and Mrs. Hammond and Madame Leonine and Mazie Revere were such ravenous hawks!

In her implacable hunt to win the physical love of Bob Ward, Mrs. Hammond had recognized that the bond of affection and attachment growing up so swiftly between Bob and little Sally Smith was going to prove an insurmountable barrier presently, unless she quickly found a way to breach it. Having at her disposal the influence, the wealth, the time to prepare exhaustive plans and to secure the best aid, she had reached right down into little Sally's private life and personal affairs.

In ways best known to herself, she had investigated enough to know the conditions of Sally's home, and to learn about Tom Mannion. Again, in ways best known to herself, but more apparent, she seen to it that Tom Mannion became known to Mazie Revere.

Enlisting the aid of Madame Leonine and Mazie Revere, who of course had their own reasons for pandering to every little whim of Mrs. Hammond's, the wealthy huntress of men inserted the barbed tip of her first wedge between Sally and Bob. The event of the afternoon, in which Madame Leonine had despatched Sally to Mazie Revere's with a message, was the beginning.

Sally had gone without delay to Mazie's home, in the mid-Fifties on the east side of Madison Avenue, and had primly delivered her message—an innocuous verbal communication.

Mazie, affecting a grown-up concern in Sally, had cordially invited her in to rest. Sally protested at first, because she was anxious to get home and dispose of her evening chores early, so that she could get a good night's sleep and be fresh and bright for the picnic with Bob on the morrow.

Mazie won her over to a brief visit by offering to show her through the apartment. Womanlike, Sally was anxious to see the place. She knew that Mazie had a lot of money, and that she coined it from many and divers gentlemen friends in the process commonly known around the Palisado Inn as "gold-digging."

Sally, however, was hardly prepared for the revelation of ornate grandeur that followed. The place was simply palatial—in little Sally Smith's eyes, trained, as they were, to the modest things of a pinched home. Endless corridors and rooms, a roof garden, gorgeous draperies. It was just like Sally had seen in vampire moving pictures. She was not thrilled half so much as overwhelmed.

But if feminine curiosity had been responsible for Sally's brief stay, something more tangible and startling gave her further pause.

When they had sat down for a minute in the great living room, before the open hearth, where Mazie insisted upon installing Sally in the biggest and softest chair, Mazie propped herself on the arm beside her, put a friendly hand on Sally's slim shoulder and smiled gally,

"You know, Sally Smith, I'm awfully fond of you, even though I get a bit impatient with you at times because you pass up opportunities that I'd grab in a minute. Not that I don't admire you for your gumption, of course, kid, for I do. But that ain't what I want to talk about. The fact is, dearie, I've a surprise for you—"

Sally looked up, utterly bewildered.

"Yes," smiled Mazie, "I know you'll be pleased. I'm going to throw a house party here tonight, and I want you to come as my especial guest."

"Oh!" gasped Sally, which meant neither yes nor no, nor anything; and Mazie gave her no chance to recover and become definite, but continued, talking rapidly and ingratiatingly,

"Fact is, too, honey, that I know how shy you are, and so that you won't feel alone and strange with so many new faces, I've asked a friend of yours to come along, to escort you. Tom Mannion!"

"Mr. Mannion! Mazie, how in the world did you get to know Tom Mannion, or that he knew me?"

Mazie chuckled: "Oh, don't worry now about his morals, dearie. He ain't one of the kind that I or my girl friends play for a sucker. Tom's all right. He's a nice clean fellow, with a mighty big future ahead of him in this man's burg."

WARKWORTH Y.P.S. ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

Members of Campbellford Presbyterian Group Are Guests.

WARKWORTH, April 29.—The Warkworth Presbyterian Young People spent a most enjoyable evening on Monday night when they entertained the Young People of Campbellford. Despite the bad roads, about seventy-five visitors were welcomed. There was a large attendance from the local society. The Sunday School was artistically decorated with the society colors, orange, blue and white, May flowers and house plants.

Mrs. Carlaw, in a few words, welcomed the visiting society and called on Miss Watson, President of Campbellford society, to take the chair. Miss Watson gave a short speech and proceeded with the programme, in which every item was well rendered and heartily encored.

St. Andrew's has an abundance of talent in Young People's work and their visits will always be welcomed and enjoyed by members of Warkworth society.

The first item was an instrumental duet on the guitar by the Misses Blue.

Reading—"The Old Stove-Pipe Hole"; encore, "The Last Portage," by Mr. Allen.

Organ selection—Mr. Collison.

This was followed by a dialogue, entitled "The Census of the Competent," by three girls, and was much enjoyed.

Reading—"My Financial Career"; encore, "The Auto Ride," by Miss Ackerman.

Duet—"Where Do You Works, John," by Mr. Storey and Mr. Blakely.

The kitchen orchestra was a new feature on the programme, and was thoroughly enjoyed.

Instrumental duet—Misses Blue.

Address—Rev. Grier.

Mr. Fowler tendered a vote of thanks to the society for the splendid entertainment given. Community singing was enjoyed by all, after which the local society served a dainty lunch, and a pleasant social hour was spent together.

TOURISTS BOOKED FOR END OF JUNE

Lakeshore House All Reserved Before Change in Fishing Season.

HIAWATHA, April 29.—The Department of Game and Fisheries has given out accurate, definite information regarding change of date of the opening of bass and maskinonge fishing. It was rumored that the change was to be made next spring, but such is not the case. The Lakeshore House on Tuesday, April 26, received its first budget of angling licenses for non-residents of the Province. On the back of each is clearly printed that bass and maskinonge may be caught from July 1 to November 30, inclusive, except in the waters of the St. Lawrence River, where the open season is the same as last year, June 16 to November 30, inclusive.

No change is noticed in the limits set. Twelve pickerel, four maskinonge and eight large or small-mouthed black bass, not less than ten inches long, are the daily allowance.

The value of a license is five dollars and fifty cents extra fee for the issuer.

The penalty for a non-resident angling without a license is up to one thousand dollars fine or one year's imprisonment, or both.

The change in the date is making considerable bother for the proprietors of the Lakeshore Summer Hotel, which is booked to capacity for the last two weeks in June. Some tourists even reserved their accommodation before Christmas. Many did so in January and February.

This change will likely mean that a double influx of tourists will visit Hiawatha during the first two weeks in July or wait till later on in the season.

The local men who guide will be very busy paddling the scores who will be here.

As yet no date has been set for the proving of the document, which was executed on August 18, 1923, and witnessed by Samuel A. Mangman, William A. Moger, both of No. 599 St. Marks Avenue, and George Ferguson of No. 648a St. Marks avnue.

NEW ARTILLERY.

The high cost of crime has not spared Port Hope.

Thus we find that after grave deliberation the Council of that town has decided to invest $27.50 in the purchase of a new gun for the night constable, who, it will be remembered, was held up and relieved of his old revolver by a crook several weeks ago.

The miscreant was afterward arrested in Montreal, but, alas, the official gun was not recovered, and hence the new appropriation for artillery.

The old gun was not perfect, according to members of the Council, because it "jammed and would not shoot straight," but it strikes the outside observer as just the kind of a weapon for a police officer to hand over to a crook.

It is to be hoped the constable will be more careful of his new "gat."

Even a flourishing and opulent town like Port Hope can't afford to make a practice of supplying $27.50 guns to policemen to turn over to bandits.

BRING ON THE OIL.

As another way in which the city authorities can materially assist in making the clean-up campaign a success The Examiner hastens to suggest that the oiling of the streets should be taken in hand at an earlier date than usual.

Already the dust nuisance is a source of annoyance to many citizens, and the number of motor cars in use on Peterborough's streets at the present time, of course, makes the conditions materially worse.

Housewives struggling with the spring cleaning and those worthy citizens who contemplate having the exterior of their houses painted would especially welcome the appearance of oil sprinklers at an early date.

While clouds of dust have to be contended with, neither housecleaning nor painting is a comfortable or satisfactory operation.

Peterborough's citizens generally are hoping that activity tending to mitigate the dust nuisance will be speeded up.

The effectiveness of the clean-up drive would be considerably helped by an early application of oil to the city's streets.

A WISE DECISION.

The decision of the National Jubilee Committee that the $250,000 grant made by the Federal Government to assist in the celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of Confederation is for the most part to be used in driving home the significance of the occasion to Canada's children, will be generally approved.

There was an impression in some quarters that the grant would be divided among different municipalities to assist in defraying the expenses of local celebrations.

That, however, is unnecessary.

Any community that possesses self-respect will not want any financial assistance in celebrating the jubilee.

Peterborough is prepared to look after the cost of its own demonstration, and doubtless every other centre in the Dominion has the same view in regard to the occasion.

On the other hand, the wisdom of using the celebration to give the children, in whose hands will the carrying on of Canada's affairs be placed in the years to come, a new and firm faith in this country will appeal to most citizens.

The Dominion grant can be very effectively employed toward that end; the local celebrations do not need any help from that quarter.

INCREASING WEALTH.

What the mineral wealth of Canada means to this country is shown by the fact that a preliminary report on the mineral production of the Dominion during 1926 indicates the value of production reached a new record of $241,245,898, an advance of 6.4 per cent. over the total of the preceding year.

The previous high record in mineral production was made in 1920, with a total of $227,859,665.

Not only does the total show an increase, but even more important is the fact that as new fields are exploited and old ones expanded colonization spreads, subsidiary industries are started and national development is given a decided impetus.

Dr. Charles Camsell, Deputy Minister, covers this point effectively in his report of the Dominion Department of Mines when he says:

"Not only is progress made from year to year in the development of minerals from known fields, but as time goes on new fields are being discovered which, though they take years to come to the stage of actual production, all tend not only to strengthen the mining industry in the industrial life of the country, but to open up our great northern region to settlement for agricultural purposes. One has only to read our past history to appreciate the fact that time and again Canadian development has received incalculable impetus from mineral discoveries, and the colonizing influence of such discoveries may be seen in the history of British Columbia, Yukon territory, northern Ontario, and more recently western Quebec.

"To gauge the national value of our mineral industry merely in terms of the number of millions of dollars' worth of metals produced is to present only one side of the picture. It ignores perhaps the greatest lesson of mining history, namely, that mining contributes to national development a vital and indispensable service which reaches far beyond the mining industry itself. Our northern country might lie dormant for generations were it not for the fact that the exploitation of mineral deposits acts just as a catalyser in a chemical reaction. It causes the surrounding region to spring to life and encourages and even compels the development of agriculture and other permanent industries. So that while the mineral wealth does ultimately become exhausted, there is left behind a legacy of permanent development, in some cases vastly surpassing in importance the mining development itself. In this way the mining industry operates as one of the chief factors in spreading development across and over the Dominion."

SPORT AND THE "GOOD OLD DAYS."

"Most people interested in sports nowadays take their pleasure in witnessing games and competitions by expert players rather than in personal participation in such pastimes. They get their satisfaction by proxy, as it were. Physically, it is easier than the old style of participation, but it is far less healthy; and it tends to indolence and flabbiness."—Hamilton Herald.

The foregoing would be deplorable, if it were true. But it isn't true. On the contrary, the fact is that there are more people taking part in games now than ever before. Take, as an illustration, golf. Ten or fifteen years ago golf was for the few; only the well-to-do played it. Today golf has thousands of devotees in every small town and city right across the continent. The average business man who after passing forty used to become a spectacle in obesity is today keeping fit on the links—and is better for it. And then there is tennis, and skiing, and badminton—all barely known fifteen or twenty years ago. All of these games have an increasing popularity, and we venture to think that in this city alone they have more than ten thousand followers.

It is a habit to speak of the "good old times." But the words are misleading when applied to sport. The old days had their gladiators, giants who dominated the gridiron and the baseball diamond and the lacrosse field. But there were only a few of them. The masses watched from the bleachers. Today there may be fewer heroes, but there are many more sportsmen and many more sportswomen—and the race will be better because of them.—Ottawa Journal.

A CELEBRATED TRIAL.

The case of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, sentenced to die in the electric chair next July, has aroused an interest extending far beyond Massachusetts, where the crime was committed and the prisoners were tried. About seven years ago, on April 15, 1920, the paymaster of Slater & Morrill, shoe manufacturers, and his guard were shot dead in the village of South Braintree, Massachusetts. The murderers, five being involved in the plot, escaped in an automobile, carrying with them the weekly pay-roll of $15,776.51. Nearly three weeks later the men named, one a shoe factory worker and the other a fish peddler, were arrested on suspicion. The trial began on May 21 and lasted so long that the record covered 1,500,000 words. The murder was easily proved, but there was much doubt about the identification. The prisoners were found guilty. Repeated efforts to obtain a new trial failed, and after six years Judge Thayer, who had presided at the trial in 1920, sentenced the two prisoners to death. Their only hope now is for a pardon or a commutation of sentence by Governor Fuller of Massachusetts.

The case set up by the friends of the prisoners is that their connection with the crime has not been proved, and that their death has been sought, not because of the murder, but because they were Communists and evaders of the draft during the war. During the period in which they were tried there was great public excitement over these matters. Raids were being conducted against alleged Reds, and radicals were being deported. Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard University and a group of lawyers charged that wholesale arrests of aliens had been made without warrant of law, and that the Department of Justice had fanned public opinion against radicals by furnishing propaganda material to the press. The prosecution did not trace the stolen money up to the prisoners, and no effort was made to link them up with professional bandits or criminals. It is declared that the law of Massachusetts is peculiar in that there is practically no appeal from the trial judge. "No matter what new evidence may be brought forward tending to establish the innocence of condemned men, the trial judge, whose professional reputation is bound up with sustaining the original verdict, is the sole judge of the value of such evidence."

The Boston Herald, which at first was convinced of the guilt of the prisoners, reversed its judgment and pleaded for a new trial to safeguard the State against the possibility of committing a "monstrous injustice." The Springfield Republican, another Massachusetts paper, declares that "a dog ought not to be shot on the weight of the evidence brought out in the Dedham trial of Sacco and Vanzetti." The New York World points out that the conviction has never been impartially reviewed by any tribunal. The Springfield Union, the Pittsburg Gazette-Times and the Jersey City Journal take the opposite view. The Governor of Massachusetts has a very serious duty to perform. Usually the Executive in such a case is appealed to only after all the legal processes have been exhausted. But in this case it is contended that the machinery for the administration of justice is defective, and that the Governor will have to take the place of an impartial court of appeal. The case is further complicated by the charge that the prosecution was a "frame-up" designed for political purposes to punish Communists.

It is often said that the administration of justice in the United States is faulty because it allows too many criminals to escape. In this particular case we have the opposite kind of criticism, that the defendants have not received a fair trial, and that prejudice has taken the place of justice. The latter criticism is found also in the comments on lynching and the application of the third degree, that is the use of torture to force confessions of guilt. Some American jurists think that the whole system ought to be overhauled. Possibly the reform which would make the punishment of the guilty more sure and speedy would afford greater protection to the innocent. —London Advertiser.

KOSHER RULES OF THE TALMUD

The Jewish Talmud no doubt contains the first Health rules ever written by man. Many of these laws are still practiced by the Orthodox Hebrew who believes that they were divinely inspired. If not of divine inspiration, it is all the more marvelous to know that almost at the dawn of civilization many rules about Hygienic living were laid down, which have remained sensible and sound in logic through the present scientific age.

Kosher meat is prepared today as it was several centuries before the Christian era. The word Kosher signifies special care and cleanliness, and is also applied to bread, butter and other foods which were prepared with the utmost caution and exactness. The vessels and utensils used must not be employed for any other purpose, and must be thoroughly cleansed each time. Kosher meat must be killed by a "Shochet" who is an expert meat inspector and butcher. The animals are killed by cutting their throats with a special knife about twenty inches long and two inches wide. This knife is kept sharp as a razor and one cut almost severes the head from the body. The carcass is then allowed to bleed as freely and as long as it will, the object being to remove all the blood possible from the meat. After the bleeding has been completed, the carcass is then opened and a minute examination is made of the entrails, lungs and all of the flesh. The slightest defect will result in the animal being declared unfit for food. It is then thrown away or parts sold to Gentile butchers. The discarded meat is called "Tref" and this term is also applied to certain of the hindquarters of bullocks and sheep.

Kosher corned beef is prepared by first soaking the beef in water, and then packing it for some time in dry salt. It is then again washed and put to soak in salt brine, where it must remain for at least 24 hours. This salting process is to remove more of the blood from the meat.

Fresh fish of the scaly kind is considered "Kosher," but all shellfish and such fish without scales as eels are considered unfit for food and are also discarded as "Tref." Swine, frogs, snails and rabbit are likewise put in the taboo class.

The refusal of all meat not Kosher is a matter of religious principle with the Hebrew, but there is a decidedly practical advantage to them in that the careful inspection of the flesh by the Shochet assures them of flesh in a healthy condition.

Another Hebraic law prohibits the use of milk with meat or fish. This is a good rule, but many dieticians of the present day do not know it.

TOMATOES RICH IN ALL VITAMINES

Three Most Essential Found in Large Quantities in Fruit.

It has been said that the canner is the food preserver of the nation; that he imprisons nature's fruitfulness and plenty at their best and gives us the key to their release—a can opener.

The verdict of medical science is that there are three essential vitamines, without which no daily diet is nutritious enough for good health, vitality and vigor. The problem of proper menu selection thus becomes one of choosing foods of maximum vitamine content. Specialists at the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, recommend the juice of canned tomatoes for the little patients.

Tomatoes are heralded by investigators as the most healthful of vegetables for young and old, because tomatoes contain all three vitamines, more of them than any other fruit or vegetable, and in the form which Nature likes best and uses most. A properly balanced diet would seem, then, to require tomatoes at all seasons.

This is both possible and inexpensive. Modern canning methods provide at all seasons of the year tomatoes that are actually richer in flavor and vitamines than the tomatoes ordinarily sold in a so-called "fresh" state. Unpacked tomatoes quickly lose their "freshness," whereas canned tomatoes bring this freshness right to the user's table. That is why medical science pronounces canned tomatoes more beneficial than those eaten uncanned.

This is Hudson Super-Six demonstration week. If everybody and his brother fail to get a ride, the Brewer Motor Sales, Hudson-Essex dealers and distributors cannot be blamed.

With the greatest Hudson in history, winning new name and fame for itself throughout the nation, Mr. C. L. Brewer has set aside April 30th to May 7th to acquaint every person who owns, drives or has ambitions to own a car, with the acceleration and hill climbing ability of this new Super-Six.

"One to 50 miles in 18 seconds, and on up to 75 miles an hour or more—that's unwinding the road at such speed that it looks like a ribbon," said Mr. Brewer. And how it rides—as smooth as a swan amid the ripples of a lake. The roar and rumble, the labor and struggle of so many average cars in getting up speed, is conspicuous by its absence in the new Super-Six Hudson.

"All is left for you to find out in the Hudson demonstration period. There is no obligation if you take a ride— no high voltage salesmen will make you feel obligated. Naturally, if you get the "Hudson fever" there'll be suitable sales doctors ready to attend you before your case reaches a chronic stage.

"Our country has several hills that make average motor cars groan and labor. There are clear stretches of road where many good motors rumble and roar as they fight their way to the mile-a-minute mark, but when you find the airplane ease with which a Super-Six Hudson skims away you are going to say to that beautiful motor car of rigid steel and speed; "Where you been all my life?"

"Tens of thousands of people are going to ride Hudsons, taking these demonstrations from the Gulf of Mexico to the Atlantic, the Dominion of Canada and the Pacific. So don't think just out city has been singled out, for this whole broad continent of North America is a demonstration ground for Hudsons for the next 10 days."

Recounts History of His Experimenting Over 30 Year Period.

WAS LAUGHED AT.

Sun Furnished Clue of Means of Destroying Ice.

At a meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada in the Chamber of Commerce last night an interesting address on "Ice Engineering" was given by Dr. H. T. Barnes, the celebrated scientist of McGill University in Montreal.

Dr. Barnes has been known for many years as the world authority on ice and heat subjects. Power companies frequently are forced to obtain assistance from him to break up the ice floes on the St. Lawrence river when they become so thick that actual manual labor is of no use whatsoever. Dr. Barnes, in speaking of the early history of this great scientific discovery, remarked that back in 1894 people merely laughed at him when he spoke about this means of breaking ice, but in 1895 his first experiment was on the floes in the St. Lawrence river and it turned out to be such a success that the persons that were so recently laughing at him now began to think that there was something to his idea after all.

Accurate Instruments.

The first instruments that the scientist used were micro-thermometers. He got wonderful accuracy with his instruments and owing to these his work did not seem so hard to accomplish. The first means of destroying useless icebergs was by "ice butchery," which, explained Dr. Barnes, is just plain physical force and this was just a waste of time and money for removing ice by this method is impossible. Nature works against the ice for ice is worthless to it; in fact, ice is of no use to anyone, for it kills all plant and animal life, ties up traffic during the winter months, and is really a general nuisance to everything.

"Water is very essential," said Dr. Barnes, "for without water the earth would resemble the moon and everything on this planet of ours would die of cold." The sun is the great enemy of ice for the radiation of heat destroys the ice. When the warm sun comes out near the end of February the ise disappears all together. The scientict went on to say that December and January are the actual ice-forming months, while in February the forming of the ice decreases for the ice that is under the surface is practically all frozen. When March comes there is a greater decrease until April when the ice disappears completely. Although this spring was early it is hard to believe that actual ice has been on the water up to April 17.

Sun Furnished Clue.

Steam has no effect on huge icebergs and it was from the rays of the sun that Dr. Barnes first got his idea that has solved mysteries for many power companies that have had their works paralysed owing to anchor ice, but they have no worries with this now due to his wonderful discovery.

Slides of icebergs and interesting charts were shown that held the attention of every one present for they showed some idea of the conditions that the doctor has to combat against. Huge bergs were shown in the St. Lawrence that would make the average individual give up hopes of ever accomplishing so great a feat as to destroy them by means of scientific research. A boat was shown that had done seventeen years of "ice butchery," but it looked very crude compared to the recent method.

This great work is done by means of thermite, which is a mixture of metallic aluminum and iron oxide, and is non-explosive and non-poisonous. The thermite is enclosed in a metal container which is set on the ice. When this is ignited by an electric current the aluminum burns and the compound turns into a mass of molten steel which is twice as hot as a blast furnace. This causes a great explosion and the ice gradually melts.

Photos that were shown last night were taken by Walter Connolley, who is now taking a test course in the Canadian General Electric. He assisted Dr. Barnes in taking all the colored pictures and other photos that were exhibited. A large number attended the lecture.

FIRE THREATENS ENTIRE VILLAGE

BELLEVILLE, Ont., April 29. — (Canadian Press.)—Fire at midnight destroyed the large flour mill of Thomas Waldron, at Cannifton, and also two garages, one owned by Dr. Honeywell and the other by William Reynolds. One car was burned and the mill was a complete loss. The origin of the fire was an overheated stove, and the loss was five thousand, partly covered by insurance. For a time the whole town was threatened.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SPEARMINT GUM

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

"Do you know what I wish, Uncle Wiggily?" Asked Dumple Wogglejig of the rabbit gentleman one morning.

"Well, Dumple," said the bunny, who was hopping out of the bungleump front door to go adventuring, "I suppose you wish it was nearer Christmas."

"Oh, yes, I always wish that!" exclaimed the little red wooden boy, as he pulled off his left front leg and made it change places with his right hind one. The Wogglejigs were always doing things like that, you know. Sometimes they became so scrambled that it took Boppy and Um, the little wooden man and woman, with the help of Uncle Wiggily, nearly all day to unscramble Dumple, his brothers and sisters.

"You have sat in some gum!" laughed the bunny.

"But what I especially wish now," went on Dumple as he took off his head and put it on upside down, just for a joke, "what I wish now, is that you would take me adventuring with you."

"That I will right gladly and with pleasure," answered Uncle Wiggily, talking something like Sir Galahad. "But what about school for you this morning?"

"I go in the afternoon, like Baby Bunty," answered Dumple. "There is no room for me now, the Lady Mouse Teacher said. So I can very easily go adventuring with you."

"Come along then!" invited Uncle Wiggily, and soon he and the red Wogglejig boy were hopping toward the woods where most adventures are to be found. As Dumple hurried along beside the rabbit gentleman, the red wooden chap looked at the bunny uncle and asked:

"Have you a bit of spearmint gum in your pocket?"

"No," answered Mr. Longears, "and, what is more, I am glad I have no spearmint gum in my pocket."

"Why?" asked Dumple.

"Because I might sit on it and get stuck fast and then I would think perhaps the Fox had hold of me and I'd jump up in a hurry and then I would be sorry I had spearmint gum in my pocket!" Uncle Wiggily took a long breath after saying all this.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Dumple. "That's a funny reason for not wanting spearmint gum. I wish I had some to chew, don't you?"

Uncle Wiggily thought for a moment and said:

"I am in two minds about chewing gum. It may be polite and nice for some, and others may not like it. What I say is let them who like gum chew it and let the others keep away from it."

"Well," said Dumple, "I like to chew gum, but perhaps when I get as old as you are, without any teeth—"

"Who said I hadn't any teeth?" cried Mr. Longears indignant like.

"Oh, I didn't mean exactly that!" Dumple made haste to say. "I meant I wish I had some spearmint gum and I wish you had some, and if you didn't want yours you could give it to me."

"Yes," agreed Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose, "I could do that, I suppose."

"Only," went on Dumple, sad like, "there isn't any spearmint gum around here."

"Nor any adventures either, as far as I can see!" sighed the bunny.

"Let's go two different ways to look for them," proposed Dumple. "You hop to the right and I'll hop to the left and we'll see who will be the first to find an adventure."

Uncle Wiggily thought that was a good plan, so away they hopped, one to the right and one to the left. Pretty soon, after a while, not so very long, Uncle Wiggily heard Dumple crying:

"Help! Help! I'm caught fast! I'm in a sticky trap!"

As quickly as he could Uncle Wiggily hopped to the rescue. He saw Dumple sitting on a fallen tree. The Wogglejig boy couldn't get up, but Uncle Wiggily could not see any bad chaps holding him fast.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny uncle when he looked at what was holding Dumple fast. "You have sat in some gum!"

"Is it spearmint gum, Uncle Wiggily?" Dumple asked.

"No, it is gum from the spruce tree, and very good to chew for those who like it," said the bunny. "However, I see some spearmint growing near the brook, and I can flavor the spruce gum with that as I flavored the molasses candy with peppermint for Baby Bunty."

Uncle Wiggily pulled Dumple loose from the gummy log and then, mixing some juice from spearmint leaves with the spruce sap, he gave it to the red Wogglejig boy, who was soon chewing away as happy as heart could wish. So this teacher us that if you can't find what you want often you can make it.

BODY BADLY BURNED.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., April 29.—(Canadian Press.) — Joseph Webb, night watchman at the Bancroft marble quarries, was stricken with a heart attack while at the plant and died last night. Machinery belonging to the Ontario Government was also destroyed, and the loss will be in the neighborhood of ten thousand dollars. Twenty-five men are thrown, temporarily out of employment.

Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL.

MILTON SILLS IN "THE SEA TIGER."

Milton Sills is always interesting. The veteran actor, with his rather hard face and swaggering demeanor, invariably gives a good presentation of chosen roles. In "The Sea Lion," one of those pictures that open with a real bang and fizzle out to a tame ending, he has all the elements of a notable production. That these are not utilized probably lies at the door of the director. What looks like a tragedy in its beginnings peters out finally to real comedy.

The picture is set in the Canary Islands, giving an unusual flavor to its unfolding. The savage sea gives a keynote to the opening scenes, but Luis Ramos, the "sea tiger," defeats it and snatches from it the brother who is filled with jealousy of the stronger man who saves him. There is also a girl loved by both, and a fourth spoke in the wheel in the person of "Lulu," dedicated to the gods of "rouge, revelry and ragtime." Here are all the necessary ingredients for a strong brew. That the picture ends on a note of laughter, with the two girls pulling each other's hair in the rain, and the two brothers looking on in amusement, is perhaps a more cheerful denouement, but certainly not artistic. The lean ferocity of Milton Sills deserves a better setting than this. However, it is an entertaining, if somewhat disappointing, production. Mary Astor, as Consuelo Enos, is an engaging little spitfiree heroine, and the other parts are well taken.

Charlie Chaplin, in a revised version of "Shoulder Arms," adds his quota to the amusement of the evening. Judging from the laughter of his audience, Charlie's shadow has not grown less since the days when he played this role of a doughboy in France, disguising himself as a tree and entering the enemy's lines, then capturing no less a person than his August Majesty Kaiser Wilhelm and bringing him back in triumph—that is, before he wakens up.

AT THE REGENT.

"TEXAS STREAK" A FURIOUS FILM THAT MAKES EVERYBODY LAUGH.

Hoot Gibson Film at Regent a Hit.

What would happen if a movie cow boy found himself in the real cattle country?

That question is asked and the answer is supplied in a hilarious and diverting manner in "The Texas Streak," the Universal-Jewel starring Hoot Gibson, the current feature attraction at the Regent Theatre.

It is a skillful blending of comedy and straight drama, with the first element predominating, and Gibson proves once more that he is possibly the ablest actor among all the screen's western stars.

He has a genuine flair for playing comedy and uses this ability to excellent advantage in "The Texas Streak." Combined with this is his superb horsemanship and his athletic prowess. In short, he is the ideal western hero for in all things he is particularly human and natural.

To reveal the plot would be an injustice to those who have not yet witnessed the picture, but we will go so far as to tell you that Gibson comes into the picture as a cowboy from Hollywood who happens to be stranded in the real west. From this point, the story develops with many surprising turns and twists.

Lynn Reynolds has done an excellent job of direction, and, in addition wrote the story on which the picture is based.

Blanche Mehaffey makes a lovely leading woman for the personable Hoot, and adds not a little bit of the comedy herself. "Slim" Summerville and Jack Curtis as the comedy pals of Hoot, and James Marcus, Alan Roscoe, Jack Murphy and others, are in support.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE

CLXVII—The Luck Was With Morse.

by MAX HAHN

LUCK PLAYS A LEADING ROLE OFT-TIMES IN INVENTION. IT WAS SO IN THE CASE OF SAMUEL F. B. MORSE, INVENTOR OF THE TELEGRAPH. IF MORSE HAD NOT SAILED FROM EUROPE ON THE SAME BOAT WITH A MAN DEMONSTRATING THE ELECTROMAGNET SOME OTHER MAN PROBABLY WOULD HAVE INVENTED THE TELEGRAPH.

IN 1832, WHEN MORSE BOARDED THE SULLY TO VOYAGE HOME HE WAS A GOOD ARTIST MAKING A POOR LIVING. THE CRITICS ADMITTED HIS PAINTINGS WERE ARTISTIC, BUT CUSTOMERS WERE FEW. HENCE IT WAS LUCKY FOR MORSE THAT HE WAS PUT ON THE ROAD TO FAME AND FORTUNE BY THE INSPIRATION FROM THE ELECTROMAGNET DEMONSTRATION.

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

THE NEXT FOUR YEARS WERE FULL OF HARD WORK AND POVERTY FOR MORSE WHILE HE DEVOTED EVERY POSSIBLE MOMENT TO HIS TELEGRAPH IDEA. FOR A FEW HOURS DAILY HE DELIVERED ART LECTURES IN THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK. THE REMAINDER OF THE DAY WAS SPENT IN HIS WORKSHOP.

MORSE CAME TO BELIEVE LUCK HAD DESERTED HIM. IN 1837 CONGRESS BECAN TO INVESTICATE THE POSSIBILITIES OF ESTABLISHING AN AMERICAN TELEGRAPH SYSTEM. MORSE'S IDEA WAS PRACTICALLY READY TO OFFER TO THE GOVERNMENT, BUT HE FELT HE COULDN'T DEMONSTRATE IT PROPERLY WITHOUT MONEY AND INFLUENTIAL FRIENDS.

GOLDEN WEDDING DATE OBSERVED

Mr. and Mrs. B. Stewart Are Surprised by Their Friends.

On Monday evening last an event of rare occurrence was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Stewart, Railroad street, it being their golden wedding anniversary.

The happy couple were married 50 years ago at Orland by the Rev. Amos Campbell. They were attended by Mr. D. Stewart, of Codrington, brother of the groom, and Mrs. H. Young, of Peterborough, sister of the bride. All four of this happy party are living to celebrate the anniversary of the event. Mrs. Young, however, was unable to be present on account of the arrival of a grandson at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart spent the greater part of their lives in the State of Michigan. They were the parents of four sons and one daughter. Only one son, the eldest, Mr. T. C. Stewart, of Bimidji, Minn., who was home for the event, is living.

The celebration was a complete surprise to both Mr. and Mrs. Stewart; they had no hint that they were to be entertained. About seven-thirty the guests began to arrive and they were told more were coming.

The evening was spent in visiting and recalling past times by the older members of the company, while the younger ones entertained themselves by playing games and other amusements.

Little Miss Dorothy Gallineau, of Trenton, a grand-niece, delighted the gathering with several recitations and Miss Ruby McCracken gave a reading.

About eleven o'clock a very dainty lunch was served, after which Mr. B. Buchannan called the company to order and made a few very fitting remarks eulogizing the groom and his happy spouse. Mr. D. Stewart also recalled some of the events that had taken place fifty years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were the recipients of several gold pieces, and many other useful and beautiful remembrances.

Among those present were Mrs. Gallineau, of Trenton, sister of Mr. Stewart, who is 85 years old, and the jolliest of the company, with her was her daughter, Mrs. McCall, also her four sons with their wives and four grandchildren, Dorothy, Rae and Anna Gallineau, Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Adams and daughters, Clara and Jean, of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. B. Buchanan and Mrs. W. H. German, of Warkworth; Mrs. Buchannan and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turney, Mr. and Mrs. W. Buchannan, and two children, of Colborne; Mr. and Mrs. B. Fidgett and little Bernice, of Orland; Mr. and Mrs. S. Sharpe, of Wooler; Mrs. Loomis and little Miss Brooks, Mrs. F. Sager, Mr. and Mrs. James McCracken and Miss Ruby, of Brighton.—Brighton Ensign.

New Knight Controls Approved By Women

The convenient arrangement of the lighting and horn controls on the steering wheel of all Willys-Knight models has won the approval of women drivers as well as men, according to Willys-Overland officials.

They declare, however, that this is merely one of the features that has struck a responsive note from the motoring public, resulting in surprising sales records.

The present system of controlling the lights and the horn from the steering wheel was adopted not only as a measure of convenience for the driver, but as a safety device as well, enabling the operator of the car to brighten or dim the lights or sound the horn without removing the hand from the wheel as is necessary where those controls are on the instrument panel.

This system is comprised of an extension arm on the steering wheel which runs directly to the finger tips of the driver. A mere touch is required to turn the lights from bright to dim or vice versa.

ALL WHIPPETS HAVE 4-WHEEL BRAKES

Willys-Knights Also Equipped —Help Prevent Accidents.

With the safety factor in driving one of the most important issues being discussed by automobile manufacturers, as well as by city officials and safety councils throughout the Dominion, a step towards the elimination of traffic accidents, which annually take a heavy toll, has been taken by the Willys-Overland Company through the installation of four-wheel brakes on all Whippets and Willys-Knight cars, both fours and sixes.

The type of brakes adopted for the Willys-Overland products are of the highest grade—brakes that can be depended on to function in any emergency. They are housed in metal drums giving complete protection from the elements, thus increasing their efficiency, long life and dependability.

Adoption of the four-wheel brakes for the original Whippet line last June proved one of the most advanced steps of the year in automotive engineering since this move placed the Whippet in individual classification—the only light four cylinder car in America so equipped. The Whippet brake drums are 11 inches in diameter, giving a braking surface greater than on many larger and more expensive cars.

The four-wheel brakes installed on the Willys-Knight models, both the "70" and Great Six lines, also occupy a high place in automotive engineering and efficiency, according to factory engineers, who cite the design of this equipment as well as performance. They operate from the foot pedal and their responsiveness give a safety value to driving, not only in heavy city traffic where active brakes are required, but in country travel, where dangers lurk on hills and curves.

Before the Whippets and Willys-Knight cars are put on the market they are forced to undergo a searching brake test and must meet a high standard or be rejected. This thorough test, Willys-Overland officials claim, minimizes the necessity of later adjustments, each brake is so set that the application of the foot to the pédal results in an instantaneous response from all four wheels. This concerted action is impossible where brakes are not adjusted to work in unison resulting in a swing or skid.

Commenting on the use of four-wheel brakes on all Willys-Overland products, factory engineers declare that in Europe this type of brake is recognized to such an extent that a car not so equipped is not considered standard.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestents

Most people who suffer either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestents, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

20,000 PEOPLE EXPECTED TO VISIT DUFFUS GARAGE

New Whipppet Chassis Is Of Rugged Design

Despite its distinctive construction and size, the 1927 Whippet chassis is characterized by a ruggedness of design unusual in the light four-cylinder car field. It is asserted by Willys-Overland engineers that this type of construction employed in the Whippet chassis embraces the latest ideas of accepted engineering standards.

Factory engineers declare that the Whippet chassis has been so constructed that road shocks are minimized, riding comfort increased, and, as a result, a longer life for the car throughout, reducing the expense that necessarily follows where jolts and vibration are carried to all parts of the car.

The Whippet frame is of pressed steel and is reinforced by sturdy steel cross members. The design and balance, experts assert, is such that vibration is not apparent.

Preparations Completed for Biggest Single Show in This City.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, April 29 (Canadian Press).—A fairly active business was done in wheat and oats by Montreal exporters with foreign buyers yesterday, there being good acceptances overnight.

The feature of the export trade was the marked increase in the demand from Canadian and United States exporters for ocean grain room for May and June loading and quite an active business was done, the engagements being estimated at over one hundred loads. The tone of the market for Continental freight was again stronger and the rates scored another advance of 1-2c per hundred pounds to 18c per 100 pounds for Antwerp and Rotterdam, and to 19c per 100 pounds for Hamburg.

Trading in cash grain in the domestic market was quiet, but prices were steady.

The demand for Spring and Winter wheat grades of flour yesterday was inactive, but the undertone to the market was firm.

A moderate amount of business was worked in all lines of millfeed and prices were unchanged. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet but firm.

The market for eggs was moderately active and prices ruled steady. The receipts were 2,410 cases.

A feature of the butter trade was the weak feeling that developed and prices scored a decline of 2 1-2c to 3c per pound. This was attributed to the falling off in the demand. The receipts were 1,335 packages.

Cheese prices were well maintained under a fair enquiry from local buyers. The receipts were 279 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 29 (Canadian Press).—With indications pointing to a liberal decrease of the United States visible supply total on Monday next, wheat prices yesterday averaged higher. Crop news from the southwest acted, though, as a bearish factor in the late dealings. Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, ¾ cent net lower to an equal gain; corn and oats both unchanged to ¼ cent up, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 7 cents.

Reports that field work in Iowa is two to three weeks behind schedule tended to strengthen the corn market. Oats were helped by signs that exporters were active.

Provisions were mostly firmer owing to a rise in the value of hogs.

Five Valuable Canvasses Cut From Frames in Muesum at Moscow.

PICTURES RUINED.

MOSCOW, April 28.— (Canadian Press).—Five old masters with an estimated pre war valuation of half a million dollars have been stolen from the state Museum of Fine Arts, formerly the Alexander Third Museum. Vandals ruthlessly cut the canvasses from their frames and it is believed ruined them, especially Rembrandt's "Christ" of which only a circular portion of the painting was taken.

The theft occurred during the Easter holidays when vigilance was relaxed and was only discovered yesterday. The robbers entered the museum by cutting their way through a glass roof.

ONTARIO TAXES STOP INDUSTRY SAYS SPEAKER

Many Big Firms Have Headquarters in Quebec To Escape Levies.

PROPOSES CHANGE.

C. L. Burton Would Eliminate Municipal Income Tax, He Tells Students.

TORONTO, April 29.—"Too many big enterprises of the North have their headquarters in Quebec Province rather than Ontario. We should see that Ontario taxation is changed to enable us to compete with our neighboring Province. They have no municipal income tax. We should have none. They have an easier business tax—we should match them," declared C. L. Burton, in the course of an address on "Our Interest in the North" at a dinner of the Chartered Accountants Students' Association in the Piccadilly Tea Rooms last night.

Mr. Burton based his speech largely on observations and studies made while a member of the Toronto Board of Trade Msision to the Northern part of the Province. In addition to his suggestion of taxation adjustment in order to compete with Quebec, the speaker proposed the establishment of model agricultural settlements in the North, and made a plea for better understanding and more sympathetic support of New Ontario on the part of the southern sections of the Province.

Lack of Understanding.

Referring to the trip, Mr. Burton said it cut an interesting cross-section through which is undoubtedly the world's richest area. In minerals, forest and agricultural potentialities its wealth amounted to many billions. Lack of understanding of the district, he continued, was more or less responsible for its deevlopment at a much slower rate than good sense and good citizenship would dictate. In this unorganized territory, the population was denied many of the privileges of education, communication and local government enjoyed in other parts of the Province. They depended largely on the Provincial Government, said Mr. Burton, and he added the advice that "we should encourage every reasonable Government expenditure in the North."

He spoke of the varied resources of the district, its mineral wealth, its water powers, the aggregate of which had not begun to be estimated, and its rich agricultural areas. "Although the mineral and forest wealth and water-power possibilities of this North Country are so enormous, it is probable that the agricultural lands will be the greatest and most lasting source of wealth," he said.

Supervised Settlements.

He referred to the possibilities of the soil demonstrated by the experimental farm at Kapuskasing. "One could hope," he said, "that our Ontario Government could see its way clear to choose two or three townships for supervised settlements." Such settlements, he said, should be on good land, with roads running at right angles to the railway line, and the settlers should have the benefit of expert supervision and advice. Such a plan would avoid the devastating discouragements of the present scattered settlements of two or three families.

The advisability of giving the Government hearty support in its road building program in the North and the importance of encouraging the best young manhood in the country for careers in the North were also stressed by the speaker.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Danger of Sudden Temptations

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 1. The Danger of Sudden Temptations. Mark 14:53 54 66-71; Luke 22: 61 62.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of The Congregationalist.

Text: Mark 14:53 54 66-71; Luke 22: 61 62.

And they led Jesus away to the high priest: and with him were assembled all the chief priests and the elders and the scribes.

And Peter followed him afar off, even unto the palace of the high priest: and he sat with the servants, and warmed himself at the fire.

And as Peter was beneath in the palace, there cometh one of the maids of the high priest:

And when she saw Peter warming himself, she looked upon him, and said, And thou also wast with Jesus of Nazareth.

But he denied, saying, I know not, neither understand I what thou sayest. And he went out into the porch; and the cock crew.

And a maid saw him again, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

And he denied it again. And a little after, they that stood by said again to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art a Galilean, and thy speech agreeth thereto.

But he began to curse and to swear, saying I know not this man of whom ye speak.

And the Lord turned, and looked upon Peter. And Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how he had said unto him, Before the cock crew, thou shalt deny me thrice.

And Peter went out, and wept bitterly.

Temptations would lose much of their danger if they could be deprived of their sudden and unexpected aspect.

There are great driving temptations that are in the substratum of life, that beset the soul with all the pressure of a fundamental urge. But for these the soul, especially of the man whose heart is inclined toward truth and righteousness, finds something of its preparation in discipline and in the elemental impulses of good.

It is the temptations that come upon one unawares that are apt to be overwhelming, sweeping one away before he has had time to realize their fury or even to understand the full import of what he is doing in yielding to them.

Two Kinds of Trials.

Such temptations are of two sorts. There are those that are simply unanticipated. A man may know in a general way that he is subject to them, at least that are not foreign to something that he has discovered in his own nature. Against such temptations a man can do much to prepare himself by forethought. But there are other temptations that are as unforeseen in their nature as they are in their appearance.

They strike a man in some place of weakness or desire of which he has never before been conscious. He may have seen such temptations assail the life of his fellow men, but he may have lulled himself into a certain security because he has never imagined that he would be subject to these particular allurements. It is temptations of this sort that are calculated to destroy—almost in a moment, the life work and character that an individual may suppose tht he had established upon a basis of sincerity and truth.

Not long ago a minister was convicted of a most foul and degrading sin. The discovery of his wrong-doing forced him to flee from his home and work, and from the community and fellowship of those who had loved and respected him. It was about as abject and terrible a fall as could very well have been conceived, for the man had occupied great pulpits and had been highly honored.

The comment of the general public, not always sufficiently sympathetic toward such a man's tragedy, might very well have been that this man was a wolf in sheep's clothing, that all through the years he had been a hypocrite with foul and degrading thoughts and purposes in his private life when he had commended pure and holy things in his public service.

A Sincere Man.

But what was the truth concerning this man? Those who had known him most intimately in the close contacts of student life declared that in all their associations with him they had found him peculiarly free from anything that suggested lewdness in speech or action. They thought of him as one of the most pure-minded and sincere of men. There can be little doubt that he was in his highest and best aspirations exactly what these fellow students thought him.

It is doubtful whether, during the years of his able ministry, he had ever had brought home to him the temptations that ultimately assailed him. It is doubtful whether he thought of himself as capable of the degradation that had overwhelmed others.

Paul understood these things perfectly well. Surely he might have thought himself as being beyond temptation, he had so disciplined himself in ways of honor and rectitude and service; but he had left on record the fact that even in the highest and holiest moments of his life he buffeted and disciplined himself lest, as he said, having preached the Gospel to others he himself should be a castaway.

Peter lacked something of that philosophic spirit and practical common-sense of Paul. He was impulsive and self-confident. He was so sure of himself that it constituted in him a sort of pride, a sense almost of separation from his fellowmen. He did not t ink of himself as quite of the same flesh and blood as others.

Few of us are like Paul and most of us are like Peter. We may not have Peter's self-confidence, but the great majority of us have an undue sense of safety. Most of us imagine that we are free from certain forms of temptation that assail others. It is never wise to have any such sense of false security.

FINAL CONCERT AT ST. ANDREW'S

Series of Initial Teas Concludes With Good Programme.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 29.—St. Andrew's congregation held its last initial tea in the Sunday School rooms on Tuesday evening. The rooms were packed to the doors, and the sum of $123 was realized. Rev. Mr. Grier was chairman for the evening and welcomed the gathering, assuring them that although the programme was short in number, it was very high in quality. The programme was as follows:

Comic duet—Messrs. Jack Storie and Walter Blakely.

Violin solo—Franklin Linton; accompanist, Miss Isobel Bygott.

Solo—Mrs. Ernest Bedford; accompanist, Mrs. Jack Storie.

Reading—Miss Enid Richardson.

Solo—Mr. John Russell, of Buffalo, who sang, "A Woman's Chinning." Mr. Russell accompanied himself on the piano.

Rev. Mr. Fowler, of Warkworth, in a few remarks expressed pleasure at being present on behalf of himself and friends who accompanied him.

Maynard Watson, as a miniature Tom Thumb, gave a dissertation on marriage, which was well received.

Solo — Mrs. F. Free; accompanist, Miss Emma Meiklejohn.

Solo—Mr. Herb. Leonard; accompanist, Mr. E. C. Dolman.

Quartette—"Annie Laurie," by Miss Emma Meiklejohn, Miss Kathleen Connor, Mrs. Fred. Free and Mrs. Frank De Carroll.

The jolly fiddlers—Messrs. James MacDowell, Peter Monaghan, Alex. Hall, James Dunn, James Anderson and Walter Blakely, under the capable direction of Dr. O. C. Watson, rendered the following tunes:

Violin solo—Mr. J. C. Anderson.

Violin solo—"Just a Cottage Small by a Waterfall," Mr. James Dunn.

Violin solo—"Kingdom Coming," by Mr. Alex. Hall.

Violin solo—Mr. Peter Monaghan.

Banjo selection—Mr. James MacDowell.

Selection by the orchestra—"Darling Nellie Gray."

The last item of the programme was a farce, "The Top Landing." Mr. Grier gave a short account of the different actors in the play, namely:

Harold Dunk—Jack, the artist.

Dr. O C.. Watson—Billy, a dramatic author.

Miss Hazel Atkinson—Rosalie.

Miss Freda Nelson—Hester.

Alex. McDonald—Timothy Always.

Miss Mary Watson—Aunt Arabella.

Jack and Billy, two young men seeking fame and fortune, rent a room from Aunt Arabella on the third flat at the top landing. These boys are very poor and own only one pair of shoes between them. A few weeks previous to the play, Jack had rescued an elderly man from a runaway and was to meet him this morning at ten o'clock in the Smith Hotel, and wanted the shoes to wear, but Billy had written a play which had been accepted by a dramatic theatre and he, too, wanted the shoes for his engagement at 10.15. When the two girls, Cosalie and Hester, who were engaged to Jack and Billy, heard the argument over the shoes, they decided to purloin a pair from some other occupant of the hotel. None would fit, until they thought of the old gentleman who had recently arrived at the hotel. After the boys had gone to keep their appointment, Mr. Timothy Always, the elderly boarder, went in search of the truant shoes, and when he entered the boys room the two girls, thinking he was a burglar, tie him to a chair, and await the boys' return. When they return, disgusted from the appointment, at which the old man had failed to appear, they find the girls with their prisoner. Explanations were then offered, and the elderly gentleman, Mr. Always, turns out to be the boys' benefactor, and also the long lost brother of Aunt Arabella. Needless to say, everything ends happily.

The ladies of the congregation served an excellent lunch of sandwiches, cake and coffee. At the close of the evening Dr. Ha. tendered a hearty vote of thanks to all the participants of the programme and to all others who had helped make the evening such a wonderful success.

A Protected Investment

THERE are several forms of investment which might be considered to be well protected. A first mortgage bond secured by centrally located and improved real estate is a particularly well-protected investment if it is secured by:

1. A bond issue constituting a reasonable proportion of the value of the property.
2. When the equity behind the bonds is owned by individuals or interests who can and will protect their investment in the property.

We offer for investment First Mortgage Real Estate Bonds of this character. Write for full particulars and special circular.

Even When It Is Warm One Feels Better Groomed Wearing A Coat

A Tweed or Silk Coat is a nice garment to own at almost any time, but on warm days it shows its real value. Light in weight and much less bulky than a cloth wrap, it is ideal to slip over a summer frock. When the Coat is of Poiret, tweed, charmeen or tricotine and trimmed with tucks, a taffeta bow or a white fur collar, it adds a great amount of smartness to the wardrobe, too. A fine selection at Cressman's.

W.C.T.U. HEARS BRIEF PAPERS

Mrs. A. I. Brown and Mrs. F. C. McBride Give Addresses.

ON TEMPERANCE WORK.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held on Wednesday afternoon in the green room of the Y.W.C.A. the president, Mrs. A. J. Throop, in the chair. Routine business was transacted and brief addresses given by Mrs. A. I. Brown, speaking on Temperance work among children, and Mrs. F. C. McBride, on Temperance education in Sunday schools. The meeting was featured by one of the interesting "clipping" sessions, when each member contributed a clipping calling attention to some phase of the work in connection with temperance matters. Arrangements were also made to hold a "parlor" meeting next Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. A. E. Micks.

AUTOIST CANNOT ESCAPE HIS SINS

Will Be Punished At Home For Offences Committed While Touring.

TORONTO, April 29.—Motorists of Ontario touring in other provinces and in the United States, and visitors touring in Ontario, will henceforth feel the "long arm of the law" extended to their own home town when they commit offences while on their trips, according to a statement by Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Public Works and Highways.

"At the quarterly meeting of the Eastern Conference of Motor Vehicle Administrators, comprising fifteen states and provinces, just concluded in Philadelphia," he stated, "Ontario entered into an arrangement whereby member states agree to suspend or revoke the license of a resident who committed an offence in another state or province which, if committed at home, would result in suspension or revocation of license.

"American tourists convicted in Ontario for any offence against our law will now be reported to their home state motor vehicle department and the same will apply to Ontario motorists in the United States.

"This arrangement should act as a deterrent to motorists who are inclined to take liberties with the rules of the road when they are away from their own particular jurisdiction and will, I think, be productive of good results"

ROUTINE BUSINESS.

The regular meeting of the 57th Regimental Chapter I.O.D.E. was held yesterday afternoon at the Armories, the regent, Mrs. R. Cottrell, in the chair. Routine business was transacted, and a report of the recent Provincial meeting in Hamilton was given by Mrs. Cottrell.

The semi-annual payment of $50 was voted toward the maintenance of the Armenian boy assisted jointly by the 57th and Otonabee Chapters, and the sum of $2 was also voted toward the Canadian Hostel in London, England, where Canadian soldiers were entertained during war time, and where beneficiaries of the I.O.D.E. Overseas Educational Fund are now also looked after.

Mothers Good Employees Lady Astor Tells Commons

LONDON, April 29. United Press. — "A woman may have twins every year, and still be more efficient than members of Parliament," Lady Astor told the House of Commons to-day. She was speaking in support of the bill designed to prevent discrimination against the employment of married women in the public services.

SEAPLANE USED TO CATCH SHIP

Men Taken From Mission To Victoria, B. C., By Aeroplane.

ON WAY TO SHANGHAI.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 29.—(Special.)—The versatility of the seaplane was notably demonstrated last evening, when C. F. Tonnefoss, a Swedish sea captain, who had urgent business in Shanghai, was taken from the Canadian Pacific-Toronto Express at Mission City, B.C., and rushed by seaplane, piloted by Major D. R. MacLaren, the famous flying ace, to the outer wharf, Victoria, where he boarded the flagship of the Pacific, the Empress of Canada, en route to the Orient.

Last Sunday in Toronto Capt. Tonnefoss received orders to take over the command of the steamer Ravnefzel, a Swedish vessel lying in Shanghai harbor. His presence was imperative as the former captain died last week and the first officer of the ship was seriously ill with double pneumonia. The captain's orders suggested that he might be able to connect with the Empress of Canada sailing from Vancouver Thursday afternoon and from Victoria that evening.

Captain Tonnefoss immediately got in touch with the Canadian Pacific Steamship Passenger Department at Vancouver, by wire and was informed that if he boarded the Toronto express due to leave at 9 p.m. Sunday last from Toronto every facility would be given to him to complete the last lap of the journey to the ship by seaplane.

Just before the Toronto express was due to reach Mission a superb landing was made by Major MacLaren, at a point on the Fraser river, within easy reach of the depot, and in twelve minutes Major MacLaren was his guest and necessary hand baggage were in the plane in full flight for Victoria.

Rumors of the intended flight began to circulate in Victoria during the afternoon and when the seaplane hove in sight, shortly after 7, a spontaneous ovation was accorded Major MacLaren and Capt. Tonnefoss as they reached the ship's side.

Suspension For 'Snooping' Given Member Of Exchange

NEW YORK, April 29. United Press. — M. Boyd Eeinman has been suspended from the New York Stock Exchange for a year, for "snooping."

It is alleged that Seinman completed a stock deal on the basis of information which he overheard while listening to a conversation between two other members of the Exchange. Seinman claimed that he had acted legitimately.

This is the first time that a member of the Exchange has been suspended for an offense of this kind.

Vernor, Boswell Avenue. Two interesting papers dealing with art work on China were given, Mrs. J. Moulton speaking on "The Firing of China," and Miss Mamie L. Mr. S. Waterman, who has for the last five years been guiding the use of fertilizers by the farmers of the province, has finally deserted the ranks of Government service to accept a better position with a commercial concern. Mr. Waterman has for a number of years been acting as Provincial soil and fertilizer specialist, at the Ontario Agricultural College, and during that time has given advice to the farmers of the province which has been literally worth millions of dollars. During his service, the services of Mr. Waterman proved so valuable that he was given a year's leaves of absence to study the fertilizer needs of the United States. After a year of close study he was granted the degree of Master of Science by Cornell University, and was elected a member of the Alpha Chapter of the premier American Scientific Society Sigma Psi. Mr. and Mrs. Waterman will move from Guelph, where they have lived for the last five years, and will take up residence in Toronto. They will be missed by a host of friends, but they depart followed by many good wishes. Both are local young people, being born and raised in the Township of South Monaghan, where their parents still reside. Both attended Peterboro Collegiate, and have many friends in the city.

DRESS
By MARY MARSHALL

White cotton net and imitation valenciennes lace are skilfully combined in this wedding gown.

White organdie has recently presented itself as a fashionable material for the wedding gown, and there are girls who might at another time have turned their noses up at the thought of a cotton wedding gown who will argue with their dressmakers in favor of a gown of this light, crisp fabric.

In some cases doubtless cotton material such as organdie or net will be chosen as a matter of economy, but there will be the satisfaction for the little bride who chooses such a gown as a matter of economy, that many other girls have chosen white organdie as a matter of fashion only.

There is really nothing at all inexpensive about some of the organdie wedding gowns and bridesmaids' frock now being planned for spring and summer weddings. Sometimes the organdie is combined with costly lace, sometimes there is an underskirt of silver lame or white silk. A unique wedding gown chosen by a prospective bride is to be of the finest batiste embellished with the finest hand embroidery.

The bride who is to wear cotton may choose to have bridesmaids also in cotton, though there is no real reason why she should. For a rainbow wedding planned for June the bride is going to wear a bouffant white organdie gown over silver, while her attendants are going to wear green or yellow or pink or blue or violet organdie in light pastel shades posed over foundations of silk in slightly deeper shades of the same color.

White net is another cotton material which has been used with good effect for wedding gowns, and this may be used most effectively with trimming of some fine sort of cotton lace. Doubtless, too, there will be batiste wedding gowns—for batiste is mentioned as one of the cotton fabrics which is sure to gain a prominent place this season.

The cotton wedding gown is a novelty—or rather a revival—of the season. The bride-to-be who scorns the idea of such a gown, considering it an undesirable economy, may later be surprised to find cotton wedding gowns that are anything but inexpensive—and many brides will doubtless choose them this summer simply because they realize that they are very smart.

Starting at Banff, Alberta, the road follows the Lake Louise highway to Castle where it branches to the left, ascending to and crossing the Vermilion pass. Passing through Marble canyon it then descends into the valley, crosses to Kootenay and Vermilion rivers, rises to cross Sinclair summit, drops down to Radium hot springs, passes through the Iron Gates and Sinclair canyon, and winds out on to the floor of the Columbia valley, joining at Invermere the British Columbia highway.

NEW LADIES' WEAR STORE IS OPENED

Jeannette Style Store An Attractive Addition To George Street.

One of the latest additions to the business houses on George street is Jeannette's Style Store. The former premises of Albion Sweets was first refinished and fitted up as a modern ladies' wear shop, and now presents a bright, attractive appearance, both windows and interior. Ladies' ready-to-wear and millinery as well as children's garments and hats are specialized, and due to close connections with certain manufacturing concerns, are able to carry a considerable stock at close prices. The proprietor was for some years in the manufacturing business, and Miss Jeannette Gibbele, head saleslady, was for ten years connected with a large retail business in Toronto.

The policy of the store is to give quality goods at moderate prices for cash, which they claim is the only system by which business can be done economically and best benefit the buying public.

SATURDAY APRIL 30 1927

Many benefic aspects are strong today, according to astrology. This is a day to execute as well as to plan.

Merchants and manufacturers should benefit from this rule which indicates unusual activity, due to extraordinary demands for many products.

Governors and all who carry executive responsibilities should make the most of whatever opportunities come to them today in the way of satisfying public demands for reform measures.

Much civic obliquity will be uncovered at this time when political corruption in many places will disturb the people.

Commerce is to expend for the United States in an amazing manner in the next few months, it is foretold.

Warning is given against pride and egotism, which will be besetting sins among those who are successful, owing to the planetary aspects.

This is not a favorable sway for the aged as many may feel a sense of weariness and depression under this planetary government.

The procession of those called great will move swiftly toward the close of their careers, it is prognosticated, and many deaths of prominent men and women will mark the summer months.

Simple living is counseled by the seers who find that there is unusual danger from food and water supplies. Epidemics are foretold for the summer.

Writers and editors continue under a most promising sway and it is forecast that they will profit greatly this year.

There is a good sign for bankers today. It is an auspicious day both for them and for those who deal with them.

Money is to be the subject of widespread discussion, it is foretold, for national financial problems will be the forefront.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of many favors to be received in the coming year, which should be a happy and prosperous time.

Children born on this day probably will have unusual gifts for writing. They are likely to have poetic talent and to be clever in building plots.

At the time of Henry VII, bailiffs were sent to collect debts. One of these was John Dun, who was so active that his name finally became synonomous with the word 'bill.'

Water-power is the source of over 98 per cent of the total output of central electric stations in Canada.

Numerous kinds of leprosy-curing trees grow in Brazil; one species is believed to be more effective than the chaulmoogra tree of Hawaii.

SAINT and SINNER

Faith and Bob were ten minutes late in reaching the courthouse after the noon recess. But those ten minutes had been well spent, for Bob had insisted upon driving the overwrought girl along quiet streets until she had had a good cry, and had apologized to him for her unwarranted outburst.

"There's no need to apologize, darling," he had told her tenderly, his arms about her, her head pressed against his breast. "I want to tell you again that I shall not hold against you anything you may say or do to me at this terrible time. I love you with all my heart, and I know you love me."

Faith's eyes were still misty with tears when she slipped quietly into her seat beside Cherry. Through that mist Cherry's small, white face looked spiritually lovely, a loveliness heightened by the deep violet shadows beneath her golden eyes. The childish, pale little mouth quivered as Cherry smiled at her sister, and Faith noted that the tiny hands fluttered nervously as they tried to conceal something in her handbag.

"What's that, Cherry?" Faith whispered, instantly fearful of she knew not what.

"Nothing," Cherry stammered.

But Faith would not be put off. She gently unclasped her sister's hands from the black leather bag and, against Cherry's pleading whisper, opened it. A small bottle lay in the bottom of the bag, label side down, and filled with a clear amber liquid. For a dreadful minute Faith's horrified brown eyes stared at the bottle, nightmare visions of her beloved little sister a suicide racing across her mind.

"It's not poison," Cherry laughed shakily. "I'm not guilty and I'm afraid—of being wrongly punished," she added, her voice trailing off while her eyes widened with what looked to Faith to be the very fear that she was disclaiming.

"What is it?" Faith asked sharply, unmindful that Banning was interrogating the farmer, Jefferson Anderson, who was again on the witness stand.

"Spirits of ammonia," Cherry answered, in so low a voice that Faith could hardly hear her. "To—to keep me from—fainting."

"What is it, Cherry?" Faith demanded, her heart leaping with fear. "Tell me!"

"I—I can't!" Cherry's quivering lips protested. "Don't ask me, Faith! Please! I—I'd die before I'd tell!"

While Faith's bewildered mind was groping for a solution to the puzzle, Churchill sprang forward to take the witness, Anderson, whom Banning had just dismissed.

"Mr. Anderson, were you personally acquainted with the deceased, Mr. Ralph Cluny?" Churchill asked.

"I knew him—yes," Anderson answered with strange defiance.

"Have you a nephew by the name of Clyde Anderson?" Churchill asked next.

Anderson's face flushed a dark, angry red, as he answered, "Yes."

"This nephew, Clyde Anderson, was tried on a charge of embezzlement of bank funds in Minturn four years ago, was he not, Mr. Anderson?"

"He was tried and acquitted," Anderson answered loudly and angrily.

"Who was the chief counsel for the defense, Mr. Anderson?" Churchill asked, with a smile directed at the uneasy district attorney.

"Mr. Cluny was, Mr. Ralph Cluny," Anderson answered sullenly.

"Now, Mr. Anderson, you and your wife felt very friendly toward Mr. Cluny, didn't you? Grateful and friendly?"

"Of course we did!" Anderson answered with unnecessary violence.

"and my cake was really delightful"

Mrs. Inglisky, a Toronto lady, without any solicitation from us, recently wrote us this letter:—

"Gentlemen:—

"Am so delignted with your 'Magic Baking Powder' that I must congratulate you. Was making a cake yesterday and found I had no baking powder. I immediately phoned my grocery store to send me a can of Magic Baking Powder. Guess they were sold out, so they substituted (won't mention the name) but the result was my cake was a real failure, and I had to make another all over again. This time I made sure I procured the right kind of baking powder before I started, and my cake was really delightful.

"I would recommend 'Magic Baking Powder' at any time.

"Sincerely,

INCREASE IN TRADE UNIONS

Report of Department Shows More Workers Now in Organizations.

MORE FOR BENEFIT

The Trade union movement of the Dominion, according to the Sixteenth Annual Report on Labour Organization in Canada, covering the calendar year 1926, which has just been issued by the Department of Labour, is made up of the following groups (1) local branches of international craft organizations, having headquarters in the United States, (2) One Big Union, an international industrial union, with headquarters in Winnipeg, (3) local branches of the Industrial Workers of the World, a revolutionary industrial union which seeks to abolish the wage system, with headquarters in Chicago, (4) non-international craft organizations with headquarters in Canada, (5) independent trade union units, and (6) national and Catholic unions. The figures presented for the international craft union group, which includes the members of 89 organizations, shows there has been an increase in local branches of 26 and a gain in members of 6,694, the total branches being 2,011 and the combined membership 179,267. The report from the One Big Union claims 61 local units with a combined membership of 18,665, gains of eight in units and 1,409 in members. The Industrial Workers of the World, though retaining its six branches, shows a loss in membership of 5,400, the number of members reported being 4,600. The non-international craft organizations, of which there are 20, had a loss in branches of 15, but an increase in members of 767, the branches now numbering 296 and the membership being 34,837. The independent units have decreased by two, now standing at 38, of which 33 reported a combined membership of 12,235, an increase of 70. The national and Catholic Unions have increased by four, there now being 103, the combined membership of which was reported by the Federation of Catholic Workers of Canada to be 25,000, the same as reported for the two previous years. The computation of the above figures indicates a net gain in branches of 21, and an increase in members of 3,540, making a grand total of 2,515 branches of all classes of unions in the Dominion, with a combined reported or estimated membership of 274,604. The membership of all classes of organized labour bodies in Canada, as reported to the Department for the past sixteen years, has been as follows:

1912	160,120
1913	175,799
1914	166,163
1915	143,343
1916	160,407
1917	204,630
1918	248,887
1919	378,047
1920	373,842
1921	313,320
1922	276,621
1923	278,092
1924	260,643

Membership by Provinces.—The Division by provinces of the 2,515 local branch unions of all classes is as follows: Ontario, 992; Quebec, 459; British Columbia, 249; Alberta, 232; Saskatchewan, 174; Manitoba, 160; Nova Scotia, 131; New Brunswick, 108, and Prince Edward Island, 10.

Membership in Canadian Cities.—Thirty cities in the Dominion have not less than 20 branch unions of all classes, and represent about 46 per cent of the total trade union membership of 274,604 in the Dominion. Montreal ranks first in the list of cities, and including the 31 national and Catholic unions, has 194 local branch unions, 137 of which reported 37,126 members; Toronto stands second with 139 branches, 95 of which reported 21,772 members. Winnipeg occupies third place with 96 branches, of which 59 reported 9,366 members; Vancouver has fourth position with 93 branches, of which 67 reported 12,820 members. Trade Union Benefits.—For the year 1926 seven of the non-international organizations reported payments for benefits, the total amounting to $32,972.35, an increase of $9,788.35 over 1925. Of the 91 international organizations with branches in Canada 60 reported disbursements for benefits, the combined expenditure being $22,565,857, an increase of $5,168,586, as compared with the previous year. The disbursements for each class of benefit were as follows:

Death benefits	$12,684,239
Unemployed and travelling benefits	340,421
Strike benefits	2,218,622
Sick and accident benefits	3,828,357
Old age pensions and other benefits	3,494,218

Benefits Paid by Local Branches.—In addition to the amounts expended for benefits by the central organizations a statement is also included in the report showing the amounts disbursed in benefits by local branch unions to their own members. The total of these payments were $316,922, an increase of $33,780 over the year 1925, the disbursements for 1926 for each class of benefit being:

Death benefits	$195,211
Unemployed benefits	11,513
Strike benefits	35,590
Sick benefits	126,162
Other benefits	38,516

Other Interesting Features of the Report.—Besides the statistics published the report gives considerable information in regard to the various labour organizations with which the Canadian organized workers are either directly or indirectly affiliated. Among other organizations discussed are those propagating the communist doctrine, and in connection with which reference is made to the opposition to communist bodies by the labour movement as represented by the American Federation of Labour. Chapters are devoted to "Injunctions in Industrial Disputes," "Labour Banks," and "Labour in Politics." As a directory of labour unions the volume is very complete, containing as it does, lists of central organizations, delegate bodies and local branch unions, together with the names and addresses of the chief executive officers for the year 1927.

Space is also given in the report to non-trade union organizations whose memberships are made up of school teachers, government employees, commercial travellers, etc., which are not identified with the organized labour movement, but represent such a large body of wage-earners that it is considered appropriate to give them a place. The associations included in this group number 80, with a combined membership of 95,697.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT

Activities from April 3 to April 23: 12 horses examined; destroyed 3 horses, which were examined and found unfit for use; destroyed 2 dogs; gave 6 warnings to drivers about flapping blinders, which cause injury to eyes; investigated 9 complaints; got good home for 2 cats; gave several warnings about lame and poorly fed horses; several complaints investigated for the Ontario S.P.C.A. outside of county of Peterborough.

The society is continually receiving complaints about poisoning of dogs and pigeons; also motorists running over dogs and not stopping. These are criminal offences and steps are to be taken to have offenders punished.

It is the intention of the society to build an animal home very soon, starting on a small scale, and it would be appreciated if all those who are interested in this animal home for the city would contribute funds, to be acknowledged through The Examiner, which is taking care of this fund for the society.

LADY WILL NOT ENTER COMMONS

Lady Beaverbrook, Visiting Canada, Has No Intention of Seeking Seat.

BETTER FIELDS.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 29.—(Canadian Press).—"I won't say that I will never change my mind, but at the present time I have no thoughts of standing for parliament." This statement was made by Lady Beaverbrook to an interviewer while she was in Ottawa.

Asked with regard to the report that she was considering the possibility of candidature, Lady Beaverbrook laughingly replied, "That was owing to an answer I gave to a Chicago woman writer. I told her I wouldn't say I was not going to do so. However, I have not really thought of it since the time my husband resigned. I did give it my serious consideration then. During the last election I had done a great deal of organization and speaking in the constituency of Ashton-Under-Lyne and I loved the work. He was so busy with war work at the time that it was necessarry for me to give this assistance. I was keenly interested in the social welfare possibilities which opened up through constituency work.

"I believe if women in parliament and in public life would keep to these child welfare and social welfare problems they would make their most effective contribution to society and to the betterment of public life.

"At the time in 1917, my children were young and I finally decided that parliamentary duties would involve too much of the time that should be devoted to them. They are older now, to be sure but since coming to Canada eight months ago I have had a serious illness and have been out of touch with political movements in England."

Extension of Franchise.

Concerning the present movement for extension of the franchise to all women over twenty-one in England, Lady Beaverbrook refused to comment. "I have scarcely looked at the papers," she said, "and do not really know what is going on. My own feeling is that education for the exercise of the franchise is very important for both young men and young women." Since coming to Canada she has been struck by the fact that women seem to take less interest in politics here than in the motherland. "I have even been told by women," she said, "that their husbands do not want them to concern themselves with politics. I wonder why?"

Lady Beaverbrook characterized herself as a "newspaper person:" "They say I really belong to the staff of the London Daily Express," she said, "because I worked right with the staff during the strike, when we had such thrilling experiences getting out the paper. It was really one of the most thrilling of my life. My part was to run a canteen and feed the workers." Hon. Janet Aitken, who was with her mother, has inherited something of her father's literary talent. It is one of Lady Beaverbrook's regrets that she does not write herself.

Lady Beaberbrook and her daughter sailed for England from New York on April 2.

There was little advertising in pre-historic days, but the cavemen and cavewomen read it and advanced step by step to our modern civilization. Read the advertisements.

SEES REVIVAL SIGNS.

Mr. A. E. Ames of A. E. Ames and Co. has just returned to Toronto from a trip to England, France, Italy and Switzerland. He found many signs of a British industrial revival and saw on the continent more swarms of tourists than war clouds.

THE DREAM.

(The following lines were suggested to the writer by the question of a little girl while being told about the flowers: "But if God were DEAD, what then, Mother, would we still have flowers and trees?")

I dreamed a strange, strange dream last night;
The world—it was so dark,
It seemed some freezing blight had struck
The earth to its very heart.

I saw a little boy so pale,
A mother, weary and worn,
With wretched babe clasped to her breast,
Had better not been born.

No flowers were there, no trees, no grass,
No birds sent out their song,
And all was misery and pain,
All cruelty and wrong.

I spied a man with tottering step;
He cared not—hung his head.
I asked him why such wretchedness,
He looked at me and said:
"Oh! know'st thou not, my little one,
Our God, my God, is DEAD.'"

I wakened, lo! the earth was fair,
So fair and bright to see;
The birds burst forth in joyous song;
I saw a straight, green tree.

The flowers so gay held up their heads,
And drank of the cool, sweet dew;
The sunlight, dancing through the leaves,
Came out of a sky so blue.

I heard the laughter of a child
As he romped around at play;
This dear old world was very fair,
And everyone was gay.

My heart cried out in thankfulness
To Him, to Him who gives,
And cares for us out of His love:
Thank God, my God, He LIVES.

Seed production in Canada is steadily becoming an important and profitable industry. Kinds of seeds of which an exportable surplus is being produced, and for which the demand is increasing include wheat, oats, barley, peas, alsike, red clover, alfalfa, sweet clover, blue grass, brome grass, browntop or Rhode Island bent grass, and flax. The production of other kinds, particularly vegetable seeds, is also increasing and these seeds are proving their excellence by supplanting imported stocks on Canada's home markets.

WOBURN CASE JURY VERDICT IS NOT GUILTY

Not Sufficient Evidence To Convict, Jurymen Report.

PRISONERS DISMISSED.

Jury Deliberates For Six Hours Before Reporting Finding.

John Albert Vaughan and Mrs. Myra Fisher have been acquitted of the charge of murdering Albert Fisher at Woburn on February 7th last.

"Not sufficient evidence to convict," was the curious verdict which gained the prisoners their liberty at 9.20 o'clock last night, after the jury had deliberated on the evidence for six hours.

A slight flush crept into Vaughan's cheeks as he heard the verdict read with the whispered assurance of counsel, "that sets you free."

Mrs. Fisher, whose liberty was a foregone conclusion, exhibited a slight nervousness, but was otherwise composed.

No distinction was drawn in the case of the two prisoners. The simple announcement that "the jury is of opinion that there is not sufficient evidence to convict," went for both. It was transcribed by Justice Riddell who instructed the jurors that, as a matter of law, such a verdict meant "not guilty," and a few moments later the prisoners were receiving the congratulations of their friends.

"Technically then, your verdict is not guilty," said His Lordship receiving the written verdict from the foreman. "I quite appreciate what you mean—I have no doubt it was an exceedingly difficult case to decide."

During the momentary delay while the verdict was entered the court room seemed strangely silent.

Mr. Justice Riddell re-read the verdict which he had altered to not guilty.

"My Lord, I move for the discharge of the prisoners," said Mr. Hassard, associate counsel for Vaughan.

"Have you any further charges against these accused?" asked the Court.

"No, my Lord," replied Crown-Attorney Moore.

"Prisoners, you are discharged," said Justice Riddell, and Vaughan, followed by Mrs. Fisher, stepped out of the dock to receive the congratulations of their friends.

The little widow hurried away quickly, surrounded by members of her family, but Vaughan lingered nonchalantly at the door of the courtroom until his overcoat was brought. He had left that in the cells.

The Assize jury retired at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the conclusion of the trial.

At 6 o'clock Justice Riddell adjourned the court, but agreed to hold himself in readiness to accept a verdict should the jurors come to an agreement by 9 o'clock. It was not until the stroke of nine that the jury signified they had agreed upon a verdict, and the deputy sheriff phoned for Mr. Justice Riddell, who arrived in a quarter of an hour.

BRITAIN TO HAVE EMPIRE MOVIES

Million Pound Syndicate To Make Films in Studios in Old Land.

PURELY BRITISH.

LONDON, April 29 (Canadian Press)—Details of a £1,000,000 Empire-wide organization to produce British films on a grand scale are now available.

For twelve months a syndicate has been at work. It is known as British Authors Productions, Ltd., and is under the management of Ralph J. Pugh, and is backed by Rupert Mason, the Lancashire cotton manufacturer. Contracts have already been drawn up for the world rights of the first three productions, and these will be purchased on terms allowing adequate profit.

The actual productions, like the authors and artists, will be purely British. English producers will be loaned by American organizations on a reciprocal basis and be brought back to their own country to work.

The organization will be controlled by a new company called British Incorporated Pictures, Limited, having an initial capital of £500,000. It already comprises all the elements essential to the production of films which will not only compete in technique with the best foreign productions, but will also be agreeable to the ideals and true to the history and life of the nations of the British Commonwealth.

An option has been secured upon the world's film rights of works by the following British authors (with a limit of two subjects to be purchased from each in any one year): Stacy Aumonier, Arnold Bennett, Thomas Burke, Sir Hall Caine, Ridgwell Cullum, Sir A. Conan Doyle, John Galsworthy, Sir Philip Gibbs, Mrs. Belloc Lowndes, Eden Phillpotts, Miss K. Rhodes, Rafael Sabatini, Mrs. A. Williamson, Miss May Edginton.

The option agreements are valid for five years. A Production Advisory Committee has been formed with Mr. Rupert Mason as chairman, for the purpose of securing the co-operation of leading representatives of arts and industries associated with film production.

In addition to British Incorporated Pictures, Limited, affiliated producing companies will operate in Canada, Australia, South Africa, and India. For the purpose of assisting in Empire development, Sir Charles Oman, M.P., for Oxford University, represents, repre- as a member of the Advisory ittee the Grand Council of the h Empire Film Institute. ...ch of the affiliated Empire companies will be responsible for the distribution in their territory of the films of the producing companies.

By NEA Service.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The derby hat, vulgarly known as the "iron katy," is back.

Proud heads and obscure are wearing them.

The derby's popularity has been reborn—not only among the thousands of socially elite who promenade New York's Park Avenue, but also among the average men of Main streets all the way across the country.

Expert Testimony.

Listen to the testimony of R. A. Holmes, secretary of a great hat manufacturing concern:

"The well-dressed man now wears a derby. Not since the late nineties have derbies been so prevalent.

"Statesmen, visiting princes, well-groomed citizens everywhere sanction them. The derby used to mark the Bowery bum, who cocked it aslant his head and jammed a thick cigar in his mouth to complete the picture. But no such odium attaches to it today.

"College boys are responsible for its return. They started wearing derbies with raccoon coats, just to be 'different.'"

The Retailers' Plaint

The retail hatters have a word to put in.

"Welcome to the derby so long as it stay in its place," they cry. "If the matter goes too far, we are ruined."

Why's that?

Because a derby is so durable. It takes a long time for the last tinge of black to turn green or rusty. The derby stands a lot of dents and other punishment.

The man who buys one usually wear its, either steadily or off and on, 'til his wife throws it into the ash can.

The history of the derby in America dates back from the sixties, when the first model was brought from Europe. The new style struck the instant fancy of New Yorkers, and firms employed skilled hatters to copy its elusive curves and texture.

Becomes an Epidemic.

From New York ,the fad for derbies spread throughout the country, and in every hat factory were scores of young men in training for derby-making, which calls for highly skilled workmanship.

The New Yorker who struts his stuff up Fifth Avenue on Easter morning, derby-covered, may feel himself terribly English and sporting, because of the name, Derby. But it is not what it seems.

Sometime before 1900, the derby gots its name. The English called it a bowler, and still do. But some enprising American hatter launched a model one fine spring ay with the swanky Londonesque title "Derby." And the name stuck.

If you find derbies a bit high-priced nowadays, it's your own fault. The trouble is a labor shortage.

The derby pre-eminently is a product requiring fine workmanship. And by casting it aside scornfully for some 15 years, America allowed her derby-makers to die off.

False Teeth Makers Beaten By Toothless

CHICAGO, Ill., April 29. — The strike of the false teeth makers is a "flop." They hoped to tie up the jaws of thousands of persons, but found the toothless chewing people ready for them. The latter seemed to get along without the old set ,or took up soup or cereals. The dental laboratories association announced yesterday that the strike was over in sixty-five shops, and the "artists" are quitting a recently organized union. They are really artists, said Secretary Cheeseman of association, "but we had enough stock on hand to keep jaws going for months, so they came back to work."

Speed Of Offenders To Determine Fine

ST. THOMAS, April 29.—Magistrate Maxwell is adopting a "faster - you - go - the-higher-the-fine policy" in dealing with violators of the Ontario Highways Act. He has announced that it is his intention to impose a fine of $10 and costs on all ordinary cases of speeding where the speed is not more than 45 miles an hour. For every five miles above that speed an extra $5 will be imposed. In extreme cases he stated that he will likely have recourse to Section 26 of the act which fixes a penaltyof $100 or $200, with imprisonment and cancellation of license.

A wrist watch serving as an alarm clock has been invented. A revolving unit with protuding points which touch the skin serves as the alarm.

EVERY truck owner meets occasions when there is extra profit if he can get extra work out of his truck—put on an extra load, drive extra fast, go over bad roads. This is particularly true of trucks with load capacities of from one-half ton to two tons.

The truck will do it. But will the tires? They will if they're Goodyear Heavy Duty. These tires are built for overloads. They are stronger and thicker.

Many car owners also meet the same problem. Heavy cars, older cars on small tires, taxis, cars used for delivery. Goodyear makes Heavy Duty Tires for these cars.

These extra-strong, extra-rugged Goodyear Tires are made in passenger car sizes from 3½" to 6.75" and in all truck and bus sizes. Sold by Goodyear Selected Dealers everywhere.

'A KENTUCKY BELLE'

"A Kentucky Belle," a comedy play in three acts, was repeated last night in the Temperance Hall, 4th Line of Smith, by the Lily Lake Sunday School. The parts were well taken, the clever acting of the cast bringing forth much applause from the audience. The success of the play is due in large part to the skilful direction and untiring efforts of Miss Florence Little, who directed the play, and Miss Violet Steinkrauss, who presided at the piano.

Musical numbers, given between acts, by Mrs. J. Mason, were very much enjoyed by all. Recitations were given by Olive Hancock, Dorothy Rowland, and Evelyn Mason. A vocal solo by Master Eric Mason was also received with much applause.

The play will be given in the W.O.W. Hall sometime next week.

Think of the hundred and one little comforts of life that surround you and that no force other than newspaper advertising would have brought to your doors. Then read the advertising. To-morrow's offerings are knocking for admission.

EXECUTIONS IN PENITENTIARY

Dr. Edwards Will Move That Law Be Amended To Permit This.

WANTS MONEY BACK.

KINGSTON, Ont., April 29.—Hon. J. W. Edwards, M.P. for Frontenac-Addington at the next session of Parliament, will move that the criminal code be amended in order to provide that prisoners sentenced to death be immediately removed from the court in which they are sentenced to the Provincial penitentiary, that such sentence be carried out within the walls of that institution.

Dr. Edwards says he will also ask that the County of Frontenac and City of Kingston be reimbursed by the Dominion Government up to the amount of expense incurred in being charged with the custody of Thomas McCoskey, who was recently hanged in the Frontenac County Jail, and in the carrying out of the sentence imposed. McCoskey was in a Dominion institution when he killed the guard.

Massey Harris and Nickel Lead Listless Market

TORONTO, April 29.— (Caandian Press.)—Massey Harris and International Nickel claimed the major attention in a somewhat listless market on the Toronto stock exchange today.

Massey Harris advanced 1-2 to 37 7-8. Nickel was reactionary and sold as low as 55 7-8 to recover slightly to a close at 56 1-2 for a loss of 1-4. Walker was active and stronger at 49. Other distillery issues were dull. British American Oil firmed 1-4 to 27 1-8. Davies 'A' was up 1 to 36.

Mine Exchange Active Trading Broad To-day

TORONTO, April 29. Canadian Press. — Broad and active market featured the trading on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. Nipissing was the strong feautre at 6.40, a gain of 45c. Kirkland Lake was the most active issue and it firmed 4c to 1.34. Beaver sold up 5c to 1.04. The dividend paying gold stocks were generally weaker. Lake Shore dropped 25c to 18.00; McIntyre 10 to 25.40; Hollinger 5 to 20.70, and Teck-Hughes 2c to 6.98.

Wheat Buyers Active And Prices Go Higher

CHICAGO, April 29. Canadian Press. — With buying active and offerings light, wheat to-day scored an early all around advance. Reports of large bookings of ocean freight room had a bullish effect and there were further unfavorable advices of spring wheat seeding delay. Opening 1-8c to 1 5-8c higher wheat later showed a good additional gain. Corn oats and provisions were also firmer, corn starting unchanged to 3-8c higher, and subsequently showing a general upturn.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 135 7-8; July 130¼; corn, May 71 3-8; July 77¼; oats, May 44¾, July 45⅛.

Prices Rally To-day On New York Market

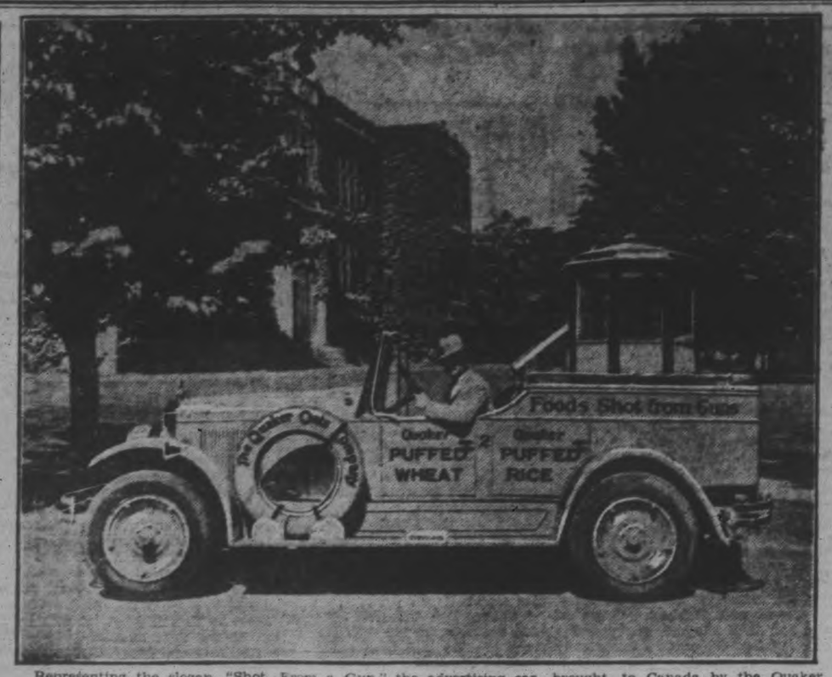
NEW YORK, April 29. (Canadian Press).—Selling pressure was lifted from to-day's stock market after an early period of heaviness and prices rallied briskly throughout the list. The effect of the sharp run up of the call money rate failed to slow up the buying movement. There were several excellent quarterly reports made public during the day, Rock Island earning $1.05 a share, as against 85c in the corresponding period last year, while Chrysler Motors showed a net profit against $1.15 a year ago. About a dozen oils sank to new low levels for the year in the early trading, but heavy short covering in that group brought about a good rally, with several issues rising a point or more above their early lows. Philip Morris sank to a new 1927 low, while American Water Works and Hudson and Manhattan rose to new tops for the year.

UNDUULY RICH.

PORT DOVER, Ont., April 29. —(Canadian Press).—The fact that he inherited an estate of $2,500,000 does not unduly concern William Henry Barrett, who still lives quietly on his farm near this town. He has not even installed a telephone in his home. His riches came recently from the Irish estate of Quinton Dick.

Hundreds of old volumes, piled in the farmhouse, are the only visible evidence of Mr Barrett's wealth. These are from the Dick estate. In a branch bank here are more of Mr. Barrett's possessions, chests of antique silver worth probably $100,000. Beautiful pieces of old Sheffield plate, sterling Silver plate and silver plate washed in gold are contained in the chests, which are of iron-bound wood.

Mr. Barrett went to England last September to claim the fortune, after a court had decided that he was not barred by the provision of Dick's will stipulating that the inheritor should adopt the surname of "Dick" within a specified period. The inheritor was ignorant of the will and therefore could not have complied, the judges pointed out.



Representing the slogan, "Shot From a Gun," the advertising car brought to Canada by the Quaker Oats Company is attracting much attention on the streets of the city. A glass tower is erected on the back of the car, and a miniature cannon projects into it. Every few seconds a shower of puffed grains is projected into the tower from the gun.

The machine is worked by an electric motor operated from a storage battery. The fan draws the grains down from the base of the tower and sends them through the gun to the top again. R. S. Graham of the local office is in charge of the car and will take it to many different parts of Canada to advertise these products.

At the Kiwanis luncheon held today at noon in the Empress Hotel, Arthur J. O'Connor, special representative of the C.N.R., explained the advantages derived from the Rochester route and also showed films of this route and of Alaska.

"The Cobourg-Rochester car ferry was established in 1907 to make it more easy to get freight into the United States and Eastern Canada. Since then the boats have operated summer and winter. In 1915 a second boat was added. Each ferry is able to carry 28 freight cars and 1,000 passengers. During 1926, 13,000 freight cars were carried by these boats.

"This year a temporary accommodation has been made to carry automobiles. These will be loaded on flat cars and the cost will be $12.50 an automobile. There is a special rate of $3.10 for the round trip for passengers wishing to stay six days in either country. There is also a $2.00 return club rate and the regular fare return is $6.09," said Mr. O'Connor.

Charles Elliott was the boogie for the day. He boosted the finances of the County of Peterborough. The assessment of the county is $10,000,000 and the debenture debt is $90,000, which is very small when it is compared to other municipalities. The debt of the county has decreased since 1914, which is a remarkable fact for there were patriotic grants and large sums expended on road and county buildings. D. G. H. Melton was the special soloist for the day.

Leafs Defeat Skeeters 6-4--Tigers Drive Uhle From Mound

TORONTO LEAFS FINISH STRONG

BREAK LONG TIE

TORONTO, April 29. — (Maple Leaf Stadium.) — It was the Leafs' turn to win yesterday, and strange to say, the score was the same as in the first game, 6 to 4. The champions came from behind to win after spotting the Skeeters 3 runs in the first frame. Faulkner pitched brilliant ball following an unlucky start and should not have been scored upon.

He was pulled for Satterfield, a pinch hitter, in the eighth, with the score tied, and the latter came through with a vengeance, stopping a double off Brame to the fence in the left, which scored Bratchi with the winning tally. The left fielder broke into the base hit column for the first time, scratching a single to short in the fourth and driving cleanly to centre for another on the 8th. It was this blow that paved the way to the Leafs' victory.

Spectacular fielding on the part of the Toronto inner works featured four double plays with Lamotte the pivot in three and Harrington in the other being the high lights of a fast played struggle outside of Spencer's four bagger with one on in the third. It was the first of the season at home and it could not have come at a more opportune time as the Leafs were trailing 3 to 0 when the centre fielder made his gorgeous crash. The blow was a liner to rig'a which cleared Gaudettes' head by several feet. Brame turned in a nice performance on the whole for the Skeeters.

He was replaced by Wall, another right-hander in the 8th, after Bratchi, Burke and Satterfield had hit safely in succession. Wall passed Spencer, purposely, filling the bases, and Lamotte promptly delivered a sacrifice fly, making the game safe for the forces of Fohl.

Blackie Carter won the hearts of the Buffalo fans yesterday when he slammed two homers over the Buffalo fence and drove in 7 of 10 runs acquired by the Bisons. The Reading aces were easily routed 10 to 2.

At Syracuse George Earnshaw won a pitchers' duel with Ruse Miller, when Baltimore scored four runs on three scartch hits, a homer by Frank Brower and an error by Carey Selph in the 8th. The score was 5 to 1.

Rochester defeated the Newark Bears yesterday, 10 to 3. Jones hit a home run in the third inning.

LEAFS TO GET NEW PITCHERS

Detroit May Send Smith and Carrol to Fohl's Club.

TORONTO, April 29.—There are pitchers and pitchers; some are just throwers and that lets 'em out. There is a grave suspicion that some of the slingers on the Toronto Club's staff come under the latter category. In any event Manager Fohl needs hurlers who can win with some degree of consistency and he has lines out for a couple of curvers for immediate delivery that he thinks will fill the bill. The Detroit Club has promised to send a pair of pitchers to the Leafs this week. There would be great reason for rejoicing if George Smith and Owen Carroll are the men shipped here.

SOCCER LEAGUE GAME SATURDAY

KICK-OFF AT 3.

The official opening of the league season under the auspices of the Soccer Association takes place on Saturday afternoon at King Edward Park, between the Quaker Oats and the Masseys. Kick-off is scheduled for three o'clock prompt. John Ward is the official referee.

All players associated with the two teams playing are requested to be at the pavilion not later than 2.45 prompt, because the executive has instructed the officials to have the kick-off at the stated hour. Ample accommodation is awaiting the contestant in regards to undressing and dressing.

The Quaker Oats will place the following eleven on the field: Edgar, goal; J. Cridland and H. Curtis, backs; Honor, T. Wilson and Alk Maker, halves; J. Mayette, J. Cross, R. Carmichael, A. Wilcox and F. Foster, forwards. Reserves, R. Walker and W. Curtis.

George Blowers is the captain of the Masseys and has two ex-Quaker players in his quota—George and William Logan—who played for many years with the opposition. Wally James will be the pivot and they expect to register a win.

PLAYERS FAIL TO MAKE ROUND

George Duncan and George Cadd Out in Qualifying Round.

GOLF TOURNEY

LONDON, April 29 (Canadian Press cable)—An encouraging feature of the 36-hole qualifying round of the Daily Mail £1,200 professional golf tournament yesterday was the form of the British pros selected to compete in the Ryder Cup matches against Walter Hagen's American team at Worcester, Mass., on June 3 and 4.

Of the eight Ryder Cup men competing in the southern section at West Hill, Surrey, George Duncan and George Gadd failed to qualify, but the remainder showed steady, if dull, golf and finished well up in the list. Abe Mitchell, who captains the Ryder Cuppers, appropriately headed the qualifiers with 143, followed by Cotton, of Langley Park, with 145; Robson, of Goodenbeach, 148; Frostick, St. George's Hill; Sandy Herd, of Moor Park; Ockenden, Hanger Hill, 147; Arthur Havers, Coombe Hill, 149; C. Whitcombe, Crews Hill, Mary Seymour, St. Leonard's, W. Smith, Hadleywood, 150.

Conclude Rounds

SUTTON, Coldfield, Eng., April 29 (Canadian Press cable) — The concluding stages of the English amateur close golf championship will be entered upon here to-day when the surviving eight compete in the sixth round which is followed by the semi-final. T. Ellison, of the Royal Liverpool club, who has held the title since its inception in 1925, was eliminated in the third round by the Yorkshire champion, N. Dunn, of Doncaster, three and two.

Doctor Tweddle, of Stourbridge, the former Aberdeen University player, is favored to win the championship but with Dunn, Carl Bretherton ,of Handsworth, and J. Beldard of Southstaffs, remaining in competition an interesting finish is assured.

In 1868 the first reulgarly equipped government fish hatchery on this continent was erected by the Dominion of Canada at Newcastle, Ontario.

GIANTS CLINCH LEAGUE LEAD

Launch Attack in Seventh To Defeat Boston 4 to 3.

CARDS DEFEAT REDS.

NEW YORK, April 29. Canadian Press. — The Giants made good use of their seven hits yesterday and took undisputed possession of the National League leadership, by defeating Boston, 4 to 3. The Giants bunched an extra base attack on Smith in the seventh when Roush homered and Sharp and Farrell hit successive doubles.

At Louis the Cardinals bunched hits off Carl Mays, submarine right-hander, and defeated the Cincinnati Reds 3 to 1. It was the second victory for Flint Rhem in two starts this season.

Manager Bob O'Farrell was behind the plate for the first time since April 16. He had been out of the Cardinal line-up on account of a sore arm.

Seventeen hits ,plus eight walks, and two Pirate errors, gave Chicago a 14 to 6 win over Pittsburgh yesterday. Fifty-two Cubs faced four Pirate hurlers working on their home town mound. Every man in the Chicago line-up collected at least one hit and all but one scored.

Brooklyn registered its fifth straight defeat yesterday. The Phillies staged flashing rallies to overcome the Robins' lead, and annexed an 8 to 4 victory on the strength of Wrightstone's homer with the base full in the ninth.

CHICAGO WINS FOUR STRAIGHT

Defeat St. Louis 2-1 in Eleven-Inning Pitching Battle.

SENATORS LOSE

NEW YORK, April 29 (Canadian Press).—Detroit was impolite to its visitors from Cleveland yesterday, driving George Uhle from the mound to make five runs in one inning and win, 6 to 5. Four hits, two bases on balls and two errors figured in the showering of Uhle. Travener's sparkling double play, unassisted, nipped a Cleveland rally in the ninth.

Chicago ran its winning streak to four games by defeating St. Louis in an eleven inning pitching battle, between Thomas and Zachary, 2 to 1. Zachary weakened in the eleventh. Metzler scored the winning marker on Faulk's double to left.

The Philadelphia Athletics hammered six Washington hurlers yesterday and overwhelmed the Senators by a score of 15 to 7. Thirteen Mackmen stepped to the plate when they scored seven runs in the fifth inning.

The Yankees were idle at Boston, where it rained.

REECE SETS NEW RECORD

Used 'Pendulum Cannon Stroke' for 3.156 Points in Finals.

BILLIARDS MATCH

LONDON, April 29 (Canadian Press Cable)—Continuing play last night in his 15,000 point billiards match with Arthur Peall at Thurston's, Tom Reece ran his new record break of 2,504, unfinished, made in the afternoon, to 3,156 and was still in play when the time allowance for the evening session expired. Reece used the "pendulum cannon stroke" he recently invented to make his new record which bettered the former mark of 2,501, made Thursday night at Manchester by J Davis, who, too, used the pendulum. The record prior to Davis' mark being made was held by Tommy Newman with 1,370.

At the close of play last night Reece's score was 5,223, in play, to Peall's 4,485.

MANCHESTER, April29 (Canadian Press cable)—At the conclusion of play last night in the 16,000 point championship billiards match between Jarvis and Tommy Newman, the champion, Davis, was leading by 403 points, the scores reading: Davis, 5,334; Newman, 4,931. Neither contestant used the "pendulum cannon stroke" with which Davis last night set up a new record break of 2,501, which was better yesterday by Tom Reece at London.

At the conclusion of the afternoon play Davis was leading by 679 points, but the champion cut down his opponent's lead in several long sessions at the table.

It is estimated by the Forest Service of the Department of the Interior that the only economic use for three-eighths of the lands area of Canada lies in the growing of trees. This vast area of territory, while incapable of successful agricultural production is, if permanently dedicated, protected and managed, suited to the production of a timber crop which would guarantee for all time the supply of raw material for Canada's wood-using industries.

OLD COUNTRY SOCCER YEAR NEARING END

Huddersfield and Newcastle Leading in Championship Race.

SATURDAY SCHEDULE

Middlesborough to Resume Place in First String Next Year.

LONDON, April 29. — (Canadian Press Cable).—The Old Country soccer season is now near its exit, and only two more Saturdays remain for play. Of the eleven fixtures scheduled for the day after to-morrow in the First Division of the English League, ten will be played, the other, that between Aston Villa and Blackburn Rovers, having been run off on January 29 last. Four teams will wind up the season on Saturday: Sunderland, Burnley, Bolton Wanderers and Everton. A game scheduled for next Saturday between Sunderland and Bolton was played on April 19.

While it seems perfectly clear that the League championship this year cannot fail to pass from Huddersfield Town to Newcastle United, the situation with respect to these two clubs is interesting. Four points divide them, with each having two games to go. Even should Newcastle lose both these engagements and Hudders field win their two, it is unlikely that the Yorkshiremen would be able to re-adjust their goal average to meet the case since they have scored thirteen fewer goals and have had one more tallied against them, than their rivals. It is still possible, but very highly improbable. Newcastle have only one more point to get out of the four remaining to them in order to clinch the championship, and their supporters are looking to them to acquire this at St. James' Park on Saturday, when they entertain the Wednesday. Huddersfield are engaged away from home, meeting Bolton at Bolton.

With regard to their other end of the first string, the matter of relegations has already been decided, and West Bromwich and Leeds United will be transferred to the lower circle next season.

The First Division card for Saturday is:

Birmingham at Arsenal; Huddersfield at Bolton; Leicester at Burnley; Everton at Cardiff; West Bromwich at Derby; West Ham at Leeds; the Spurs at Liverpool; Sunderland at Manchester; the Wednesday at Newcastle, and Bury at Sheffield.

In the Second Division, the situation with respect to the divisional champions was settled some time ago. Middlesborough will resume their place in the first string next year, but the question as to who will accompany them remains unsettled. There are four teams still knocking at the door: Portsmouth, Manchester City, Notts Forest and Chelsea. Until Wednesday Preston North-End had an outside chance, but this was scattered to the winds when the Lancastrians were blanked in their last but one game of the season by Reading. The most favored of the quartette is Portsmouth, who, with three more games to play, are running even with Manchester City in points. The City have only a couple more fixtures to fulfil. Notts Forest are one point behind the Manchester team, while Chelsea are two points in the rear. The Pensioners have also three games to play, but one of these is with Portsmouth, and Chelsea fell very badly before Clapton Orient yesterday afternoon

Ten games will be played in the second string to-day, that between Preston North-End and Darlington having already been run off. The schedule follows:

SAVARD MUST COME MONDAY

Ultimatum Delivered By Customs Commission To American Importer.

FEARS PROSECUTION.

WINDSOR, April 29 (Canadian Press).—The Royal Commission on Customs this morning delivered an ultimatum to C. A. Savard, an American citizen, who is wanted as a witness during the Windsor sittings. Mr. Savard must appear before the Commission here on Monday.

"If he doesn't appear then we must take other action," said Chief Commissioner Brown.

Savard appears on many liquor export entries as the agent of American buyers of Canadian liquor. When first he was called as a witness his lawyer, W. H. Furlong, protested. Mr. Savard would run the risk of prosecution in the United States if he gave public evidence in Canada. Mr. Furlong was denied a private hearing and told to have Savard on hand yesterday. Yesterday he asked for another day's delay. To-day he explained that Savard was on his way home from Lexington, Ky., and could not get here until Monday.

"Mr. Savard knows the situation," objected Mr. Rowell. "As he is not here I would ask the Commission to recommend to the Governor-in-Council that instructions be sent to Customs officers on the frontier that no further shipments are to be cleared for Savard."

"Or any one associated with him," suggested Commissioner Wright.

"Or any one associated with him," added Mr. Rowell.

Mr. Furlong said he would like an opportunity to present an argument on the proposed recommendation.

"Well, we will make a peremptory order that Savard appear on Monday morning. If he does not appear then we must take other action," the Chief Commissioner decided.

WEDDING BELLS.

McDONALD--GRACE

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday morning at St. Ann's church, when Mary, daughter of Mr. James Grace of Almonte, was united in marriage to Mr. John Raymond McDonald of Peterboro.

The bride looked lovely in a charming gown of beige gorgette with large hair hat of the same shade trimmed with French flowers and velvet ribbon. She wore an amber fox scarf, the gift of the groom, and carried a bouquet of Sunset roses and lilly of the valley. Her cousin, Miss Eleanor Grace, gave the bride away. The bridesmaid was Miss Bertha Boyd. Mr. Douglas McDonald, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Rev. L. Hodgins, cousin of the bride, conducted the marriage ceremony, with Fathers McCandish and Bonomo in the sanctuary. Miss Stella Bruxer played the wedding music, and solos were rendered by Miss Veronica Good After the ceremony the bridal party partook of breakfast at the Diet Kitchen, after which the happy couple left by motor for New York. On their return they will reside in Peterboro.—Toronto Globe.

BLODGETT—DORRINGTON.

The wedding was quietly solemnized at four o'clock on Wednesday afteroon, in St. John's Church, of Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dorrington, 52 Victoria avenue, and Arthur Blodgett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blodgett, 1st Line of Smith township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of French blue crepe de chine, with hat to match and grey shoes and stockings. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The bridesmaid, Miss Hazel Blodgett, was gowned in navy blue and sand crepe de chine, with hat to match and bouquet of red carnations.

Mr. Joseph Dorrington acted as best man.

After the ceremony, a wedding supper was served to about thirty guests at the home of the bride's parents, followed by a dance in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Blodgett left later for their new home in Smith.

E. A. Peck, M.P., and W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., Give Addresses.

CONVENTION TAKEN UP.

Mrs. Fallis Tells Of Reasons For Calling Meeting From All Canada.

Conservatives of West Peterborough gathered in goodly numbers last night for their annual "At Home," held under the auspices of the West Peterborough Women's Liberal-Conservative Association at the Canadian Legion Hall. The speechmaking part of the programme was brief, consisting of remarks by Mrs. Howard Fallis, who was in the chair, short addresses by the two members, E. A. Peck, M.P., and W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., and closing remarks by the President of the Men's Association, V. J. McElderry. Musical items were interspersed among the speeches while cards and dancing followed. George Logan's Merrymakers provided the music. The service of refreshments brought the evening to a close.

An appeal to the Conservative women present to join up with the Association was voiced by Mrs. Fallis, who said that the Peterborough members would like to feel that they had the full support of the ladies. The Association, she added, was not social, but educational, mentioning that it is intended in the Fall to have members of the Ontario Cabinet give education talks on New Ontario.

Speaking of the convention in Toronto last week, Mrs. Fallis said that "All roads led to Rome," or all topics led to the national convention in Winnipeg in October. There were two subjects of particular importance. The first was, Why have a national convention this Fall? In answering this, Mrs. Fallis recalled that it had always been the custom of the party to choose the leaders from among the members, without a convention, but that the Ontario Conservatives had chosen the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson at an open convention with great success, and it was decided to choose a permanent Federal leader in the same way.

Convention Necessary

The reason for having the convention this Fall instead of delaying it for a year or two, is that the position of temporary leader is one of difficulty, and it is considered advisable that a permanent leader with authority be chosen for the next session.

The second topic was Women's part in the convention, and on this subject Mrs. Fallis gave the principal speech at Toronto. She said she divided it into four parts. Women can help, first by giving a little of their time and talents, always remembering that it was the Conservative party that gave them the franchise. They can help by working harmoniously with the men. They have always done so here, but in other places have not remembered that the men have been in politics much longer and have more experience.

Thirdly, they can help by not becoming too easily discouraged, Mrs. Fallis continued. It is hard to arouse a proper interest in politics in the women of the country. Fourth, they should have knowledge of the problems of the country. They would be annoyed if their children were not taught history in school, so they should study the history in the making at present.

Mrs. Fallis referred to the speakers at the banquet. The Hon. Mr. Price had charged that Conservatives were too prone to look back to the good old days of the Whitney government. This he agreed they should do, but they should remember that the problems of running the province are much different now, the roads alone costing as much annually as the entire provincial budget a few years ago. The development of New Ontario is another matter which has come up recently.

The Hon. Hugh Guthrie and the Hon. G. H. Ferguson were the other speakers, Mrs. Fallis said, and she stated that she was sure many thought as she did, while they spoke, that either of them would make a good leader. If the mantle of leadership should fall on either of them, she concluded, they were men entirely capable of handling the affairs of the country and men of whom the party should be proud.

E. A. Peck, M.P.

E. A. Peck, M.P., contrasted the happy social gathering with the strenuous times through which the workers of the party had passed during the recent election campaigns, congratulating the ladies on the happy thought of having such a social gathering. He proceed to give a short account of some of the proceedings of the last session of the Federal House.

Speaking in praise of the temporary leader, the Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Mr. Peck assured his hearers that he had been a good man for the posi-

LONDON, April 30 (United Press).—A radio man who played himself into the will of Mrs. Bruce-Jones, of Filey, Yorkshire, to the tune of $110,000, is Jan Kivell, American saxaphone star of the Savoy orchestra.

"I have never been to hear his music," said Mrs. Bruce-Jones, a middle-aged widow, in her will, "but he has brought as much pleasure to a lonely woman that I leave him something which I hope will bring him pleasure in turn."

Kivell will return to New York and the Pacific coast cities of the United States, scenes of home of his saxaphone triumphs of an earlier day, after the summer season in London is over, and celebrate his good fortune.

BRITISH NAVY STRONG AS ANY STILL POLICY

A Navy Inferior To None, Bridgeman Tells Scottish Conservatives.

CAN'T AFFORD LESS.

Will Take This Stand at Conference Called By Coolidge.

LONDON, April 30 (United Press).—A navy inferior to none in the world will continue to be the slogan of Great Britain throughout sessions of President Coolidge's Naval Disarmament Conference which is scheduled for Geneva. Indication of this policy was given by First Lord of the Admiralty Bridgeman yesterday in an address before the Scottish Conservative Club of Edinburgh.

"However much we may sympathize with disarmament," said Bridgeman, "Great Britain cannot afford to take a position of inferiority to any other country as far as her navy is concerned.

"We have made an honest endeavor to meet other nations in the matter of disarmament, but it must be clearly understood that Great Britain must protect her trade routes as she has done in the past."

MAKE LOCKOUT ALSO ILLEGAL

Amendment To Trades Union Bill Would Meet Objections of Laborites.

GOVERNMENT MOVE.

LONDON, April 30. — (Canadian Press.) — The Daily Express states that the government is drafting an amendment to its trade union bill which comse up on second reading in the House of Commons on Monday. The amendment would make combined lockouts by employers illegal, the same as general strikes.

The newspaper adds that this move is intended to offset the contention of labor leaders that the bill is aimed solely at the trade union movement and therefore one-sided.

NORTH BAY, Ont., April 30.—(Canadian Press.) — Margaret Dashnay, aged 20, nurse in training at the local hospital, was found in a dying condition at her boarding house this morning. The girl was frothing at the mouth, it is believed from drinking carbolic acid, and although medical assistance was immediately forthcoming it was too late to save her life. Miss Dashnay, who was to have been married in June, came from Cochrane, Ont. An inquest will be held.

GIVES ADDRESS ON BIRD LIFE

Wallace Havelock Robb Lectures Under Auspices of Art Association.

SLIDES SHOWN.

A most interesting lecture on Birds and their Beauty was given by Wallace Havelock Robb of Belleville in the auditorium of the Conservatory hall last night under the auspices of the Women's Art Association. Mr. Robb had some very beautiful pictures of birds, painted especially for him to show in his tour by Major Brooks, the greatest of all bird artists in North America. In addition to slides shown by Mr. Robb, he recited poetry, which is his own composition. The paintings of Major Brooks are to be presented to the Royal Museum of Zoology and together with some literature attached to them are to be sold at the very reasonable price of five cents a copy to anyone wishing to obtain the reproductions.

Pictures of these birds have also been reproduced on the cover of the Junior Red Cross magazine and are in the editor's opinion the finest ever submitted. The event last night was unique in the way that in the birdland history it is the first time these pictures have been shown and the first time an audience has been addressed on such an interesting subject. Mr. Robb remarked that it was, he thought, the first time such an exhibit has ever been shown in North America. The photos were taken by the speaker who was formerly a photographer until he gave it up for this work. Mr. Robb has received compliments on these excellent pictures from H. R. H. the Prince of Wales and has also received the right to use his name while giving these lectures.

Received Contributions.

To obtain the beautiful paintings from the distinguished painter, Brooks, Mr. Robb asked for contributions and received many from friends who, he said, certainly did a marvellous thing for all mankind, for such a lecture is one of the most instructive things a person can learn about the very earth on which he is living.

The speaker went on to say that not only are birds beautiful but they are also in demand for their economic value to farmers. The bluebird is worth 100 per cent to these men for it consumes nothing but insects. Mr. Robb remarked that the "Star" paper in Toronto have been running an article on this subject, and in it the writer has been hinting very strongly that owls have absolutely no economic sense and they consume no insects at all. The speaker proved that on examing the stomach of a screech owl it was full of mice, which goes to show that a bird is often more useful than just to look at.

Obtain Material.

Men who write songs usually obtain some of their material from the thought of birds and hardly a song goes by without the composer mentioning a line or two concerning some species of the bird family. Mr. Robb said that everyone should learn more about birds and their ways of living. Work is very lonely for pioneers, such as Jack Miner and himself, and he wishes that more people would be interested and take over the responsibility of the great work that fills nature with glad feeling and good-will.

He then showed some colored slides and related many interesting little stories running with the different pictures.

Shown on Screen.

Nearly all the birds on the continent were thrown on the screen and it was shown how tame a bird can become if it is treated with kindness, and this is the aim that Mr. Robb and others are striving to obtain so that people will learn to appreciate the beauty of these small but wonderful works of the Almighty.

In keeping with the "Save the Forest Week," Mr. Robb showed some slides on a few disastrous forest fires that had resulted from carelessness on the part of foolhardy campers.

Preceding the lecture, Miss Greta LeBarr rendered two solos which were loudly applauded by the audience.

BUCHAN ELECTED.

Conservative Gets Large Majority in Scottish By-Election.

EDINBURGH, Scotland, April 30.—(Canadian Press).—The Conservative candidate, John Buchan, historian and novelist, was elected member of Parliament for the Scottish Universities to-day in the by-election necessitated by the death of the former Conservative member, Sir Henry Craik. Mr. Buchan received 16,964 votes as against 2,378 for Hugh B. Guthrie, Laborite.

"SWITCHING" CARS.

Would Load American Freight Cars With Liquor in Windsor Yards.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 30 (By Canadian Press).—"Switching" of railway freights cars acquired a new meaning before the Royal Customs Commission yesterday afternoon. From two railway yardmasters of Windsor came statements that Harry Lowe, Vice-President of the Carling Brewing and Malting Company, had proposed to them a plan whereby cars from United States railways en route through Windsor, would pass out of Canada laden with beer, unknown to the authorities. In order that the plan could be carried out successfully, however, there had to be co-operation from the two yardmasters concerned. They were to look after the "switching" process. This accounted for the overtures from Mr. Lowe, they said.

The first of the two railwaymen to be asked about the matter was John W. McGowen, yardmaster for the Michigan Central Railway here for the past ten years. The second to give evidence on the same subject was Charles F. Hawker, formerly C.P.R. yardmaster here, but now employed in the Grand Trunk Western yards in Detroit. It developed that Mr. Hawker had lost his position with the C.P.R. in connection with the proposals though he insisted to the Commission that he was quite innocent of wrong-doing.

"Do you remember being approached during the summer of 1925 in connection with switching certain cars?" Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., asked Mr. McGowan.

Load Cars at Windsor.

"Yes," replied the witness. "I was approached by C.P.R. yardmaster Hawker as to a proposition he had received whereby we could dig up some easy money." The proposition was, the witness said, that cars coming into Windsor from Detroit and other United States points en route to American cities should be switched over to the C.P.R. yards besides beer laden cars from the Carling Brewery at London. The American cars would, of course, be sealed during their passage through Canada. While in close proximity to the beer cars, however, the seals were to be broken, the beer transferred into the American cars, new seals affixed and the cars sent on their way into the United States via Niagara Falls. Thus a car which entered Canada at Windsor, would pass out of Canada loaded with beer.

"I told him I didn't think it was possible," Mr. McGowan said in regard to the proposition made to him. However, Mr. Hawker had come round to see him again accompanied by Mr. Lowe.

"What Mr. Lowe?" asked Mr. Rowell.

"I think it was Mr. Harry Lowe." The witness explained that the meeting had taken place in a car which was rather dark, and he had not seen Mr. Lowe clearly. He was introduced to me as Mr. Harry Lowe, he said.

"Did he tell you this was being done right along on the Canadian National and Wabash Railways?" asked counsel.

"Yes, he did."

There had been no deal made between them, said Mr. McGowan, though he thought the sum of $100 a car had been mentioned as payment. Later he advised his chiefs of the proposition which had been made.

Approached Hawker.

Charles F. Hawker, the other railwayman, was asked similar questions. He stated that Harry Lowe had seen him in the summer of 1925 and asked him if he (Hawker) could get cars loaded with beer into the United States. The witness replied that he did not think it was possible. Then Mr. Lowe had made his proposal. The plan, stated the witness, was that beer-laden cars would come down to Windsor from London. Then other cars would come through from Detroit billed as loaded but really empty. They would be placed beside the beer-laden car and the beer transferred.

"Then the car would go through in transit," said Mr. Hawker.

"It would be an American car in transit through Canada," commented Mr. Rowell.

"Who was to supply the customs seals?" he asked the witness.

"The witness replied that Mr. Lowe was to do that."

"Did you ever have a similar proposition made to you in Toronto?" asked Mr. Rowell.

Mr Hawker said that he had been offered $200 a car by some persons whom he did not know when he was working in the Toronto yards. These people, he said, were purporting to ship liquor to Montreal, but proposed to him that he drop the liquor-laden cars in the Toronto yards where they would be unloaded. Then the empty car

LADDER TRUCK RECOMMENDED BY COMMITTEE

Firemen Considerably Handicapped in Handling Fire With Present Apparatus.

TENDERS OPENED.

Decided To Pave Sections Of Three Streets This Summer.

At the meeting of the Fire, Water, and Light Committee of the City Council held last night, it was decided to recommend to the Council that a new American La France ladder truck be purchased. At present the fire department has not got a ladder that will reach the top of any of the large buildings in this city and that the firemen are considerably handicapped in handling a fire with this apparatus. The Aldermen thoroughly discussed the question and then decided to act on the recommendation of the chairman that the La France truck be purchased at a cost of $13,000, and will be paid for by the issuing of debentures. The new truck will be equipped with 368 feet of ladder and other necessary fixtures. The City Solicitor was instructed to draw up a by-law preparing a contract for the company to sign.

The tenders for coal for the fire hall were opened and the contract went to the lowest, J. E. A. Fitzgerald at $7.29 a ton.

Routine Work.

The business discussed at the meeting of the Finance Committee was mostly routine work. Alderman Ackerman asked for a grant to the Canadian Legion as the coming Provincial convention could be financed in this city. The meeting will take place on June 1, 2, and 3, and over 500 veterans are expected to attend. The principal visitors will be Sir Richard Turner and Sir Percy Lake. The Mayor, Aldermen Ackerman, Phelan, and Macdonald were appointed a committee to bring in a recommendation for Monday night's Council meeting.

At the meeting of the Board of Works it was decided to amend the traffic by-law, whereby it will be illegal to park cars 80 feet from a bus stop. The aldermen were of the opinion that the police ought to enforce the by-law in regard to parking cars on the sides of the street, they said they had received many complaints lately about the action of some of the auto dealers.

It was decided that all the cottages would be removed from the city property at the sewage disposal plant.

The Engineer was asked to submit an estimate of the cost of a new pumping station for the sewer on Smith Street.

Pave Streets.

The Board decided to pave Weller Street this summer from Park Street to Monaghan Road, Smith Street from George to Water, and Water Street from Dublin to Antrim. Next year's program will consist of Park Street from Brock to McDonnel, McDonnel Street from Reid to Park and Aylmer from Charlotte to Wolfe.

The Park Street drain came up for discussion, and it was decided to ask the Highway Department for an engineer to make a survey of all land drained by this drain.

Ex-Alderman Joseph Crowe was present and he explained the recent accident at the sewage disposal plant and the matter was left in the hands of Mr. Parsons.

The Bashful Mr. Bobbs.

The three-act comedy, "The Bashful Mr. Bobbs," was presented in the George Street Sunday School auditorium last evening, under the auspices of Trevor Miller's Young Men's Class, by young people from Coldsprings, who gave an excellent account of themselves in their portrayal of the adventures of the bashful hero. During intermissions, the Sunday School orchestra, under direction of Mr. W. H. Cunningham, gave several selections, and at the conclusion, lunch was served by the class to those taking part. The cast included the following members: Mrs. E. Kitney, the Misses May Wilson, Mary Huston, Jessie Tully, Mary Tully May Thompson, and M[illegible] ney, F. Kitney, Donald Rose, and Joseph Tully. Mr. Earl Huston directed and managed the play.

DON'T COPY VENUS, GIRLS; BE DIANAS

(By NEA Service)

SEATLE, Wash., April 30.—A new goal of beauty toward which American femininity should strive has been set by Miss Mary E. Goss, head of the department of physical education of the University of Washington. No longer, she says, should Venus be held up as example of perfect womanhood. The new type of girl is being developed after Diana. Venus had lots of lines and curves, but was a bit too near the piano-mover type, she says. Diana, on the other, combines grace and speed with beauty. She is full of pep, and—what is particularly apropos—was goddess of the hunt. Says Miss Goss: "Try to imagine Venus dancing the Charleston."

Kilts cost three times as much as a pair of trousers, thus proving that they were not adopted in an economy campaign.

Indigestion Proves Fatal To Brantford H. S. Teacher

TORONTO, April 30 (Canadian Press.)— Suddenly stricken with an attack of indigestion shortly after breakfast at Knox College to-day, John A. Macdonald, aged 40 years, High school teacher of Brantford, Ontario, died before medical aid arrived. Deceased was taking a special course at the University of Toronto and was staying with friends at Knox College. He was a married man. An inquest will not be held.

CANAL CHARTS FOR TUSLA MAN

INTERESTING LETTER.

Showing that the pictures taken last year of the Trent Waterway by the Chamber of Commerce were successful in inducing American citizens to take the delightful trip up the beautiful system, the following letter was received by Frank Stinson, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, from W. G. Selby, Vice-President of the Selby Oil and Gas Company in Tulsa- Oklahoma:

"Please find enclosed draft for $20, for which please send me all charts and literature on the Trent Waterway, which I understand are $9.25. Would also like to have all charts and books on navigating same from Georgian Bay to Sault Ste Marie. Would also like to have chart from Kingston to Trenton.

"Since I talked to you in New York at the Motor Boat Show, I have a new forty-five foot boat now being built for the purpose of making the trip. Since the Motor Boat Show I have heard quite a little favorable comment about your booth and advertising of the Trent Waterway, and I am looking forward to a wonderful cruise with some good fishing thrown in. Will be up through your place about the middle of July.

"Please send the above charts to me, Box 595, Sarasota, Florida."

This letter shows that the Trent Waterway is becoming well known in the States, and, said Mr. Stinson, "This is the kind of tourist we are looking for, because they give us extensive trade; and in this way Peterborough will be recognized as the central city from which all branches of tourist headquarters can be reached.

BEAUTIES BEG FOR BONNETS.

After crowning a queen's head with one of her bonnet creations, a Paris milliner has announced that she will not make the chapeau for those it does not become. The bonnet has the effect of being pushed off the forehead, giving the wearer the appearance of a startled baby. It is said that many beauties are pathetic in their pleas for one of the head coverings, which naturally have become the rage.

MEN'S ORGANIZATIONS SUPPORT CLEAN-UP IDEA IN INTERESTS OF INCREASING CITY'S BEAUTY

All Associations Back Kiwanis Club and Examiner in Effort.

FOR BIG YEAR.

Big Convention of Canadian Legion in June is Added Incentive.

Charles Lacheur, Vice-President of The Peterborough Horticultural Society, heartily endorses the Clean-Up Campaign. He thinks there is no better way to become interested in the appearance of the home than by joining the Peterborough Horticultural Society, for the person who develops an interest in flowers will also want to have everything clean and tidy around his home. He suggests that the citizens of this city call Chris. Wood, special representative of the Society, at 286 Hunter Street or phone 654, and he will be glad to call on them with a very choice list of options.

John R. Corkery, Chairman of the Separate School Board, said he is interested in everything that would improve the appearance of this city and he hoped that the citizens would make it a real Clean-up Campaign.

Dr. J. M. McCulloch, President of the Medical Association, said he thought the Clean-Up Campaign a good thing for the city and added "I am certainly in favor of it."

E. B. Fowler, Chairman of the Board of Education, expressed himself as being heartily in favor of anything that will make Peterborough a better place to live.

Col. C. H. Ackerman, President of the Canadian Legion: "I am heartily in favor of the campaign. There is nothing which attracts the attention of visitors more than a clean city. On the first three days of June the Provincial Convention of the Canadian Legion will be held in this city when about 500 members from all parts of the Province will come to Peterborough. The city, as far as Nature is concerned, will be looking its very best, so if the citizens add a few touches to the appearance of their homes, everyone will be proud of Peterborough as a convention city."

A. L. Killaly, President of the Rotary Club: "As head of the Rotary Club I heartily endorse the campaign and I hope the citizens will take a real interest in it and make Peterborough a finer place to live in."

D. J. Holland, Chairman of the Manufacturers' Association, heartily endorses the campaign.

G. H. Roper, General Secretary of the Y.M.C.A.: "I think it is a splendid idea and am much in favor of it. Clean and tidy surroundings give the city a very favorable appearance in the eyes of strangers."

Isaac P. McNabb, President of the Kwanis Club: "As a member of the Kiwanis Club, I am right behind the campaign. So far it has been a success, for improvement is being shown in the city daily. The members of the Club would be very glad if citizens would report to Mark Bredin, chairman of the Clean-Up Committee places that need cleaning up for which nobody is responsible. It is necessary that this city do its best for the Governor-General's visit on the 20th of June and for Jubilee week."

A. W. Blade, Past President of the Motor League: "There is no better advertisement for tourists than a clean and tidy city. People from the United States like coming into surroundings that have a homely appearance, and when they go home they tell their friends about Peterborough and district, and these friends want to come to this part of Ontario during the summer."

W. J. Hancock, Chairman of the Board of Health: "I am very much in favor of the campaign from a sanitary point of view. It is only endorsing the work which the Board of Health has been trying to carry on for years. A clean and tidy city does much to improve the health of the citizens, and is a place where people like to come to live."

Frank G. Stinson, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce: "The idea that The Examiner put forth in its editorial last night I heartily endorse. What is the use of people painting their homes if the paint is to become covered with dust before it becomes dry? Tourists notice whether a city is clean or not, and last year many favorable comments were made in my office as to the clean and tidy appearance of some of the stores that had been recently painted."

M. J. Maher, president of the Owners' and Tenants' Association, expressed himself as being heartily in accord with the idea of the campaign, and thought that it was something that everyone should be interested in so that Peterborough would be one of the finest cities in Ontario to live in.

MISS M'PHAIL EXPLAINS HER PEACE IDEALS

Denounces War When Speaking on Creation of Peace Psychology.

AT UNITY CONFERENCE.

Hopes Audience Doesn't Believe What Newspapers Say About Her.

MONTREAL, April 30 (Canadian Press).—Miss Agnes MacPhail, Canada's only woman member of Parliament, again denounced war and stated her views on how world peace could be obtained when speaking on the "creation of peace psychology" at the opening meeting of the Montreal session of the world's unity conferences last night. Miss MacPhail made a caustic reference to groups of Ontario women who at meetings had adopted resolutions denouncing her on the grounds, she said, that four years ago she had attended an international congress in Washington at which German delegates had been present. "When did the war end?" asked Miss MacPhail.

In opening, Miss MacPhail said she hoped that her audience had not believed all they had read in newspapers about her, though, she added, it really did not matter whether they did or not. The conferences are described as being organized "to create harmony and understanding among religions, races, nations and classes."

Designed To Prevent Any Breech Of Laws

WASHINGTON, April 30. — Canadian Press. — The new immigration ruling on immigration from Canada is designed to prevent any breach of the immigration laws, it was said at the White House yesterday.

President Coolidge has not personally taken a hand in the matter but he understands that it is the desire of the Department of Labor to make it impossible for persons not of Canadian birth to use their Canadian domicile to obtain entry and employment at border points without conforming to the immigration laws.

The presidents' office would not say whether Canada's request for a conference before the regulations go into effect on June 1st, would be granted.

Plenty of Produce Offered This Morning—Prices Unchanged.

POTATOES 35c A PECK.

There was a good crowd at the farmers' market this morning, and plenty of mid-season produce offered for sale. In the basket section, butter sold from 43 to 50 cents a pound, eggs were 27 and 28 cents a dozen and chickens 30 and 35 cents a pound. Maple syrup in quart sealers was 50 cents and maple sugar 3 and 6 for a quarter, in large and small-sized cakes. Downstairs, maple syrup sold for 50 cents a quart in darker quality and 65 cents for the lighter-coloured brand.

Artificial flowers make a brilliant spot of color on the tables in the upper section. Very real-looking pinks, wild roses and California poppies sell for 25 cents a bunch and sweet peas waxed carefully, are 50 cents a bouquet.

Roots of golden glow, lemon lily and blue iris are 5 and 10 cents apiece, and Canterbury bells sell at 3 roots for 25 cents. Gladioli bulbs were priced at 18 for a quarter.

Rag rugs were offered at $2 apiece and patched spread covers were $1.50.

On the open market, potatoes in large and small sizes were priced at 35 and 40 cents a peck, while New Brunswick Cobblers were quoted at $2.50 a bag. Carrots and parsnips were 30 cents a peck and turnips 20 cents. Beets were 30 cents also and onions 60 cents a peck.

WOLVES SPREAD RABBIES

LENINGRAD, Russia, April 30.—Nearly 350,000 persons have developed hydrophobia in Russia within the past year, according to figures of the Pasteur Institute, which is unable to accommodate half the patients. Half a million wolves said to be ravaging the countryside are responsible for the deadly scourge.

FAREWELL SAID TO DUCAL PAIR

Immense Popularity of Couple Clearly Shown at Melbourne.

ADELAIDE NEXT STOP.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., April 30.—That the Duke and Duchess of York proved even more popular at Melbourne than at Sydney was demonstrated yesterday when, on their departure from the former city for Adelaide, the largest crowd that ever thronged Melbourne thoroughfares lined the route from Government House to the station to bid the royal visitors a rousing farewell.

A message from Premier Allan states that the Duchess won all hearts by her womanly charm, appealing to the populace as the story-book princess. On the other hand, the Duke is described as earnest, keen, fond of information and possessing a sense of humor.

Praises Duke's Game.

Norman Brooks, well-known Australian tennis star, says that if the Duke practised more he would become a really first-class player, having a particularly fine backhand and a sound forehand. Moreover, he is quick in covering the court. His chief weakness, according to Brooks, is his service.

Few Go to Canberra.

Concern and disappointment are being widely expressed at the probability that the crowds at Canberra, where the Duke and Duchess of York are to open the new Parliament Buildings, will be far less than estimated.

Although parking space has been provided for 30,000 cars, so far only 300 applications have been received, and instead of the 300,000 people, which were expected, there will most likely not be more than 15,000 present.

Rigid regulations are blamed by critics for the anticipated decrease in attendance.

WIDOW COLLAPSES AT JURY HEARING

Screen Double Charged With Shooting Her Movie Actor Husband.

LOS ANGELES, Apr. 30 (Canadian Press) — Sarah Kerrick, Hollywood, film "double" and widow of Tom Kerrick, slain screen cowboy, collapsed in the court room while testifying regarding the fatal shooting at her Hollywood home early Wednesday. The woman is charged with murder.

Mrs. Kerrick, in a signed statement to the police had admitted the gun was in her hand when fired, but insisted its discharge was accidental during a scuffle.

Mrs. Kerrick's collapse was the second of the day in the grand jury hearing. Mrs. Iris Burns, over whom one of the five film extras arrested said a quarrel arose, fainted after leaving the jury room. She had related her version of the party and its fatal climax.

Mrs. Anita Isabell, known on the screen as Anita Davis, also was before the jury.

Diamond worth $4,000,000,000 are owned by Americans.

40,000 Germans Serve With Foreign Legion

BERLIN, April 30. — Between 35,000 and 40,000 Germans are now serving in the French Foreign Legion, according to the Neue Berliner Zeitung, which also asserts that the number of German recruits joining French colors annually is nearly 15,000.

Inquiry at the Foreign Office elicited the information that these figures are about correct, though probably somewhat high. It was stated that unemployment is the principal reason for the enlistment of many young men who, tired of walking the streets and drawing doles, willingly don the Legionnaire uniform.

Miners Supply Story Of Woman's Heroism

SYDNEY, N.S.W., April 30.—The commission inquiring into the conditions of gold mining leases at Edi Creek, in New Guinea, have heard an epic story of Mrs. Booth, who, with her husband, trekked for five weeks across the mountains and swamps through a hostile cannibal country, finally urging her husband to push forward to secure a claim while she followed alone. The only woman in the field, she nursed the sick, planted a garden, supplied the miners with fresh vegetables and, in addition, helped her husband to work their claim, which is now worth £40,000 sterling.

The commissioner congratulated her on the courage and nobility she displayed through a trying period.

TELL OF PLAN

would be sent on to Montreal. He had not accepted the offer, he said.

"You say you were never a party to 'switching'?" asked counsel.

"No, Sir."

The witness was cross-examined briefly by J. H. Clark, appearing for some of the liquor interests.

"Did you or Mr. McGowan go to Mr. Lowe and make the proposition to him?" asked Mr. Clark.

"No," the witness said.

"You knew a lot about switching cars before you met Mr. Lowe," suggested counsel.

Again came a denial from Mr. Hawker.

He also denied that he had gone to Mr. Lowe's brother and asked him to write a letter seeking his reinstatement with the C. P. R.

Manager of Dock.

David Caplan, of Windsor, told the commission that he managed one of the Mexico Export Company docks here. He was employed by M. Green, of Detroit.

He caused a slight flurry when he informed the commission that he received liquor from the Quebec Liquor Commission accompanied with export entries. He explained, however, that this liquor was not shipped by the Liquor Commission but came from other persons who apparently purchased it from the commission. It was enclosed in packages of the Quebec Liquor Commission, he said.

Mr. Rowell asked him about his associates in the Mexico Export Company. This is the company which appears to have abandoned business for the time being, after having been engaged in a very lucrative trade. Mr. Caplan admitted that he had authority to sign cheques for the Mexico Export Company.

"They were for pretty large amounts," commented counsel.

"Why not. It wasn't my money," was the reply.

"What did Green pay you?" asked counsel.

"I was getting so much a week and a bonus according to his profits at the end of the year."

"When were the books of the company moved to Detroit?" asked Mr. Rowell.

"Some time last July," was the reply. He did not know anything about the mysterious disappearance of the books when the commission auditors called to see them.

The commission adjourned until Monday.

MAKE CARE OF BABIES EASIER

Stomach disturbances and constipation are responsible for much of the peevishness of babies and young children. When the baby is cross or irritable the mother should not resort to so-called soothing mixtures to correct the trouble, for in the majority of cases these mixtures simply drug the child into an unnatural sleep. What is needed is a gentle laxative that will sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels. Such a remedy is found in Baby's Own Tablets. They are easy to take and guaranteed to be entirely free from opiates and narcotics. Concerning them, Mrs. Jos. Tousaignant, Ste. Sophie, Que., writes:—"I would like all mothers to know that I feel there is no other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets. I always keep a box in the house and their prompt use never fails to restore my little ones to health." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SHE'S PERFECT WIFE

HAZLETON, Pa., April 30.—Michael Pecora used to juggle hot towels in a barber shop and talk about the time when he would be a famous track star. He became discouraged when he saw a runner in action, but when he watched Frigerio, Olympic walking champion, he decided he could do as well. Now he has beaten Willie Plant, American title holder.

FIRE INQUIRY AT OMEMEE

Burning Of Barn in Emily Township Being Investigated.

MUCH TESTIMONY.

OMEMEE, April 30.—On Thursday morning a fire inquiry was held in Coronation Hall, Omemee, for the purpose of throwing some light on the burning of a barn in East Emily. This Action was brought about by the Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company, which carried the risk. The farm, where the barn was located, had recently been purchased by Mr. William Fee from the owner, Mr. Wellington Lowes, and an offer to purchase same had also been made by Mr. Dave Lowes, a brother. The place was unoccupied. Several rumors were afloat concerning the both parties, and as a result they appeared before Asst. Fire Marshal Saville, of Toronto. The case lasted a good part of the day, Mr. Fee's evidence having taken up the greater part of the time.

G. N. Gordon, K.C., of Peterborough, acted on Mr. Lowe's behalf, while Crown Attorney E. Anderson, of Lindsay, acted as prosecutor. Provincial Constable Storey, of Lindsay, was also in attendance.

Several witnesses were heard.

The sentences followed the execution by strangling Thursday of twenty other Chinese, one of them a woman, arrested during the Embassy compound raid.

The wife and two daughters of Li Ta-Chao, one of those executed Thursday, were released yesterday, together with a number of others.

None of the Russians detained by the raiders has yet been sentenced.

PICK CHAMBERLAIN FOR OCEAN JUMP

Will Accompany Bertaud in Bellanca Plane On Atlantito Flight.

ACOSTA TOO HEAVY.

MINEOLA, N.Y., April 30 (Canadian Press).—Clarence D. Chamberlin and Lloyd W. Bertaud have been selected as co-pilots of the Bellanca monoplane for the proposed New York to Paris flight, according to an announcement Thursday night by Charles A. Levine, sponsor for the trip, following receipt of a letter of withdrawal from Bert Acosta, who, with Chamberlin, recently shattered the world's endurance flight record.

Bertaud will serve as the ship's navigator, while Chamberlin will be pilot and radio operator. The flight will be made within a few days, G. M. Bellanca, designer of the plane, said, after daily flights to test the mechanical and navigating instruments which were recently installed.

In his letter of withdrawal Acosta said that Chamberlin's lighter weight entitled him to make the flight. Acosta weighs 60 pounds more than Chamberlin. Chamberlin was elated when told of the choice.

RHEUMATIC MISERY.

Relief Can Only Come Through Better Blood—Liniments Of No Use.

In no other disease does the blood become thin so rapidly as in rheumatism. Not only does it become thin but it is loaded with impurities—rheumatic poisons. Without the proper treatment these poisons increase, the inflamed joints swell and the patient becomes a cripple. Most treatments simply aim to keep down the pain, hence with every unfavorable condition a renewed attack follows.

To cast out rheumatism the blood must be enriched and the rheumatic poisons driven out with the natural secretions of the body. This can best be done through a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have a specific action on the blood, giving it new richness and redness. Thousands have tried this treatment with beneficial results. That every sufferer from rheumatism who does not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is neglecting the most hopeful means of recovery is shown by the statement of Mrs. David Carroll, Pictou, N.S., who says:—"For years I was troubled with rheumatism. The pains were not continuous, but they always returned, and kept getting worse. I tried so-called electric belts and many medicines, but did not get more than temporary relief. Only those who have suffered from this trouble will realize what I suffered at times. I had begun to dispair of getting better when a friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In a short time I could feel this medicine helping me so I gladly continued taking the pills and soon found that every trace of the trouble had disappeared and there was a great improvement in my general health. It is now two years since I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I have not had the least twinge of the trouble in that time. That is why I confidently recommend the pills to other sufferers."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

EYEBROWS RETURN CREATES DILEMMA

By NEA Service.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Eyebrows are coming back in style, while countless thousands mourn. Devotees of fashion who plucked their eyebrows—and most of them did—are out of luck, for they cannot grow a full crop now. No one seems to be quite sure what is responsible for the renaissance, but the National Cosmeticians Association is sure that there will be one. One beauty expert says that movie vamps and the visits to this country of Oriental beauties created the desire for naturally thatched brows.

Call Husband Dumb; That's Legal Cruelty

NEW YORK, April 30.—(A.P.) Having called her wealthy elderly husband an old fool and a dumbell and stayed out late nights at card parties because he was uninteresting, Mrs. Julius F. Fleischer, ex-stenographer, was cruel, say the findings of a referee. The husband won a separation suit with costs of $4,183 charged to the wife.

TOWNS ENDANGERED.

Many Are Marooned on Floating Trees in Flooded Town.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 30 (Canadian Press).—Flood waters of the Mississippi and Arkansas Rivers threatened four levees last night as they raced to the lower delta where an artificial crevasse was torn in the dyke at Poydras to save New Orleans from possible inundation. Eleven thousand square miles in the valley already are under water.

Near South Bend, on the Arkansas River, and at Glascock levee on the western side of the Mississippi River, in Northern Louisiana, the situation was reported to be critical. Sections of the great bulwarks were caving into the river or the water was spilling over the top.

Engineers said dangerous conditions prevailed at Vidalia, La., opposite Natchez, Miss., and at St. Joseph, La., 40 miles south of Vicksburg, both levees forming part of the main system.

200,000 Refugees

The Red Cross yesterday announced the population of 58 refugee camps at 140,000. It was added, however, that the figures were incomplete. The number in isolated camps or still marooned brought the estimated total to 200,000.

With armies of men battling desperately to strengthen crumbling bulwarks, the Red Cross and allied agencies continued the heroic battle although severely taxed already by the tasks of rescuing and providing for the thousands of thousands homeless.

Breaks in any of the levees would cause inundation of many thousands of acres and would endanger several towns besides rendering additional thousands homeless and complicating the work of the relief machine.

The cave-in on the Arkansas came as a surprise to engineers who have labored two weeks with armies of men to save South Bend levee. The South Bend dyke was still holding, while the slough-off occurred on a section of dyke nearby. No water poured through the levee because the cave-in occurred on the river side and did not cause the whole structure to fall.

A break at or near South Bend would virtually complete the flooding of Southeast Arkansas, already largely under water from the Pendleton break of the Arkansas levee system.

Should the Glascock levee let go, most of the lower portions of Concordia and Catahoula parishes would be flooded. These lands lie between the Mississippi and the Old and Red Rivers and already are under considerable backwater.

Cling to House Tops

Meanwhile acute situations were reported in the sections of the flooded southeastern Arkansas country and the great inland sea which covers the fertile Mississippi delta, a few days ago the scene of preparations for spring farming operations. Lake Village, Arkansas, reported that from 700 to 1,000 persons still were marooned in the lowlands near the city which is under from three to fifteen feet of water. Most of the citizens remained living on the upper floors of dwellings while the rescue of the country folk was hurried. Ashley County received more water, and Marked Tree, Ark., far to the north, expected at least two more feet of flood from the Dorena break backwater.

New fleets of relief boats were converging on the lower Mississippi delta section where many refugees were reported clinging to house tops, trees and small levees, particularly in the Sunflower River basin and in the lowlands of the Yazoo River where the flood waters from Stop's Landing break on the Mississippi piled up on joining the backwater from winter rains.

Small Trenches

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 30.—(A.P.)—Gentle cataracts coursed last night down three breaches made in the Mississippi levee 15 miles south of New Orleans yesterday after dramatic preparations by state authorities to relieve the crescent city from the flood menace.

Successive explosions of dynamite, buried deep in the huge walls of earth thrown up to hold the surging river to its course, caused only three small trenches through which the waters of the mighty stream seemed at first reluctant to run.

Pick and shovel augmented the work of high explosive and the water gradually gained in volume, but its movement was so unsatisfactory that several additional charges were employed before nightfall to accelerate the flow.

Would Open Channel

Further dynamiting may be resorted to today, although several of the engineers were of the opinion that

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE FALL OF THE TREE

A tree can never fall alone,
Something will suffer in that hour—
Perhaps some nest some bird has known,
Perhaps some sweet and lovely flow'r.
For bough or branch some neighbor grieves,
Another mourns its tattered leaves,
Some sapling bends beneath the strain,
That time can never mend again.

Oh, walk with me a little while
And learn the wisdom of the wood;
There is so much to make you smile,
So much so beautiful, so good.
Yet I must show you many a scar,
On many a tree, its life to mar,
Because some weaker brother fell,
By what mischance I cannot tell.

A man can never fall alone:
And, if you do, then do not say
That that is business of your own,
That you alone will have to pay.
Here is the sadness of it all:
When some tree falls some nest will fall,
Some woman's faith, some lovely flow'r,
Will perish, too, in that dark hour.

OLD MASTERS

Breathless, we flung us on the windy hill,
Laughed in the sun, and kissed the lovely grass.
You said, "Through glory and ecstasy we pass;
Wind, sun and earth remain, the birds sing still,
When we are old, are old . . ." "And when we die
All's over that is ours; and life burns on Through other lovers, other lips," said I,
—"Heart of my heart, our heaven is now, is won!"
"We are Earth's best, that learnt her lesson here.
Life is our cry. We have kept the faith!" we said;
"We shall go down with unreluctant treat
Rose-crowned into the darkness!"
. . . Proud we were,
And laughed, that had such brave true things to say.
—And then you suddenly cried, and turned away.

If he gets out, and it's my bat,
He gets as mad as a chessy cat;
And pouts and sulks,
And yells like sin,
And says he'll go home
If he can't be in.
So by and by, there's an awful fuss,
And all the fellers get in the muss
And stand around,
And kick the ground,
And glare and growl,
And stare and scowl,
And wish Jimmy Crosspatch wouldn't howl
Like a tin-canned dog.
When he comes to play
And can't make everything
Go his way.

BRINGING UP FATHER — By Geo. McManus

FAREWELL SAID TO DUCAL PAIR

Immense Popularity of Couple Clearly Shown at Melbourne.

ADELAIDE NEXT STOP.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., April 30.—That the Duke and Duchess of York proved even more popular at Melbourne than at Sydney was demonstrated yesterday when, on their departure from the former city for Adelaide, the largest crowd that ever thronged Melbourne thoroughfares lined the route from Government House to the station to bid the royal visitors a rousing farewell.

A message from Premier Allan states that the Duchess won all hearts by her womanly charm, appealing to the populace as the story-book princess. On the other hand, the Duke is described as earnest, keen, fond of information and possessing a sense of humor.

Praises Duke's Game.

Norman Brooks, well-known Australian tennis star, says that if the Duke practised more he would become a really first-class player, having a particularly fine backhand and a sound forehand. Moreover, he is quick in covering the court. His chief weakness, according to Brooks, is his service.

Few Go to Canberra.

Concern and disappointment are being widely expressed at the probability that the crowds at Canberra, where the Duke and Duchess of York are to open the new Parliament Build ings, will be far less than estimated.

Although parking space has been provided for 30,000 cars, so far only 300 applications have been received, and instead of the 300,000 people, which were expected, there will most likely not be more than 15,000 present.

Rigid regulations are blamed by critics for the anticipated decrease in attendance.

WIDOW COLLAPSES AT JURY HEARING

Screen Double Charged With Shooting Her Movie Actor Husband.

LOS ANGELES, Apr. 30 (Canadian Press) — Sarah Kerrick, Hollywood, film "double" and widow of Tom Kerrick, slain screen cowboy, collapsed in the court room while testifying regarding the fatal shooting at her Hollywood home early Wednesday. The woman is charged with murder.

Mrs. Kerrick, in a signed statement to the police had admitted the gun was in her hand when fired, but insisted its discharge was accidental during a scuffle.

Mrs. Kerrick's collapse was the second of the day in the grand jury hearing. Mrs. Iris Burns, over whom one of the five film extras arrested said a quarrel arose, fainted after leaving the jury room. She had related her version of the party and its fatal climax.

Mrs. Anita Isabell, known on the screen as Anita Davis, also was before the jury.

40,000 Germans Serve With Foreign Legion

BERLIN, April 30. — Between 35,000 and 40,000 Germans are now serving in the French Foreign Legion, according to the Neue Berliner Zeitung, which also asserts that the number of German recruits joining French colors annually is nearly 15,000.

Inquiry at the Foreign Office elicited the information that these figures are about correct, though probably somewhat high. It was stated that unemployment is the principal reason for the enlistment of many young men who, tired of walking the streets and drawing doles, willingly don the Legionnaire uniform.

MILLBROOK NEWS

MILLBROOK, April 30.—Mrs. Melmelville Ball will hold her post-nuptial reception on Thursday, May 26, afternoon and evening, at her home south of the village.

Rev. F. H. Howard and Rev. J. O. Totten attended the meeting of the Cobourg Presbytery at Baltimore last Thursday. There are a number of probationers for the ministry in the Presbytery, and finances are in good condition; in fact reports from all departments of the church's activities were of a most encouraging nature.

An illustrated lecture on "The Birds" will be given at the Continuation School on Thursday, May 12, at 8 p.m. M. A. Madill, B.A., of Peterborough Normal School, will be the speaker. There is a small admission to help the school funds.

Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen, with their guest, Miss R. Pengelly, motored to Toronto on Tuesday, intending to return on Saturday.

The slides for the illustrated lecture on "The Moslem World," which was to have been given in St. Thomas' Church Parish Hall on Thursday evening, under W. A. auspices, unfortunately failed to come, and the lecture was unavoidably postponed.

F. W. Burnham, of Peterborough, paid his mother, Mrs. E. S. Burnham, a brief visit on Thursday, leaving again on a business trip on Friday.

Rev. F. H. and Mrs. Howard, Misses Estelle Hetherington and Marjorie Skitch of Millbrook; Rev. H. W. and Mrs. Foley of Fraserville, and Rev. D. R. and Mrs. Clare of Welcome, Mrs. S. Gray of Garden Hill and Mrs. (Rev.) S. T. Tucker of Orono were among those from this district who motored to Bowmanville on Tuesday and attended the W.M.S. Presbyterial convention.

The local stores will start keeping open Wednesday evenings next week, the usual weekly half-holidays on Thursday afternoons beginning the first week in May.

A. R. Nott of Port Carling is at present employed with V. C. Lambert, and with his wife expects to move to Millbrook to reside in the near future.

Miners Supply Story Of Woman's Heroism

SYDNEY, N.S.W., April 30.—The commission inquiring into the conditions of gold mining leases at Edi Creek, in New Guinea, have heard an epic story of Mrs. Booth, who, with her husband, trekked for five weeks across the mountains and swamps through a hostile cannibal country, finally urging her husband to push forward to secure a claim while she followed alone. The only woman in the field, she nursed the sick, planted a garden, supplied the miners with fresh vegetables and, in addition, helped her husband to work their claim, which is now worth £40,000 sterling.

The commissioner congratulated her on the courage and nobility she displayed through a trying period.

would be sent on to Montreal. He had not accepted the offer, he said.

"You say you were never a party to 'switching'?" asked counsel.

"No, Sir."

The witness was cross-examined briefly by J. H. Clark, appearing for some of the liquor interests.

"Did you or Mr. McGowan go to Mr. Lowe and make the proposition to him?" asked Mr. Clark.

"No," the witness said.

"You knew a lot about switching cars before you met Mr. Lowe," suggested counsel.

Again came a denial from Mr. Hawker.

He also denied that he had gone to Mr. Lowe's brother and asked him to write a letter seeking his reinstatement with the C. P. R.

Manager of Dock.

David Caplan, of Windsor, told the commission that he managed one of the Mexico Export Company docks here. He was employed by M. Green, of Detroit.

He caused a slight flurry when he informed the commission that he received liquor from the Quebec Liquor Commission accompanied with export entries. He explained, however, that this liquor was not shipped by the Liquor Commission but came from other persons who apparently purchased it from the commission. It was enclosed in packages of the Quebec Liquor Commission, he said.

Mr. Rowell asked him about his associates in the Mexico Export Company This is the company which appears to have abandoned business for the time being, after having been engaged in a very lucrative trade. Mr. Caplan admitted that he had authority to sign cheques for the Mexico Export Company.

"They were for pretty large amounts," commented counsel.

"Why not. It wasn't my money," was the reply.

"What did Green pay you?" asked counsel.

"I was getting so much a week and a bonus according to his profits at the end of the year."

"When were the books of the company moved to Detroit?" asked Mr. Rowel..

"Some time last July," was the reply. He did not know anything about the mysterious disappearance of the books when the commission auditors called to see them.

The commission adjourned until Monday.

MAKE CARE OF BABIES EASIER

Stomach disturbances and constipation are responsible for much of the peevishness of babies and young children. When the baby is cross or irritable the mother should not resort to so-called soothing mixtures to correct the trouble, for in the majority of cases these mixtures simply drug the child into an unnatural sleep. What is needed is a gentle laxative that will sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels. Such a remedy is found in Baby's Own Tablets. They are easy to take and guaranteed to be entirely free from opiates and narcotics. Concerning them, Mrs. Jos. Tousaignant, Ste. Sophie, Que., writes:—"I would like all mothers to know that I feel there is no other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets. I always keep a box in the house and their prompt use never fails to restore my little ones to health." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FIRE INQUIRY AT OMEMEE

Burning Of Barn in Emily Township Being Investigated.

MUCH TESTIMONY.

OMEMEE, April 30.—On Thursday morning a fire inquiry was held in Coronation Hall, Omemee, for the purpose of throwing some light on the burning of a barn in East Emily. This Action was brought about by the Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company, which carried the risk. The farm, where the barn was located, had recently been purchased by Mr. William Fee from the owner, Mr. Wellington Lowes, and an offer to purchase same had also been made by Mr. Dave Lowes, a brother. The place was unoccupied. Several rumors were afloat concerning the both parties, and as a result they appeared before Asst. Fire Marshal Saville, of Toronto The case lasted a good part of the day, Mr. Fee's evidence having taken up the greater part of the time.

G. N. Gordon, K.C., of Peterborough, acted on Mr. Lowe's behalf, while Crown Attorney E. Anderson, of Lindsay, acted as prosecutor. Provincial Constable Storey, of Lindsay, was also in attendance.

Several witnesses were heard.

None of the Russians detained by the raiders has yet been sentenced.

PICK CHAMBERLAIN FOR OCEAN JUMP

Will Accompany Bertaud in Bellanca Plane On Atlantic Flight.

ACOSTA TOO HEAVY.

MINEOLA, N.Y., April 30 (Canadian Press).—Clarence D. Chamberlin and Lloyd W. Bertaud have been selected as co-pilots of the Bellanca monoplane for the proposed New York to Paris flight, according to an announcement Thursday night by Charles A. Levine, sponsor for the trip, following receipt of a letter of withdrawal from Bert Acosta, who, with Chamberlin, recently shattered the world's endurance flight record.

Bertaud will serve as the ship's navigator, while Chamberlin will be pilot and radio operator. The flight will be made within a few days, G. M. Bellanca, designer of the plane, said, after daily flights to test the mechanical and navigating instruments which were recently installed.

In his letter of withdrawal Acosta said that Chamberlin's lighter weight entitled him to make the flight. Acosta weighs 60 pounds more than Chamberlin. Chamberlin was elated when told of the choice.

RHEUMATIC MISERY.

Relief Can Only Come Through Better Blood—Liniments Of No Use.

In no other disease does the blood become thin so rapidly as in rheumatism. Not only does it become thin but it is loaded with impurities —rheumatic poisons. Without the proper treatment these poisons increase, the inflamed joints swell and the patient becomes a cripple. Most treatments simply aim to keep down the pain, hence with every unfavorable condition a renewed attack follows.

To cast out rheumatism the blood must be enriched and the rheumatic poisons driven out with the natural secretions of the body. This can best be done through a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have a specific action on the blood, giving it new richness and redness. Thousands have tried this treatment with beneficial results. That every sufferer from rheumatism who does not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is neglecting the most hopeful means of recovery is shown by the statement of Mrs. David Carroll, Pictou, N.S., who says:—"For years I was troubled with rheumatism. The pains were not continuous, but they always returned, and kept getting worse. I tried so-called electric belts and many medicines, but did not get more than temporary relief. Only those who have suffered from this trouble will realize what I suffered at times. I had begun to dispair of getting better when a friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In a short time I could feel this medicine helping me so I gladly continued taking the pills and soon found that every trace of the trouble had disappeared and there was a great improvement in my general health. It is now two years since I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I have not had the least twinge of the trouble in that time. That is why I confidently recommend the pills to other sufferers."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

EYEBROWS RETURN CREATES DILEMMA

By NEA Service.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Eyebrows are coming back in style, while countless thousands mourn. Devotees of fashion who plucked their eyebrows—and most of them did—are out of luck, for they cannot grow a full crop now. No one seems to be quite sure what is responsible for the renaissance, but the National Cosmeticians Association is sure that there will be one. One beauty expert says that movie vamps and the visits to this country of Oriental beauties created the desire for naturally thatched brows.

FOUR LEVEES THREATENED BY FLOOD WATERS

Reported Sections of Great Bulwarks Caving Into River.

TOWNS ENDANGERED.

Many Are Marooned on Floating Trees in Flooded Town.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 30 (Canadian Press).—Flood waters of the Mississippi and Arkansas Rivers threatened four levees last night as they raced to the lower delta where an artificial crevasse was torn in the dyke at Poydras to save New Orleans from possible inundation. Eleven thousand square miles in the valley already are under water.

Near South Bend, on the Arkansas River, and at Glascock levee on the western side of the Mississippi River, in Northern Louisiana, the situation was reported to be critical. Sections of the great bulwarks were caving into the river or the water was spilling over the top.

Engineers said dangerous conditions prevailed at Vidalia, La., opposite Natchez, Miss., and at St. Joseph, La., 40 miles south of Vicksburg, both levees forming part of the main system.

200,000 Refugees

The Red Cross yesterday announced the population of 58 refugee camps at 140,000. It was added, however, that the figures were incomplete. The number in isolated camps or still marooned brought the estimated total to 200,000.

With armies of men battling desperately to strengthen crumbling bulwarks, the Red Cross and allied agencies continued the heroic battle although severely taxed already by the tasks of rescuing and providing for the thousands of thousands homeless.

Breaks in any of the levees would cause inundation of many thousands of acres and would endanger several towns besides rendering additional thousands homeless and complicating the work of the relief machine.

The cave-in on the Arkansas came as a surprise to engineers who have labored two weeks with armies of men to save South Bend levee. The South Bend dyke was still holding, while the slough-off occurred on a section of dyke nearby. No water poured through the levee because the cave-in occurred on the river side and did not cause the whole structure to fall.

A break at or near South Bend would virtually complete the flooding of Southeast Arkansas, already largely under water from the Pendleton break of the Arkansas levee system.

Should the Glascock levee let go, most of the lower portions of Concordia and Catahoula parishes would be flooded. These lands lie between the Mississippi and the Old and Red Rivers and already are under considerable backwater.

Cling to House Tops

Meanwhile acute situations were reported in the sections of the flooded southeastern Arkansas country and the great inland sea which covers the fertile Mississippi delta, a few days ago the scene of preparations for spring farming operations. Lake Village, Arkansas, reported that from 700 to 1,000 persons still were marooned in the lowlands near the city which is under from three to fifteen feet of water. Most of the citizens remained living on the upper floors of dwellings while the rescue of the country folk was hurried. Ashley County received more water, and Marked Tree, Ark., far to the north, expected at least two more feet of flood from the Dorena break backwater.

New fleets of relief boats were converging on the lower Mississippi delta section where many refugees were reported clinging to house tops, trees and small levees, particularly in the Sunflower River basin and in the lowlands of the Yazoo River where the flood waters from Stop's Landing break on the Mississippi piled up on joining the backwater from winter rains.

Small Trenches

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 30.—(A.P.).—Gentle cataracts coursed last night down three breaches made in the Mississippi levee 15 miles south of New Orleans yesterday after dramatic preparations by state authorities to relieve the crescent city from the flood menace.

Successive explosions of dynamite, buried deep in the huge walls of earth thrown up to hold the surging river to its course, caused only three small trenches through which the waters of the mighty stream seemed at first reluctant to run.

Pick and shovel augmented the work of high explosive and the water gradually gained in volume, but its movement was so unsatisfactory that several additional charges were employed before nightfall to accelerate the flow.

Would Open Channel

Further dynamiting may be resorted to today, although several of the engineers were of the opinion that

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

HAD the Book of Genesis been the only book in the Bible what a tragedy it would have represented! The most casual glance will show that it opens with a birth and closes with a funeral. It begins with a statement of how all things, including man, came to have their beginning. It ends with the statement that "Joseph died . . . . and they embalmed him and he was put in a coffin in Egypt." Now, although this may be considered a coincidence and nothing more, it is a significant thing that the "Book of Beginnings" should end this way. And if God had given no other written revelation of His purposes its ending would be tragic in the extreme. But, blessed be God, it is not the whole of revelation. In reality it is but an introduction to that long unfolding of the truth of God which God has enabled men to receive and which ends not with a coffin and a funeral dirge, but with the great proclamation:

"Blessed are they that do His commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city. . . . And the Spirit and the Bride say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely."

If you will think it out you will have little difficulty in coming to see that in a very true sense a man's life on earth is very much like the Book of Genesis. It is a book of beginnings. "We spend our years as a tale that is told." It has its birth. It is rounded off with a coffin; yet it is but the introduction to something wider and vaster than that which may be told in any book of beginnings. The birth may be the beginning, but the funeral procession is not the end. There is something more.

The Testimony of One Who Knows.

The celebrated anthropologist, Sir James Frazer, tells us that among savage races a life after death is not a matter of speculation and conjecture, of hope and fear; it is a practic certainty which the individual as little dreams of doubting as he doubts the reality of his own conscious existence. He assumes it without inquiry and acts upon it without hesitation. He accepts it as one of the best-ascertained truths within the limits of human experience.

It is safe to say that as far as one is able to read the story of the race from men's customs, traditions, inscriptions and religion men have always believed in the immortality of the soul.

The ancient Egyptians and the strange Inca people of Peru have expressed this belief in more or less noble forms; but with others it has expressed itself in an abject fear of the spirits of the dead and in acts of propitiation of these spirits.

What Savages Say.

It has been said by an authority on such matters that few, if any, people ever have lived who have not cherished some degree of hope in immortality. Moreover, a belief in immortality does not by any means indicate any degree of civilization. Until about seventy years ago, the natives of the Gilbert Islands in the South Pacific were living in plain savagery. Yet, as far back as men can trace, they had a clear idea of immortality, and an exceptionally moral idea, too.

According to their simple view of things, there is one who forever sits knitting his nets with his back to the way that leads to the land of the dead. But though his back is turned, his ears are very keen and they never fail to hear the soul's cautious advance as it tries to creep past without being seen or heard. Quickly stretching out his hand the vigilant knitter seizes the soul, and laying it across his knees, he searches its heart. If within that heart he should find dishonesty, cowardice, or uncleanness, it is tossed into an everlasting nightmare.

Some might feel inclined to contend that this is an extreme case because savage peoples rarely cherish so moral a belief in immortality. Still, it is significant that some of these savage people have arrived at such ideas. Surely it goes to prove that a belief in immortality is not dependent on culture.

Where Did They Get It?

It has been suggested that any attempt to account for such a belief is purely a matter of speculation. And various ingenious explanations have been given. It has been said that not even an uncultured savage could fail to be impressed with the ceaseless cycle of things as set forth year by year by the spectacle of death and resurrection in nature.

To this might be added the sense of the incompleteness of this life and the lack of justice which many receive in it.

It is not easy for men to believe that what is called death is the end of all that is so incomplete in so short a period as man's life on earth. Strange indeed must be the mind that finds it easy to believe that it is quite fitting that human aspirations and strivings, noble purposes half wrought, yearnings unsatisfied, dim and baffling glimpses of spiritual truth, hopes enkindled only to be frustrated on the eve of realization, should end in a dreary blank!

Does God Have a Part?

Is it not quite reasonable to believe that God is responsible for this universal belief in life after death? By ways and means quite consistent with the scheme of things, God has always been able to reveal the truth to the hearts and minds of mankind. If it is possible—as possible it is—for one human being to convey his thoughts to the mind of another human being so that these thoughts can be apprehended and understood, surely God, who has given us such power, is not any less able to reveal His thoughts to the minds of those whom He has created. But the last thing some men seem willing to do is to give the Creator credit for anything.

Hope's Foundation.

When the last word of human wisdom has been spoken, and the quest of philosophers and others after the truth has ended in defeat and disappointment, there steps forth one who points the way from speculation to certainty. It is summed up and set forth in this great statement:

Jesus Christ hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel.

In the phrase, "Brought to light," Paul states precisely what took place when Jesus came and carried out the work of redemption. Jesus did not create immortality, but He brought out from among the shadows of obscurity the truth about immortality for which men had been seeking from the hour that death invaded the realm of human experience.

The Last and Greatest.

The Son of God's greatest declaration is set forth in words which have meant more than tongue can tell to multitudes who have had to enter the shadows caused by death.

I am the resurrection and the life; He that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die.

The gospel of a resurrection proclaimed by Jesus is a very wonderful thing. And He proclaims it not only because He taught it before the cross, but because He proved it by His physical change and re-appearance after the cross has done the most it could do to carry out the wishes of those who preferred darkness rather than light.

As Bishop Ellicott says: "Present and future are alike bound up in our belief of our Lord's resurrection and ascension; and dreary indeed must this present be and, gloomy and clouded that future, if our belief in our risen and ascended Lord be uncertain, partial, precarious." The resurrection of Christ opens the doors of the grave and lets in light and creates hope.

—Allan Fairbairn.

Bishop Porteus

WE are informed that both Moses and Elijah appeared also in glory!—a glory somewhat similar, we may suppose, though far inferior, to that with which Christ was invested. Like Him, they were probably clothed in raiment of unusual whiteness and splendor; and the form of their countenances might also be changed to something brighter and more illustrious. Now this would be a just representation of the glorified state of saints in heaven. Particular attestation was given on the Mount to two of its principal doctrines: the resurrection of the dead and a day of retribution.

What Think Ye of Christ?

I have wondered what those self-constituted instructors of the race can have in their minds when they say that Christ was the best teacher that the world ever saw, and yet find this teacher saying that He is the Son of God, the Head of the Church, and is from everlasting to everlasting. If He was a perfect teacher, why are not these truths to be accepted? If He was mistaken, how can He be regarded as the best teacher that the world ever heard?

CHURCHES AND CHURCHMEN

By I. SEEWELL

Is It True?

IS IT TRUE, as the Vatican leads us to believe, that the jazz age is passing, and the flood of immortality, which, for so long, has lapped every shore, is receding? Is it true that civilization is returning to normalcy, that custom is becoming sane? Is it true that Governments are checking orgiastic vices, and that religion everywhere is re-mustering its depleted ranks? If it is true, we ought to thank God and take courage! The Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph tells us that "it is based on reports from trained observers; and it should hearten all who are working in the cause of public decency and righteousness the world over."

It May Be True.

WE are told that not only is Christendom affected, but Turkey has taken steps against immoral dances, and Japan against the social evil. It is true that the Vatican does not proclaim a victory, but there is no doubt, a spokesman is quoted in dispatches in saying, that "all Governments, confronted with a general collapse of standards and wholesale confusion of ideas, are occupying themselves with the task of checking immorality and seeking to destroy or, at least, limit its cause." The Conte Della Torre, said usually to speak for the Pope, remarks that "the sight was terrifying when the people whose eyes had gradually returned to normal focus saw the moral pit into which they had fallen after the war."

Good If It Were True.

THERE are those who inform us that the so-called modern ideas are in retreat all along the line. Belgium and Czechoslovakia are said to have taken official steps against immorality posing as art. And some believe that the United States, Britain and Canada are showing signs of awakening to the danger of immorality on the stage; while Italy, Spain and other Mediterranean countries are co-operating with the church in defense of the traditional ideas of the sanctity of the family. Advocates of birth control and easy divorce are losing ground. Dress fashions and dance vogues are becoming less absurd and bizarre. On this same authority we are told that the Bohemian colonies in the capitals of Europe, where the self-styled apostles of freedom and modernism daily proclaim the same old revolution, are losing their rhetoric and forgetting their causes.

A Moral Let-Down.

A well-known newsgatherer says that it seems to be generally conceded that the moral letdown was a result of the war, when a sort of fatalism seized the people and they ate, drank and made merry because civilization might be dead on the morrow. Another suggests that the most charitable thing to say of that period is that people were scarcely responsible for their actions, so shattered were their nerves, and so bitter the sorrows they had to bear. Most deplorable was the physical destruction that followed on the peace. And this same observer says: "It is to be hoped that this will be kept in mind by persons who take the pagan view that in some mysterious way war is a blessing because of the heroic qualities it brings forth on the battlefield."

The Value of a Missionary Dollar.

ONCE upon a time it was thought that values in money would "stay out," but such a belief has been shattered in the days that have followed the war. The value of the dollar contributed to churches is troubling mission and other agencies that administer expenses. Some of the leading denominations in closing their books report that while $1 was worth 71 cents in 1923, its value has shrunk until it is worth now 67 cents only. Complaints are heard from those whose salaries have been increased little, if any, and who find their $1 will purchase far less than formerly. Church agencies figure that the total loss to them amounts to $6,000,000, since 1923 only, which loss beneficiaries must stand, while church members save. Some of these beneficiaries are widows and children, many are aged ministers.

Progressive Jews.

PROGRESSIVE Judaism is to have a new place of work and worship in New York City. It is created by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, who although loyal to reform Judaism, in many ways is a striking individualist in method. The new temple will cost $1,500,000. A school of technical training, already in operation, will be attached to the new enterprise, and other features of an up-to-date social plant will be added.

Rabbi Wise began to attract attention to Judaism a quarter of a century ago. He went to Portland, Oregon, and for some years gained experience, and the ability to see New York Judaism from without. He went to New York and began Sunday addresses in Carnegie Hall. For twenty years he has built up a work rather than a building, but now will add a building. The sum of $1,000,000 is in sight already to make it possible. Dr. Wise has led in Zionism, as well as in New York Judaism.

THERE is considerable excitement in a city—crowds to be seen everywhere, and amongst them many strangers from different parts of the world. Something has happened which causes great difference of opinion, joy is seen in some faces, amazement in others; there are a few soldiers and some who appear to be ecclesiastics, hurrying into a building as if about to make some fresh plan of action. But what are those figures that move about the streets? It is long since they have been seen in the city; perhaps none of those who now look upon them had ever seen them before. But the strangest thing is that those who see them seem to know who they are!

This is the 13th in this series of pen pictures of Bible history. The key to last week's picture is Acts 28:1-6.

Children's Corner — TELL US A STORY

ONCE upon a time there lived in Ceylon a Buddhist monk who was acquainted with both Christianity and Buddhism. He knew about all that was to be known about his own religion; and he had looked into Christianity very carefully and had watched the lives of the missionaries. On one occasion he was asked what he thought was the great difference between the two. This was his reply: "There is much that is good in each of them, but the greatest difference is that you Christians know what is right and have power to do it, while Buddhists know what is right but have no such power." Therein lies the glory of Christianity! It not only shows us the right, but at the same time as it supplies the power to do it gives us a real joy in doing.

. . . REFLECTOR OF EVERY HUMAN INTEREST . . . FRIEND OF EVERY RIGHTEOUS CAUSE . . . ENCOURAGER OF EVERY GENEROUS ACT.

THEY DID THEIR DUTY.

An interesting feature of a murder trial which has just been finished in Toronto and in which the accused pair were acquitted was the fact that the counsel for one of the prisoners attempted to shake hands with the members of the jury after the verdict was returned, and as a result drew a rebuke from Mr. Justice Riddell.

The presiding judge informed the offending lawyer that he did not want any United States practices introduced into his court, and that there was no need of thanking the jury, who had only done their duty.

Most Canadians will agree with Mr. Justice Riddell. The theatrical effects of court methods across the line are not wanted here; the administration of justice is not a play for the entertainment of spectators, but a serious business to be undertaken in a dignified and decorous manner.

It is expected of Canadian jurors that they will endeavour to bring in a verdict according to the evidence as it has been placed before them.

For that conscientious discharge of what is regarded as the duty of every good citizen there is no necessity of fulsome thanks.

DECIPROCITY IN PENALTIES.

Ontario motorists while visiting in the eastern part of the United States had better be on their good behaviour.

The arrangement entered into by the Province of Ontario with fifteen States by which a reciprocity of penalties has been established is of considerable importance.

It means that where a resident of any of these States or Province commits an offence under the traffic regulations away from home that would if committed at home have resulted in the cancelling of his license, the case will be reported to the Motor Vehicles Department of his own Province or State, and he will find himself deprived of the privilege of driving.

This applies, of course, to United States motorists in Ontario as well as to Ontario automobilists visiting any of the States entering into the agreement.

Motorists who feel they can take chances out of their own Province or State should take warning.

They can still be punished at home for breaking laws elsewhere, and it is felt by officials of the eastern conference of motor vehicle administrators that the new arrangement will have considerable effect as a deterrent upon reckless and careless drivers.

A JUBILEE MAPLE.

The National Committee of the jubilee celebration makes the suggestion that the ceremonies for the occasion should include the planting of a Canadian maple in a central spot in every place where demonstrations are held.

This feature, already decided upon by a number of communities, is expected to be generally adopted throughout the Dominion as a simple but effective and impressive ceremony to mark Canada's sixtieth birthday.

The tree thus planted would be known henceforth as the jubilee maple, and would keep the celebration of 1927 fresh in memory long after other features of the programme are forgotten.

Doubtless the Peterborough Jubilee Committee will be glad to include the planting of a maple tree as one of the items of the local programme.

It is suggested that the seeds be now placed in pots, and that on Dominion Day when the young plant has grown a few inches the pot be broken and the contents placed in the earth, probably in Victoria Park.

Peterborough's jubilee programme already contains an imposing list of events, but it is hoped that there will be an opportunity to carry out this interesting suggestion from the National Committee.

THE PICKEREL SEASON.

The new regulations in regard to trawling for pickerel, over which there seems to be some confusion in the minds of fishermen, prohibit trawling from a boat, during the closed season for maskinonge and bass, which expires this year on July 1st.

The prohibition of trawling is, of course, designed to protect the maskinonge and bass, and to simplify the work of the fishery inspectors during the closed season.

Were trawling for pickerel allowed before July 1st numbers of lunge would undoubtedly be taken, while officials endeavouring to see that the closed season in regard to maskinonge and bass was being observed would be under an obvious handicap.

Pickerel may be caught before July 1 by still fishing or casting from the river bank, or from bridge, etc., but must not be taken by means of a boat or other floating device.

The closed season for pickerel expires tomorrow, and next week will see a small army of anglers trying their luck in Peterborough waters, the coming of the pickerel in recent years giving the fishing season a much earlier start than was formerly the case.

The pickerel may not be in the de luxe class as a game fish, but it is easily caught and in the pan possesses many desirable qualities.

UNCLE SAM OR AUNTY SAM—WHICH?

An eastern citizen who appears to be resentful of the intensive "wet-nursing of the people" by the U. S. Federal Government at Washington, has demanded to know "when the Government will daily undress the citizen, conduct him to bed, put out the light, tuck in his covers, hear his evening prayer and kiss him good night." and that causes the Bangor Commercial, away up in Maine, to editorialize as follows:

"He believes the 'bureaucracy' at Washington is carrying its paternalism to outright maternalism, and that the care with which officials in pursuit of 'big brother' service to American business men, housewives and farmers disclaim any paternalistic intent is proof of their consciousness of the true state of affairs.

"Concrete examples of the 'maternalism' which he protests against are Department of Agriculture bulletins explaining the proper method of hanging curtains in the home, giving recipes for Hallowe'en confections, on arrangement and grouping of kitchen equipment, containing Christmas dinner suggestions; such studies as the living cost of thirty families in a Maryland county and the possibility of establishing a school for training teachers of retail store methods."

This, says another exchange, is all too embarassingly true, and it is not half of it at that. The full details of this paternalism—or maternalism, as you please—would make Mussolini, if he knew them, order the instant exile of any Fascist who dared to call him a dictator.

All facetiousness aside, however, this paternal or maternal madness has a method in it. It provides hundreds of Government employees with something pleasant to do, and at the same time puts most of them in the way of consulting encyclopedias, dictionaries and good technical and text-books and thereby learning things which they did not know. Also, the preparation of these many service bulletins keeps the wheels turning in the Government printing office. It is about the softest Federal patronage "handout" going in the United States.

In the meantime the taxpayers must foot the bill and the general public must continue to suffer as the goat.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

THE RADIO AND PRINTER'S INK.

(From The New York Morning Telegraph.)

The growing popularity of the radio and the wide scope of its literary, musical, dramatic, educational, scientific, news and other features, have had a tendency in recent months to bring forth the query as to whether or not this modern mechanical and etherized agency is trespassing on the doorstep of the daily newspaper.

What effect will the radio have upon publication in the future? Will it lessen its influence or value as a news and advertising medium? What might be expected as this uncanny instrument of man's mind insofar as it might supplant the greatest of all public institutions—the newspaper?

Louis Wiley, business manager of The New York Times, in an address over Station WGL this week on "Growing Friendliness Between the Newspapers and Radio," destroys all skepticism and clears up these apparent problems in a manner that proves beyond any doubt that the newspaper and the radio go hand in hand and serve to enlarge their respective fields of endeavor.

"There are now, and always have been, two general means by which knowledge and enjoyment are communicated to the human brain; the visual and the aural methods," said Mr. Wiley. "The newspaper, the motion picture, spectacles of every kind tell it through the eye. Radio, the telephone, public speaking, tell it through the ear. And now television, that incredible utility of the future, has succeeded in combining the two.

"There is not the slightest conflict between the newspaper and radio. On the contrary, there is every reason why the newspaper and radio should be, as they are, on terms of the friendliest co-operation.

"Each is a mighty agency for good. Each is devoted to the dissemination of knowledge and enjoyment. Each is an educational force of such all-pervading importance that the very similarity of their aims welds them all the closer in understanding and mutual helpfulness. The printing press and the microphone work out their wondrously helpful purposes in different ways—that is all.

"It has been intimated that radio is likely to lessen interest in newspaper reading. The contrary is true. Radio reception actually increases interest in the reading of newspapers. Radio has made news conscious to hundreds of thousands of men and women to whom the regular and careful reading of newspapers used not to be a habit; it has awakened an active interest in what is going on in the world; it has stimulated a desire to keep informed of the persons and events that are making current history. And so they turn to the newspapers for background—for a fuller and more understandable treatment of the news than radio is enabled, in the nature of things, to give them. You can verify this in your experience with many of your friends and acquaintances.

"The essential difference between the newspaper and the radio is that one is a written record and the other gives only spoken information. Nothing could be more instantaneous than news announced over the radio. A Paul Revere's ride in 1927 would be impossible; information of vital interest to the nation could reach hundreds of thousands across the continent before Paul Revere could saddle his horse."

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., April 30 (Canadian Press)—A feature of the export grain trade in the Montreal market yesterday was the increased demand from foreign buyers for American No. 3 White Oats and the lower grades of Canadian Western and a fair volume of business was worked. In addition to this there was also a steady demand for Manitoba spring wheat which resulted in a good trade being done.

The trade in cash grain in the local market was more active owing to the improved demand from exporters and sales of some round lots of Canadian Tough No. 1 Feed Oats were made at three cents per bushel over the Winnipeg May option, and tough No. 3 feed oats at 3½c per bushel over the same option, C.I.F. Montreal while some fairly large purchases of American No. 3 White Oats weighting thirty-eight pounds to the bushel were made at 9 1-4c per bushel over the Chicago July option, C.I.F. Montreal. A moderate trade was also done in Canadian Western Oats.

The foreign demand for spring wheat grades of flour continued good, but the local and country trade was quiet and prices were unchanged The winter wheat market was inactive but firm.

A fairly active trade was done in all lines of millfeed and values ruled steady. There was no change in rolled oats, prices being steady with a small trade passing.

An active business was worked in all grades of eggs and prices were well maintained. The receipts were 3,775 cases.

The weakness that developed in the butter market on Thursday was more pronounced yesterday and prices broke another three cents per pound which makes a net reduction in two days of 5 1-2c to 6c per pound. This is attributed to the marked increase in the production of late and the falling off in the demand.

In sympathy with the above the jobbing market was also weak and prices were reduced three cents per pound with finest creamery butter selling at 41c per pound in solid packages, and at 42c per pound in one pound blocks. The receipts were 1,481 packages.

On account of the sharp decline in the prices of butter, a weaker feeling prevailed in the market for cheese today and exporters in some cases stated that they had reduced their prices to fifteen cents per pound F.O.B. county points. The market was dull. The receipts were 281 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 30 (Canadian Press) — Efforts to settle May accounts beforehand hoisted nearby deliveries of wheat and rye yesterday to the highest prices touched in many weeks. The wheat market as a whole closed firm, 1-2 to 2 1-8c net higher; corn ½ to 7-8c up; oats showing 1-8c to 5-8c gain, and provisions at a shade to 25 cents advance.

Corn and oats closed fairly strong, with no evidence of any unusual selling pressure on the nearby delivery. Heavy rains in the central west were a bullish factor. Export business in oats was again in evidence with export bids on corn at ½c from a working basis.

Provisions were responsive to firmness of hog values.

MORAL SERUM

A doctor in England has developed a system of mental training, and he calls his formula a "moral serum." He recommends that sick or unhappy people should use this treatment three times daily.

The suggestion is made that the following sentences should be repeated over and over again, and, through these suggestions, good health can be guaranteed.

"I am becoming gay, contented, full of confidence in myself and in life."

"My memory is exact and rapid, my assimilation alert and correct, and my will unfailing."

"My spirit is perfectly lucid in all circumstances and I feel myself perfectly at ease upon any and all occasions."

"I am cultivating my aptitudes to the extreme, and acquiring competence and superior ability."

"I feel better every day, both physically and mentally."

I am sure the above affirmations will be helpful to anyone who will persist in holding these thoughts. However, the doctor recommends other suggestions which are negative, and my experience has shown that these are not helpful.

"I am dominating anxiety, fear, nervousness, and other paralyzing emotions."

"My worries and anxieties are disappearing and I shall not longer be troubled with them."

Such affirmations are purely negative and should not be used by one who is trying to benefit through the good which can come from holding the proper thoughts It is just as useless to try to drive out fear, nervousness and paralyzing emotions as it is to chase out a physical disease, or physical poisons which are responsible for disease.

There is only room in the body for either disease or health to exist. If you will learn to cultivate health through dieting, excercising and adopting the proper mental attitude, there will be no chance for disease to exist. You can, undoubtedly, help yourself a great deal by using healthful and helpful affirmations, if you will also do everything you know of to live a good physical life.

However, you will always weaken your healthy affirmations if you put into them any words of a destructive nature. Even though your desire is good, you really give strength to those ideas which you affirm are unwholesome thoughts and they will acquire strength if dwelt upon too much.

"FAMILY UPSTAIRS" A CHARMING STORY OF GREAT APPEAL

Pathos and Humor Mark Fox Films Latest Picture

"The Family Upstairs," Fox Films version of Harry Delf's great comedy success, will open a three-day run at the Capitol Theatre beginning next Monday.

This photoplay, directed by J. G. Blystone, is packed with humor, but there are some pathetic moments, and J. Farrell MacDonald makes the most of these.

Virginia Valli in the leading feminine role is seen opposite Allan Simpson, a New York stage favorite who is making an enviable name for himself in the motion picture world.

Lillian Elliott, celebrated for her characterizations in "Abie's Irish Rose", and other legitimate hits, is cast as the meddlesome but well-meaning mother. Others in the cast are: Cecille Evans, Jacqueline Wells, Edward Piel, Jr., and numerous other screen favorites.

The story centers around the love-affair of Louise Heller. She is a quiet little bookkeeper in a vegetable market and has never had a love affair. Then the bank teller comes courting.

Her mother, eager to launch her upon the matrimonial sea, is the innocent cause of endless trouble. "Ma" Heller, talking about the prosperity and social standing of the Hellers, gives Louise's sweetheart the impression that the girl is far above him. "Pa" Heller is kept busy trying to square the blunders made by the mother.

Simpson, playing the part of Charles Grant, finally goes away—but when Louise disappears he follows her. How they are united at Coney Island forms the basis of a satisfactory but hilarious climax.

This is Blyston's thirty-eighth production for Fox Films and it is said to be his best. Adaptation is by L. G. Rigby.

MAGIC RELIGIONAND CRUSADES IN MURNAU'S "FAUST"

The middle ages, when life was simple, and men were concerned with magic and religion and crusades, comprise the background of "Faust," the age-old legend, which Marlowe and Goethe evolved into magnificent tomes, and to which Gounod set his unforgetable music. It has finally reached the screen in an UFA production, directed by F. W. Murnau, who made "The Last Laugh," and will be released by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. It may be seen now at the Regent Theatre, beginning Monday.

In those dim, dark days lived a philosopher who taught mankind, and who, in common with the savants of his day, practiced alchemy. Mephisto and the cherubin quarrel over the soul of this man. Mephisto is challenged to work evil in the heart of Faust.

How he contrived to make Faust sign away his chances of heaven in exchange for his lost youth makes an engrossing sequence. For this background the architects, Herlth and Rohrig, supplied brown settings, a queer, twisted town, heavy with cathedrals and market places.

For the lighter sequences, in which Faust woos and wins the Duchess of Parma, and the fragile, gentle Marguerite, light compositions were the rule. There is the breath of spring in the Easter scenes, when Faust first meets Marguerite, and falls in love with her. And yet a plaintive, sad note is evident. Marguerite is so charming, so wistful; one fears for her, and the unfortunate alliance she is about to make. Always in the background is the sinister Mephisto, tempting Faust to his ruin.

Perhaps the most startling scenes are those in which Faust and the devil are shown whirling through space, on the latter's cloak, the while the earth rolls by beneath them.

In all "Faust" is a picture to take away one's breath. By no means pass it by.

AT THE GRAND

One of the greatest casts of principals and the most beauteous chorus yet sent on tour with any of the Scandals' editions is the manner in which the new George White Scandals coming to the Grand Opera House on May 13th is described. The tremendous cast headed by the celebrated comedian Sammy Howard brother of Eugene and Willy Howard; Lillian Norwood from the Passing Show; Georgie Carson the lovely English Dancing girl; Helen Claire McAllister Nelle Golden Jeanette Creagon and the famous Albertina Rasch Girls form only a part of the personnel. There is also the George White Beauty Chorus said to have been chosen from a battery of over three hundred girls and selected for their youth beauty and dancing skill. Many of the girls are said to be just out of school and their enthusiasm at being on tour with a great musical revue can well be imagined. No languid "ladies of the ensemble" one hears can be found in the Scandals; no bored daughters of the stage yawning at the audience but a lovely youthful array of singers and dancers. The sketches and comic episodes have been written with rare cunning and skill by that versatile author William K. Wells advance notices say. It is this same W. K. Wells that has contributed facile and sophisticated scenes to many Broadway successes. Apparently no attention to detail has been spared to make the present tour of the Scandals conspicuously successful for all of the original scenic production and all the costumes from the Apollo Theatre New York have been brought on tour and it is understood that the production will be staged here with every attention to detail that marked its long run on Broadway last season.

ANOTHER MEETING.

Balance of Officers For Next Season Are To Be Elected.

As a result of action taken at a meeting in the City Council Chamber called by the Peterborough Hockey Club last night it looks as if Gordon S. Matthews is to head both branches of Senior sport in this city. Mr. Matthews is already president of the Peterborough Ball Club and at last night's meeting he was elected president of the Peterborough Hockey Club and a deputation composed of Cyril Lech, J. P. Bond and Joe Dwyer was appointed to wait upon him and endeavor to secure his acceptance of the position.

Dr. E. H. Wood, President of the club during the past season, had tendered his resignation which last night's meeting decided to accept.

The election of Mr. Matthews was moved by Reg. H. Turner and seconded by Louis Yeates.

It was decided to defer the election of other officers until another meeting to be called by the new president.

Considerable enthusiasm over the prospects for next season was shown and it is understood plans for the 1927-28 campaign will be vigorously pushed. The general feeling is that Peterborough must continue in Senior hockey and that there is every prospect of a formidable outfit wearing the local colors next season.

R. M. Glover was in the chair at last night's meeting.

They are endangering the life of not only the school children but pedestrians at the interesections. Frank Stinson, Secretary of the club told The Examiner this morning.

NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

You can see why Nash has extra power

The extra power that makes Nash a more capable car to drive, particularly on the hills or in dense traffic, is directly due to extra-efficient design.

The Nash Straight Line Drive, for instance, diagrammed above.

Nash power flows directly from the engine to the rear axle in a straight line. There are no angles along the route to waste energy, as there would be if the motor were mounted parallel to the frame, as the ordinary motor is.

The Straight Line Drive accounts in part for Nash aggressiveness—for the powerful pick-up at low speeds (where you need it most). You will always notice it is the Nash that gets away soonest when the traffic starts.

The Straight Line Drive also avoids wear on the universal joints, and thereby prevents noise and looseness.

Of course, it takes a little longer and costs more to build Nash this better way—

—But any Nash owner will tell you it makes a lot of difference in the results he gets.

JUST WHEN MORSE THOUGHT THAT HIS LUCK HAD LEFT HIM AND THAT SOMEONE ELSE WOULD WIN FAME AND FORTUNE AS THE INVENTOR OF THE TELEGRAPH, LUCK RETURNED TO MORSE. YOUNG ALFRED VAIL, AFTER ATTENDING A DEMONSTRATION OF THE TELEGRAPH, BEGGED MORSE TO TAKE HIM INTO PARTNERSHIP IN RETURN FOR FINANCIAL AID.

YOUNG VAIL PERSUADED HIS FATHER, JUDGE STEPHEN VAIL, OF MORRISTOWN, N. J., TO PAY MORSE $2,000 IN RETURN FOR THE PARTNERSHIP. BUT WHILE MORSE AND HIS ENTHUSIASTIC ASSISTANT WERE IMPROVING THE INSTRUMENT THE RIDICULE WHICH REACHED JUDGE VAIL BECAUSE HE FINANCED THE EXPERIMENTATION CREATED A NEW CRISIS.

JUDGE VAIL DIDN'T WANT TO THROW HIS MONEY AWAY ON SOMETHING THAT MIGHT NOT BE MORE THAN A SCIENTIFIC CURIOSITY. SO HE INSISTED THAT HIS SON WOULD HAVE TO SEND THE MESSAGE, "A PATIENT WAITER IS NO LOSER," TO MORSE BEFORE HE WOULD FURNISH MORE MONEY FOR THE TELEGRAPHERS. WHEN JUDGE VAIL REALIZED THAT MORSE REALLY HAD RECEIVED THE MESSAGE THE JUDGE WAS AS HAPPY AS HIS SON OR MORSE.

MORSE AND YOUNG VAIL FINALLY CONVINCED JUDGE VAIL THAT IT WOULD NOT BE WISE TO RUSH DOWN TO WASHINGTON AT ONCE. THEY TOLD HIM THAT THERE WAS MUCH WORK YET TO BE DONE BEFORE THE INSTRUMENT WOULD BE READY FOR A PUBLIC DEMONSTRATION. RELUCTANTLY HE LISTENED TO THEIR ADVICE WHILE THEY CONTINUED TO IMPROVE THE TELEGRAPH.

CROSSED LEGS MENACE

CHICAGO, April 30.—Crossing the legs puts a kink in the spine that leads to many ills, says Dr. H. H. Hryette, college professor. The woman who crosses her legs, exposing a generous expanse of hosiery, is flirting with all sorts of nervous ailments, he says. This twists the spine so the vertebrae hampers the functions of the nerves in that section.

YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD MEETINGS

Millbrook A.Y.P.A. and United Y.P.S. Hold Regular Meetings.

CLEAN-UP WEEK.

MILLBROOK, April 30—The A. Y. P. A. of St. Thomas' church held its regular meeting on Wednesday evening, it being "Gentlemen's Night" the men being responsible for the various features of the gathering.

The ladies had a song specially composed for the occasion by the president, Mrs. (Rev.) P. C. Howard, which they interposed when circumstances made a verse particularly effective. Many ludicrous situations developed as a result, the men being sometimes stopped in the midst of a speech, carefully prepared apparently, but abruptly cut short when the "songsters" unceremoniously "broke in."

The gentlemen all wore white "cook's aprons and caps," and after community singing, and games which were heartily participated in by all, the hosts of the evening served the supper, the menu, prepared entirely by the gentlemen, being of the proportions of a banquet, though tables were not formally laid for the meal.

There were about forty present, and the evening was voted one of the most enjoyable in the history of the Association.

Y.P.I. Meeting

The "Boneka Bible Class," Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard, teacher, had charge of the regular meeting of the Young People's League this week, the president, Mrs. Hilliard Lang, being in the chair.

The opening devotional period gave opportunity for several members to lead in prayer, and take the Scripture reading. Mrs. J. H. George took up the topic on "Stewardship" in a most helpful manner, and there was some discussion.

Mrs. G. W. Sayles sang a solo, "Give to the Lord," and Mrs. F. H. Smith contributed a reading, "Betty's Gift of Her Crutch."

Mrs. (Dr.) Rae's organized Bible Class of men had charge the previous week, Mr. W. Fred Fallis taking the topic on "Worship in the Church."

The object is to have the Church League serve not only the young people, for whom there are separate organizations suited to their years, but to interest the older members who used to attend the regular mid-week prayer service, and have an active prayer league in connection with the church that will have a decided effect in increasing its spiritual effectiveness.

As yet organization is incomplete, the president, Miss S. Hetherington, being practically the only officer elected.

Attendance keeps up well from week to week, and interest is evidently being awakened that will bear good fruit in the days ahead.

Clean-up Week

By order of the Board of Health the first week in May is to be "clean-up week," and all citizens are asked to co-operate and have all premises put in as sanitary a condition as possible. G. A. Duncan is chairman, and L. C. Russell secretary.

FAREWELL PARTY AT PADGET HOME

Mr. and Mrs. George Padget and Daughter Are Leaving East Ops.

A very pleasant time was spent Wednesday evening, March 31, when a number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. George Padget, East Ops to bid the family good-bye. Among the interesting events of the evening was the presentation at which the following address was read:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Padget and Alta: "It is with feelings of deep regret that we, your friends and neighbors have assembled to bid you adieu on the eve of your departure to your new home.

"We felt we could not let you go without expressing the high esteem in which you have ever been held by all with whom you have come in contact.

"As we wish to show you in some way, besides mere words, our appreciation of your stirling qualities, we beg of you, Mrs. Padget, to accept this blanket; Alta, this parasol, and Mr. Padget, this gold watch, not for their value, but that they may serve to remind you of your friends at Lindsay.

"May kind Providence smile upon you in your new home and give you peace and prosperity.

Signed on behalf of friends and neighbors."

Mr. Padget replied in suitable words, thanking their friends for the kind remembrance.

BARONET DIES IN POOR HOUSE

Son of Former Lord Mayor of London Passes in Poverty.

HEIR IN HOSPITAL.

LONDON, April 30 (Canadian Press).—After a vain struggle to make a living for his wife and eight children, a baronet and son of a former Lord Mayor of London, has died in Brighton Poor Law Institution.

Only his wife and a few friends knew that the man was Sir James Herbert Renals, son of the late Sir Joseph Renals, who was Lord Mayor of London in 1894-5. Sir James found the struggle too much for him, and before the end had been forced to accept parish relief for himself and his family. After breaking with his family the baronet went to South Africa, where held a responsible position in a gold mine. "I met him," said Lady Renals, "after his return from South Africa, twenty years ago, at the time of his father's death. He then had a considerable sum of money, but owing to bad investments it had all melted away. I have had to work very hard, and I make all my children's clothes. It is about them that I am worrying, but I am quite willing to go on working in order to keep them." The heir to the title, Herbert, aged seven years, is now undergoing treatment in a Brighton sanatorium.

LONDON, April 30 (Canadian Press)—Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery, secretary for the dominions, is revealed as a budding poet. School-children, accompanying Sir Joseph Cook to greet the season's first consignment of Australian apples, chanted this verse from the pen of the dominions' secretary:

For our goods buy your goods, and
Your goods buy our goods,
The more we trade together

TRUE STORIES ABOUT LIFE INSURANCE
By a Mutual Life Representative

He Paid Only ONE Premium

I CANVASSED a Toronto manufacturer of well past middle age. He admitted that he was inadequately insured. He owned his home and a good business. His family was self-supporting all but one. He relied on his business to provide for the future.

"When your time comes to go—as come it will and must—will your family get out of the business what you have put into it during all these years?" I asked him. "You have put your very life into it. You have built it up. It is a good business—with you at the head of it—but what will happen to it when you are no longer there?"

He was impressed with this presentation. I sold him a $25,000 ordinary life policy and a $100 monthly income policy in favor of his wife.

On each of these policies he paid one premium. Eight months later he died of pneumonia. He had never been seriously sick before.

The business he had spent the best part of his life in building up is dwindling. It is still sound, but it is not paying dividends. Over and over again my experience as a Mutual Life Agent has proven to me that there is no guarantee of the permanence of business income. In life insurance there is a guarantee.

A man may work and plan to develop his business in peace of mind if he carries adequate life insurance.

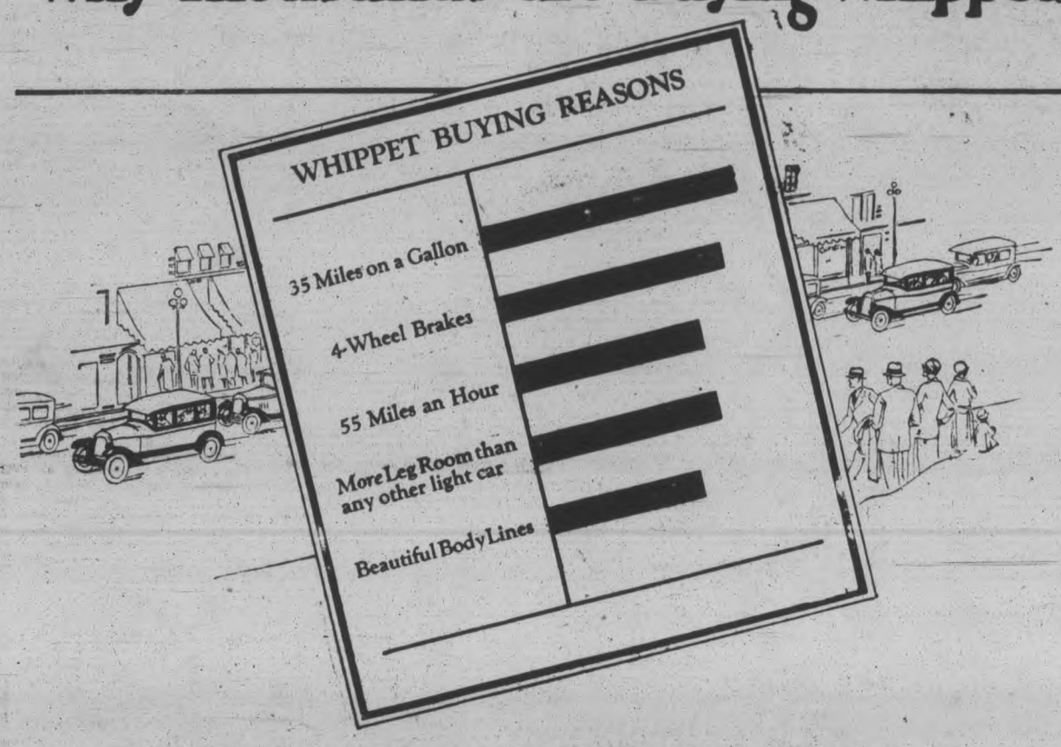
Why Thousands are buying Whippets



This Chart shows graphically why people buy the Whippet. Based on reports from thousands of owners. Reasons shown in relative importance.

52% of owners bought the Whippet because of its economy of operation. No other car offers the economy of "35 miles on the gallon," coupled with remarkably low up-keep expense.

32% of owners bought the Whippet because of its extra safety afforded by Bendix Mechanical, four-wheel brakes and low gravity centre. These features are national standard equipment on the Whippet without extra cost and are not obtained on any other light car.

Several thousand owners specifically commented on the Whippet's road performance—its flashing pick-up of 5 to 30 miles an hour in 13 seconds. Its comfortable riding qualities at 55 miles an hour. The ease of parking the Whippet at a 14-foot curb space.

11% of owners commented on the extra leg room they enjoy in the Whippet. This was only possible by an ingenious arrangement of the dash, exclusive on this car. In the Whippet you sit easily, comfortably—not with cramped legs.

The Overland Whippet now is the recognized leader in light car values. Furnished in six distinctive body types.

AUSTRALIA'S SUBS. VERY LARGE CRAFT

LONDON, April 30 (Canadian Press).—The two submarines for the Australian Navy, of which the first, H.M.A.S. Oxley, is now in commission, are, with one exception the largest and most effective in the world. The only exception is the giant X.I of the Royal Navy, just constructed. Both the Australian vessels are larger than the Oberon, which was laid down with the X.I as the two latest submarines of the British Navy.

Constructional details of the Australian craft are closely guarded. It is known, however that they have a surface displacement of 1,400 tons and underwater displacement of 1,800 tons. They are understood to be faster than anything under water except the X.I. The increase in submerged speed is the chief aim of the submarine designer. While Italy is believed to have progressed most in equalizing the submerged and surface speeds, the Australian submarines cannot be compared with the Italians because their speed is not divulged; neither is their armament.

Pay Less for Better Motoring on Tax-Saving Concrete Roads

Mitchell-Dublin, Provincial Highway, Ont., illustrated above.

With vehicles developed to their present stage, the enjoyment of motoring is largely a matter of roads. So, too, are running costs. It rests therefore with the car owner himself to get full profit or pleasure from his investment by advocating permanent concrete highways.

Driving, whether of heavily-laden trucks or pleasure cars, is a joy on their even, safe surface. Gas, tire and repair bills are reduced at least twenty-five per cent, as proved by carefully planned and exhaustive tests.

Concrete roads are really permanent. Upkeep with them is incidental and the taxes usually devoted to the maintenance of non-permanent roads, are released to provide for the building of new permanent mileage to keep pace with the ever-growing demands of modern traffic.

HEATING SYSTEM IMPORTANT PART OF ALL CANADIAN HOUSES

Luxurious Homes of Little Value Unless Warm in Winter.

GIVEN LITTLE THOUGHT.

That the most important feature of the home-building is the heating system is now a recognized fact. Of what value is the richly carpeted drawing-room or the imposing Chesterfield suite if there prevails a chilly atmosphere? The walls may be hung with gems of art and the shelves crowded with limp-bound books de luxe, but if the house fails to warm up in zero weather, it is practically impossible to enjoy home life. Air that is frigid is far from conducive to sociability and congeniality, and father, bundled up in a sweater, and mother, wrapped in a shawl, for comfort's sake, are too frequently victims of "crochety" tempers and frayed nerves.

Unfortunately, in building the home, there is frequently manifested a tendency to leave plans for the installation of a heating system until the house is practically completed. Many a homemaker, now suffering in a home insufficiently heated, admits that consideration of the heating plant had been neglected until the roof had crowned the walls of the house. Heating equipment for the house should be planned in conjunction with the erection of the walls, state authorities, as work should be conducted through partitions. The balmy sunshine of April and May may have an inclination to produce forgetfulness of January's blizzard and February's stinging frost, but the home-builder of the springtime will have occasion during the winters to come to remember with gratitude the installation of a furnace when the house was in the nucleus.

As important as the early installation of a heating plant is the selection of a reliable man to undertake the job. Fortunately for the inexperienced, there is today available reliable, capable firms interested in the business of heating systems, who are only too willing to advise and to recommend plans for the heating of practically every type of home.

Application to these companies, who have made a scientific study of heating systems, will find a sympathetic reception, and blueprints that outline the proper course of heating for the house in the process of construction will be furnished without compelling the builder to patronize the firm of advisors in installing the equipment.

To the sorrow of many a family—chilled to the marrow despite the expenditure of precious dollars in coal and an expenditure of energy and muscle in "stoking"—it has been learned that the agent who installed the heating system of the home was but an amateur, and possessed little scientific knowledge of one of the most outstanding businesses in the world—that of keeping folks comfortable. Another regret—and costly as well as depressing—experienced only too frequently is that in the spirit of economy an undersized furnace has been installed. Agents, it is sad indeed to chronicle, in many instances, are prone to install small-sized furnaces according to the dictates of a builder who desires to keep down the cost of building.

Economy in Oversize Furnace.

The economy of installing an oversize furnace has been proved, being more easily operated and readily checked should the temperature "roast out" the family. An undersized furnace, states an authority, is responsible for a waste of coal, as well as failing to produce heat sufficient for the house. A bitter experience learned centres around the fact that an evil perpetrated in the installation of the inefficient heating system can never be remedied with any satisfaction. To be a genuine success the job must be planned properly, even as the lighting system, or the walls and flooring are planned. An outstanding and delightful feature of the well-planned installation of heating in the home is the recognition that it is practically guaranteed for life-service. Disasters and maladies which may abruptly terminate this "life-service" are born sometimes through accidental freezing during the coldest spell. With proper care freezing may be prevented, and an authority advises that, should the family wish to vacate the home for a season during frosty winter, the head of the house need only drain the water from the furnace pipes and refill upon the return home.

Cold Air Necessary.

The spirit of economy is also frequently to blame for the tendency to cut down on piping and radiators in installing a heating system, while it has been discovered that an insufficient supply of cold air is responsible for the discomfort of the home. Students of the problem argue that it is necessary to provide 100 per cent. area of cold air in planning the warm area of the house. It is fruitless, they claim, to provide 600 square inches of warm air with an area of 400 square inches of cold air. The tendency to make provision for 50 per cent. cold air is fortunately being supplanted by 100 per centage.

In reducing the size of the radiators in the installation of heat, the false economist is thus cutting down in the heat of the radiators, it has been pointed out. In cutting down the piping, that expense may be lowered, the home builder is also reducing the amount of water necessary to pass through the pipes.

Furnace Sometimes Innocent.

A frigid atmosphere is occasionally blamed upon the innocent furnace, when perchance a defect in the building of the house is responsible for drafts and penetrating chills. In more than one instance inspection by expert heating system firms has revealed the furnace to be the proper size, the installation and the firing 100 per cent. perfect, yet the family crouched shivering over the lukewarm radiators. Inspection of the roof of the house has exposed unsealed eaves, providing passages through which the piercing gales of winter whistled their vengeance upon the innocent heating system. The sealing up of the eaves has remedied the trouble and satisfaction gained immediately.

The prevailing idea that certain types of furnace demand certain grades of coal has been largely shattered during the past few years, when householders have been compelled to use coal, which they have ignored in normal times. Coke has become a satisfactory fuel to many a furnace "stoker." An interesting feature of heating the home is the fact that hot water heating is showing a tendency to over-ride the popularity of hot-air heating.

COLOR FEATURE OF HOME CHARM

Combinations in Harmony Give House Real Personality and Atmosphere.

EASILY ACCOMPLISHED.

The secret of a charming home is the personality that has crept in between the walls, and as an invisible, friendly guest sits by the hearthside. To the happy home thus visited personality is the soul of the house, and there is no greater compliment earned by the housewife than the appreciation of visitors, who revel in "the atmosphere," and ask to be invited again to join the family circle. Personality is not achieved through accident nor the haphazard furnishing of a room, but through the study of combination, harmony and effect. The encouraging feature in undertaking the task of creating a personality in the home is the fact that there is not necessarily an expenditure of large sums of money.

Artistic Gifts Exercised.

It is in the exercise of artistic gifts, common sense, ingenuity and studied planning in the hanging of cretonnes and chintzes, the arrangements of furniture and the selection of rugs and pictures, that harmony is produced and a charming effect, that will prove irresistible to the guest, evolved. In the introduction of character in the home, color is one of the chief assets, and in the choice of a color scheme the homemaker need must be "as wise as serpents." With affectionate regard for the hues predominating in hangings and pillows or rug and wall papers, which, perchance, the family purse will not permit replenishing this spring, furniture may be redecorated in appealing colors that harmonize and give the appearance of a new dress to the entire room. Fresh coats of paint may be given the walls or floors or window boxes. Walnut, mahogany or oak furniture may be renovated with a stain and antique pieces treated successfully with an "antiquing coat."

Appealing Color Effects.

Wielding the paint and lacquer brush in the springtime, charming effects may be achieved with a variety of distinctive colors in lacquer, and the drabbest home become colorful and appealing. Wicker chairs, faded by the sun's rays flooding the porch, may readily be renovated with a coat of vivid green or tan lacquer, and provide an extra chair for the living-room. A charming combination of color may be introduced into the dining or breakfast room by painting the table and Dutch cupboard and chairs in Delft blue with trimmings of orange. Mandarin red plays up most effectively in the redecoration of an odd straight-backed chair, a wall shelf, a wastepaper basket, a book trough or a lamp base. Jade green applied to a window box or a card table introduces a striking note of color, while an entire bedroom suite can be delightfully renovated through the appliance of a coat of amber or green Duco. To the housewife who prides herself upon the cheer of her kitchen there is no more delightful task than that of decorating the canisters, which store the provisions of the pantry. Enamel and tin cans may be painted in blue or green to harmonize with the color flaunted in the checked gingham curtains hanging at the windows.

Attractive Nursery.

The children find the nursery more attractive when prettily decorated in colors and the simplest furniture may be treated in the gayest fashion with the paint brush. Powder blue lends itself admirably to the nursery, and added attraction is possible through the use of transfers, picturing little folk at play and animals in many poses. Transfers, picturesque and colorful, are excellent features of decoration for numerous bits of furniture. What could be lovelier for the bedroom of the 'steen-year-old daughter than the bed freshly lacquered in jade green with its transfer of a basket of flowers in delicate rose and foliage green? Or for milady with the sophisticated taste there is appeal, in the powder blue or creamy orange tinted bedroom furniture decorated in fascinating black silhouette ladies. Lovely effects are achieved in two-color combinations, with a darker shade used in trimming the knobs or moulding of articles of furniture.

Its ability to dry with a soft lustre and its distinctive finish renders lacquer especially desirable to the housewife. The rapidity with which lacquer dries enables the home decorator to proceed with a decoration scheme with ease and without worry.

KING FUAD PLANS TO VISIT ENGLAND

Egyptian Monarch Will Be the Guest of King George in London.

LONDON, April 30 (Canadian Press).—King Fuad of Egypt will visit King George at Buckingham Palace in July, staying with his Majesty for three days after arriving on July 4. He will visit Bolton, Lancashire, for the celebrations of the centenary of the death of Samuel Crompton, and behind this visit is a real touch of romance. The Egyptian King is going to the great cotton manufacturing centre to honor the memory of a poor inventor, dead 100 years who revolutionized the cotton industry, made fortunes possible for countless other people, and helped the forward march of the Egyptian cotton fields. Crompton's invention was the spinning mule.

Bolton is making plans for an impressive centenary, and King Fuad will attend the celebrations on behalf of Egypt.

Most of the cotton grown in Egypt finds its way to the Bolton mills, and when the International Cotton Congress was held in Cairo last January, the King of Egypt was invited to visit the Lancashire town so vitally associated with Egyptian cotton. King Fuad was proclaimed king of Egypt in 1922, when the Protectorate terminated. Before that he was Sultan. At one time fear of the assassin's bullet kept him virtually a prisoner in his palace.

It is claimed that practically every pound of cotton now grown in Egypt finds its way into the Bolton mills. The production of these mills goes out to all parts of the world. It is estimated that the home market requirements can be satisfied by the running of all the Bolton mills for two days a week, the rest of the week's production being exported.

Apart from the 120 mills engaged in spinning—Swan lane is the largest spinning mill in the world—some 70 firms are at work on the manufacture of cotton fabrics, including every class of weaving known to the trade.

FEDERAL HOUSE ENACTS LAWS ON MIGRATION

British North America Act Gives This Work to Dominion.

PROVINCES ASSIST

Are Keenly Interested in Class of People Brought Out.

(This is the eighth of a series of articles on Canada and Immigration contributed by the Federal Department of Immigration and Colonization)

The British North America Act empowers the Dominion Government to legislate in the field of immigration, and Federal legislation having been enacted, responsibility falls upon the Federal Government for the control of immigration to any part of Canada, which also involves responsibility for preventing the entry of undesirables. Notwithstanding this provision, the provinces also are keenly interested in immigration and have responsibilities closely associated with the supervision exercised by the Federal Government. If, for example, an immigrant becomes a public charge in Canada, the expense falls upon the province or municipality, or both, in which he locates. Provincial or municipal officials report such cases to the Federal Department of Immigration and Colonization, which effects deportation if possible when the case calls for that action and the immigrant has not acquired Canadian domicile by five years' legal residence in Canada, as required under the Immigration Act.

It is not, however, only in a negative way that the provinces are interested in immigration. Every province feels the need of increased population, and several of them have taken active measures on their own account to supply that need. Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia have Agents General in the British Isles, and Alberta is now represented there by an official especially charged with the promotion of immigration. These officials all work in the closest co-operation with the Federal Department of Immigration and Colonization, which, in extending every practicable assistance, realizes that all are working towards the same end. The Federal Department accepts the nominations of any Provincial representative and arranges the Empire Settlement transportation rate for such nominees. In the past certain of the provinces had their own schemes for passage assistance, but these have been abandoned as no longer necessary in view of the help now provided by the Federal Department.

Realizing the importance of close co-operation between Dominion and Provincial Governments, the Federal Department has on various occasions invited the provinces to meet the Department for discussion of immigration problems and policies. The most recent of these conferences was held at Ottawa in November, 1923, when eight of the nine provinces were represented and views exchanged on many phases of immigration work. Since that time there has been a marked increase in co-operation on the part of the provincial authorities.

Federal-Provincial co-operation has has had a varied history, covering a considerable period, both in Canada and abroad. In Canada this co-operation has been associated principally with placement of farm labour and houseworkers. The Province of Ontario, for example, has annually brought in many farm workers, both single and married, and many houseworkers. Co-operation between the Dominion and the Province in this work begins overseas with recruitment and inspection. The inspection of houseworkers before sailing is almost entirely undertaken by women officers of the Federal Government. Co-operation is continued through the assisted passage scheme, and, on arrival in Canada, by women officers of the Federal Government ,who meet the newcomers and look after them until they arrive at destination, when the houseworkers as well as farm workers are placed under the auspices of the Provincial Government. This work is supplementary to the general recruiting and placing of farm labour and houseworkers in Ontario undertaken by the Federal Government. In the Eastern Townships of Quebec the placement of farm labour is undertaken largely by an organization which receives Provincial support as well as Federal recognition and assistance. Examples might be given of similar co-operation between the Federal Department and other provinces.

An important angle of this co-operation has been developed along the line of schemes for establishing British boys in Canada. In association with the Ontario Government, plans have been formulated for bringing British lads from their own homes to Ontario, utilizing Vimy Ridge Farm, near Guelph, as a station for reception and training of the boys and as a base to which they may return from time to time if necessary. The Federal Department assists in recruiting and selecting the boys in the British Isles, in providing free passage for those under seventeen years and a very low rate for those over that age, and also by making a cash grant toward the support of the work. A somewhat similar arrangement has recently been made with Nova Scotia and plans for extending this to other provinces are under way. In Quebec, instead of a federal-provincial arrangement, there is a federal plan for co-operation with an organization which works somewhat along the same lines as Ontario, and last year was conspicuously successful both in the number and quality of the new migrants.

A scheme for boy immigration of a somewhat different type was adopted by Alberta in 1924, the plan being to bring out British lads of the better educated class for a preliminary training of one winter in an Alberta agricultural school. This scheme was carried out in 1924 and 1925 with the co-operation of the Federal Government, and has been renewed for 1927.

The results already achieved in boy immigration, and in the better known Three Thousand British Families Scheme, have demonstrated the possibilities of immigration along these lines. The Federal Department offers the closest co-operation to both provinces and private organizations in a service that will enable the newcomer to make a successful start. Such co-operation will undoubtedly stimulate a movement to Canada of British youth appreciative of what can be accomplished in this country by industry and initiative and will also establish a sound and progressive method of colonization of the best classes of British stock.

These special schemes for the immigration and training of British lads call for some plan by which these young men, after having served a sufficient apprenticeship and saved some capital, may acquire farms of their own. It is in this field that the co-operation of the Federal Government, the provinces and private concerns will prove particularly valuable.

Important and far-reaching schemes for furthering boy migration are now under discussion between the Federal Government and several of the provinces, which if brought into effect will open the door of opportunity to a class of new citizens of great value to Canada's future development.

Rumor Picks Bride For Prince Of Wales

LONDON, April 30. — Rumors that the Prince of Wales is at last about to become engaged, have reached London from Seville, in Sunny Spain, where the name of the heir to the British throne is insistently coupled with that of the Infanta Beatrice, the elder daughter of the Spanish Sovereigns.

London gossips find significance in the fact that the Imperial suite at the Claridge has been reserved for King Alfonso and Queen Victoria next month, when their daughters and the Spanish Crown Prince, Alfonso, Prince of the Asturias, will accompany them to England. Moreover, the Prince of Wales will be the guest of honor at a magnificent ball which the Spanish ambassador plans to give at the embassy late in May. All of which is enough to set the gossips agog.

SAY RELIGIOUS ISSUE IS NOW SWEPT AWAY

American Press Unanimous in Praising Al. Smith's Reply to Marshall.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Almost without dissent the press appraises as a remarkable document the reply of Governor Smith of New York as a member of the Roman Catholic Church to questions asked by Charles G. Marshall in an open letter. Many editors feel that the religious issue as a factor in deciding the Democratic presidential nomination has been swept away, though some contend that even Al Smith's letter and personality cannot accomplish such a result. Others say political opposition to Smith is not based on his religious faith and both prohibition and Tam many are mentioned in the comment.

"Is not his creed America's?" asks the Richmond News-Leader (Ind. Dem.), which leads up to this estimate of the Governor's letter with the queries: "Is there a line in this (avowed creed) to which any man of any faith can object? Will not every Protestant subscribe fully to it? And —what is perhaps more to the point—would anyone add a word to it?"

The Providence Journal (Ind.) sees in the document "one of the most interesting and important of recent utterances by representative American public men," and feels that it "will emphasize the favorable impression already made upon the country by his forceful personality." The Jersey City Journal (Ind. Rep.) also views the letter as one which "will take its place among the important documents of this day."

The Cleveland Plain Dealer (Ind. Dem.) says it brings "the issue to a high plane in the open." The Atlanta Constitution (Dem.) considers it "one of the most remarkable documents in the annals of American politics," and finds it "unanswerable to every right-thinking citizen of this country who believes in the guarantee of religious freedom."

The New York World (Ind. Dem.) asserts that "insofar as the solemn avowal of an honest man has the power to persuade, the question is answered."

The Buffalo Evening News (Rep.), Syracuse Herald (Ind.), Columbus Ohio State Journal (Rep.), Hartford Courant (Rep.) and Ithaca Journal-News (Ind.) all feel that the Governor's presentation of the subject gives promise of a beneficial effect upon American politics.

The Boston Herald (Ind.), Worcester Telegram (Rep.) and Wheeling Register (Dem.) emphasize strengthened possibilities for the Smith presidential boom. There are, however, some opinions to the contrary on this point. The Charlotte Observer (Dem.), for example, makes the plain statement that while "all over the south are Democrats who have faith in the soundness of Smith's Americanism," nevertheless feels "the doubters are in the majority," and "fear of Catholic influence will prevail over faith in Smith."

"The candidacy of Al Smith is being opposed intelligently," in the opinion of the San Francisco Bulletin (Ind.), "not for religious but for political reasons. The trail that is over him is that of the Tammany tiger. There is nation-wide fear that Tammany would get its clutches on the White House."

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch (Ind.), however, assailing "the spirit of bigotry and intolerance" as a "subtle and malevolent devil," notes that "Charles C. Marshall is not satisfied," and observes: "We predicted that neither he nor any of the elements of citizenship who cherish religious prejudice and bigotry would ever be satisfied." The Albany Evening News (Ind. Rep.) adds, "Unless America would encourage bigotry and prejudice then this answer should definitely settle this question."

The Portland Oregon Journal (Ind.) concludes that: "There must be some good in Mr. Smith, or he would not be likely to have raised himself from the sidewalks of New York to become four times Governor of the greatest State in the Union."

BOWMANVILLE HIGH SCHOOL BOY WINNER OF ORATORICAL CONTEST

Merrill Ferguson Wins District Competition, Held at Cobourg.

JUBILEE ORATIONS.

Miss Margery Ackerman, of Campbellford Placed Second By Judges.

(By an Examiner Reporter.)

COBOURG, April 30.—Mr. Merill Ferguson, a student of Bowmanville High School, was declared the winner of the district oratorical contest held here last night; Miss Margery Ackerman of Campbellford High School was awarded second honors, and Mr. Birnie Hodgetts of Cobourg Collegiate Institute was placed third by the judges. The other contestants were Miss Jean Fairbairn of Millbrook High School; Miss Hazel de Guerre of Oshawa Collegiate Institute, and Mr. Verne Trewin of Blackstock High School.

The judges were from Port Hope: Col. E. E. Snider, Rev. F. W. Anderson, and Rev. Dr. J. T. Daley.

The competition was held in the Collegiate gymnasium, which was crowded with friends of the adolescent disciples of Demosthenes. Mr. R. D. P. Davidson, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, presided as chairman, and Col. Fred D. Boggs, K.C., was the timekeeper.

The subject of the orations was "Canada's Diamond Jubilee: Her achievement Since Confederation." Last night's contest was just one of the eleven district engagements whose winners will meet in Toronto shortly to decide the Ontario champion, and in turn the Dominion championship will be settled at Ottawa. The Canadian finalist will be given a free trip to England and will also be sent to Washington next Autumn to take part in the international contests. The competitions in Ontario are being held under the auspices of The Toronto Star, whose silver cup was presented to the Bowmanville High School with a specially designed pin as the individual prize to Mr. Ferguson.

Creditable to All

In announcing the award of the judges, Col. Snider congratulated all the contestants. "They all did credit to themselves, their schools and their principals. I am sorry that Port Hope was not represented. I think such a contest does a great deal of good to those taking part and also to their schools as a whole. Let me say, that the judges did not have a very easy time."

Col. Snider admitted that he and his fellow arbiters had difficulty in deciding between Mr. Ferguson and Miss Ackerman, and probably many in the audience would have been in greater accord with the judges had they delivered the palm to the Campbellford girl. If the opinion of a neutral auditor may be expresesd he might venture to observe that it is rather difficult to understand the reactions of the judges not only to these two addresses, but also to those by Miss De Guerre and Mr. Hodgetts.

Like a Blue Book

As a mere compendium of facts about Canada's progress since Confederation, a sort of abridgment of Frank Yeigh's year book, Mr. Ferguson's address was weighted more heavily than Miss Ackerman's. If the contest was to be disposed of on the basis of blue book statistics, the Bowmanville boy scored a slight advantage over the Campbellford girl, and his delivery had an excess of power which arises out of nature's bestowal upon masculinity, a gratuitous asset that should be discounted when a Portia pleads as the man's competitor.

Was More Poetic

Miss Ackerman's address, on the other hand, was conceived and presented on a higher plane than Mr. Ferguson's. She did not attempt to crowd into her allotted ten minutes an array of figures such as might adorn a bank president's annual statement. At the very outset she briefly intimated her plan to avoid the statistical style, for oratory is rarely assisted or adorned by the most carefully marshalled figures. Miss Ackerman chose rather to wrap her ideas in a loftiness of thought and diction that was close to poetry without erring in what is often derogated as "flowery language." In that respect she greatly excelled the winner. His matter was prosey compared with her vivid metaphors and graceful rhetoric. In other respects such as poise, gestures, arrangement, Miss Ackerman was at least equal to Mr. Ferguson. It seemed to the writer that his chief advantage was due to an accidental quality, the fact that he was a boy with perhaps more natural power to impress an audience. But as to the art of oratory depending upon imagination, fine phrasing, and the ability to portray pictures of what statistics represent rather than the bald statistics themselves, Miss Ackerman's address deserved even more of the judge's deliberations than they acknowledged.

As betweein Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Hodgetts, the Cobourg student, at least had a more sparkling manner, but his arrangement of ideas was not so effective. Miss de Guerre of Oshawa was almost too studied in her peroration. She didn't clip or slur a syllable and her sentences were polished until they fairly gleamed, and the young lady seemed to delight in their very lustre. Of the opening of the C.P.R. she said, as an example, "the coming of that puffing monster was the symbol of the termination of the Redman's domination." Where Mr. Ferguson spoke of the western prairies as one of the great granaries of the world, she used the more expressive simile, "the greatest bread basket the world has ever known."

Clear Enunciation

Miss Jean Fairbairn of Millbrook stood out in regard to careful enunciation, but the outstanding feature of the contest was Miss Ackerman's word painting of the Canadian pioneer and her sketch of the role he has played in Canada's development. Perhaps she might have gained points in emphasizing more the post-confederation aspects of her subject. Mr. Ferguson did so, and the judges found the balance tipped slightly in his favor.

WEDDING BELLS.

COLLARD—HERMAN.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 30.—The following is the report of the Collard-Herman wedding taken from the Galt Reporter and will be of special interest to many residents of Campbellford as the groom resided in town for many years previously before going to Galt. Mr. William Collard and Mr. Ernest Collard of town are brothers.

"A pretty wedding took place on Monday afternoon at two o'clock at Trinity Church, when Marion Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Herman, Front Street, and Arthur Edward Collard of Hamilton, formerly of Galt, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Collard of Preston, were united in marriage, the Rev. Canon W. H. Snelgrove performing the ceremony.

The chancel was attractively decorated for the occasion with palms, ferns and Easter lilies, and Miss Renwick presided at the organ and played the wedding music.

"The dainty bride was given away by her father, and was charming in her wedding gown of heavy georgette crepe over georgette; panels on the skirt, front and back, were formed of tiny frills of satin. A large flower was used on the shoulder and waistline. Her veil of embroidered tulle was arranged in Russian coronet style and she wore white satin shoes. Her bouquet was a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Tuffin of Galt and Miss Evelyn Tuffin of Kitchener. The former wore figured georgette in mauve tones, with large picture hat, and the latter was in orchid georgette, with matching hat, and both carried bouquets of roses. The groom's brother, Mr. Sam. Collard, of Preston, was best man.

"Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, when about seventy-five guests were present. The bride's mother wore lavender georgette, with hat to match, and the groom's mother was in purple crepe de chene, with black hat.

"A buffet wedding breakfast was served, mauve and white, with Easter lilies, forming the decorations, the bride's cake centering the table.

"Mr. and Mrs. Collard left later for a honeymoon trip to Toronto and other points, the bride travelling in Flemish blue flat crepe with silk and gilt trimmings. Her navy blue coat was trimmed with squirrel, and she wore a hat of blue crepe and straw and patent shoes, with blue lizard trimming.

"After a two weeks' holiday, Mr. and Mrs. Collard will make their home in Hamilton.

"The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome wardrobe trunk; to the bridesmaids, little finger rings of filagree gold set with aquamarines, and to the best man, a white gold tie pin set with an amethyst.

"Among the guests were the Misses McCreery of Hespeler, Mr. and Mrs. Israel of Kitchener, Mrs. P. W. Gardiner and Mrs. G. W. Gardiner of Galt, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Collard of Campbellford."

FOUR LEVEES

the first of the current would gradually open the artificial channels until a sufficient volume was drawn in to sweep out the levee for a distance of a thousand feet feet or more.

This view also was shared by the weather bureau here, a special flood warning late yesterday forecasting a break of probably one thousand feet, or sufficient in the opinion of the experts to appreciably lower the level of the water both here and higher up the river.

Save for the dashing about of police and military motorcycles, and the fast circling of planes overheard, there was little of the spectacular about the creation of the first artificial crevasse in the Mississippi dykes in all the history of floods from that river.

VATERLAND SAILS ON

NEW YORK, April 30.— The schooner "Vaterland" sailing around the world to exhibit German industrial products and develop commercial good will, has sailed from New York after returning an American flag captured during the war. Count Felix von Luckner, commander of the schooner, was captain of the raider "Sea Eagle," and American vessel that was seized by the Germans.

CONSERVATIVES HOLD AT HOME

tion, a clever speaker and a veteran member of the house. The party, although having less than two-fifths of the membership of the commons, was united, and gave fair and vigorous criticisms to the various measures introduced.

Outside of the legislation repassed because it had not been given Royal assent before the dissolution of the previous parliament, there had been little introduced by the Government. There had been some provision made for the Maritime Provinces, to alleviate some of the conditions of which they complained.

Mr. Peck commented on the long discussion on the Georgian Bay Canal bill. This was a private bill which was to hand over certain waterpowers on the Ottawa River on the condition that a canal would be constructed. The Conservative party expressed strong opposition but the Government insisted that the bill go to committee. There was no reason for sending the bill there, Mr. Peck asserted, just as there was no reasonable means of constructing the works called for in the bill.

Editorial Unfair

The speaker complained that an editorial in The Globe, which was reprinted in The Examiner was unfair in its accusation of the opposition of helping rush the estimates through to get the session over before Easter. Mr. Peck informed his hearers that the Opposition has little to do with the estimates, which are prepared by the various departments and invariably go through the House without change. They were furnished to all the members a month before they were passed, and the supplementary estimates were available ten days before, so that they could be studied.

The money is needed for the Government services, he continued, and the Opposition criticizes only those items to which it objects. As they are made a party matter by the Government, the members rally and the Opposition would lose on any division. The one division forced was on the vote of half a million for a residence in Washington, and that was lost.

That the Opposition was willing to have the session extend over Easter was indicated, Mr. Peck contended, by the efforts made by the leader to get some legislation for the relief of wounded soldiers. He had protested against closing the session without something being done, but the only legislation brought in was of a milk-and-watery kind, extending the time in which a man can apply to the board and changing the composition of the board. Mr. Bennett introduced a resolution, but it was voted down. The only promise the Government would give was that legislation would be considered and brought in for the next session.

W. H. Bradburn.

W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., gave credit to the work of the ladies in electing Mr. Peck and himself, and said he was pleased to see so many of the workers out. He congratulated Mrs. Fallis on her election as 1st Vice-President of the Ontario Association, and said that it was an honor to the riding as well. He had heard many people say at the convention that her speech was one of the best given.

Mr. Bradburn claimed that the failure of the opposition to move an amendment to the speech from the Throne and to force a division was unprecedented. He said that the session had gone for six weeks before there was a division. Then a motion by Mr. Raney was defeated by 70, both Conservatives and Liberals voting against it. Later three divisions were won by the Government in one day.

Something of the routine of the house and the system of government was explained by Mr. Bradburn.. He gave great cerdit to Mr. Finlayson for his scheme to utilize the poor lands in the northern part of old Ontario for reforestation, moving the inhabitants to fertile lands in new Ontario.

The practice of issuing a book showing all the expenditures of the Province was praised by the speaker, who contended that no money could be fooled away with so many copies of this book going out.

He characterized as unfair Mr. Sinclairs criticism of the way the estimates were passed at the final session of the previous legislature. Forty-two million dollars was voted in three hours and a half, but there were only seven members of the opposition present. Under those circumstances Mr. Sinclair's criticism, made when the money had been spent, was untimely.

Much praise was bestowed on the provincial leader by Mr. Bradburn. He called him one of the greatest men the province had ever produced. He hoped that he would stay with the Ontario party, rather than going to Ottawa as Federal leader. As long as the people endorse the Conservative party in Ontario, he promised, the province is safe with such an able man as G. Howard Ferguson at the head of affairs.

V. J. McElderry

V. J. McElderry, president of the Men's Association, congratulated Mrs. Fallis on her appointment, and recounted some of the expressions of approval of her speech he had heard in Toronto.

Turning to matters of policy, he declared that the story of the Conservative party has always been the same and he hoped it would continue to be until Canada comes into its own, that is, the story of greater protection for Canada. This, he explained is not protection of one part of the people against another, but protection of all the people against the products of cheap labor. It is not a catchword of the party, he proclaimed, but a policy.

The musical programme consisted of a violin duet by Mrs. M. B. Hoyland and Miss C. Taylor, a violin solo by Mrs. Hoyland, and a vocal solo by Mr. R. Moore.

NEW DOWNYFLAKE ROOM IS OPENED

Entertainment Centre Is Arranged on Cabaret Plan—Fine Dance Floor.

An innovation in the city, hailed with much interest, as was manifested by the large attendance last night, is the new Downyflake Banquet and Dining Room, opened yesterday evening with a grand flourish, and a dance for which fine music was provided by the Bluebird Orchestra.

The arrangement of the new entertainment centre is somewhat on the cabaret plan. Small "foursome" tables are arranged around the walls of the upstairs room which extends over the present Downyflake restaurant and the Laura Second shop adjoining. The floor space is 70 feet by 20 feet, with a dancing space of 55 by 14 feet. Dancing may be enjoyed at any time, during the evening or the day, while meals are being served, and a full-course meal or light refreshments may be partaken of, as one chooses. The method of a "couvert" charge, as carried out in larger cities, is being employed.

The decorations are carried out in a color scheme of black, Sahara sand, and rose, in striking effect, with white-panelled chintz paper whose golden pheasant design is repeated in the pattern of the hand-painted parchment lamp shades. Rose velvet and filled lace drape the windows and tall floor lamps add a touch of color to the general effect. A dumb waiter brings light refreshments from the lower soda fountain and a large kitchen at the rear is being equipped to meet the demands of patrons for meals. Luncheonettes only will be served on the lower floor. An exceptionally fine hardwood flooring gives adequate accommodation to dancers, with the music of a four-piece orchestra. Cloak room facilities are also provided. Trim maids in French outfits of black and white are in attendance on the tables, and every need of patrons is being looked after by the proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Austin. (Advt.)

"Now, Mr. Anderson," Churchill advanced upon the witness, a sheaf of notes in his hand, "You have testified here that the defendant, Mrs. Wiley, cried out to her husband, 'You made me do it!' Had there been anything in her previous conversation to indicate to you what she meant by 'it'? Think hard, Mr. Anderson."

"No," Anderson answered sullenly.

"You did not hear the defendant say anything about having killed your old friend, Ralph Cluny, did you?"

"No! I don't know what she was talking about," Anderson muttered.

"You did not hear Mrs. Wiley say 'I didn't want to marry you. You made me do it!' "

"I—I don't remember," Anderson muttered, glancing as if for help toward the district attorney.

"Yet you are positive about what you do remember?" Churchill prodded him.

"Yes, I am."

"And yet, Mr. Anderson, you testified on this stand that the actual words that Mrs. Wiley used were 'To think I got rid of Ralph Cluny for a thing like you!' Which is correct, Mr. Anderson?"

"They're both the same," Anderson retorted, flushing more darkly than ever in his confusion.

"I am afraid your memory is not quite so good as you would have us believe," Churchill smiled. "Now, Mr. Anderson, I will try to refresh your memory. Didn't Mrs. Wiley actually say to her husband, in the conversation which you overheard, 'To think that I jilted a man like Ralph Cluny for a thing like you?' I ask you, didn't she use the word 'jilted' rather than the expression, 'got rid of'?"

"I don't know which she said, but she meant she'd got rid of him!" Anderson retorted desperately, squirming in his chair.

"You are acquainted with the meaning of the word 'jilted,' Mr. Anderson?" Churchill smiled.

"Sure I am!"

"Is it not possible, Mr. Anderson, that you unconsciously substituted the phrase 'got rid of,' a phrase which you yourself are likely to use, for the more unfamiliar term 'jilted'?"

"I don't know—maybe," Anderson conceded sullenly.

"Now, Mr. Anderson, when Mr. and Mrs. Wiley came to you for lodgings on their wedding night, they made no effort to conceal their identity from you, did they?"

"I reckon they didn't," Anderson muttered.

"They made no objection to showing you their wedding certificate, I suppose, giving their names in full?" Churchil demanded, with a glance of triumph toward the jury.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR SUNDAY MAY 1 1927

Astrologers read this as an uncertain day in which menacing influences are strong. It is a day that should be used with caution, the seers warn.

It is a rule not favorable to the wishes or the ambitions of the clergy, making for disagreements in the churches.

Again: intrigue is foreshadowed and hidden, but stubborn religious war is indicated.

Prejudice and fanaticism may be strong at this time which will be marked by much fatuous thinking.

This is held to be rather an unfortunate sway under which to make changes. The annual moving period appears to be rather unpromising, so far as benefits are concerned.

It is well to delay seeking employment until late in the week, for there are aspects making for disappointment the first days.

Unrest and discontent may be strong among workers. It is advised that a cheerful outlook should be cultivated.

World upheavals, which will take place in the span of this year should be contemplated calmly, for they presage ultimate good for the peoples of the Earth.

At the lunation of this date there is a sign presaging many labor troubles, especially in Great Britain.

Serious international problems now will develop for France, it is foretold. New revolutionary activities will cause trouble.

Accidents in foreign mines and serious fires in industrial centers are indicated for this month.

Many storms may be expected this month in the United States and certain crops will be damaged, it is foretold.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of success and prominence in the coming year. It is wise to make the most of every new opportunity.

Children born on this day probably will gain distinction and even fame.

FOR MONDAY MAY 2 1927

Contrary influences are strong today, according to astrology. Benefic aspect dominate, however.

There is a fairly good sign for the transaction of business during the early morning hours. Women should profit by the sway.

It is held to be an auspicious planetary government for arousing interest in new investments. Promoters should push their projects.

There is fair promise to those who seek employment and especially to women who will achieve big results in new lines of business.

New discoveries of oil and mineral, so long foretold, will arouse much excitement in the summer months, but new fortunes will be made more rapidly in trade than in prospecting.

Financial matters are well directed, while this configuration prevails and bankers are to be more prominent in government affairs than at any previous period in history, the seers prophesy.

The day is read as favorable to employers and helpful to their larger ambitions.

It is an auspicious time for those who hold political positions to make plans for future campaigns.

Women are fairly well guided under this sway, but the stars warn them to use diplomacy in important matters.

There is an ominous sign indicating vagaries in public opinion, and a state of mind among the people that is easily affected by any sort of sensational propaganda.

This is read as rather an unlucky day for starting ocean voyages as delays are forecast.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year in which less excitement than usual occurs, but a year of success nevertheless.

Children born on this day will be ambitious and resourceful.

VARICOSE VEINS REDUCED OR MONEY BACK, SAYS BOND'S

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results.

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to treat can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent. One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barbers' itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. Bond's Drug Store, McDermid Drug Co., Ltd., McDermid & Jury sells lots of it.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The beige lizard pump at the top shows high heel of fashionable shape. Even higher is the heel on the lizard-trimmed navy-blue patent-leather shoe in the center. Below is a shoe of pearl-finished oyster-white kid with a green kid strap.

If we do adopt some of the fashions of the Directoire period—and there are fashion prophets who say we shall—there is one detail of that style of dress that will not meet with approval with modern women. And that is the little flat, almost heelless slipper. Clothes nowadays are very sane and comfortable. They are light and loose enough, no constriction about them, no long trains, no corsets of the old-fashioned sort, no veils to dim our vision. We have done almost all the things that the dress reformers of the eighteen-nineties told us we ought to do. But we still wear high heels—and these heels instead of getting lower are getting higher.

Doctors used sometimes to tell women that defective eyesight was caused by high heels—heels that weren't half so high as they are nowadays. The modern doctor ascribes this to our tonsils—if we still have any—or suggests a change in diet or calmly assures us that we might wear glasses. He doesn't suggest that our high heels are to blame—or if he does he is rather old-fashioned—and very, very courageous. As a matter of fact his wife probably wears high heels, too, and so do his daughters, and the doctor himself probably prefers the appearance of the woman in neat high-heeled slippers to those of a supposedly more sensible sort.

The appeal of the high-heeled slipper has been ascribed to the fact that it accentuates the natural curve of the instep, leg and ankle. Most women simply know that they don't look so smart or so pretty when they wear low heels. So conscious are many women of the becomingness of high heels that they feel positively depressed when they wear any other sort.

There are times of course when low heels are essential. One couldn't possibly wear high heels on a tennis court, and high heels hardly help one's game of golf. But high heels are nowadays considered quite appropriate with the sport costume, providing one is not actually indulging in some sport that makes them absurd. One enterprising maker of beach accessories has even brought out a high heeled bathing slipper this spring. It would seem hard to manage any sort of high heel on wet sand, but perhaps it can be done.

An Ex-Buck Private Goes Back to France

No "Lights Out" and No "Reveille" on This Trip

Dear Mac:

I'll bet you never saw anything more impressive than waning day on the ocean. It's so, possibly, from the utter aloneness of the ship. Land has been lost sight of, and the sun has dropped behind the horizon.

The water swishes as the vessel ploughs. Trails of steely, frothy bubbles race along the waterline. A dark cloud hangs over the port side, or maybe it's the starboard side. The white rollers may be dimly seen, far out.

Then suddenly, darkness has settled. As if touched by the wand of a sorcerer, the blackness envelops. A thick, deep, unpierceable gloom. It's lovely, standing there, leaning on the rail. But it's a delightful loveliness. There's so much chance for memories to play—so much of an opportunity to wonder about the ocean, the sky, and the stars that come glittering through.

Was there ever a war? Was there ever a song about "Hinky Dinky Parley Voos"? There must have been, or I wouldn't be on my way back over the top. Never was a moment made more fitting for deep reflection than when the twilight, then darkness, settles on the ocean. And then .....

The reverie is broken!
Again comes the bugle call . .
"Soupy, soupy, soupy!"

It's dinner this time. And if you're at the skipper's table you'll put on your tuxedo, if you want to—if any.

* * *

At table—that first night. Two comely young women, one with flashing black eyes, and three gentlemen. Introductions. Funny! Two of the men were in the army.... both were officers too, but they seem pretty decent. Between blowings on hot consomme (not machonochie) there were reminiscences. One was only a second loot; and he swore he never had stopped a private and demanded a salute. Oh, well. The war's all over. Why argue? It was a good meal.

Let's Dance.

Dinner being astern, as they say in sea-going parlance, the path was aloft in the salon where tea had been served in the afternoon, with cinnamon toast. The orchestra was sharpening up a few test notes and, in a twinkling, burst out into a tuneful bit of highly polished jazz. The dance was on. Ankles and shapely silk stockings twinkled. (There was never anything like this on the old transports). Acquaintanceships sprang up quickly. There's a spirit of easy good-fellowship on a boat.

What! No "lights out"?

And no clumsy cork life preserver to drag into the cabin and sleep with all night! Times certainly have changed!! The steward has folded back the sheets. Pillows beckon irresistibly. A breeze floats through the port hole opened to the stars. A healthy yawn or two....a click of the light button....a smile. Wars are not so bad—after ten years or so. Tres beaus, in fact, tres beaus.

Everybody on Deck!

D'you remember when they used to come shouting, "Everybody on deck—sub!"? You were likely in your bath. And then, after crowding up the stairways, strapping on a cork waistcoat, you found it was only another boat drill!

Cherie is Probably Married, But Comment—to-Helley-voos.

Bum soir! Pini, comme ca!

The promenade comes before breakfast, to guarantee an appetite. No one turns out on shipboard until the deck steward has barked his knuckles on the door trying to get some attention; it's not like the old days with a grouchy sergeant barking: "Rise and shine!"

And breakfast!

Not the tay the lime-juicer sub-sub-cooks splashed into mess tins and the thick, sticky porridge of those other days. D'you remember how they used to ladle out the cement-like goulash and then slap a rasher of greasy bacon on top?

Mac, its different now. There are grapefruit and orange juice, browned toast, golden muffins, eggs and some crisp rashes of bacon. In the silver tankard of coffee there's enough for a platoon—and it's strong enough to dissipate any fog that may have collected. Down goes a few scorching gulps and then comes that first cigarette. The smoke curls away from the ash. Boy! The red tabs have nothing on this!

Going back!

Back to the land of "No compre." Back to the Cafe Nationale up on the Rue de Toot Toot. Back to the 40 hommes and 8 chevaux. Back where there was mud in the rue and rats in the billet. 'Member Hermance? Or maybe it was Celeste or Joan? Regardless, she was "Cherie". Wonder what's become of her? Probably married and clomping around in her wooden shoes with a couple of bright-eyed youngsters at her heels. We'll soon know—for we're going back.

After all these years of reminiscing and fighting the war all over with justifiable exaggerations.

Going back

Even on top of a good breakfast, it doesn't seem possible. But the dream is coming true.

And remember, when you want to smoke, you can do it in the open. No sneaking around behind a funnel or a life boat, covering up in the fear of submarines. No life boat drill and false alarms. The tin fish ain't out there any more.

And if we miss the Crown and Anchor and the Black Jack, Mac, there are one or two compensations, as you may have noticed.

Cheerio!

Matinee Ladies

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, a poor college student, working as a dancing partner for rich women, falls in love with Sally Smith, a cigarette girl. She warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the roadhouse, who finds her "thrill" in "hunting" Bob; who, however, trusts her. She offers him free use of her secret apartment. Bob withholds consent until he can talk to Sally, who, meanwhile, is invited by Mazie Revere, a gold-digger, to a party with Mannion, a suitor favored by Mrs. Smith but not by Sally.

"I met Tom Mannion socially," Mazie Revere explained to Sally, "through a very prominent business man. You know, honey, I meet some of the very best people."

"But—but—oh, I don't know, Mazie. It's awfully nice of you to ask me, and to ask Mr. Mannion for my sake, but—but—"

"The 'buts' have it!" teased Mazie. "A little bird whispered to me that your Mother likes Tom. And you ought to like him, too. So you just run along home, dearie, and think it over, and when Tom Mannion calls for you, just be ready to floss along. You'll be the belle of the ball!"

"Mazie, I haven't a thing to wear!"

"That wouldn't shock my guests none," grinned Mazie, escorting Sally to the door and sending her on her way with a merry little kiss and hug.

Mrs. Smith brought forth a big box from behind her back.

Sally made her way home in a confused state of mind. Sally was not cursed with an artful brain, so she saw nothing wrong in what had happened; nothing to suggest a frame-up. She was in a bit of a daze that she should be made the object of so much fuss suddenly. And what happened when she reached home hardly reduced that daze!

Her mother was waiting for her in the shabby dining room. Flanking her were the small Smith brothers, Sally could tell by the suppressed excitement in the attitude of the boys, and the belligerent glint in the eyes of her Mother, that something out of the ordinary was afoot.

Mrs. Smith anticipated her half-spoken question by suddenly bringing a big box from behind her back, and thrusting it forward to Sally, who accepted it with surprise and bewilderment.

"What is this, Mother?"

"Open it quick, and see!"

Sally undid the strings with trembling fingers. In her excitement she scarcely noticed the name of a prominent 57th Street modiste on the box; it meant nothing, in her state of mind, anyway.

Bewildered though she was, Sally could hardly restrain a cry of glad amaze when the uncovered box revealed a beautiful, modish evening gown; stockings of the sheerest chiffon, shimmering undernothings.

"There's shoes, too! And a cape. In other boxes!" asserted the Mother.

"Good Heavens, Mother, who sent these?"

"Mr. Mannion!"

"What!" Sally's voice rose in anger and horror. "He sent them to me. Has he gone crazy. I cannot accept them, of course—they must go back at once—"

"Why can't you accept them?" bristled the Mother. "He asked my permission to buy them, just like the nice gentleman he is. And I said all right and gave him your sizes and talked to the buyer who selected them for him!"

Sally was dangerously close to tears.

"Mother, are you out of your head? It's indecent, it's insane! I can't, I won't take these things from him!"

Mrs. Smith thrust her lantern jaw close to Sally's combed-honey head.

"Mr. Mannion is a fine man, and he means well by you. He got you these things so's he could take you to Miss Revere's party tonight. I shouldn't wonder if he's going to propose to you. You'll takes these, and if he proposes, you'll take him!"

"I won't! I won't!" Sally Smith was little, but she could storm with all the fury of a great, big tigress in fighting for her own rights to virtue and decency.

"You'd rather run around with that pauper of a college boy!" shouted Mrs. Smith.

"Yes," cried Sally tearfully, "because I love him, and I could never love Mr. Mannion! Never! Never!"

Mrs. Smith changed her tactics; grew wheedling. She was feminine enough to retain some knowledge of the instincts by which a woman's will can sometimes be undermined.

"Try it on, anyway, Sally. See how it looks on you!"

"No," stamped Sally. "Never! I'll die before I let that dress, those things, touch me!"

The bell rang at this juncture, and the Smith brothers scrambled for the door. One, nimbler than the other, returned in an instant with the intelligence:

"It's the college boy, come to see Sally!"

Sally felt a quick catch in her heart. Why should Bob be calling unexpectedly like this? What had happened? And oh! dear, how embarrassing to be surprised in the midst of a family quarrel—surrounded with these telltale things.

There was not time to put the clothes away. He was coming in now. Sally hastily blew her nose, patted down her hair, tried to feel inwardly composed so that the angry color would quickly drain from her cheeks.

But as Bob strode in, she felt her face flaming higher. Her Mother was standing there so inquisitive, so nastily hostile. The boys were watching like two little ghouls.

One thing was in her favor, however; in his rapt anxiety to see Sally, Bob did not notice the fluffy garments strewn on the table. He nodded politely to Mrs. Smith; then his eyes returned to Sally's face without seeing anything or anybody else.

He was so obviously ill at ease in the Mother's presence, that the woman took his attitude as an insult and marched out stiffly; calling the boys in her wake.

Bob stepped close to Sally instantly, when they were alone.

"Why didn't you leave some message for me?" he asked. "I looked all around for you. The Madame said you had gone without saying a word. Did you forget that we were to ride home together?"

"Why, Bob, how strange! I was on an errand for Madame Leonine, and cautioned her to be sure to tell you that I couldn't wait for you because she had sent me away!"

"That's darn funny! She vowed that you hadn't said a word!"

"She just forgot, Bob, that's all; or was so busy she didn't know what she was saying. For way should I play such a dirty trick on you, I'd like to know?"

She smiled up at him so preciously, that Bob couldn't imagine for one moment why she should do anything to him that was not wholly sweet and dear and honorable. He shrugged and dismissed the matter of the crossed signals from his mind at once, in the eagerness to come to the real business of his visit.

"Let's sit down for a while, Sally. I want to talk to you."

Still he saw nothing; was conscious of nothing, in that room but her dear, dear eyes. He said softly, "You know, Sally, I do feel that I should talk over with you everything concerning my future. We do mean that much to each other, don't we?"

She nodded happily, and wondered what it was all about—and if there was any way she could get him out of the room before he saw the garments Mannion had sent to her.

And Bob, who had hurried to Sally full of the best intentions, suddenly found it exceedingly difficult to tell her what was in his mind; to explain in its minutest detail what Mrs. Hammond's proposition had been. Somehow he framed the first and most difficult words; stumbled haltingly through the introduction. Once started, he found it not so hard to narrate the full story. In fact, he warmed up to it; consciously making himself a partisan for it, deliberately placing himself before Sally in the light of a pleading counsel. He finished.

There was a long, long silence; in which Bob looked anxiously at Sally, and Sally continued to stare almost expressionless, certainly white of face, at Bob—a stare and directness she had never relaxed from after the first moment he had begun to speak.

HENPECKED MATES WAR ON FEMINISM

By NEA Service.

CHICAGO, April 30.—"Man has become so completely domesticated that not only is he tamed, but is almost useless." With that plaint for a battle-cry, the Husbands' Defense League has been launched here to defeat the progress of feminism. The bill of rights demands: No housework, except in case of sickness or at least three children; one evening a week out, with no explanations; a dollar a day allowance, with no questions asked; no razzing by in-laws; preference over wife's relations in everything; final authority on all questions.

WELCOMED WALES.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, April 30.—Enterprising staticians here have calculated that the visit of the Prince of Wales to South Africa was worth $75,000. His entertainment cost $125,000, but $200,000 was saved by the release of 15,000 petty criminals in honor of the occasion.

THE JUBILEE OF CONFEDERATION

(Written for Rotary by request)

Canadians are called upon to celebrate this year the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation. We are asked to observe with all due pomp and ceremony the most important event in the life of the Canadian people, the bringing together of a number of parts of our immense territory and welding them into a whole.

Before Confederation and before the establishment of the provinces this vast territory was known simply as British North America, but as time went on and Britain continued to send us her colonists it became necessary to throw the responsibility upon our selves of managing our own domestic affairs. That is the genius and the spirit of British peoples, both of home and abroad. It is because it is so that the British people and their descendants have been the most successful colonists in the world. Give to a people liberty to govern themselves and they will repay you with gratitude and affection. Such has been the history of what is now the Dominion of Canada. Of course there have been at times causes of frictions but we have realized that the world was not made in a day and that the basis of British connection is in the long run justice and fair treatment. As a consequence we have here a nation of ten millions of people completely equipped for nationhood in every particular forming, however, not an independent unit but a voluntary, willing and loyal part of that glorious whole the British Empire.

But there is something more in this celebration than a stock-taking of ourselves after 60 years of Confederate life. This is the year of the Proclamation of the birth of the British Empire itself. This is the year in which delegates from every part of that hitherto undefederated empire having already met in London and declared themselves component parts of a united whole, have gone to the governments which sent those delegates for the recognition of that declaration of unity and thus if last year declared us an empire this year marks the acknowledgement and celebration of that fact.

We have therefore a double celebration and with all our shortcomings, both at home and abroad, for we are but mortals at the best of times, we find ourselves willing and anxious to acquiesce in that declaration and to celebrate in a fitting manner the fact, now for the first time officially proclaimed to the world.

This year therefore marks a new greatness and a new duty thrust upon us. We must rise, not only as we have done in the past, equal to the occasion of developing a united Canada. We must rise also equal to the still more glorious duty of helping to develop a still vaster and mightier confederation. This is the year of years, therefore, for all British peoples and as we prepare for the celebration of our own jubilee we must prepare ourselves for the celebration of a greater and still more glorious jubilee which proclaims us not only members of a happy and prosperous Canadian family but friends and comrades of our kin beyond the Seven Seas.

A jubilee celebration is as its names implies, the hearty and happy meeting together, for rejoicing, of peoples though diverse of origin now united for a common purpose. It is so in Canada. It is so this year throughout the British Empire. The basis of such a celebration is neither gain nor conquest nor even the achievements of armies but the more glorious achievements of peace, made possible only by the spirit of a people. Something that we must not forget is the basis of all true greatness and all true succes—the spirit of a people, a thing indeed which demands greatness in itself and without which we are unworthy of our destiny.

SAFEGUARDING MILK

BY PASTEURIZATION

(Report of M.H.O. Toronto, continued from Thursday)

USE OF THE WORD "PASTEURIZED"

"It shall not be lawful to apply the word 'pasteurized' to any milk unless all portions have been subjected for at least twenty and not more than thirty minutes to a temperature of not less than 140 and not more than 150 degrees Fahrenheit, and then at once cooled to 45 degrees Fahrenheit or under and kept at that temperature until delivered to the consumer; and the process of pasteurization shall be subject to inspection by the local Medical Officer or such inspector as he may designate; provided always that all such milk shall in all other respects be subject to all the terms and conditions of this Act."

However, we will not have reached the ideal in pasteurization until we have it done in the final containers. This is being done by a firm in Brooklyn, N. Y., and in some smaller places, but not in sufficient quantity to meet the needs of any municipality. The only places where this method is used in Canada are in the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, and in preparation of infants' milk at the City Dairy, Toronto. The Hospital for Sick Children buys high-grade milk and then pasteurizes it in the bottles in which it is delivered to the baby. This removes every possible chance of infection.

OBJECTIONS TO CERTIFIED MILK.

It is quite apparent that the high cost of production of certified milk will prevent its ever being extensively used in any municipality. This quality of milk had been offered for sale for from fifteen to twenty years in New York City, but in 1914, and for some years previous, it constituted only three-quarters of one per cent. of the entire milk consumption of that city. In the city of Toronto, though we have had certified milk produced for the last seventeen years, the consumption of this milk in the city last year was only one-half of one per cent. of the entire milk supply. Then there is a feeling of uncertainty even in regard to certified milk, as different epidemics have been traced directly to this source. These have been in most cases due to carriers handling the milk.

GOVERNOR VISITS WHEELED SCHOOL

Lord and Lady Willingdon Interested in Car Schools Used in North.

RAMSAY, Ont., April 30.—When His Excellency Viscount Willingdon and Lady Willingdon arrived here it was for the purpose of inspecting the Canadian Pacific school car which has created so much discussion since its inauguration last September. Walter McNally, the teacher who has been in charge of the car since it was used for the purpose, met Their Excellencies and told them of the mode of teaching employed, how the classes were conducted, and of the deep interest taken by the children in this new departure in disseminating education throughout a section which hitherto has been practically unserved by schools.

So great was the interest aroused, said Mr. McNally, that night classes for adults had been found necessary.

Y.W.C.A. PAGEANT

(By Jeanette.)

The big annual Gymnasium Pageant of the Young Women's Christian Association had a capacity audience for its first performance last evening, and promises to have just as large a crowd for its second production this evening. The programme was, as usual, of the very best, and went through with the military precision and clockwork regularity which characterizes these yearly events, presented under Miss C. Littlefield's expert tuition. The manner in which the various classes, from the babies of two and one-half years to the Senior girls, respond to their director's careful training, is a credit, both to themselves and to their instructor, who so successfully "puts over" these big annual affairs, their presentation requiring an infinite amount of patience and tact and knowledge to get the effect finally achieved. Nearly five hundred members of the various sections of the "gym" take part.

The evening's entertainment was pleasingly brief, ending just a few minutes after ten o'clock, after a programme that included demonstrations of physical training from various classes, a "Peep at the Babies' Class" and a number of lovely dances, which formed the entire second portion of the programme.

The Processional March, which formed the opening, gave an interesting insight into the personnel and numbers of the many gymnasium classes at the "Y," the eighty tiny babies who commenced the march receiving enthusiastic applause from the watchers. The girls make their way from the stage entrance at the side, down through the house, proceeding up a runway to the stage and thence back to the wings. The bright and dark bobbed heads, the fresh middies and dark bloomers, the forest of black-clad twinkling legs made an ensemble that gives the keynote of vivacious youth to the entire performance.

The babies were probably the "knockouts" of the programme. Their class is larger than usual this year, and the funny little things, going through exercises and rhythmic dances absorbed, in some instances, in their work, and in others, lost to everything but contemplation of their audience, were received with delighted appreciation. In "A Peep at the Babies' Class," they had a wee dumbell exercise, and sat down for "rowing" stunts, surveying with pleased eyes the people who clapped them so heartily. Later, they came out with Old Mother Goose (played in turn by Verna Hoffman and Jean Maconomy) to sing in tiny treble voices about the gymnastic cow of the old fairy tale; the little sheep who were so careful of their tails, and little Boy Blue. The "Happy Day Children" joined them finally, in a Christopher Robin jingle, accompanied by rhythmic dances. The little "lads" and lasses in this number were gowned in gingham rompers in varied light shades, the little "boys" wearing peaked caps and the tiny girls sunbonnets over flushed, happy little faces. The "Happy Day children" were in adorable high-waisted chintz frocks of rose and blue, with floppy poke bonnets and frilled white pantalettes. Mother Goose was in red and yellow, with a tall witch's hat.

Gymnastics (based on the Swedish system) by a Special Advanced Class gave a demonstration of the skilful work of the Senior Girls. These Swedish exercises are always very interesting, showing the physical proficiency to be attained by careful training and diligent attention to military precision in obeying commands. The girls went through various manoeuvres that brought them much applause, ending with a "wheel" and "pyramid" effect. Again, in the intricate exercises which distinguished the fancy club swinging demonstration by the Advanced Class and the Senior School Girls, those taking part showed how adept they were in the graceful art.

A very large class of about sixty-five Juniors, working in seven parallel lines, gave a splendid exhibition of dumbell work, while the reed exercises by the Intermediates and the wand exercises by the Elementary Class were difficult portions of the programme, carried through with the exactness and deftness which characterized the exacting physical work throughout.

The dances which are always so popular a portion of the Y.W.C.A. Pageant programme, were beautifully executed. Their artistic costuming and the lighting effects, which heightened their effectiveness, left nothing to be desired, and they afforded an insight into the degree of graceful agility which may be attained by members of these classes.

"The Last Rose" or "The Secret of the Rose," in which a lovely rose, late blooming, rejoicing in the sun, is frightened by sudden storm clouds, was a beautiful interpretive thing by the Senior Dancing Class. The costumes were extremely attractive, with striped sepals of green extending as a bodice above frilly petalled skirts of rose pink. Silver sandals and airy scarfs of rose chiffon completed a lovely picture, in which the light measures of the simulated flower adventurers were gracefully interpreted.

Another attractive interpretive number was the "Frolic Waltz" done by the Intermediate and Senior Dancing Classes, exquisite pastel-tinted voile frocks and light scarfs, making an artistic setting for the softly-weaving measures.

The Junior Dancing Class had an interpretation of the romance of Pierrot and Pierette, in which the heart-broken lover discovers the infatuation of his charmer for the bolder Harlequin. The pensive dancers in their excellently rendered number wore striking carnival costumes of gleaming black, with huge white pompoms, and fluffy neck ruffs.

The Russian Gypsy Dance by the Elementary Class was a colorful, vivacious thing of sparkling atmosphere, the merry, light-footed dancers appearing in short frocks of orange and red, with white blouses, be-ribboned headdresses and tinkling tambourines, while the character-dances of the programme were represented in the opening number, the "Romance of the Spinning Tops," a glimpse from a Russian toy shop given by the Junior class, and "The Sergeant Major and the Cook," by the Intermediate class. Both represented in Pantomime a merry interlude in the programme of artistic dances.

A great deal of untiring agility was demonstrated in the "tops" who kept up a constant hopping through the measures of the whimsical dance. The "tops" appeared in striped costumes of red, yellow and green with cone-shaped caps, while their attendants in the toy shop, winding them up and looking after them generally, wore suits of blue and brown denim. The bouncing activities of the toys and the careful demeanor of their companions, brought them much applause.

Enthusiasm was general for every number of the dancing programme, "The Sergeant-Major and the Cook" receiving a large meed of clapping for its skilful presentation. The tale of the hungry majors ,in suits of blue, adorned with rose-colored caps and rosettes, and the heartless cooks, attired in suits of spotless white, with conventional chefs' caps and aprons, was splendidly interpreted with light-hearted, tripping steps and comical little gestures, by the members of the class. This jolly dance was one of the best of the programme.

One of the loveliest pictures of the evening, the costuming, lighting and general effect giving a professional touch to the dancing finale, was the Balloon dance which closed the programme. The graceful dancers of the Advanced Class and Senior School Girls were gowned in bright gold mull, carrying colored balloons, while balloons appeared in the air above them.

This dance was exceptionally well done, making a colorful and brilliant final number.

Music for the various dances and physical exercises was provided in excellent tempo and rhythm by a quartette of musicians, including Miss Florence Gladman and Miss Madeline Willis at the piano, Mr. Stewart Widdess playing the violin, and Mr. W. Dunlop, drums and traps.

Immediately following the Grand March which formed the opening of the programme, Mayor Holloway appeared on the stage, to make a few remarks with regard to the programme and to commend the excellent work done by the Young Women's Christian Association, and Miss Littlefield, the physical directress.

In intermissions in the programme beautiful bouquets of flowers were presented to Miss Caroline Littlefield, by two cunning wee girls, Evelyn Hill and Berta Belleghem.

Members of the Kiwanis Club occupied boxes last evening for the performance.

The big "Y" Pageant will be repeated in the Grand Opera House to-night.

MAP-MAKER SEEKS OIL DEAL.

The Egyptian legation at Brussels has received an application from a petroleum expert asking to be permitted to make at his own expense a map showing the petroleum sources in Egypt and stating that he will give the map to the government on condition that he is given two per cent. of the crude petroleum found on his indication. The application has been sent to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

"LET'S GO"

If you had a thousand arms and hands, they could be used, each and every one, in beautifying your home. There's a real zest in it, too. The "handy man around the home" has come to be an American Ideal. Why not?

To begin with, for any man or any woman, it is vigorously health-giving exercise. And when the tasks are completed, you have a "show place"—not just a house and lot." Every nail a man drives, every stroke of a brush, every new shrub and tree added to his place, is a form of nvestment.

—and It Boosts Peterboro!

POLICY OF U. S. DISSATISFIES BRITISH PRESS

Chinese Papers Owned in Britain Calls U. S. Parasite.

DEPENDS ON OTHERS.

Administration More Concerned With Election Than Foreign Policy.

PEKING, April 30 (United News). —British dissatisfaction with the United States policy in China today was becoming increasingly evident as the British controlled press continued more or less violent editorially in condemnation of the American role here.

The British-owned Peking Times spoke its mind today in an editorial captioned "Semi-Parasitism."

The United States was depicted as a semi-parasite upon the French and British. The paper said the administration at Washington was more concerned with politics than with China.

Delay in dispatching the Powers' rejoinder to Nationalist Foreign Minister Eugene Chen's reply to the note protesting against the Nanking incident. The Times said, had been attributed to several causes. Among those were the split in the Nationalist party which has separated the extremists at Hankow and the Moderates at Nanking.

Another was the fall of the Japanese Cabinet.

The third and perhaps the most important cause, said The Times, "is the policy of the United States where the administration is less concerned with the situation in China than in the prospects of the Republicans in the Presidential campaign of 1928."

Forts Fly White Flags

LONDON, April 30 (United Press) —Chinese forts on the Yangtse River were flying white flags today as a sign that they would fire no more on foreign ships, said a dispatch to The Daily Express. Gunboats continued to convoy merchantmen, however, the dispatche added.

Chinese Close River

SHANGHAI, April 30 (Canadian Press).—The Nationalist Government has issued an order prohibiting vessels to enter to leave the Whangpoo River by way of the Yangtse between sundown and sunrise and is insisting that the order be obeyed.

The foreign Consuls sent a note to the Foreign Office agreeing to the order as regards passenger vessels, but declining to comply as far as gunboats ware concerned, stating it was necessary for these warcraft to move at any hour deemed necessary. To this note the Foreign Office replied, insisting on compliance with its order.

Wheat Averages Higher On Demand From Europe

CHICAGO, April 30. Canadian Press —Largely as the result of surprising strength shown by the Liverpool market, wheat averaged higher today in early dealings here. The continuedactive demand for wheat both in Great Britain and European countries was reported. Opening at ½ to 1 1-8 advance, Chicago wheat reacted under profit taking but gave evidence of power to rally. Corn and oats were firmer, corn starting unchanged to ½ up and subsequently gaining all around. Provisions held steady.

Opening prices were Wheat, May 137¾, July 131 7-8; corn, May 72¼; July 77¾. Oats, May 45 3-8, July 46¼

Toronto Trading Narrow With Most Stocks Firm

TORONTO, April 30 (Canadian Press).—The market on the Toronto Stock Exchange was inclined to be narrow today and with the exception of a few favorites the list was quiet, though generally firm. International Nickel was a leader in activity and was steady at 56 3-8. Massey-Harris was the weak spot, selling off 3-8 to 37 1-2. Davies "B" gained five points to 16. Brazilian eased one to 138. British American Oil featured the unlisted section both in volume and strength, advancing 7-8 to 27 7-8.

Kirkland and Beaver Dominate Mine Market

Press).—Kirkland Lake and Beaver continued to dominate the interest on the market of the Standard Mining Exchange today. Kirkland Lake moved up five cents to 1.43. Beaver in sympathy sold at 108, a gain of five cents. The dividend-paying gold stocks all displayed strength, with Hollinger having a 30 point rise to 21.00. Nipissing firmed 18 cents to 6.48.

Stock Prices Break Sharply At Closing On Wall Street

NEW YORK, April 30. — (Canadian Press).—Stock prices displayed another sharp reversal of form today, selling off sharply in the last hour, after an early period of strength. Bear traders concentrated at first on United States Steel common, which was hammered below 166 to a new low on the current down swing. General motors fell from an early high of 191 to around 189 when it encountered good buying support.

Selling pressure was particularly effective against Houston Oil, Colorado Fuel, International Combustion, and Continental Baking "A."

Early gains in Missouri Pacific issues were substantially reduced and heaviness developed in New York Central, New Haven and other Rails. Texas and Pacific recorded a sharp gain and Chicago Great Western issues touched new peak prices. The closing was irregular.

Crowds Throng Duffus Sales Rooms For Big Motor Show.

MANY MODELS.

Crowds of country and city people flocked to the Duffus show rooms this morning to put their tickets in the tin box that spells a Whippet car for some lucky individual when the winning card is drawn on May 7th by His Worship Mayor Holloway. On every card that is cast there is the opinion of each entrant on which car he fancies most, and why.

The front show room at the Motor Show now in progress, contains the Whippet cars, with four and six cylinder motors, and of every model, from the snappy looking little sport roadster to the comfortable sedan. What was formerly the garage at the rear of the show rooms, now contains part of the display, exhibiting the large Willys-Knight cars. The show consists of seven Whippet cars and ten Willys-Knights. Both makes of cars are shown in sedan, coupe, sport roadster and coach models.

Someone has got to win the coach, and everyone has the same chance.

Robert Hull of Peterborough was the first man to place a ticket in the box. Mr. Hull was on bright and early this morning so as to make sure that he would be the first in one case at least.

On Friday morning S. Rendell, R.R. No. 5, Peterborough, bought the first Whippet from the J. J. Duffus Ltd., and the salesman was W. A. Duffus.

It is estimated that at least 10,000 people will have crowded into the show-room of the J. J. Duffus Ltd. by 10 o'clock to-night.

GAINS EASILY BEATS NEUMAN

Toronto Boxer Wins Decisively Over Jersey City Man.

LONG RANGE FIGHTING.

TORONTO, April 30. — Larry Gains of Toronto, holder of the Canadian heavyweight championship, added to his laurels when he decisively outpointed Ray Neuman of Jersey City, a heavy of considerable reputation, at the arena gardens last evening. The bout, the main attraction of the Shamrock Athletic Club's show, contained little of the spectacular but was a fairly good one as heavyweight contests go.

Neuman, the dimension of whose waist line has earned for him the nickname of the "Jersey City Fat Boy" waged an aggressive battle, but failed for the most part to draw Gains into any to to toe exchanges of punches. The Toronto boxer, whose height, reach and superior boxing ability in his favor utilized these assets to the best of his ability and earned the decision by a wide

Several times solid left hooks sent Neuman back on his heels, but on such occasions Gains went back to a defensive position and prepared to jab again. He cut Neuman's mouth with one of his left leads in the fourth round, and had the Jersey City man bleeding from the nose in the eighth. He made but little use of his right at long range, but at close quarters did some effective work with it at times.

Neuman found it useless to hit straight at Gains, as it was to attempt to box him. His efforts were lusty swings, of which he had plenty. Scarcely one, however, landed solidly. Gains either blocking them or stepping nimbly out of danger. Neuman's swings, which he threw from and in all directions, were low a number of times, resulting in a $50 fine in the fourth round, after he had been warned in the second by Referee Lou Marsh.

Neuman weighed 194¾ pounds, while Gains's weight was announced as 190½.

Skeeters Rally In Ninth To Defeat Leafs 7 To 4

SKEETERS WIN THIRD GAME

Three-Run Lead Not Near Enough For Faltering Leafs.

TIED IN NINTH.

Maple Leaf Stadium, April 30. — Jersey City made a strong finish yesterday afternoon to win the third game of the series from Toronto 7 to 4. With the score tied up in the ninth the Black Cats landed on Fisher for three hits, one a triple by Collenberger ,and three hits along with a walk, and an excusable error by Lamotte gave them four runs more than enough to win.

The Leafs in their turn bunched three hits, filling the bases, but only got one tally out of the collection as Lawry and Satterfield who were injected as pinch hitters, failed to come through. It was a tough game for Fisher to lose as with perfect support he would probably have been returned a winner. A fumble by Lamotte in the fourth paved the way to the first tallies credit to the Jerseys. Three hits followed for as many runs. Fisher was exceedingly effective in all but these spasms.

Hargrave's homer with one on gave the Leafs two counters in the second. The drive was a liner over short that Nietzke failed to cut down. Spencer singled in another tally in the second while in the ninth Alexander and Harrington made one base blow on successive pitches and after Lawry had fouled out, Burke filled the bases with a single to centre. Then Satterfield's out at second permitted Alexander to score. Spencer ended the affair with a rap that Malone had difficulty in fielding.

GIANTS DEFEAT BOSTON BRAVES

Run Winning Streak For Five Straight Despite Six Arrears.

ROBINS WIN.

NEW YORK, April 30. — Canadian Press. — Despite six errors the New York Giants ran their winning streak for five straights, defeating the Boston Braves here yesterday 10 to 3. Lindstrom, Tyron and Terry smacked for the circuit. The Braves knocked McQuillan out of the box in the second, but Henry, who followed him, was invincible.

The lowly Brooklyn Robins won their third victory of the season yesterday, when their new pitcher Jim Elliott, 235 lbs., from the Pacific Coast League, made his bow in the majors, and shut out the Phillies, 7 to 0. Elliott eased the visiting Phillies down with 4 hits.

PADDOCK QUITS FOR FILM WORK

Will Not Run This Season in National A.A.U. Games.

LOS ANGELES, April 30.—Chas. Paddock, champion sprinter, who several times this year has shelved his spiked shoes, with the intention of keeping them there until he has completed his motion picture work, only to don them again, announced yesterday that he would run no more this year.

Paddock gave his film work as his reason for forsaking the cinder path for the remainder of the year.

"A recent Phoenix, Ariz., exhibition when I lost a slow 220-yard race, convinced me that one can't be a good runner and a motion picture actor at the same time," the holder of the world's 100-yard record of 9.5 seconds said. "Inasmuch as I have decided to go on with my acting it seems best that I should quit running for the year."

Paddock stated that his retirement for the rest of the year was not to be construed as permanent. His retirement will prevent his appearance in the National A.A.U. meet this year.

CRESTA RUN WINS GUINEAS CLASSIC

Book Law and Endowment In Dead Heat For Second.

NEWMARKET, Eng., April 30. — Cresta Run, owned by Lt.-Col. Giles Loder, won the One Thousand Guineas stakes from a field of twenty-eight here yesterday. Lord Astor's Book Law and Lord Lonsdale's Endowment ran a dead heat for second place.

Cresta Run, by Hurry On, out of Brdgemount, won by two lengths at odds of 10 to 1. The betting on Book Law was 13 to 2 and on Endowment 3 to 1.

The race, for three-year-old fillies, was worth, with extras, £9,660, or about $46,800.

Lord Durham's Beam was fourth. Cresta Run easily held off Book Law and Endowment at the finish, doing the mile in 1.38, one-fifth of a second shorter than the fast time made by the three-year-old colt, Adam's Apple, in winning the Two Thousand on Wednesday.

The weather was glorious and an exceptionally large crowd saw the running of the second Classic.

A. Balding rode Cresta Run. She is half-sister of Call Boy, second in Wednesday's Two Thousand, and also of Coronach, last year"s Derby winner. Book Law is a bay filly by Buchan-Popingaol, ridden by Jelliss; and Endowment, a chestnut filly by Silvern-Enrichment, ridden by J. Childs.

The race is one of the two greatest events for 3-year-old fillies, ranking with the Oaks at Epsom. The One Thousand is worth about $42,000 and was first run in 1840.

You'd Be SURPRISED!

BY BILLY EVANS

Grover Cleveland Alexander, famous pitcher, boasts practically every record possible for a pitcher to possess, except one.

Alexander is one of the very few pitchers who has won more than 300 ball games in the majors. That in itself is a most remarkable achievement.

Alexander is the only pitcher now showing in the majors who for three successive years has 30 or more victories to his credit.

In 1915, when Alexander won 33 games, he established a major league record for shutouts by scoring 16, practically half of his victories.

Scores of other pitching records carry the name of Grover Cleveland Alexander, yet this master twirler has never pitched a no-hit game.

"I have probably threatened to break in the no-hit class in a score of games," says Alexander, "but never came through.

"I have gone to the seventh inning in any number of games without allowing a hit, also gotten as far as the eighth only to falter and have several times entered in the ninth session with a chance.

"My closest call was in a game against St. Louis. I was pitching for Philadelphia. With two out in the ninth and two strikes and no balls on the batter, Artie Butler, he hit a Texas leaguer."

Inside Sporting Dope

Mister Sporting Editor:

A wild-eyed bird what looked like a spring poet burst into the office the other day, and before we could throw him out, he got this much off his chest:

And the suckers in the creek."

And it just reminded me that with the pickerel season due to open Mon. they ain't nobody seems to know just what the regulations is about catching them fish. The customers has been bothering me to know kin you trawl for pickerel, or have you got to still fish, or kin you cast, or what have you. And believe me, Mac, what I don't know about the law or fishing either would fill more libraries than Mister Carnegie's money could build. I couldn't get a bite if they give me the exclusive fishing rights in a aquarium. Anyway, I understand they is some legal way to catch pickerel, and the boys had better find it out before next week or Mister Carson's libel to do a little fishing on his own acc.

Since my last billy-do the Peterborough ball club has picked on Mister Max Swanston to manage them on the field this season—as usual they'll be a lot of birds, of course, doing the managing from the grandstand seats. Mister Swanston oughta make a hotsy-totsy boss, and the lads what try to stick a nap into the middle of a ball game is libel to be woke up pronto when the backstop barks at them. They's a lot better places to go to sleep than on the bases, and the new pilot will point that out to the talent before the season is nicely started. The Petes oughta to have a hustling ball club this season because the boys is showing a lotta early pep.

Speaking of baseball, Mister Sporting Editor, I'm glad to hear that though the Public Schools has organized a softball league they is going to be some hardball played, too, this season. It looked for a while as if they was a sort of a Aggie MacPhail spirit getting into the schools so that the rising generation would be raised gentle. You know what I mean, kinda handsome but helpless. But I of the teachers tells me that although they ain't no school hardball league and the school grounds is better for the picnic brand than a real ball game, 3 or 4 of the schools is going to have hardball teams. That's good news. If the schools was giving up hardball for a man's game like lacrosse I wouldn't crab a bit, but, honest-to-gosh, Mac, it ain't cheerful to think of real, lively, healthy kids being brung up on a sport diet of softball. A nice game and all that, but too darned mild to be good training for Canadian boys.

By the way, Mac, hockey fans is sorry to learn that Mister Babe Bogardis has asked the local club to give him his release to Port Colborne, where he used to play. Mister Bogardis shook the dust of Peterborough off of his brogues a coupla weeks ago, and in his going the Petes lost a real tidy little bit of hockey stuff. In the 2 seasons he has played here Mister Bogardis has been as useful as a corkscrew is likely to be about the middle next month. He was a big help winning the sr. honours his 1st year here, and the recent season was always 1 of the liveliest of the party in every game. Here's wishing him all kinds of luck in the Port.

Well, Mister Sporting Editor, it's time to brake off now. So long, and don't tell the Major.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

For years the post of professional at one of the best known golf courses in the south of England has been filled by the widow of the former professional, with her two sons acting as her assistants.

The United States' Football Federation has arranged to send delegates to the annual congress of the international socces organization which is to be held in early summer at Helsingfors, Finland.

TENNIS NEWS

By MINOTT SAUNDERS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, April 30—(United Press) It is hard court of tennis tradition upon which professional tennis players hope to play in England.

Nothing since the sigh of relief caused by Suzie Lenglen's retirement from amateur circles has so pleased the amateur tennis potentates of England than the retirement of "Cash and Carry" Pyle from the promotion of professional stars. This was received as the final defeat of the unwelcome opposition. Wimbledon is its great and glorious self again, and those who cannot with clean rackets play at Wimbledon cannot play anywhere in England to their advantage.

Yet the long down-trodden worm is trying to turn. The professional lawn tennis players of this country are attempting to form an association of their own which will protect the rights of the paid players. They say they do not mean to be hostile to the governing body, which is Wimbledon, but they want to be recognized. One of their objects, they say, is to raise the standard of play among professionals so that it will no longer be below that of amateurs.

The professionals also hope to establish a professional championship which in time might become an open champion of tennis, similar to the Open Championship to golf in this country.

The open championship is not intended to rival Wimbledon, but will be a sort of added attraction in the tennis world. It is no secret, however ,that the [illegible]onals still hope to win the right of entry in Wimbledon to[illegible]nt, though this is a very remote possibility. Aristocratic old Wimbledon does not know such individuals as professionals.

The proposed professional organization will be international in scope, but exclusive in atient. Only genuine professionals of proven merit will, according to plans, be allowed to join. This would seem to refer to Suzie, Richards, Feret, Mary Browne, Jimmy Anderson, Howard Kinsey and those professionals who are behind the movement and hitherto have been, and will probably remain, unknown.

As a small beginning a professional championship will be held here this spring. H. A. Sabelli secretary of the Lawn Tennis Association, has announced that the competition is open to players of all nations. Entries must be filed by March 31. The championship has not been contested since 1920, when Charles R. Read of Queen's Club deprived the holder, C. Hierons, of the title. Since then the title has always gone by default. The regulations provide that every challenge is to be for a stake of $500 a side, and a deposit of $50 must be forwarded with every challenge.

This association has not yet embraced women professionals. Its hopes for a tournament this year are based on the fact that a few well-known players have turned professional.

Outside of the ambition of the players, there is not the slightest demand here for a professional tournament and promoters regard such a suggestion as a poor financial investment. The fans here never liked Lenglen because her personality suggested a kind of sportsmanship of which the English do not approve, and certainly no other professional gallery here.

To-day they are still playing after having amassed a total of nearly a quarter of a million points. During the eight years the two have met over the green table every Tuesday evening without an interruption.The game, which is claimed to be the longest on record, represents more than 400 nightly sessions, and something like 3600 hours of actual playing time.

Reece Breaks Billiards Record With New Stroke

LONDON, Eng., April 30.—Tommy Reece, professional billiard player, ran his break up to 3,800 unfinished at the end of yesterday's play in his 15,000 point match with Arthur Peall. Reece used the pendulum cannon stroke in making his break, which he started Thursday, and his new mark smashes the old break of 3,304 made at Westminster Royal Acquarium by W. J. Peall, father of his present opponent. Peall, Senior, made his record break largely with the "spot stroke," afterwards barred, and it is possible Reece's pendulum stroke will also be barred.

RUTH KNOCKS FOURTH HOMER

Stars in Yankees' 9-0 Victory Over the Boston Red Sox.

GAME POSTPONED.

NEW YORK, April 30. Canadian Press. — The sun shone in Boston yesterday and the Yankees whitewashed the Sox 9 to 0. Babe Ruth had a big day, knocking his fourth homer of the season, making a double and a single and a star catch on the difficult left field embankment. Dutch Ruether pitched steadily for New York, yielding but six hits, and allowing only one man to reach third.

At Philadelphia the Athletics won their fifth straight by defeating Washington 8 to 7. The Mackmen used five pitchers. Thurston for Washington and Lamar for Philadelphia had home runs. Ty Cobb made a single, a double and a triple.

Rip Collins, starting his first game of the season, pitched Detroit to a 5 2 victory over Cleveland. Buckeye allowed the Tigers 10 of their 11 hits and gave way to Levsen in the ninth. Double plays in the second and third lifted Collins out of holes.

New Bodies
New Colors
New Refinements

AT NEW LOW PRICES

THE art and skill of Fisher craftsmen are strikingly exemplified in the long, low lines of the New and Finer Pontiac Six bodies, in their smart belted effects and in their luxurious comfort!

Rich Duco finish, in the latest and most appealing colors, adds to the striking beauty of the New and Finer Pontiac Six. New refinements such as sweeping, full-crown fenders, new, higher radiator, tilting beam headlights, place this car in a class far above that into which its phenomenally low price brings it.

And, back of all these evident improvements and advances stand the established Pontiac qualities of power, speed, stamina and economy—the qualities which won for Pontiac Six the most outstanding success ever accorded any new car during its first year.

Only by seeing the New and Finer Pontiac Six, by driving it and by learning its new, lower prices, can you realize how great a thing has General Motors done in the field of the low-priced six.

Parliament Has No Relief For the Married Women

LONDON, April 30—The House of Commons yesterday rejected a bill which was designed to protect a married woman from being dismissed or refused appointment by any public authority merely on the ground of their marriage.

The vote was 84 to 63. One of the present customs which the bill would have altered was the dismissal of women school teachers of London upon their marriage. One of the arguments used against the measure was that women civil service employes were opposed to it on the contention that it would decrease their opportunity for promotion.

IN MEMORIAM.

MOHER.—In sad and loving memory of Bertha Moher, who passed away May 1st, 1925.

The place made vacant in our home
Can never more be filled."

— Inserted by her loving Father, Mother, Sisters and Brothers.

ONTARIO DIVIDES ON TIME TONIGHT

TORONTO, April 30 (Canadian Press).—When clocks in cities and towns in Ontario are moved forward an hour at midnight to-night and daylight saving becomes effective, the province will again be divided on the question of time. Practically all of the Niagara Peninsula will remain on standard time, with the exception of Thorold and St. Catharines, which will advance their clocks one hour.

Ottawa, Kingston, Oshawa, St. Catharines and Toronto are the Ontario cities which will adopt daylight saving while Windsor, London, Hamilton and other cities will remain on standard time.

HEADACHES

Modern science has proved that headaches don't "just happen." They have a cause. The ache is but an effect, and treating effects will do no real good. TO ADJUST THE CAUSE IS THE ONLY SOLUTION. Chiropractic has further proved that the cause is interference with the nerves that carry vital force or mental impulse, which is the source of all life within the body. The only place where such interference by bony structure can exist is where the nerves leave the spinal column through openings between the vertebrae. Headaches may be

DIRECT OR ADAPTATIVE

That is, they may be due directly to pressure upon nerve fibres which supply the tissues of the head and brain or they may be adaptative to abnormalities in other organs of the body. In either case the Chiropractor determines the location of the nerve pressure which is responsible for the headache. He releases this pressure and the ache disappears. This is not theory or a fanciful idea, but actual fact, a grand reality which has brought and is NOW bringing relief to numerous sufferers.

BRITISH HOUSE BEGINS DEBATE ON UNION BILL

First Major Struggle Since War Between Labor and Government.

TRADES UNION BILL.

Measure Coming Up To-day Will Also Forbid General Lockout.

LONDON, May 2. — Exactly one year after the outbreak of the British general strike, the first big polical struggle between Labor and Government on the first vital issue to divide the country since the war, will commence in the House of Commons to-day.

The Government will then introduce its Trade Disputes and Trade Unions Bill. It is, according to the Cabinet, designed to prevent another general strike. But in the Labor view it undoes all that has been gained by three-quarters of a century of struggle and puts British labor in a worse position than it was in 1859.

Intense bitterness has already been aroused by the vagueness of clauses which can be interpreted as a ban on many strikes which are not general. Prime Minister Baldwin has decided to introduce an amendment forbidding a general lockout as well as a general strike.

The bill will undoubtedly be forced through this year by the huge Government majority. But it has united labor for the first time since the collapse of the general strike. It certainly will be a paramount issue, until, and during the next general election.

A severe blow to the Government yesterday was the defection of a powerful Conservative editor, J. L. Garvin, of the Observer, who attacked the bill, writing:

"The contentious clauses of the bill do inevitably open up a new class war. Nothing else can come of it."

Realizing the magnitude of the issue raised, both the Tory and Labor parties are conducting a whirlwind campaign of speeches, meetings and propaganda through the country.

The rising temper of the controversy was indicated by the Earl of Birkenhead, who Saturday in a speech for the Cabinet, declared:

"Call your meetings, blow all your trumpets, make all your speeches, unfurl all your red flags, and when you have done it all, the bill is going through Parliament now."

To which the Daily Herald, Labor's organ, has prepared this reply for its issue to-day:

"Labor accepts the challenge. From now on Labor members of both Houses will contest the bill inch by inch. Again and again they will be voted down in the division lobbies. But in this struggle Labor will know no defeat."

The Liberal leaders—the Earl of Oxford and Asquith, Sir John Simons, David Lloyd George—and most of their followers in Parliament are against the bill, but the Conservative majority is big enough to crush both Opposition parties combined.

Main Provisions of Bill

The main provisions of the bill, and those to which Labor most hotly objects, follow:—

Clause I. is intended to penalize general strike attempts and prevent all strikes extending beyond a particular trade or industry. It forbids intimidation of any substantial portion of the community.

Clause II. forbids any trade union to expel or in any way prejudice a member who refuses to join in any strike forbidden by the new law.

Clause III. presents a new legal definition of "intimidation" in terms which Labor claims will prevent even peaceful picketing. It is made illegal to "cause in the mind of a person of apprehension of hatred, ridicule or contempt."

Class VII. empowers the attorney general to seize trade union funds in many circumstances which do not involve a general strike or the danger of a general strike. The political funds of the unions must be separately collected and separately used from other funds, and cannot be transferred from one fund to another. Not only the leaders but the rank and file as well are subject to indictment for taking part in any of the many kinds of strikes which are made illegal.

This summary will indicate why labor has come together with an enthusiasm hitherto unknown in British history. The bill will be passed probably much as it is, but whether it can be enforced or whether labor will not sweep the country on the issue later is more debatable.

Ernest Bevin, one of the chief leaders of the general strike, told a big mass meeting to-day that the Government is planning a dictatorship to prevent a labor victory at the next election. He indicates the temper of labor's left, moderate Tories on the other side are being submerged in the battle cries of the extremists, and even if Mr. Baldwin wished to modify the bill it is doubtful that his supporters would allow him.

Says That Oyster Feels Badly Swallowed Alive

LONDON, May 2 (Associated Press). Oysters are much more sensitive than lobsters, says E. B. Boulenger, Curator of the Aquarium at the London Zoo, who declares that oysters probably feel a lot worse when they are chewed or swallowed alive than lobsters do when plunged into hot water.

The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has rallied to the defence of the lobster and there is much speculation among London resaurateurs as to whether the oyster and snail will now enlist a similar defence.

"The higher the form of life an animal has the more keenly it feels," says Mr. Boulenger. "Oysters and snails are a much higher form than lobsters. Snails must suffer when they are killed in salt water, and oysters, which escape death when chewed by man, undoubtedly have a painful time when plunged into the gastric juices."

GIRL INJURED BY MOTOR CAR

Irene Heard Knocked Down When Crossing Street Near Home.

CROSSES AHEAD OF BUS.

On Saturday afternoon Irene Heard, daughter of R. C. Heard, 891 Water Street, was knocked down by a car driven by Mrs. C. R. Lemay of Lakefield, and seriously hurt.

The little girl, accompanied by her sister, had been down town and returned home on one of the motor buses. Mrs. Lemay, accompanied by four other people, was going north on Water Street. The bus stopped at the corner of Water and Hilliard [illegible] off. After the girls got off they went in front of [illegible] to the police, and at the same time Mrs. Lemay came up behind; seeing nobody coming around the back of the bus, she went to go by. The girl rushed for the sidewalk, and Mrs. Lemay, in an attempt to miss her, turned her car towards the sidewalk also, and in doing so knocked the girl down.

The girl was removed to Nicholls Hospital suffering from a bad scalp wound and injuries to the back, and Dr. Yelland was called and is attending the case.

The Quaker Oats Company First To Use Sheds

A Variety Of Products To Various Destinations Shipped Early Saturday Morning.

The opening of a new railway freight sheds in Peterborough may not be of world-wide moment, but how many residents can remember when the old C.N.R. sheds, now discarded, were built? It is true the C.P.R. sheds are of more recent erection, but certain happenings in connection with their opening have already past into history.

Shortly after seven o'clock on Saturday morning trucks laden with products of the Quaker Oats Company were the first to actually use the new freight sheds for regular business, and included the following: Quick Quaker oats, Quaker corn flakes, Quaker puffed rice, Quaker puffed wheat, Tillson's natural bran, Quaker macaroni, Quaker macaroni ready-cut, Quick Quaker china oats, Quaker spaghetti, Quaker cake flour, Aunt Jemima buckwheat flour, Victor rolled wheat, feed, and the shipments were destined to Kapuskasing, Ont.; Granby, Que.; Milverton, Ont.; Vankleek Hill, Ont.; Hawkesbury, Ont.; Alexandria, Ont.; Grand Falls, N.B.; Beaverton, Ont.; Ormstown, Que.; St. John's, Nfld.

When trucks contain such a variety of items for so many different destinations it will give a small idea of the varied nature of the Quaker Oats business and the large territory supplied from this mill in domestic business.

Who of us now in business will see the opening of new freight sheds and who will be the first shipper to use them?

"World Teacher" Sails For Meeting In Holland

NEW YORK, May 2.—(A.P.)—With much less commotion than was created when he arrived last August Jeddu Krishnamurti, the "vehicle" through which many Theosophists believe the Godhead has spoken, sailed for England yesterday.

The slight young Hindu was reading "Elmer Gantry" as the boat sailed.

He will go first to England, he said, and then to Holland for the annual international meeting of Theosophists. He will give no lectures in England, but Mrs. Annie Besant, his "spiritual mother," who sailed with him, will speak four times.

CALL FOR MEN TO HELP FIGHT RISING WATER

River Breaks Levees Protecting North-eastern Part of Louisiana.

MANY ENDANGERED.

Warning Given To Residents of Lowlands To Drive Out Cattle.

NEW ORLEANS, May 2 (Canadian Press).—The cry for men was heard today as the flood waters of the Mississippi coursed through four breaks in the barriers protecting Northeastern Louisiana, stretching from Vicksburg, on the east, to Shreveport on the west, the loosened waters taper down to a mere mile of racing torrent, where the Red, Atachafalaya and the Mississippi form a junction near Baton Rouge. Hundreds of persons in Concordia, Avoyelles, Catahoula, and Tensas parishes were endangered as the waters from the new breaks opposite Natchez rose about them.

The breaks through which the waters poured yesterday were believed by engineers to have insured the safety of levees between Natchez and the mouth of the Red River, but the situation was threatening between Vicksburg and Natchez and south of the Red River. Here, men fought to raise and strengthen levees to meet the joined flow of the two streams. Because of a threatened crevasse in the Big Ben levee, warning has been sent through the lowlands of Bayou des Glaises to drive cattle out and to have women and children ready of immediate removal. While many residents had left the district, others were determined to face the impending rise as long as possible.

PACT RUMOR STIRS EUROPE

Italy Is Given Free Hand of the Balkans, Belgrade Claims.

NEW PACTS LIKELY.

BERLIN, May 2.—A sensational report of a secret pact between England and Italy, which, if genuine, would give Italy a free hand in the Balkans and force a radical realignment of Powers in Europe, is published in Belgrade by the newspaper Wreme.

The publication of the alleged pact is arousing great interest in Europe, because the Wreme is so close to the Jugo-Slavian Foreign Minister and because, whether the pact is a fact or not, the story marks the reported increasing bitterness in the relations between Jugo-Slavia and Italy.

Albania Under Italy

According to The Wreme the alleged pact provides:

1.—England acknowledges the pact of Tirana under which Italy established a protectorate over Albania, the pact being the main bone of contention between Jugo-Slavia and Italy;

2.—England and Italy agree on joint action by their fleets in the Mediterranean in case of war;

3.—Tangiers goes to Spain, in return for which Spain is supposed to turn over the Balearic Islands in the Mediterranean, off the coast of Valencia, to Italy;

4.—Italy pledges support to England in the Far East;

5.—England supports Italy in the Balkans.

New Pacts Likely

Such a pact, especially the agreement regarding joint action of the fleets, it is agreed by some here, would force Jugo-Slavia, and especially France, to reconsider their whole position in Europe and seek new alliances to oppose the Anglo-Italian bloc.

The Jugo-Slavian press continues to charge that Italy is feverishly preparing for war. The whole region around Fiume, it is charged, is like an armed camp, occupied by the Fascist militia, which is supposed to be putting up concrete trenches and foundations for big guns. The Italian fleet is alleged to be in readiness for an alarm at Quarnero.

Fascist organizations, it is charged in the Jugo-Slavian press, are freely talking of the time to come when they will free Dalmatia from "foreign Barbarians."

APRIL MARRIAGES DOWN 50 PER CENT.

Total For Month Only 14—Fewer Births and More Deaths.

During April there was a decrease in the number of marriages and births and an increase in the number of deaths in this city over the same month last year. There were 14 marriages, 33 births, and 32 deaths last month, and in April, 1926, there were 29 marriages, 52 births, and 29 deaths.

Plans To Try Noctovision On "Mystery Box" Of Prophetess Southcott Before Opening It

LONDON, May 2 (A.P.).—Noctovision, television and other powerful visions will be brought into play to penetrate the inner secrets of Joanna Southcott's famous "mystery box," if X-ray tests this week fail to reveal its contents.

The mahogany box of the prophetess, who had a large following on her death in 1814, is now in the possession of Harry Price, Secretory of the National Laboratory of Psychical Research, and it will be opened if all other tests fail. Mr. Price has invited twenty leading mediums, Sir Conan Doyle, Sir Oliver Lodge and others interested in psychical research, to aid in solving the long-standing puzzle of the contents of the box, which has attracted much attention at intervals for more than 100 years.

Tradition has it that when Joanna, who was a domestic servant and later became a religious fanatic, died, she turned a mysterious box over to Rebecca Pengarth, her sole companion, who solmenly promised it never would be opened except in a national crisis and in the presence of thirty-four bishops.

Rebecca married John Morgan and bequeathed the box to her son, John, who was a gardener for a Devonshire family. Upon his deathbed, John turned the box over to his employer, asking him to follow out Joanna's wishes. His last words were: "Don't forget the bishops."

The Devonshire man has now gone to Africa and has turned the box over to Mr. Price.

The box, which is shaped like the Ark of the Covenant, is twelve inches by nine and a half inches and weighs eleven pounds. It has a strong old-world padlock, is bound with metal bands and has five black wax seals, bearing the engraved head of George III.

STORMY SCENE IN BRITISH HOUSE WHEN THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL MOVES SECOND READING OF BILL

Laborites Interrupt Speech With Angry Protests Against Measure.

GALLERIES CROWDED.

Government's Offer To Amend Bill Greeted With Ironical Cheers.

LONDON, May 2 (Canadian Press)—Sir Douglas Hogg, the Attorney-General, moved the second reading of the Government Trades Union Bill, designed to prevent coercive strikes, in the House of Commons this afternoon. Five minutes after he began speaking, he was being interrupted by broadsides of angry cries of protest from the Labor benches.

Sir Douglas said the Government was prepared to consider amendments to remove ambiguities or defects in the bill, but he threw down the gauntlet to the Laborites by declaring that the Government would resist to the utmost attempts designed to defeat the main principles of the measure. The Opposition received this with ironical cheers.

It was evident to the crowded galleries that the situation was full of dynamite. A reference by the Attorney General to the "illegality" of last year's general strike brought J. H. Thomas, veteran Railwaymen's leader, to his feet in protest, and raised a hurricane among the Laborites.

Twice at the outset the Speaker of the House intervened to restore quiet. The storm subsided, however, and heckling by individuals was replaced by mass cheering and counter-cheering.

Among the principles of the bill, Sir Douglas said, were:

"A general strike is illegal, and no man shall be penalized for refusing to take part in one."

"Intimidation is illegal and no man shall be coerced, by threats, to abstain from working against his will."

"No man shall be compelled to subscribe to the funds of any political party unless he so desires."

MIRACLE PERFORMED BY UTILITIES IN SELLING 159 HORSE POWER MORE THAN IT BOUGHT, SAYS MR. HALL

A Miracle was performed in our midst in 1921. It seems strange that it has been allowed to pass by unnoticed by the chief actors concerned or by their chief admirers. The miracle is so remarkable that even their most unbelieving critics must "sit up and take notice" and record the miracle even though the modesty of the chief actors is such that they desire to have it hidden away in the sacred volume of the Hydro Reports of 1921.

SOLD MORE THAN BOUGHT

According to this report, our Local Commission sold to our power consumers 159 horse-power more than they bought from the Hydro Commission—the sole vendors of power in this city. Some one got short measure, says the unbeliever; but that is not all. The Local Commission sold this power for $23,870.00 less than it cost it, but at the close of the year the Local Commission shows it made a gross profit of $14,010.76 on the sale of power and light during the year 1921.

PROFIT ON SALE BELOW COST

Nought from nought you cannot. A profit cannot be made by selling below cost, but the Hydro report says it can and does show it.

Now that in itself is a miracle. But that is not all. It is claimed the Local Commission, under the guidance of its master the Hydro Commission so "diversified" and "peak loaded" and "power factored" its customers that it had enough and plenty to spare to sell and deliver from its vanished and exhausted power supply, still enough power on hand to supply all the power necessary to light the homes and business places of this city and its streets. That took at least 3,000 horse-power. In other words the Local Commission shows that it sold 3,159 horse-power more than it bought.

MIRACLES ON RECORD

These miraculous showings are recorded in the Hydro report for the year 1921 at pages 172, 426 and 453. Do your readers want further proof of this miracle? The same pages show that the power users only paid $15.97 per horse-power, whilst it cost the Local Commission $22.50 per horse-power to buy the same identical power.

NORTH AMERICAN INDIAN AND HYDRO

Such is the miracle that was performed by these public utilities in 1921, but what is our plight in 1927? Are we still self-deceived? Are we sickened with the ever-increasing cost of power and light? Does not Mr. W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., see the undeveloped water powers to the North going to waste "under public ownership" with no more use, for power purposes being made of them, than was made by the North American Indians in the days of Samuel de Champlain?

SEE OURSELVES AS OTHERS SEE US

Let us examine ourselves and see what the Continental tourist would think of this community. He would see a most beautiful city, centrally located in Canada, excellent railway service, a canal unused and water powers undeveloped. He would see more. He would see a community that has been at a standstill for ten years, with its assessments and its taxes ever increasing, and worst of all a city where its young men see no visions and its old men dream no dreams.

W. H. BRADBURN, M.P.P., MAN OF THE HOUR

There is one man in this community that can do more than any other to release this city from the ties that bind it to stagnation and decay, and that is Mr. W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P. He can have legislation passed to give this city the right to buy electric horse-power in the open market and not have it shackled and bound as a common slave that is "forced from home and all its pleasures" 300 years ago.

The Syndicate I represent can save this city no less than $40,000.00 per year if this city would give up Hydro worship and its wonder-working miracles.

May 2nd, 1927. R. R. HALL.

P.S.—Mr. W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., has an excellent chance to show his worth. He will not surely turn it down.

BEER PASSES BORDER UNDER MANY NAMES

Customs Seals Stolen and Officers Fixed To Make Trafifc Easier.

DOCUMENTS CHANGED.

Car Marked Empty On Arrival at Windsor, Goes Out as Washing Powder.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 2 (Canadian Press).—Beer moves from Canada to the United States by the carload under the innocent guise of such commodities as silk, sugar, canned goods and washing powder. This was revealed before the Customs Commission to-day.

According to a witness, in order that this traffic may go on, Customs seals are stolen, officials are "fixed," and documents are forged.

Earlier in the sitting C. A. Savard, of Detroit, a large operator in the whiskey export movement to the United States, testified that the business in which he was interested ran about $5,000,000 a year. He had not made income tax returns, not knowing whether he was liable in Canada.

Thomas Gibson, yardmaster at the Canadian National Wabash yards here, told how car number 130807 entered Canada at Bridgeburg billed to Detroit as an "empty." This, according to his records, the empty car mysteriously changed into a car of washing powder before it crossed on the car ferry to Detroit.

Colin D. Wilton, United States Customs officer in Detroit, stated that when car number 130807 was seized on the ferry on the Detroit side of the river, 1,483 cases of Carling's Canadian beer and ale were found in it.

Asked how the car came to carry United States Customs seals intact when it reached Detroit, F. A. Young, special Customs agent of the United States Treasury, said the seals were stolen.

W. J. Hotrum, C.N.R. agent at Walkerville, said a car of beer came to Walkerville on January 16, 1926, from the Carling Brewery and was signed for by "H. Lowe" at Walkerville. The car was placed on a team track and next day it was found billed as a car of sugar to a United States point. He told of two other cars from the same brewery which, he said, went through the same process. Instead of sugar, however, one went out as "milk" and another as "canned goods."

THE WEATHER

The rainfall in April gave a total of only .88 of an inch or about 25 per cent. of the average. Rain fell on six days. There was no snow, with the exception of a few stray flurries. The warmest day was the 19th, with a temperature of 78 degrees in the shade; the coolest day was the 8th, when the temperature fell to 19 degrees. May opened pleasantly, the thermometer rising to 61 degrees. The rainfall last night amounted to .16.—W. P.

FRANK OLDFIELD IS HERE TONIGHT

Popular Toronto Singer Assists at St. Andrew's Choir Concert.

GOOD PROGRAMME.

The ever popular Toronto baritone, Mr. Frank Oldfield, is the assisting artist at the annual concert of St. Andrew's Church Choir to be given this evening at 8.15. An excellent and diversified programme has been arranged, including solos by Mr. Oldfield, which are somewhat different in type from his usual selections. Mrs. Doig, of St. Andrew's Choir, will be heard in solo work, and there is also on the programme an excellent arrangement for ladies' voices. The male voice section of the Choir will present two very fine selections, and Miss Agnes Logan, the clever accompanist, with Mr. John Crane, will offer a piano and organ duet. The choir is also very much indebted to members of sister choirs of the city for their very able assistance.

The complete programme for this evening is as follows:

Choir selections, "Praise the Lord" and "Come, O Thou Traveller"; numbers by Mr. Frank Oldfield, "The Broad Highway" (from "The Dream Girl") and "The Sergeant-Major"; the choir, with Mrs. H. F. Doig, Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer"; organ and piano duett by Mr. Crane and Miss Logan, "Adormus"; male chorus, "Good Nght, Beloved"; the Choir, "Gounod's "All Ye Who Weep" and "Deep River" (Negro Spiritual); Mr. Oldfield, "I am Fate" and "If I Were"; chorus for Ladies' Voices, "Lullaby"; Male chorus, Dudley Buck's "In Absence"; Mrs. Doig, in solos, "Starry Woods," "The Dancers" and "At the Well"; the choir, Dvorak's "Going Home" from "The New World Symphony"; Mr. Oldfield, "Honor and Arms" from "Samson," and "Praise"; final number by the Choir, in eight-part harmony, "Trisagian and Sanctus."

Honors Poet Cros As Inventor Of Phonograph

PARIS, May 2.—A bronze tablet in memory of the French poet-inventor, Charles Cros, was unveiled Saturday on the facade of a little three-story house at 5 Rue de Tournon, denoting that the picturesque savant dwelt there and was the first "inventor of the phonograph."

M. Justin Godin, President of the Paris Municipal Council, in the unveiling address recalled that, more than 6 months before Thomas A. Edison's announcment of his pronograph, Cros had invented a machine for reproducing the human voice. Because of lack of financial backing the Frenchman was unable to continue his work with the machine, which the American electrical wizard perfected, M. Godin declared.

M. Bernard, President of the French talking machine syndicate, also praised the life and genius of the French inventor.

FIREMEN HAVE BUSY WEEK END

Five Fires During Three Days—Many Calls During April.

MOSTLY GRASS FIRES.

At 4.30 p.m. on Saturday the firemen responded to a small fire in the Lock Works factory, and at 4.21 a call was answered to 634 Union street to a chimney fire. On Sunday morning at 12.08 the department was called to another chimney fire on Lansdowne street, and at 4.38 p.m. a grass fire was extinguished in the rear of the City Engineer's residence. The last call for the week end was received at 6.34 a.m. to 513 Donegal street. This fire was of a unique nature, the conflagration being caused by a man smoking his pipe in bed, the ashes setting fire to his mattress.

Chief Gimblett told The Examiner this morning that last month marked the busiest month in the history of the Peterborough Fire Department. Although many of the alarms were grass fires, the total number of calls answered was eighty-nine.

MANY PERMITS IN PAST MONTH

Seven Dwellings and Twenty-two Garages Among Buildings Planned.

TOTAL VALUE $35,915.

Building in the last month has taken on its old time vigor in this city. Seven new dwelling houses are being erected, and twenty-two garages, and there were thirty miscellaneous permits that were isued by the City Engineering during the month of April. These permits involve a total of $35,915.00, which is more than double the amount issued in April, 1926.

Many citizens have put the clean-up campaign into good effect by building new verandahs, reshingling their buildings, and making other renovations which are included in the thirty miscellaneous permits that were issued during the month.

The seven new dwellings that are being erected will all be completed during the summer and range in value from $800 to $4,500, making a total amount of $25,000.

H. T. Hickey, contractor and owner, is building a house on lot 22, Gilmour street. This will be a seven roomed brick house valued at $3,000.

A. B. Cunningham is erecting a house for R. Walsh at the cvorner of Ross and Dufferin streets. This is a six room house at an estimated cost of $3,500.

John P. Ego, contractor and owner, is building a six room brick house at an estimated cost of $2,500 at 101 Gladstone avenue.

Two dwelling houses are being built on lots 14 and 15, Gilmour street. These will be two storey, seven room, brick houses, estimated to cost $4,500 each and are being erected by Charles H. Huffman and Sons.

M. Mayock is building a six-roomed house at 457 Elm street at an estimated cost of $800.

A. B. Cunningham is erecting a house at 549 Romaine street for J. C. Poolman at an estimated cost of $4,200, and Russell Henry is building a house at 23 Douglas avenue for John Smith at an estimated cost of $2,000.

The twenty-two garages range in value from $30 to $350.

AROUND THE CITY

The Kiwanis junior and juvenile baseball teams will practice to-night and to-morrow night at the King Edward Park at 6.00 o'clock sharp. All boys of the city wishing to try out for a place on either of these two fast teams are requested to be out for practice.

Employment Bureau records show that last week there were forty new applicants for work and sixty-five placements, with one hundred and eighteen still on the list.

NO REPLY ON BORDER LAW CONFERENCE

Understood That Several New Factors Have Crept Into Discussions.

CAPITAL WONDERING

Possibility Canada Might Be Compelled to Meet Regulations With Reprisals.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(Canadian Press.)—Ten days after Canada protested against the new border regulations of the United States' Government and asked for a conference on the subject, Washington is still wondering what the reply will be. On Tuesday a reply was known to be ready for signature. On Wednesday there were some last minute conferences between the state department which formally decides whether there shall be a conference or not, and the labor department, which has control of immigration matters. It is now pretty generally understood that the first reaction of the state department was to discourage a conference on what it considered merely an enforcement of an established law. Now several new factors crept into the discussions. One is the possibility that Canada might be compelled to meet the new regulations with reprisals. There are many thousands of United States' workers in Canadian plants, especially plants owned by United States' interests. These might be subjected to an examination to discover if they have conformed to the strict letter of the Canadian contract labor laws.

Jay Treaty.

Another factor in the case is the Jay Treaty of 1794. At least one expert in international law informs the Canadian Press that the Jay Treaty is probably still in force, in spite of the War of 1812. And that treaty gives the right to "pass and re-pass" the border to "His Majesty's subjects and citizens of the United States."

The term "His Majesty's subjects" is not qualified in the treaty by any reference to whether they were born in Canada or not. The new regulations would compel Canadian residents born outside the Dominion to conform to the quota immigration laws of the United States. Many of the border residents who work on the United States side, of course, are of British birth.

The Canadian legation has had repeated conferences with the immigration and state departments on the subject.

Hon. Vincent Massey told the Canadian press yesterday that he was not in a position to make any announcement as yet, except that he had every hope of a favorable reply in the near future to his request for a conference between the two governments before the date set for the enforcement of the new regulations, June 1.

NEW BREAKS FLOOD TOWNS OF LOUISIANA

70,000 People Threatened By Rush of Waters Over New Area.

SPREADS IN NORTH.

Further Warnings Issued By Bureau in Red River District.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 2 (AP)—Louisiana yesterday began feeling the full force of the floods which have devastated more than ten thousand square miles of territory and a score of towns in Arkansas, Mississippi and other valley states to the north.

Breaking through the protecting levees at four places, south of Vidalia, the rushing Mississippi torrent was completing the inundation of Concordia parish with prospects that it would overflow most of Catahoula, Northern Avoyelles and the low parts of Lasalle and Eastern Rapides parishes.

The threatened territory consists of about 3,100 square miles with a population of 70,000 people and a property value of more than thirty million dollars.

While the main river flood water was claiming this new area, the overflow from the Arkansas river was spreading over Southeastern Arkansas and the flow from the Stop's Landing break above Greenville was widening over the Mississippi delta, adding hourly to the homeless and swelling the gigantic property loss.

Hundreds Endangered

The flood from the new breaks south of Vidalia endangered the lives of hundreds who had clung to their homes in spite of the backwaters from the Black River which had spread over that territory.

The four crevasses created by the river near the Glasscock levee came unexpectedly and at a time when the engineers had about won their fight to dam the waters flowing over the slough in the dyke at that place.

Making openings measuring from 150 to 200 yards wide, the raging waters rushed to the lowlands, adding to the backwater flood there and gradually pushing out the lake toward Vidalia and Ferriday, where barriers are being hastily constructed in an effort to protect those towns.

Former Governor John M. Parker, in charge of all relief operations in the state, announced that the Red Cross had established a base at Marksville, 30 miles southwest of the new breaks. Supplies will be concentrated there and refugees will be cared for before being moved to the main concentration camps at Baton Rouge and Natchez.

Rushing Aid

Announceemnt also was made that the Louisiana National Guard which is now fully mobilized, had approximately 1,000 men in that region and that small boats were being rushed to the threatened area to rescue those who might be marooned.

These new breaks in the banks of the Mississippi were expected to lower the river stage at Natchez, but the weather bureau in a special warning stated that the water flowing through those crevasses would return to the main stream, joining the flood from Ouachita and Red Rivers "and intensify the flood situation in the Atchafalaya and the Mississippi Rivers below the mouth of the Red River."

Further Warnings

Reiterating its warning of record flood stages south of Natchez, the weather bureau declared that with "such conditions in sight, all interests in the lowlands should take every precaution."

A similar warning was given by the Red River, Atchafalaya and Bayou Boeuf levee board, which stated that a break in the big bend levee on the Bayou es Glaises was imminent and that all livestock, women and children should be removed immediately. Should this break occur, the board said, it would affect at least four towns — Sarto, Rexmere, Boarde'onville and Moreauville, and perhaps Cottonport, Hamburg, Choupique, Simmesport, Odenburg, Melville and Krotz Springs.

Four Drowned

VICKSBURG, Miss., May 2 (AP)—Four white men were drowned when their small boat overturned in the overflow waters a few miles north of Vicksburg, according to a report made yesterday to Red Cross headquarters here. The dead are: S. D. Lee, Valley Park, railroad section foreman; William Beach, Valley Park, levee contractor; C. S. Mullins, 18, Ontard, Miss., and Roger Yates, Vicksburg, telephone lineman.

Ex-Chief Of German Army Says Prefers Booze Hounds

BERLIN, May 2 (Associated Press).—Admiral Johannes von Schroeder, commander of the German Marine Corps during the World War, has replied "Better a valiant booze-hound than a craven teetotaler" to charges by a prominent prohibitionist that Germany lost the war because her armies were drunk when crucial offensives were undertaken.

Admiral von Schroeder, who was nicknamed by Germans "the Lion of Flanders," is one of twenty-eight commanders of the German Army and Navy, including President von Hindenburg, who have collaborated in a book denouncing as treasonably false the accusations by Professor Hans Schmidt, prominent dry leader, that German soldiers imbibed so freely that they were unable to carry out orders.

President von Hindenburg admitted knowledge of individual cases of drunkenness, but said:

"It is a heinous wrong against brave troops to charge whole companies with drunkenness."

MAY DAY QUIET IN THE ORIENT

Non-Communist Unions Hold Labor Demonstrations at Shanghai.

DENOUNCE BRITISH.

SHANGHAI, May 2 (Canadian Press).—May Day in Shanghai was the quietest in many years. The only labor activity was a demonstration organized by non-Communist unions outside the settlements and only 5,000 persons attended this, a small number indeed, compared with previous gatherings, which sometimes reached 100,000. The falling off is regarded as indicating that labor in this city is now solidly behind Chiang Kai-Shek, Commander-in-Chief of the Cantonese army, who recently set up a new government at Nanking.

Quo Tai Chi, Local Commission for Foreign Affairs, addressed the meeting and denounced British Imperialists. A resolution was adopted that a protest should be sent to the British Labor Party complaining of the presence of British troops in China.

Throughout the meeting the Communists were roughly denounced.

Prohibited Demonstration

PEKING, May 2 (Canadian Press)—The police prohibited the holding of May Day demonstrations.

Tokio Quiet

TOKIO, May 2 (Canadian Press)—The May Day demonstrations in Tokio passed off quietly and there were few arrests. Resolutions were adopted by the Laborites in favor of an eight-hour day and a policy of non-interference in China.

SEEK LOAN FOR FUNDS TO BUY ARMS

Wu-Chin-way Outlines General Situation of Northern China.

MAKE COUNTRY SAFE.

Says General Chiang Not Dependable To Make Workable Deal.

PEKING, May 2.—Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, war lord of Northern China, has laid his cards on the table. In an interview the Marshal's "confidential adviser on foreign affairs," Wu Chin-way, who is really the Foreign Minister of North China and now handling Peking's negotiations with the powers, outlined the general situation, Chang's plans to deal with it and his needs.

Wu Chin-way spoke clear-sightedly and frankly, using excellent French that obviated the necessity of an interpreter. He said in substance:

General Chiang Kaishek (the Cantonese Commander-in-Chief, who has set up his own Government at Nanking) will not win his fight with Hankow because he is too much of a revolutionist to make a workable deal with any Northern General or any foreign power. Therefore, his fall sooner or later will probably end in his assassination.

Hankow, in regaining control over the South, must do so on an ultra-radical platform, because Moscow's attempt to steer a comparatively moderate course has failed through the independence and anti-Communist action of Chiang Kai-shek.

This means that the South is temporarily weakened, but committed to Karl Radek's policy of 100 per cent. Bolshevism and anti-foreignism, with power based on the workers and peasants.

That is the Southern situation as the North expects it to develop.

Deal With Others in North Urged.

Meanwhile, the North is suffering from semi-independent war lords, whose armies are eating up the country. But were Peking in a position to tell these war lords "we will supply funds on condition that you obey us and accept our civil administration in your provinces," Peking would get a united driving force against the weakened South because those war lords are already sufficiently short of money to listen. But such funds are lacking in the North.

Therefore, says Wu Chin-way, let foreigners supply the funds and within six months there will be a united China safe for foreigners and foreign business from Blagovieshtchensk to Canton.

"How this is to be done is a comparatively simple matter—a few hundred thousand rifles, ammunition, a few armed ships flying the Northern flag to convoy troops to attack points in the South and a few examples of terrorism.

"We will give proper guarantees for a loan and foreign control of its expenditure. We suggest an amicable discussion on the 'unequal' treaties, which hurt the Chinese amour propre and assist Bolshevist propaganda. We will broaden the basis of education along Western lines and reorganize taxation to lessen the gulf between the rich and the poor."

Time For Action Declared Ripe.

That is the Northern programme, stripped of rhetoric and appeals to save the world from the Red peril. The South, many observers think, will likely become ultra-radical or chaotic. Both would be bad for foreign lives and business. The North, with funds, they believe, would likely re-establish order and unity at much less cost to foreign privilege.

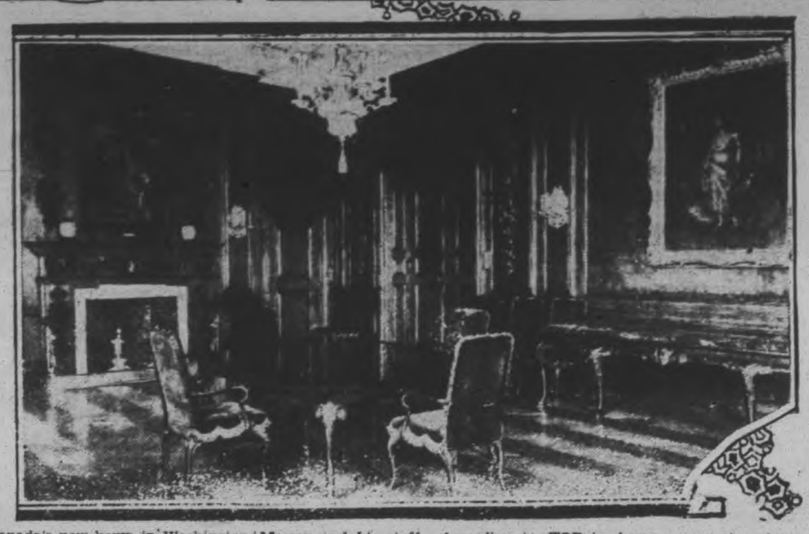
So, in the opinion of these observers now is the psychological moment, when the South is undergoing a reaction against ultra-radicalism and when Northern radicalism has subsided as a result of the raid on the Soviet Embassy compound and the strong arm methods of Chang Tso-Lin.

The Soviet "bluff," hitherto unchallenged and successful, it is declared, has been suddenly "called," and Moscow is evidently upset, as is shown by the Communist International's assertion that the alleged Red documents seized in the raid were forgeries.

Naturally, these observers say, Moscow is upset, because, after playing a fairly moderate policy successfully, it now sees itself forced by Chiang Kai-shek into the ultra-radical line, which it knows is unacceptable to the majority of the Chinese people at the present stage of their development.

But Moscow, in their view, has an enormous advantage, which by the way, is one of the key points of Marxist doctrine, on which Moscow's policy is founded, that is, the economic and, therefore, the political rivalry among capitalist States.

CANADA'S NEW EMBASSY



Canada's new home in Washington is at 1746 Massachusetts avenue. It was built 20 years ago, and it is stated that few alterations and little refurnishing will be required to make it suitable for Hon. Vincent Massey and his staff. According to despatches the deal was finally put through in New York on Saturday and the price is around $475,000. The lot is 2$0,800 feet square. To the TOP is shown an exterior view and also a picture of the living room. BELOW is a view of the dining room. It is expected that Mr. Massey will be in occupation in a few weeks.

AIMS BLOW AT RUM RUNNERS

Bond Doubling Value of Cargo Demanded "In Transit" Rule.

WILL BE GENERAL.

WASHINGTON, May 2. — Canada has struck a crushing blow at the giant international rum ring, backed by powerful financial interests on both sides of the border, which for several years has been flooding the United States with illegal liquor.

This announcement was made by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews Saturday in interpretation of an amendment to the Canadian customs laws requiring heavy bonds on liquor shipments from Canada by water. This amendment was adopted by the Canadian Parliament at the session just ended.

Blow to be General.

Crippling of the rum smuggling traffic on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States, where ships unloaded secretly after clearing for South Amreica, Cuba and Mexico, was foreseen at the Treasury as a result of the new requirements.

Most of the smuggled liquor was shipped into Canada from the British Isles under the "in transit" provision of the law. As liquor to be re-exported it could be held in Canada without payment of customs duties for twenty-five days. Andrews explained:

"Under the old law liquor could be loaded at Halifax or Vancouver for South America, for example; then the liquor could be landed in this country and the vessel would return to the Canadian port with a fake landing certificate purporting to show delivery in South America.

Bond to be Required.

"The amendment will require the ship owner to post with the Canadian government a bond of double the value of the cargo. The cargo must be landed at the port of destination and bona fide landing certificate produced before the amount of the bond will be refunded."

Re-enforcement of the Canadian law will be effected by a check-up on shipments at both ends, American consuls reporting whether each rum ship actually reached her South American or other port and unloads her liquor cargo.

FATE OF MINERS STILL UNKNOWN

Crews Working Frantically to Extinguish Fire in Mine Tunnels.

FAIRMONT, W.Va., May 2 (Canadian Press).—The fate of 76 miners entombed in the Everettsville mine for twenty-four hours was undetermined late yesterday as rescue crews worked frantically to extinguish a fire in the blast torn tunnels. All rescue work was suspended yesterday while mining experts fought the flames.

The known dead numbered fifteen and rescue leaders feared that when they conquered the blaze and reached the trapped men they, too, will be added to the list of fatalities. Nine injured men were in hospitals here, one in critical condition.

FIRE DESTROYS AUTHOR'S HOME

Cottage of Izaak Walton at Shallow Ford Completely Wrecked.

HISTORIC INTEREST

LONDON, May 2. — (Canadian Press.)—The cottage at Shallow Ford near Stafford, the home 250 years ago of Isaak Walton, author and fisherman whose fame has come down over the years as the author of the Compleat Angler, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. A flying spark settling on the thatched roof of the old structure started a blaze which spread rapidly.

The cottage was restored and converted into a museum three years ago. All objects of historic interest were safely removed but the building, including the old fire place which existed unchanged since Walton's day, was completely wrecked.

MARION, O., April 30.—Tired of running from room to room whenever he had something to say to teachers or pupils in the high school, W. E. CARE FOR CRIPPLES.

NEW YORK, May 2.— New York has organized a crippled children's bureau in its state department of education. The bureau maintains a register of all physically handicapped children and supervises their care and education. The counties and state divide the expense of this care.

Man Robs Poor Box Falls Dead In Church

NEW YORK, May 2.— (A.P.) Turning from the poor box in the Church of Our Lady of Angels, Brooklyn, which he had just robbed of $15, an unidentified man yesterday saw a woman coming down the aisle and fell dead. Physicians said death was due to heart disease, aggravated by fright.

PARTIES START NOMINATIONS

Manitoba Election Campaign Getting Under Way—Date Not Announced.

ALL PARTIES ACTIVE.

WINNIPEG, May 2.—(Canadian Press).—Although a definite date for the Manitoba Provincial general election has not yet been set by the Government, the election campaign is rapidly getting into swing, with many meetings slated for next week in the various constituencies.

To date the Liberal forces, headed by H. A. Robson, K.C., have been most active and several candidates have already been nominated. Supporters of the Bracken Government are organizing their forces for a campaign which will be carried into the remotest parts of the province. Conservative organizers have been touring the province in preparation for district conventions and according to present plans, the full Conservative slate will be known by May 20. Labor is again expected to concentrate its efforts on the city of Winnipeg and neighboring ridings.

For twelve years, Colchester County, Nova Scotia, had no prisoners in its jail. Now the building will be put up for auction.

ONTARIO PLANS 'PHONE APPEAL

Will Be Filed With the Dominion Government in Short Time.

ASKS REHEARING.

OTTAWA, May 2. — (Canadian Press).—An appeal to the Dominion Government in respect to the recent decision of the Board of Railway Commissioners, granting an increase to the Bell Telephone Company on its rates in Ontario and Quebec, will be filed within the next week or ten days, it was stated today. A. R. Reid, K.C., Toronto, counsel for the Ontario Government, is in Ottawa today in connection with the matter. The necessary papers to support the appeal are understood to be under preparation. The government it is intimated, will be asked to fix a date for the hearing of all the facts in the case with a view to ordering the Board to reopen the matter for re-hearing and further oral argument.

CANADIAN PICTURES EXHIBITED AT PARIS

Miss Katherine Walliss, of Peterborough, Is Among Exhibitors.

PARIS, May 2.—(Canadian Press).—If the position in which it is hung is any criterion, the nude painted by John Russell, of Toronto, is one of the outstanding successes of the spring salon of the Societe des Artistes Francais, which opened yesterday. Placed in the grand hall, the picture, which is of considerable proportions, dominates the room and is attracting great notice.

In the sculpture section, Jean Emile Brunet, of Montreal, exhibits a stone bust of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and a statue of Christ.

At the salon of the Societe Nationale des Beaux Arts, now united with the older Societe for the annual exhibition, Donald Shaw MacLaughan, of Charlottetown, N. B., portrays a young woman sewing; Mrs. Caroline Armington, of Brampton, Ont., submits four engravings; Robert Fulton Logan, of Winnipeg, two water colors; and Katherine Walliss, of Peterborough, Ont., two decorative designs.

The exhibits at both salone display a higher order of merit this spring than in former years.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THANK GOD FOR BOYS.

Thank God for boys, for all our boys,
For your boy and for mine,
For all their laughter, all their noise,
For every happy sign
Of boyish health and boyish mirth,
However loud they shout—
For who would want a quiet earth,
A world with boys left out?

Thank God for boys, for all our boys,
The stranger's and our own,
A man may know a father's joys
With no boys of his own.
Thank God for boys to lend a hand,
For boys to guard and guide,
Thank God for boys to understand
And boys to walk beside.

Thank God for boys, for all our boys,
For my boy and for yours.
They are the builders God employs
By which the world endures.
For men grow older, men grow gray,
Toil wearies, strife annoys;
The world will need new men some day—
And then thank God for boys!

TWO ARE DEAD AND THREE HURT

Grandmother and Little Boy Die Almost Instantly in Crossing Crash.

OUTSIDE GUELPH.

GUELPH, Ont., May 2.— Two are dead and three seriously injured as the result of a level crossing accident which occurred Thursday night shortly before six o'clock at the southern city limits, when C.N.R. passenger train No. 187 running between Hespeler and Guelph, crashed into a motor car driven by Noah Eby, aged 70, on the Silver Creek Road. Mrs. Eby, aged 68, wife of the driver, was instantly killed, her two-year-old grandchild, Donald Scott, died within an hour after the accident, while Irene Scott, aged four, and James Scott, aged 11, are in a serious condition in the General Hospital. Mr. Eby is also confined to the same institution, but it is not thought that his injuries are of a grave nature.

At the time the fatality occurred, Mr. and Mrs. Eby and their three grandchildren were out on a pleasure drive, and were within a mile of their home on the return journey. It is difficult to account for how the accident occurred, as there is a clear view 200 yards at the crossing from the direction in which their car was travelling. The train hit the auto with great force, demolishing it and catapulting Mrs. Eby and the three children some distance along the tracks. Mr. Eby was pinned beneath the wreckage, but manaegd to get out unassisted. His wife, who was dead when assistance arrived, was badly mangled about the head, as was also Donald Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Eby resided with their son-in-law, James Scott, 90 Waterloo avenue.

Matinee Ladies

BY William B. Courtney

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, a poor college student, working as a dancing partner for rich women, falls in love with Sally Smith, a cigarette girl. She warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the roadhouse, who finds her "thrill" in "hunting" Bob, who, however, trusts her. She offers him free use of her secret apartment. Bob withholds consent until he can talk to Sally, who, meanwhile, has received a gift of clothes from Mannion, a suitor favored by her mother. Sally listens to Bob's explanation in silence.

CHAPTER XIV—Continued

Finally she spoke, in so low and soft and strange a voice that if Bob had not been watching her lips he would not have recognized it as little Sally Smith's voice:

"But, Bob, you are not seriously considering this affair? You would not for one moment stoop to accept such a brazen plan!"

That was all she said—and she said it with the remote, impersonal sarcasm that women ofttimes affect in seeking to deride some grave plan of those whom they love. Bob felt decidedly miffed. He felt that Sally was being unreasonable. Of course, having appeared as an advocate for the plan, it was up to him to defend it. He sought to do so and in the course of his argument more and more convinced himself of the morality and honesty of Mrs. Hammond's offer.

He tried to tell Sally that, perhaps, she was unreasonably disposed toward Mrs. Hammond because of the superficial indications of the latter's butterfly existence, because of the waggling gab of "You must send this stuff back to that cad, Mannion, at once!"

Mazie and the Madame. Which was, of course, the worst possible angle he could have adopted.

Sally and Bob both grew hot with their talk, and then, in the midst of it, Bob espied the opened box of fluffy clothing.

"What's that?" he asked.

"Oh, just—some clothes!"

Bob, interested and admiring, got up to better examine the beautiful things. Even to his unpracticed eye the worth of the clothes was apparent, and the name and address of the modiste told an obvious story.

"Phew!" he whistled. "Rich uncle die—or something!"

One of Sally's brothers, who had been sticking his head through the door of the next room intermittently, yelled out elfishly: "Naw, Mr. Mannion sent them!"

Bob, white-faced, whirled upon Sally: "Is that—true?"

Sally had risen now and was facing him; she stood as straight as a willow sapling and as independent. "Yes!" she affirmed. "But——"

Bob gave her no time to explain, but interrupted hotly:

"And you've been reading me a lecture on morality because of Mrs. Hammond's proposal. Is this any—more moral?"

Both being very young and both being very much in love, they, of course, did the most absurd and unreasonable thing possible in the circumstances—that is, they both grew very huffed and stubborn.

Sally defensively rode a high horse because of Bob's swift leap to unjust conclusions; she vouchsafed no more than an indignant stamp of her foot and a half tearful, "Oh, Bob, how dare you talk to me like this?"

"You must send this stuff back to that cad, Mannion, at once!" he thundered. "Or, by holy Hannah, I'll go to him and knock his block off!"

"Boasting how strong you are?" she cried sarcastically.

"Send them back!" he said, as quarrelsomely as any young lover could.

"I won't!"

"If you don't send them back, then that's just as good as telling me not to come any more!"

"You probably won't anyhow. You'll be too comfortable living with Mrs. Hammond!"

"You'll be sorry you said that!"

"You'll be sorry for what you said, too!"

"I won't!"

"Neither will I!"

"Well, if that's the way you feel, I may as well be going!"

Silence from little Sally Smith. Stubborn, bursting silence; while her delicate lips trembled like rosebuds under the cruel thievery of a bumble bee.

Again, less confidently: "All right, then I may as well be going, I said! I guess I'll go to Mrs. Hammond—right now!"

Silence still from little Sally Smith.

Thereupon Bob Ward got up his highest dander, took his hat, fumbled with it for a moment, looked uncertainly at Sally, while the anger in him rose at her attitude, then strode indignantly from the house.

Sally broke out in tears of mingled rage and grief as the slam of the door behind Bob snapped her emotional tautness.

Her mother, who had, of course, been furtively listening to the whole affair, came into the room with an "I told you so" expression, but Sally in her stress and upset did not notice it. She called—almost screamed—to her mother:

"Mother, come help me, quick! I'm going to try on the evening dress that Mr. Mannion sent!"

Bob walked moodily away from Sally Smith's house. He walked very rapidly at first, his steps unconsciously trying to keep time with his burning thought. He strode along with his hands in his pockets—and his temper and spirits in his pockets, too, for that matter.

Presently, gradually, his gait slackened to a more seemly pace; he no longer thoughtlessly shouldered other pedestrians out of his way. For the cool twilight wind, blowing in from the placid Hudson and tempering the summery late spring evening, did much to lower the temperature of his head and his veins.

Cooling, he was left bitter. After all, Freddy and Arch must have been right—about Sally. She was just like the rest of the women at the Palisado Inn. This was proven, in his eyes, by her apparent acceptance of the costly and indecently personal gift of clothes—even undies!—from Tom Mannion.

Tom Mannion!—who the devil was he! Bob would like to have his hands around this Mannion fellows's windpipe. He'd pitch him into the Hudson River below there. For, without any suggestion from his mind, Bob's steps had mechanically carried him west on Sally's street to Riverside Drive. Now he was striding down the Drive, but dead to its evening beauty, so deeply was he plunged in cankering reflections.

Mrs. Hammond, all in all, had shown up more favorably by comparison with Sally. Yes, even with Sally. For in Bob's own keen mind there had crept no intimation that Mrs. Hammond's motives were base. And even if they were? Heck, she would only be running true to form of what he had come to expect from every woman. After this evening's experience—even from Sally. Even from his precious little Dresden doll, with the combed-honey hair and the trustful eyes and the wistful smile—

Oh, darn it! Mrs. Hammond was all right. Sally was all wrong. Mrs. Hammond was a brainy, well-meaning, kindly friend. He had been an ass not to have accepted her offer of help immediately. His hesitation, no doubt, had put him in a bad light. First thing he knew, Mrs. Hammond would be withdrawing the proposition out of injured pride, and he certainly wouldn't be able to blame her.

When she had dropped him off, not an hour before, at Sally's corner, Mrs. Hammond had given him the address of her studio apartment, written on a calling card, and had told him:

"I'll be there, Bob, working on the conclusion of a story, all the evening. I'll expect you to come then to see the place and to talk things over. You can move down tomorrow. I hope—you will not allow anything foolish or puerile to come between you and the acceptance of my plan!"

Not to let anything foolish intervene! That had been her advice, and, by the Lord Harry, he was going to follow it. If Sally had not alienated his honorable loyalty to her by the brazen acceptance of this Mannion's financial aid it would have been different, perhaps. He might have tried to reason things out with her. But, Mannion or no Mannion, it was still his clear obligation to himself, to the coveted engineering degree, to an untroubled Commencement and to a good and sound start in his career to accept Mrs. Hammond's offer.

Study Of "O Canada" Is Urged By Writer

WINNIPEG, Man., May 2. — Canadian Press. — — A staff writer on the Free Press, puts in a vigorous plea for the study of "O Canada":

"The Canadian National Anthem as it is sung:

O Canada!
La la la de de land
De de de dee ma ma ma ma ma ma

(Here glance at a neighbor and see how she is getting along. Feeling sure that she does not know any more about it than you do yourself, you resume:) and finally with great relief, swell out the chorus.

"Now that we have a real national anthem of convenient length, set to noble and inspiring music, let us learn the first verse at least, so that visiting Old Country people and Americans may not have reason to stare askance at our uncomfortable efforts to cover up our ignorance.

"The opening 'O Canada!' is always sung with a mighty enthusiasm. Then there is an immediate and miserable falling off in volume until the last two lines are reached, when it is possible to work in rightly or wrongly several more vociferous 'O Canada's.'"

"The Weir version seems to have met with the greatest approval and is generally adopted for use. But even if one of the older versions is preferred, it would surely be better to be singing something definite than to be moving the lips in the production of unintelligible noises."

Ladies' Aid Meeting.

St. John's Ladies' Aid met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. A. Kingston, with an attendance of 24. After the devotional period and business was dispensed, Mrs. R. W. Scott and Mrs. Hazell gave excellent readings. Plain sewing was distributed among members to be done. Preparations were made to hold the annual Garden party on June 29th. Plans will be made to carry out things in accordance with Canada's Diamond Jubilee year. The hostess served lunch after which the meeting was dismissed.

Missing Six Months, Small Dog Comes Home

GUELPH, May 2. — Drooping with fatigue, half-starved and emaciated, Peppy, a fox terier owned by Miss Jean MacGillvray, daughter of Rev. Dr. A. J. MacGillvray, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, arrived home last night after an enforced absence of six months.

Last October an epidemic of dog stealing broke out in the city. Several valuable canines were stolen, and as Peppy's disappearance coincided with the outbreak it was naturally concluded that he was among the victims of the thieves. For six months nothing was seen of the pet, and little hope was held out that he would ever turn up again, until he arrived at his home. Miss MacGillivray is of the opinion that her dog had travelled a long distance before he had managed to free himself and commence his homeward journey.

COMPLETELY MOTORIZED.

The decision of the Fire, Water and Light Committee to recommend the purchase of a motor ladder truck for the Fire Department means that the department is at last to be completely motorized and put into the best possible condition as regards equipment.

The purchase of a new ladder trucks could not in any case have been long deferred.

The department is practically without serviceable ladders at the present time, and longer and better ladders are very badly needed.

In addition, the fire fighters would be considerably handicapped in the case of a bad fire because of the time required by the horse-drawn ladder truck to arrive on the scene, usually many minutes after the other apparatus is at work.

The addition of the pumper, recently purchased, and of the motor ladder truck, shortly to be installed, will leave the local department one of the most adequately equipped to be found in the smaller cities of Canada.

PRESERVING OUR HERITAGE.

Hon. William Finlayson's address on the reforestation question last week has aroused considerable newspaper comment of a favourable nature, and the promise indicated in the Minister's remarks of a businesslike and comprehensive policy is regarded as of great importance.

While the people of Ontario as a whole have not yet been roused to an appreciation of the value of the forests of the Province and of the necessity of preserving them from destruction by fire and of adopting a scientific system of reforestation, there is no doubt that Mr. Finlayson can count on the support of the public in carrying out the plans he has outlined.

Properly handled, Ontario's forests can be made a perpetual source of wealth for the people of the Province, and no department of Government activity offers so much promise of widespread and lasting results as does that presided over by Hon. Mr. Finlayson, who is taking hold of the portfolio in a manner that indicates a deep interest in this great question.

He should have general co-operation in putting into effect the details of his policy.

THE BIG CONVENTION.

The citizens of Peterborough generally will approve of the financial assistance from the City Council in entertaining the delegates to the Ontario convention of the Canadian Legion, which is to be held here at the beginning of next month.

Peterborough's welcome to the 500 ex-service men from all parts of the Province should be whole-hearted and sincere.

Among those who will be in attendance are two of the most famous soldiers in Canada, Sir Percy Lake, the Dominion President of the Canadian Legion, and Sir Richard Turner, V.C.

The delegates will include many men who distinguished themselves by fighting for Canada overseas, and by fighting in Canada on behalf of their comrades since their return from active service.

It will be a most notable assemblage, and Peterborough is honoured by being chosen as the Legion's convention city.

The local branch of the Legion can be entrusted to do everything in its power to make the visit of the delegates enjoyable, and in that effort the officers of the branch should have general co-operation and assistance.

TRAINED IMMIGRANTS.

There is about due in Canada the first group of ex-soldiers and their families from the towns and cities of Britain, for settlement in rural areas, mostly in the Prairie Provinces. Nineteen families and about 100 persons in all compose the party. The men and their wives were selected by the British Legion, and trained in Canadian farming methods at a Suffolk farm training place maintained by the British Ministry of Labor. While the men took the heavier courses, naturally, the women had all the instruction necessary in poultry raising, butter making, and domestic science. In Canada representatives of the Immigration Department and the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League will welcome and receive the party, and the heads of families will begin their farm life under auspicious circumstances. They will not be left to themselves as soon as they have settled, but will be in close touch with various Government departments and the legion for as long as they like to keep up the connection themselves.

This is said to be the first concerted movement of its kind on the part of Empire veterans' organizations, and the first time in which emigrating veterans and their wives from the Old Land have been given special training for farm work. If this original venture is attended with reasonable success it is certain that there will be a great influx of a good type of the ex-soldier, to go on the land in Canada. Too much should not be expected at any time. Even though they have had training in our farm methods, the new settlers received it in a land which in many respects differs from this, climatically and otherwise. Their training could not be a ground work at the best for the real conditions they must face. In a very large degree their success must depend upon their courage and their willingness to "stick it out," or as that fine army phrase of war days expressed it, "carry on."

The care that is being taken in the training and selection of this and other groups should, nevertheless, go a long way toward assuring them of eventually taking their places among the prosperous farmers of the land. There is no doubt that too many failures of the past were due to lack of co-operative effort and indifference to the fate of immigrants coming here with the best intentions. —Brantford Expositor.

OBJECT TO ENGLISH CRICKET.

The benefit of having been brought up on cricket is again impressing itself on the impartial mind by the invitations being sent from Great Britain to some of the most frantic Anglophobes of the United States to "come over and see us in our own home." The Earl of Derby expressed his eagerness to play the host to Senator Borah, and promised to help him to gain a real understanding of the Briton's point of view on every question, foreign and domestic, in which the Idaho statesman is interested. And now Lord Lee of Fareham is pressing "Big Bill" Thompson, Chicago's Mayor, to "go over" as his guest. "I promise him," Lord Lee declares, "that he will have every opportunity to study England's warlike preparations, especially the preparations she is making against Chicago."

Now, that is a good sporting offer, and no doubt were Mayor Thompson a cricketer he would accept it. But it is to be feared that Chicago's chief magistrate knows more about politics as they are conducted in the Windy City than he does about the English national game, which disciplines its devotees in the principles of good sportsmanship and fairness to opponents.

"Big Bill" lost one election in Chicago, and he is determined he will not lose another. So he has decided to mould United States opinion on world affairs in Chicago's City Hall, and to mould it in accordance with the anti-British views of the 100 per cent. Americans who have gravitated there from the various countries of Southern Europe where they were born. He has discovered that George Washington's picture and the story of his destruction of the cherry tree have been left out of United States school histories, and he blames King George for it. The development of that personal quarrel with the British monarch constitutes the sheet anchor of "Big Bill's" hope of permanently occupying the City Hall. Accordingly, he dare not go to Britain, nor even contemplate the possibility of defending his wickets in any game such as Lord Lee has invited him to play on an English green.—The Globe.

THE NEW POLICY.

Reviewing the history of the Ontario Temperance Act in the course of an article on the new liquor policy in Ontario, The Border Cities Star says:

"Subsequent votes showed a rapidly changing public sentiment. The last plebiscite, for instance, gave the Ontario Temperance Act a popular majority of slightly more than 30,000, a very small figure in a total vote as large as that possessed by the Province of Ontario. It became apparent to everyone not blinded by prejudice that the Ontario Temperance Act, as then constituted, was at the end of its rope. Some changes had to be made. Efforts to enforce the law had fallen down. The people at large, it seemed, were out of sympathy with the legislation and there was little or no tendency to observe its provisions. Mr. Ferguson, as an astute politician, sensed this. It had some part in his successful campaign in 1923 when Mr. Drury went out of office. Still, the Premier had no mandate from the people to make a drastic change in the law. Public sentiment, however, gradually developed. Eventually, Mr. Ferguson formulated a policy of Government control, including the establishment of liquor stores on a permit system and the abolition of the farcical doctors' prescriptions. He dissolved the Legislature, submitted this policy to the people and asked for re-election. The voters responded with a popular majority of approximately 225,000. They took Mr. Ferguson at his word that conditions were bad—fairly apparent to everyone—that it was practically impossible to enforce the existing law in face of public sentiment, and that the change he proposed would bring immeasurably better conditions and more general satisfaction throughout the Province.

"The new law has passed through all the necessary stages. It becomes effective next month. It will be administered by a board of three men, headed by Mr. D. B. Hanna, former President of the Canadian National Railways. Mr. Hanna is the "strong man" promised by the Premier during the election campaign. His appointment is a popular one. The people have confidence in Mr. Hanna. He is to be assisted on the commission by the Hon. R. J. Manion, M.D., M.P., and Mr. Stuart McCleneghan, ex-M.P., of Ottawa. These appointments, too, are satisfactory, although there is a fairly pronounced feeling that Dr. Manion can hardly serve two masters successfully. That is to say, that it will be difficult for him to carry on his duties as a member of Parliament at Ottawa and at the same time earn his salary as a member of the Provincial Liquor Commission. This, however, is a detail. The main thing is that a drastic change in the law governing the sale of liquor has been made, that it has been accepted by the people and formally placed on the statute books, and that it will come into effect a few weeks hence.

"The new law makes it easier to secure liquor. That is self-evident. This does not mean, however, that the change is necessarily bad, even from the standpoint of the most ardent prohibitionist. The fact of the matter is that all the liquor a man desires, and in all the variety he may desire, is available at this moment. In certain sections it can be secured with ease. In no section, probably, is it impossible to find. The great trouble with the present system, however, lies in the fact that the Government has little or no control of the situation. The liquor is sold by almost anyone who wants to sell and to almost anyone who wishes to buy. The Government proposes to change all this. It—the Government—will do the selling and through the agency of a permit system it will say who may or may not buy. Prescriptions issued by medical men —one of the huge jokes of the old plan—will become a thing of the past. All liquor sold, when the new law becomes effective, must be Ontario Government liquor and for private consumption. The Premier has promised to put the bootleggers out of business and the new law makes imprisonment without the option of a fine the penalty for those who are caught—even on first offence.

"The public will watch the new experiment with the keenest interest. The eyes of the Dominion and, indeed, of the whole Continent, will be on Ontario next month and thenceforth. The new system has many strong points. It may not be the final solution of the liquor problem, but it represents a really substantial effort. If it is well enforced, if it is satisfactory to the vast majority of the people, if, in short, it is all that Mr. Ferguson hopes for it, then Ontario should be in much better shape, from the standpoint of law and order, than at present. The people are looking to the Premier for vigorous administration of this Act. He has promised them better conditions and they will expect them. The Government's life is staked on the result."

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 2 (Canadian Press).—The foreign demand for Canadian grain on the Montreal market slackened off somewhat on Saturday and only a moderate amount of business was accomplished. There has been a good demand for full cargo vessels during the week and quite an active business was done, with engagements of seventeen reported from New York in two days for May-June loading from the port of Montreal at 21 1-2c to 22 1-2c per hundred pounds to the Mediterranean and at 17c to 18c per hundred pounds to Continental ports.

There was practically no change in the condition of the local cash grain market on Saturday, business being rather quiet in all directions, but the tone was steady.

The local and export trade in Spring wheat grades of flour was fair and values were unchanged. The Winter wheat flour trade was quiet and the undertone was steady.

A good trade was done in all lines of millfeed and prices were well maintained. The demand for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet and prices were unchanged.

Owing to the continued good demand for eggs in Ontario for storing purposes, the deliveries in Montreal last week showed a falling off and the undertone was firmer at a slight advance in prices. An active business was done during the week. The receipts Saturday were 2,290 cases.

The feature of the butter situation the past week was the weakness that prevailed and prices declined 6c to 6 1-2c per pound. The depression was due to the fact that buyers in most cases had provided for their immediate requirements and in consequence there was not the same competition for the offerings that prevailed in the previous week. A moderate amount of business was worked on Saturday. The receipts Saturday were 1,302 packages.

The cheese market continued inactive and values were easier. The receipts were 675 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 2 (Canadian Press).—With fairly large deliveries Monday expected on May contracts here, wheat yesterday turned downward after an early advance. Profit-taking sales on the part of holders of wheat became of larger volume, and the market lacked support, despite the fact that export buying from North America totalled 1,300,000 bushels.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as Friday's finish to 1 3-8c lower; corn 1-4c off to 1-4c up; oats 1-8c down to 1-2c advance, and provisions showing 7c to 42c decline.

Corn and oats were eased by better weather for field work. Bulls, though, were inclined to emphasize an unofficial estimate that total supplies of country are now 28.8 per cent less than was the case a year ago.

Provisions eased down as a result of scattered selling which offset an upturn in the value of hogs.

CAVAN PERSONALS.

CAVAN, May 2.—Seeding is well advanced in Cavan, several having finished, while others will finish this week. Those who have low land to work have been kept back by the rain.

Mr. and Mrs. Sisson, Seattle, Washington, and Mrs. Hamilton, Bethany, have been guests of their niece, Mrs. Ida Keegan.

On Sunday afternoon, May 8th, the Cavan United church Sunday school will hold a "Mother's Day Service," in the church. Cavan Centre, Ebenezer and Mount Pleasant Sunday schools are invited to join with them in this service. Mr. W. W. Staples, Lindsay, will be the special speaker.

Mrs. Matchett was a visitor to Peterborough on Thursday.

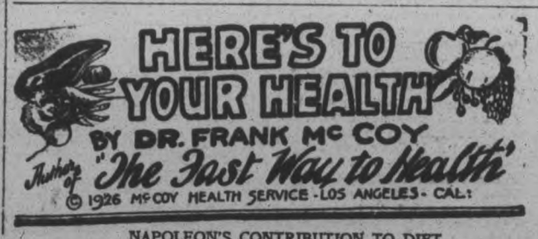
R. Staples was a visitor to Lifford on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Syer were visitors to Millbrook on Wednesday.

The after-Easter term is well commenced, with teachers and pupils back in their places. In some school sections there were quite a number of new pupils.

Cavanville school, with forty-two on the roll had seven new pupils added with the opening of the term with others to commence later.

S. S. No. 7 had three new pupils, making an attendance of seven for this term.



NAPOLEON'S CONTRIBUTION TO DIET

It is said that the "Little Corporal," suffering from cancer, died a few hours after eating a meal composed mostly of fried onions.

He was subject to violent epileptic attacks and had one of these spells the night before the battle of Waterloo. Although he was apparently careless in his own food habits, he realized that his soldiers must have the proper kind of nourishment.

It was Napoleon who said that "an army travels on its stomach." He found that the dried meats and cereals were not sufficient to maintain the health of his soldiers. Scurvy and other diseases continually attacked his soldiers and, believing that an adequate supply of fresh vegetables was necessary, he offered a reward of twelve thousand francs for anyone who would discover a method of preserving food for his armies far removed from a home supply of fresh articles.

Scientists began to experiment immediately and finally Nicholas Appert perfected a process of canning fresh vegetables by sealing them in bottles and then heating them for varying periods of time, depending on the article of food. His discovery was tested thoroughly and he was given the reward. Appert used the twelve thousand francs to build the first canning factory in France in the year 1810. This factory is still in existence and is operated by his descendants.

The tin can did not come into use until some time later. They were developed in England and were made of some kind of metal covered with a thin coating of tin. At first they were called "canisters," but workmen soon shortened this word to "can," and we have been using this word ever since.

So you see we owe the idea of canning foods to Napoleon, who was interested in preserving foods for his soldiers. It was, therefore, a health measure, and has contributed a great deal to our being able to have an adequate supply of greens during the winter months.

Freshly cooked vegetables, no doubt, have a more pleasing taste but, at the present time, canned foods fill a want which has contributed much towards healthful living.

Correspondents are continually writing me asking if canned foods are wholesome. My answer is always a decided yes—with a special recommendation for the use of such canned vegetables as spinach, string beans and asparagus.

VICTORIA DAY PLANS MADE

Campbellford Committee Will Have Good List of Events.

RACE TRANSFERRED.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 30.—The Sports Committee of the Agricultural Society met in the Public Library on Thursday night, with T. J. Horkins in the chair.

Jack Cowell represented the lacrosse boys, and presented a line up of local exponents of the gutted stick that could hold their own with some of the star teams in Ontario, but none of the nearby towns are fostering the national game and lacrosse for the first time in years will not form a part of the Victoria day celebration, but both hard ball and soft ball along with a five mile Marathon, and three horse races, will make up a fine afternoon's entertainment.

Mr. Daniel will look after the arrangements for the ball games and plans to secure a Northumberland league team to perform in a scheduled game, and it will probably be Warkworth or Brighton.

Efforts will be made to secure Trent River for the soft ball attraction.

The five mile Marathon is attracting considerable attention and some of the local boys are already in training. This race is the former thanksgiving day Marathon transferred to Victoria Day, and carries to the winner the Campbellford silver cup, at present held by Percy Bland.

Although the race was originally confined to Campbellford and vicinity entries will not be restricted but the cup is to remain locally and if an outsider wins he will get the prize valued at $5 and the first local runner to finish will receive the cup. There will also be a third prize valued at $3. The race will start at 1 o'clock.

With the sum of $400 hung up for horse races some of the best horses in the district will perform on the local track on May 24th.

The committee already has the promise of enough horses to make a good afternoon's racing program.

The races will be divided in three classes: A class, purse $150; B class, purse $125; C class, purse $125.

The usual regulations will prevail: four to enter, three to start. No entrance fee. Owners of horses must be members of the association. Free feed and stabling provided on the grounds. The track will be put in shape at once and gates erected at both sides of the track at the entrance to the inner ring of the grounds.

Vendors' stands will be staked out and a map made of them to prevent confusion. All the committee are working hard and if the weather man is on his good behavior it looks as if their efforts will be rewarded with a record crowd in Campbellford on Victoria Day.

MRS. SNYDER SAYS MURDER WORK OF GRAY

She Tried To Stop Him From Killing Her Husband.

MONEY CAUSED CRIME.

Cross-Examination Fails To Break Down Her Story.

NEW YORK, May 2. — (Canadian Press.)—Cross-examination by counsel for her co-defendant failed to-day to break down Mrs. Ruth Snyder's story laying sole blame for the murder of her husband on Henry Judd Gray. The direct examination was completed this morning and cross-examination was begun by William Millard, Gray's lawyer.

Mrs. Snyder charged that Gray not only murdered her husband alone, but that he planned the crime and framed his alibi and stated that she attempted to save her husband as he was being killed.

She told Millard that her corset salesman lover killed her husband for the $96,000 insurance.

"I was the beneficiary," she said, "but he knew how to get the money out of me. He had done it frequently."

She denied that she tried to get her husband drunk at a bridge party before the murder. Her husband was quite normal when he got home.

"I fully intended to get rid of Judd Gray forever before he should do what he did do," she said.

FLYING SCHOOL ATTRACTS MANY TO PETERBORO'

Aviation Field Is Busy Over the Week End As Pupils Arrive.

THOROUGH COURSE.

Splendid Site Obtained In Otonabee By Captain Ayres, Instructor.

Peterborough's newest industry, one that is among the very latest that modern invention has brought about, got under way this morning.

The aviation ground in Otonabee sprang to life over the week-end with twenty-seven pupils enrolled and about one hundred on their way. Harold P. Ayres, who was a Captain in the Royal Flying Corps, and served during the war in Belgium and with the fleet, is organizer and instructor at the Aviation School. He has two planes on the ground and expects before next Spring to have fifteen in commission. Several of the pupils were busy on Saturday assembling the Curtis Canuck that will make its debut over Peterborough in about a week.

The flying field contains fifty acres of flat land admirably suited for the purpose, since there is no obstruction within four miles in any direction. A machine shop has been erected and hangars will be put up later.

The pupils are taught to build the airplane, install the motor and fly the ship, and at the conclusion of their course, they take tests at the flying field under Government supervision and are then registered by the Government as pilots. They must pass a physical examination before being accepted as students, and they must be British subjects.

Already a dozen young men from Peterborough have enrolled for the course. Some of them will take their flying instructions early in the morning, which is the best time for flying, and will then return to the city to their day's work. The system of instruction is very efficient. All the planes are dual control, the student learning the feel of the operation from his first time up, but always being protected by the presence of the instructor at a second set of controls. There is an electric telephone which is made especially for airplane use, which eliminates the noise of the plane and only the voice of the instruteor comes through the machine to the pupil.

The planes lift 500 lbs. and their weight loaded is 2,000 lbs. They travel at a normal rate of speed of seventy-five miles an hour and can climb three thousand feet in ten minutes. Their landing speed is forty miles an hour. Each plane has four hundred square feet of wing surface.

The pupils board within a hundred yards of the field, and this summer they will live in tents. There is a gas tank especially built for filling the planes, served by a special make of gasoline. Within a few weeks the flying field will be a busy centre and will doubtless prove a great attraction to citizens and visitors.

Mr. Avres has a town office in the Duffus Block, where he is busy now handling the four hundred-odd application for enrollment. The pupils come from as far away as Saskatchewan.

REV. MONSIGNOR M'COLL SPEAKS TO ROTARIANS

Constitutional History of Canada Is Interestingly Traced.

A GREAT EMPIRE.

Canada Has All the Freedom It Needs Declares Speaker.

Warm admiration for the British Empire, and a deep sense of gratitude to those governors and statesmen under whose wise guidance the country has developed, featured a most eloquent and patriotic address by Rev. Monsignor McColl, at the weekly luncheon of the Peterboro Rotary Club. Monsignor McColl traced the consitutional development of Canada from the capture from the the French until 1867, thus establishing a historic background to the story of confederation itself.

The speaker characterized the British Empire as the most magnificent in the world's history, and stressed the fact that in no country was there such religious and civil liberties as in those which were members of the British Empire. The policy of a fair deal had always been prominent in that Empire and even where mistakes had been made they had been made honestly. It was a great thing to be a member of the British Empire, Monsignor McColl declared, and so far as he was concerned he wanted no separation of Canada from the Empire. We in Canada, he thought, had got all we needed in the way of liberty and freedom.

The speaker traced the development of Canada from 1759 onward, showing how in the early days, and he believed rightly so, the country had been governed entirely by the Home government. He pointed out the increasing pressure as the population of the country grew for more responsible government, referring to the Constitutional Act of 1791, which for the first time authorized an elected legislature assembly, although it had no real powers except in the matter of local improvements. The agitation for more powers continued until it culminated in the rebellion of 1837, followed by the report of Lord Durham, the adoption of which first gave Canada its initial measures of responsible government, and paved the way for the British North American Act, and Confederation in 1867. Monsignor McColl pointed out that Canadians owed a deep debt of gratitude to Governor Murray, Sir Guy Carlton, Lord Durham, Lord Elgin, Sir John A. MacDonald George Brown Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other statesmen who had been honest and sincere in their views and had done much for their country

Monsignor McColl who was introduced by Rotarian Rev. Father Costello, was given an ovation of applause as he concluded his eloquent address.

President-elect A. L. Killaly, announced the following list of committee chairmen for the year's work.

Attendance—A. Brown.
Boys' work—Gerald McClelland.
Rural friendship—G. A. Gillespie.
Boys' camp—D. Loomis.
Business methods—R. M. Glover.

Music—Robt Abbott.
Membership—Jack Seels
9th Object—H. R. H. Kenner.
Carnival—Jack Seels.
Sergeant at arms—J. Matthews.
Assistant Sergeant at arms—A.Cameron.

Rotarian Tom Dutton announced that plans were completed for boys' week and asked for the co-operation of the members.

Rotarian Fred L. Roy secured the promise of cars from most of the members to transport boys to the various municipal institutions on Wednesday of next week, and Rotarian Chris Graham enlisted the services of the same fleet of cars in connection with the boys' parade on Tuesday.

President Killaly expressed the thanks of the club to the members of the committee whose efforts had made the community dance at the C.N.R. freight shed such a splendid success.

Theatres

AT THE REGENT.

"FAUST" IS A SCREEN EPIC OF IMPORTANCE

Showing Under the Auspices of the Local Council of Women

An epic film, spectacular in the genuine sense of the word, deftly touched with humor and pathos that is genuine, has come to the Regent Theatre. It is the latest UFA production, "Faust," which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is releasing. Emil Jannings, Gosta Ekman, Camilla Horn and Yvette Guilbert are featured in a cast that is excellent throughout. The minor roles are, as usual in imported pictures, extremely well played.

"Faust" is a film to remember always. It has the virility of melodrama, the persuasive quality of romance and the momentum of life.

The story is age-old, having been handed down from father to son for many years before Goethe and Marlowe conveyed it to type, and much longer before Gounod composed his famous opera from the same legends.

It is the age-old story of the struggle between good and evil, of temptation and virtue, and of the triumph of love.

Mephisto and the angel are in argument; Mephisto declares the earth belongs to him, because those three demons, Famine, Pestilence and War ride the earth, and there is no good man alive. The angel shows him Faust and wagers there is one man the devil cannot seduce. And so the campaign of evil begins.

By his goodness, his desire to help humanity, Faust is tricked into signing a pact with Mephisto whereby he is given the power to cure the plague; but that power avails him naught when fear of the Christian symbol renders him terror-stricken.

In despair Faust is about to kill himself, but this Satan will not allow. He shows Faust a vision of himself as a youth, and offers to roll back the years for him, so he can really live his life. Faust accepts and agrees to give up his soul to the devil in exchange.

With youth come temptations and desires, and a hopeless affair with the unfortunate Marguerite. Sorrow and misery follow hours of happiness. Intrigued into a delicate position by the wiles of the fiend, Faust is forced to do battle with Marguerite's brother, who is then killed by Mephisto.

Her mother has already died of a broken heart. Faust is forced to flee, leaving his sweetheart to face the music. She suffers all, for love of Faust and even at the end when she is about to be burned at the stake, retains her love and confidence.

Faust, far off, in the grip of the devil, hears Marguerite's last despairing cry, and commands his hellish host to take him to her at once. He arrives in time to join Marguerite and their spirits ascend to heaven together.

Mephisto claims his wager—but the angel tells him he has lost—though the power of one word—the redeeming word, the cleansing word—LOVE. And so a great picture ends.

THE MARKETS

Heavy Trading Continues On Toronto Market To-day

NEW YORK, May 2 (Canadian Press).—Heavy buying of the low-priced rails, several of which attained their highest prices in years, monopolized speculative interest in to-day's Stock Market. Reports of increased Mississippi river flood damage brought about some liquidation of the South-Western Rails. Banks called about $10,000,000 in loans, but there appeared to be plenty of funds available at the renewal figure of 4½ per cent. The Federal Reserve report of brokers' loans for the week ended last Wednesday, which will be made public after the close, is expected to show another slight increase. Chicago Great Western, Peoria and Eastern, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, St. Paul, Chicago and Alton issues were in demand. Hudson and Manhattan was run up three points to a new peak price. Heavy buying of General Motors after an early period of heaviness was associated with unconfirmed rumors that members of the Finance Committee at their meeting this afternoon would recommend the payment of an extra cash dividend of $2, action on which will be taken by the directors, May 12.

Acreage Reduction Report Causes Advance in Wheat

CHICAGO, May 2 (Canadian Press).—Wheat scored a sharp early advance today, influenced by bullish monthly unofficial figures on domestic Winter wheat production and by the likelihood of reduced Spring wheat acreage. Deliveries of wheat on Chicago May contracts were about as expected. Starting unchanged to 3-8c higher, Chicago wheat soon showed good gains all around. Corn and oats were strong, corn opening 1-2c off to 3-4c up and subsequently showing a decided upturn. Provisions tended downwards.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 135 3-4, July 130 3-4. Corn, May 71 1-2, July 78 1-8. Oats, May 45 7-8, July 46 3-4.

Heavy Buying Of Rails Feature On Wall Street

TORONTO, May 2 (Canadian Press)—The heavy trading which has been a feature of the dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange in the past week was maintained at today's session and a wide range of issues was dealt in. Price changes, for the most part, were of little account, Noranda being easily the leader with a gain of 1.39 at 22.54. Brazilian Traction gained 1-4 at 133 1-4. British Columbia Fishing was up 1-8 at 79 5-8, and Davies declined 1-8 at 36 3-4. Massey-Harris New made its initial appearance on the market and closed at 36 5-8. Hiram Walker gained 1-8 at 47 7-8, and Kirkland Lake dropped three at 138. Other changes were very small.

Price Changes Small In Active Mine Session

TORONTO, May 2 (Canadian Press).—Business was brisk on the Standard Mining Exchange here today, and a wide range of issues was dealt in. The price changes, however, were not of great moment, being fractional for the most part. Argonaut was 1 3-4 higher at 42 3-4, while Beaver declined four at 104. Consolidated West Dome Lake gained a quarter, while Corona dropped one and Crown Reserve was 2 3-4 lower at 11. Kirkland Lake was six lower at 137, and Potter Doal declined 1 1-2 at 36.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY SET APART

May 8, Which is Mothers' Day, Is To Serve Two-Fold Purpose.

SPECIAL PROGRAMME.

How much does the community owe to the Sunday School? What would be the moral and religious conditions if the community were deprived of this agency for the development and training of Christian character? It has been pointed out by leading statesmen of the past and present, that our present civilization can stand only as it rests upon strong moral and religious foundations. Secular education must be reinforced by religious education, if we are to have Christian character and Christian conduct. This is the task and responsibility of the home and the church, and requires the whole-hearted co-operation of parents and teachers to secure a united effort in the interests of childhood and youth.

In order to draw special attention to the place and importance of the Sunday School, and the part it plays in the building of character, a day is set apart once a year throughout Canada, and called Go-to-Sunday-School Day. It is held on the second Sunday of May, which falls this year on May 8th, and takes the form of a rally of all, both young and old, to join in the work of the Sunday School, and to give it their enthusiastic support. Since this is also observed as Mother's Day, it therefore serves a twofold purpose.

How can the two-fold purpose of this day best be fulfilled? We can give honor to those in the home who carry the burden of responsibility and especially to the mothers, who by their patience, their endurance, their loyalty and their self-sacrificing service, are helping to make earth "a little bit of heaven." We can encourage, by our interest and presence in the Sunday School the teachers and officers who are giving unselfishly of their time and effort to help boys and girls to more abundant Christian living. We can join with our children and young people in the special services in Church and Sunday School and resolve to put our influence behind this work in our own community and throughout the Province of Ontario.

A special programme entitled "COUNTRY HOME AND MOTHER has been prepared for use in the Sunday Schools on that day and is provided without cost by the Ontario Religious Education Council. This is the interdenominational Sunday School organization for our Province and is responsible for the promotion and leadership of 200 conventions, 20 Boys' Camps, 8 Girls' Camps, 4 Summer Leadership Schools and 39 Standard Training Schools held during the year in various parts of the Province. The task is too great for any denomination to accomplish alone and this co-operative programme in which the various denominations are interested, calls for the loyal and generous support of all who are concerned with the moral and religious welfare of our boys and girls.

SAFETY FIRST MASS MEETING

Workers of Deloro Plant Go For Year Without Compensation Case.

DIPLOMAS AWARDED.

MARMORA, May 2.—The second annual safety first mass meeting, held in the Deloro hall on Wednesday evening, was a distinct success in matter of attendance and by reason of the impressions it created. R. A. Elliott, presiding, said that the good attendance manifested the live interest taken in safety first at the Deloro plant. It was more than an annual meeting. It was a celebration of a safety first year without any compensation cases. No accident in the year transpired, he said, had gone over seven days. To get the audience in the right humor, a two-reel comic, "Bobby's Day Out," was then shown, following which Inspector Tom Sutherland of the Bureau of Mines gave a short but telling address. He remarked, in opening, that he had felt a little diffidence in coming down to the meeting, for years ago he had worked in the district before the inauguration of a safety first movement. In congratulating the organization on the year past, he mentioned that they had a record surpassed only once in his knowledge in Ontario. "In this plant," he continued, "you are deserving of particular credit with the smelting, the use of acids and the handling of a lot of dangerous work that goes on. Your campaign must have been active to get the results in evidence. The only way to carry on successfully is to keep up your enthusiasm." Humorously, he concluded: "I have one point to impress upon you. If the campaign spreads over the province as here, I will be out of a job in a very short time."

A playlet, "Goggles—Yes," was next put on by the following: A. Quinn, W. J. Cottrell, E. C. Boag, and F. Shell, being loudly applauded by the audience.

After the showing of another reel, "Through Life's Windows," William Sutherland, inspector of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, also gave a striking address on safety. He appealed for greater co-operation between the workmen and the management. The great cause of accidents, he reminded his hearers, is lack of thought. It costs six million dollars yearly to reimburse injured workmen. Six thousand accidents are reported to the Compensation Board every year. Four hundred persons are killed in that time in this province. Eighty per cent of the accidents are reported as having been caused through human failure. By human failure is meant the inability or disinclination of the workmen to think. Manual handling of labor and falls account for more reports to the Workmen's Compensation Board than any other cause. In this, the youthful and elderly employees far outnumber the rest. Not so much mechanical protection is needed now but more thought on the part of the worker. Employers have, generally speaking, done all that is possible in providing mechanical protection. They can not provide brains or the wisdom with which to use them.

He remembered a safety bulletin got out with the one word, "Think." It was one of the best ever got out. As a man thinks, so is he. The thought is father to the act. If a man thinks safely he is a safe man and he can leave home in the morning with reasonable assurance that he can return at night under his own powers. "Gentlemen," he appealed, "before you take chances, think of the real sufferers, your dependents. The man who takes a chance is subjecting his wife and little ones to a future of privation. I have been a foreman, superintendent, and manager in turn, and I can see the value of safety first from every angle. Six million dollars won't buy a finger, or six times that amount."

A demonstration of first aid work by a team of four, under direction of M. J. Tamplin, was carried out most effectively. A six-verse parody, "We're out for real safety promotion" (tune, "My bonnie lies over the ocean"), composed by W. J. Cottrell, was shown on the sheet and heartily sung, with A. V. Yates as leader and accompanist. Midway through the showing of a four-reel film, "The Outlaw," S. B. Wright, the general manager of the company, presented diplomas to the twenty-seven men who were successful in passing the St. John's Ambulance Course. He congratulated all who had taken their part in the movement for bringing it to its present successful state. Without the efforts of the committee, the men would, to some extent, have been working in the dark. He thanked the committee who had planned so interesting a programme.

Finally, he congratulated the men whose perseverance had taken them through the first aid course, and he added that the company would lend its support to anything any one could do to help the movement along.

T. A. Bapty told of the enjoyment in attending safety first meetings. He saw no lack of interest and he hoped the meetings would be continued yearly with as great enthusiasm as that night.

Mr. Elliott, having paid respect to J. Hemphill as the promoter of the first aid idea, and a vote of thanks to speakers and others taking part having been carried, the meeting closed with a parody on Auld Lang Syne, preceding the National Anthem.

No individual in any community is altogether a "Free Agent." We can't say to ourselves: "Oh, I won't Clean-Up and Paint-Up this year. It's too expensive, too much trouble." That is selfishness and it certainly does show lack of civic pride without which no city, or village, no individual community can prosper or forge ahead.

Be a "Crusader" in your own right! Combat the enemies of sloth, indifference, dirt and neglect! It's an easy battle to win, once you join the ranks of the real fighters. One man, during his off hours at home, with a can of paint and a brush, can make his house look many per cent better—just in the little ways—the neglected nooks and corners. It is a fight for Health, Happiness and for Real Estate values. Note that last, if you will.

NATIVE BILLS SHOW INTEREST

Measures Introduced Indicate Abandonment of Reactionary Policy.

AMONG SOUTH AFRICANS.

LONDON, April 29 (Canadian Press Despatch).—New interest in the Union of South Africa in its native problem, rather than reactionary native policy, is evidenced in the four Bills introduced by Premier J. B. M. Hertzog and known collectively as the Native Administration Bill. These, after having been given first reading in the Union Assembly, were referred to a select committee for consideration and evidence will be heard and full public discussion allowed before they are again placed before the Assembly, so that when they reappear they will doubtless be changed in some particulars. There are six million natives in the Union, a million and a half whites, half a million Indians and 160,000 colored inhabitants (Malay, etc.).

"It is quite clear that South Africa is embarking upon a tremendously important experiment affecting the relations between black and white, in the Union. It is an experiment which will have far-reaching consequences, not only in South Africa itself but on the territories to the north, for which Great Britain is directly responsible, and on color-line problems all over the world." Philip Kerr, who has investigated the question, says in The Observer.

The four Bills now being threshed out represent the solution reached by the Nationalist-Labor pact Government on the native problem, which still remains the dominant question in the Union. The Bills in effect are:

(1) The Native Franchise Bill proposes to take away from the native in Cape Colony the right, which he now has if he possesses the necessary qualifications, to vote for members of parliament on the same terms as the white man. It substitutes seven constituencies for the whole Union in which the natives, on a restricted franchise, will elect Europeans to represent them in the Assembly. These representatives will have restricted powers of voting. All these restrictions are believed necessary by the white population, which fears that equal franchise might end in a majority of native voters, and which dislikes dragging the native into all the political controversies of a country where the difference in civilization is still so wide.

(2) The Native Councils Bill provides for a Union Native Council of 35 members elected by natives on a restricted franchise, through which the natives will be able to discuss their own affairs and voice their own opinions.

(3) The Native Lands Act purports to secure more land for exclusive native use—which is urgently needed—and, at the same time, to deal with natives working or "squatting" on white-owned farms.

(4) The fourth bill makes provision for the ultimate incorporation of the "Cape Colored" (half-caste and Malay population), some 500,000 in number, among the enfranchised citizens of the Union.

AT COBOURG

COBOURG, May 2.—Cobourg market was not large on Saturday. Spring work is pretty well advanced, but there is some seeding to be yet done. "The weather is so cool there is not much growth," said one farmer, "but it is good weather for working the horses." "Excepting along the lake front, the seed is nearly all in the ground, and much earlier than last season," said another.

Rhubarb made its initial appearance Saturday, the stalks are short and 10c and 15c is the price, making the popular rhubarb pie still a luxury. There was some good dairy butter sold for 40c a pound and other vendors asked as high as 48c, with 45c quite a popular price. In the stores dairy butter sells from 42c to 47c, and creamery from 47c to 50c. There is an indication that prices may soon weaken slightly. There is no advance in the price of eggs. Prices ranged from 23c for the small ones up to 28c for firsts. In the stores eggs are selling now from 23c to 28c. A few bunches of wild flowers helped to brighten the tables on the inner market, which had rather a bare appearance as chickens and fowl are scarce, and there is little garden produce offering. They sold for 5c and 10c a nosegay. Chickens sold up to 35c a pound and fowl for 30c a pound. A few baskets of beets, carrots and parsnips sold at 35c and 40c a peck. Potatoes sold for $1.50 a bag and the supply seems to be greater than the demand. At the tables on the outside market several butchers cut up beef, pork, lamb and veal. From 20c to 25c was the price asked for the best cuts, and other pieces sold down to 8c and 10c. Cured meats were offered also, and a little way up the street a vendor offered fresh fish for sale, and was rewarded by the custom of a number who frequented the market. Plants for bedding out, notably cabbage, cauliflower, onions, pansies and a few of the hardier varieties of flowers may be purchased at 25c a box. Quantities of bananas have been brought into town this week, and sell for 27c a dozen.

Sheer Frocks and Women's Hygiene

New way safer— Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

THAT filmy gowns and women's oldest hygienic problem now go safely together is a fact millions of women are learning.

Old-time sanitary "pads" with their worries and dangers are giving way to the utter protection of a new way called Kotex.

Kotex discards as easily as tissue. Thus no laundry, no embarrassment of disposal.

5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads," it permits one to dance, motor,-go about for hours without a moment's doubt. Also deodorizes; thus ending all fear of offense.

Obtain at any store without embarrassment simply by saying "KOTEX." Box of 12 costs only a few cents. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

WOMEN HEAR ABOUT WORK OF ENGINEERS

Prof. J. R. Cockburn Gives Talk on Campaign in Palestine.

WELL ILLUSTRATED.

Members of Women's Canadian Club Discontinue Meetings For Season.

The last meeting of this season of the Women's Canadian Club was held on Saturday afternoon in the auditorium of the Public Library, with a good attendance. An address, "With the Royal Engineers in Palestine Under Allenby," illustrated by lantern slides, was given by Professor J. Roy Cockburn, B.A.C.S., M.E.I.C., of the University of Toronto. The president of the Club, Mrs. J. Forbes Allan, occupied the chair, introducing the speaker and proffering him, at the conclusion of his address, the thanks of the audience for his "delightful, informal talk." The breezy, offhand, friendly manner of the speaker made his address entertaining as well as informative, and a sincere meed of continued applause was accorded him at its conclusion.

The lantern slides were operated by V. R. Henry, who was also accorded the thanks of the assemblage.

Professor Cockburn, who was in command of one of the Engineering Units during the Palestine campaign, still retaining his connection with the Canadian forces, illustrated his address with a number of lantern slides of photographs taken by a Turkish observer who left his equipment behind him in Jersusalem after the defeat of the Turkish forces, followed by snapshots taken by himself.

Glimpses of the Holy Land, from the angle of the camera, tinted to simulate the blue skies, the yellow sands, and the dark green olive trees of Palestine, were afforded by these pictures. The blue of the Turkish uniforms appeared in the majority of the views, taken, as they were, by a Turkish officer, during the regime of the Turks in the Holy Land. The great mosque of Gaza, Beersheba, with its circular gardens, British prisoners in khaki, guarded by Turkish soldiers, the combination of ancient and modern war machines in the tank and camel outfit that took the Gaza-Beersheba line from the followers of Mahomet, the mosque of Omar, built on the site of Solomon's Temple, and Turkish infantry lining the road from Jaffa to Jerusalem, were all shown in sequence.

Here were the plains of Bethlehem, with prickly pear fences lining the road, the Jaffa Gate and David's Tower, the end of the famous "Street called Straight" in Damascus, a view of Beirut, in Syria, of which the lecturer said, evoking a laugh from his hearers, "it is a modern city. They have street cars there," a scene from Haifa, the great sea port of Palestine, and a narrow street in Gaza, with a British "agent," in the foreground. The speaker paused for a moment here to comment on the unceasing rains throughout the winter season, referring to the need in the Holy Land, not alone for irrigation, but for some method of retrieving the good soil which is annually washed down to the Mediterranean.

The Golden Gate of Jerusalem, the Dead Sea, the Golgotha, "the place of the skull,' 'the very old tree in the Garden of Gethsemane which was predicted always as falling when the Turks were driven from the Holy Land, and which did fall shortly after their departure, the ancient "wailing place" of the Jews, the banks of the Jordan, even a glimpse of the Great Pyramid of Egypt, were given in these pictures.

Professor Cockburn concluded his talk with a reference to the work done by the Survey service in Palestine, with an outline of their particular activity along the line of "sound ranging," by which they were enabled to discover by sound the location of enemy guns.

DOGS BOTHER CAR OWNERS

Automobile Club Will Ask For Appointment of Dog Catcher.

STRAYS ARE MENACE.

A deputation of the Peterborough Automobile Club will wait upon the the city for 1927, Frank Stinson, se the appointment of a dog catcher for the city for 1927, Franw Stinson, secretary of the club, informed The Examiner this morning.

Mr. Stinson remarked that the multitude of dogs running at large are a menace to motorists and pedestrians alike. In swerving to avoid dogs motorists have at times nearly run down pedesetrians and small children.

Speaking for the Automobile Club, Mr. Stinson stated that the members felt sure that no person who places any value on his or her dog would allow it to be exposed to car menaces and also that ownerless dogs should be rounded up and destroyed for many reasons, not the least of which is the fact that they frighten and bite children.

If the city sees fit to hire a dog catcher the Club expressed its wish that a salary be paid to the person hired and that he would not be paid on a commission basis. A nominal fee of one dollar could be paid to the city if a dog is reclaimed by its rightful owner ,and this would help pay the salary of the dog catcher, and all unclaimed dogs that are under-nourished should be destroyed.

Another matter to be brought before the Council to-night is the repainting of the large signs advertising Peterborough, between Port Hope and the city. When the signs were erected three years ago the club and the city each paid half the cost. Since then the city has had no further expense, although last year it got estimates on the cost of a new coat of paint, but no action was taken. Mr. Stinson remarked that in view of the tourists for the coming season, the unsightly signs should be attended to at once, and as the Automobile Club has had some expense since the erection with ground work, it was decided to bring the matter before the Council to see if it could offer some aid by having the signs re-painted.

Little Lad Starts Car Which Breaks Fire Plug

BOSTON, Mass., May 2 (United Press).—When four-year-old Edward Finn started a neighbor's car down an incline he started something he found hard to stop. Sensing that something unforseen was about to happen, Edward jumped and left the car to its own devices.

At the bottom of the hill the automobile crashed into a high pressure fire plug, releasing a geyser of water fifteen feet in the air. In the resultant excitement the police, fire, and water departments were required to restore order.

Vessels Fired On.

LONDON, May 2.—(United Press.)—Further exchange of fire between Chinese on shore and British warships in the Yangtsee river was reported in an Admiralty communication to-day.

It was authoritatively reported also that the British representative at Hankow had protested to the Nationalist government there against the occupation of the British consulate and other property at Chiankiang.

The Admiralty communique said: H.M.S. Teal, with a convoy of lighters and tugs, was fired on by Chinese Saturday afternoon at Morison's Point.

The Teal and H.M.S. Kiwao were fired at on Sunday from Chuntow. The Kiwao was hit by three shells but there were no casualties and the damage was slight. The fire was returned and a British shell struck the parapet of a Chinese gun.

CAN'T ENFORCE PROHIBITION

Winnipeg Mayor Says He Would Work If It Could Be Made Effective.

FAVORS QUEBEC PLAN.

WINNIPEG, May 2 (Canadian Press).—"I am a prohibitionist and will work for it if you can make it effective, but it can't be done," declared Col. Ralph H. Webb, Mayor of Winnipeg, in an address last night at a mass meeting of War Veteran organizations, held in support of the ballot for the sale of beer by the glass.

"If you want prohibition, have it one hundred per cent, but if you are going to have the sale of liquor and beer, have it in an honest to God way," he urged.

"Knowing the Quebec system as I do, I want to say that if we had the same in Manitoba all our problems would be solved."

9 Year Old Truck Averages 12 Hours Steady Running Daily on Marvelube Motor Oil

THE firm of J. Lampman & Son, Hamilton, Ontario, owns and operates five dump trucks—three Packards, and one Peerless and one Mack. After four months' steady use of Marvelube Motor Oil, Mr. J. Harry Lampman reported as follows:

"These trucks are on road work and operate under the most severe conditions. Their gear ratio, in order to carry heavy loads, is extremely low.

"One Packard truck handles hot batches of asphalt that comes from the mixer. This truck is nine years old and averages 50 miles per day. It is on the road from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. during which time the motor never stops.

"Previous to Marvelube we paid a much higher price for another oil. Marvelube costs us less; our oil screens are free from gummy deposits found in other oils; our motors are almost free from carbon; the oil pumps vary slightly under extreme heat conditions; and the oil consumption is less."

Severe operating conditions "show-up" the weak points of a motor oil. To give the exceptional lubricating results reported by Mr. Lampman—especially in the case of the 9 year old Packard truck—Marvelube met and passed a test such as it would never be called upon to undergo in the lubrication of an automobile.

To the average motorist, however, it is assuring to know that, using Marvelube, he is getting an extra measure of safety and efficiency of operation which has an important bearing on the life of his car as well as its present satisfactory performance.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

For Tuesday May 3 1927.
(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

For this day, good and evil influences conflict, according to astrology. The afternoon is read as much more auspicious than the morning for most human activities. According to astrology, menacing influences are strong in the morning, but they abate later in the day.

As another period of upheaval appears to be begun, the aged may be sadly depressed at this time when they should count their blessings and eliminate all foreboding thoughts.

Farmers may have some reason for complaint regarding the weather the first part of this month, but they will profit in the autumn to a great extent.

This is a day in which financial problems, large and small, may be troublesome, but there is a good sign for all effort toward stability and system.

Late in the day there is a fair rule for constructive effort of every sort. Builders and civil engineers should benefit exceedingly.

There is to be much employment for Americans in foreign countries and experts are to reap large rewards.

Education is to be appraised at its true value as never before, inasmuch as trained men and women are to be needed in many countries, the seers prophesy.

There is fair promise for all who seek positions under this direction of the stars, and women should be especially fortunate.

Evening weddings on this date should be lucky, bringing brides and bridegrooms into new associations that will be profitable.

Astrologers find that this rule is favorable to wearers of new clothes and they predict that love of bright colors will be strongly demonstrated and intensely significant.

Persons whose birthdate it is should guard against losses in the coming year. They should avoid litigation of every sort.

ANNIVERSARY OF ST. JAMES' UNITED CHURCH

Rev. Dr. S. W. Fallis is Special Preacher at Both Services.

INSPIRING SERMONS.

Seeing God Clearly Is Subject of Address in the Morning.

The anniversary services of St. James' church, were held yesterday, morning and evening. The preacher for the special occasion was Rev. Dr. Samuel W. Fallis, manager of the United Church Publishing House of Toronto.

Rev. Mr. Fallis' address was taken from his favorite book in the Bible, the fortieth chapter of Isaiah, and the ninth verse, "O Zion that bringest good tidings, get thee up into the high mountain and behold thy God," which means that everyone should have the ability to completely visualize God, and, said the minister, "this is what we need to-day to bring Him out of the mist so that He may appear real to us. This seems impossible," said Dr. Fallis, "but if I had the power of different talents under me the one that I would use the most is the one that would bring human people closer to their Saviour, and I would rather do this than anything else in this whole world.

"The man who causes this change in his fellow men, is the greatest benefactor to mankind," said the minister, "and the greatest servant of God is the man who can see him through all the difficulties that this world of ours presents."

Dr. Fallis took the automobile as an example of one of these difficulties and remarked that it was neither a blessing nor a curse, for the trouble lies in the fact that most people can not see between, and fail to see when they should stop at one extremity. "God provided the automobile among other things as a blessing for his people so as to bring families together," said the speaker, "and not to separate them, for in that separation comes the curse of the car, and I believe that the man who can make blessings available for humanity is a benefactor and a Christian." But Mr. Fallis held to his former belief that the greatest benefactor is the man who can reveal to others God as He is, and their relation to Him for that is the only means whereby everything will be a blessing and not a curse.

Going back to early Bible history, the minister recalled the miserv of the Children of Israel and told of how they were raised out of their depression only when they saw God more clearly, and he remarked that even though the grass withered and the flower faded, God would remain forever; and if His people would come to Him now God would blot out any difficulties that life is giving them.

Speaking on the ideas that persons have for God, Mr. Fallis said that everyone has explanations of Him that are false and true. There are different denominations and Dr. Fallis remarked it must be a continual undertaking of God to try and make people see him. The disciples of old did not find God through Jesus and that is what our Lord came to the earth for. Jesus came to reveal God, and it must have been a bitter moment for Christ when he was questioned as to who God really was after all His teachings. Dr. Fallis said that religion has failed if humans fear God and only love Jesus, and added that if they could only see Him they would be joyous at heart. He also wonders if people really believe that there is a God, even though the Bible claims that the universe was created by Him, and also the moon, stars and all Nature.

The minister said there would be no cause for worry in the life of anyone if they would only believe that God is God and to strive to do their best, and try and live a good clean life.

He told the congregation yesterday morning that the best plan to follow to be able to see Him in a clear light was to study Nature, History and Human Experience so that in a short while God would become real to everyone, and would give all the spirit of quiet content.

Dr. Fallis remarked that he did not see how anyone could not possibly see God when such beautiful things are all around. He then went on to say that this insight could be obtained by quiet meditation with God on a beautiful day in a place of nature that His hand has provided. The speaker went on to say that if a man looks for God he will not find Him, for he must be surrounded by nature to have this love created within him. To illustrate this the minister quoted one of Bliss Carmen's recent poems in which the poet states that "he searched a day for God and found Him not," but toward the end of the poem Carmen tells of how out in the quiet woods near beautiful flowers the spell came on him, and he saw the light clearly through which shined the Lord.

When one studies history it will disclose the fact that God created the earth and all things on it so even by this alone everyone should learn to love Him with all their heart and soul.

"In studying others' experiences and your own," said Dr. Fallis, "it will be found that some time in their lives or in yours, God has helped you out of some difficulties that would have been impossible had you relied on mortal aid—and if God helped you then He will do it now, too." He went on to say that even though God is an unseen Being, yet even the mightiest influences in the world are unseen things. "Even as the glory of the sunset, and the majesty of the mountains, so the God of our hearts is," said the minister, "And if we can come to the place when we can say, 'My soul crieth out for God,' it will not be long till we find Him, and then we will love Him as we should."

Special anniversary music was rendered by the choir, and a solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple" was given by the soloist, Mrs. Girven.

DRIVES OFF DOCK; MAN IS DROWNED

Apparently Mistook Road as Approach To Bridge at Wallaceburg.

WALLACEBURG, Ont., May 2. — Robert Adams, aged 46, a well-known Wallaceburg resident and former business man, was drowned shortly before one o'clock yesterday morning when he drove his car over the Creek street dock into about ten feet of water in the Sydenham River. His body was removed from the machine in about 45 minutes but life was extinct.

Adams was alone in the machine at the time. Circumstances indicate that Adams mistook the street leading down to the dock for Duncan street, a block further east, where the central bridge spans the river. Starting his automobile, which had been parked at the corner of James street, Adams backed away from the curb, turned and then drove down Creek street. Then apparently realizing his mistake and his danger, he jammed on the emergency brake, but too late to prevent the car from plunging into the river. When the machine was removed from the water the emergency brake was found to be set.

George Whale, walking home on James street, had noticed Adams drive away from the curb and down the incline while two other men Fred Warren and William Ross were crossing the Central bridge when they noticed the lights of the car flash on the water. An alarm was sent in and citizens were summoned to the scene by the sounding of the fire alarm. Some three quarters of an hour after the accident a wrecker manipulated the submerged machine to such an extent that it was found possible to smash a side window, and remove the body. Drs. Richardson and Taylor worked on the remains for some time with a pulmotor, but to no avail, life having been extinct for some time.

A coroner's jury was empanelled and after viewing the remains adjourned until a later date.

Mr. Adams was born in Tilbury townshop and came to Wallaceburg about 12 years ago. First he was engaged in the butcher business here but of late years he conducted a bakeshop. Since selling the latter business Mr. Adams has been living a retired life. His wife, formerly Miss May Walker, of Wallaceburg, and two children, Glen, aged 9, and Melville, aged 1, all of Wallaceburg, survive.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Although he went over Anderson's testimony word for word, Churchill was able to shake him on only one or two particulars. The damaging evidence remained almost as damaging when the great defense lawyer had finished with the farmer, in spite of the fact that he had proved Anderson to be biased toward the prosecution, because of his friendship and gratitude toward the murdered man.

The afternoon wore on rather monotonously, Mrs. Bates, wife of the preacher, and Ella Bates, his daughter, being called in succession after Anderson had been dismissed. Mrs. Anderson, a plump, good-natured country woman, a pleasing contrast to her dour husband, was the third new witness of the afternoon. She gave substantially the same testimony as had her husband, and it was evident that Banning had drilled the two thoroughly so that their stories would tally. The only high spot in Mrs. Anderson's testimony was the fact that she asserted that Cherry had said, "To think that I turned down a man like Ralph Cluny to marry a beast like you"—a version of the famous "confession speech," as it was later labelled by the newspapers, that immeasurably helped the defense, to Banning's great chagrin. Mrs. Anderson further testified that Cherry had not been able to eat her breakfast, that she said to Chris Wiley, "I don't want anything to eat. All I want is to get home to Muggy."

The proprietor of "The Vanity Shop," a sleek-haired, middle-aged dandy, who gave his name as Bertram Kennedy, was the last witness of the afternoon.

After preliminary questions, Banning asked his witness:

"You have your ledger with you, Mr. Kennedy?"

"I have."

"You have an account there in the name of Miss Cherry Lane?"

"I have. With a notation that bills were to be sent to Mr. Ralph Cluny," Kennedy answered with a knowing smirk.

"Now, Mr. Kennedy, I will ask you to tell the jury the total amount of Miss Cherry's account with you."

"The account was opened for Miss Lane on Wednesday, September 29, last, by Mr. Cluny, with no limit set on the amount that could be charged. The last purchase charged against the account was made on Tuesday, November 23. And during that period of approximately seven weeks the account totaled $1745.50."

Kennedy was followed by three other shop proprietors—owners respectively of an exclusive shoe store, the smartest fur shop in town and the department store that catered to the richest and best dressed women in the city. Through their testimony and the evidence of their ledgers, Cherry was convicted of having extracted more than seven thousand dollars in merchandise for her trousseau from her adoring but aged fiance, whom she was on trial for having murdered. The famous mink coat alone had cost thirty-five hundred dollars.

When the last of the three shop owners had testified and had been dismissed by Churchill without cross-examination, Banning said calmly:

"Call Miss Faith Lane!"

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

A summer coat of beige mousseleine de laine made with short cape sleeves.

One ambitious hairdresser has said that so far as fashion is concerned the milliners must play second fiddle to the coiffeurs. He bases his assertion on his belief that it is the fashion in headdress that determines the fashion in hats and that a woman does not have her hair arranged to suit her hat but orders her hat to suit her headdress.

Perhaps it does work that way; perhaps the other way—perhaps sometimes one way, and sometimes the other. Or, what is more likely, it may be that it works both ways all the time and that there is a constant inter-relation between modes in millionery and modes in hairdressing.

It is hard to settle these fine points of precedence in matters of fashion. Who shall say, for instance, whether the fashion in coats is determined by the fashion in frocks, or the fashion in frocks determined by the fashion in wraps? Does a woman buy a coat because it can conveniently be worn over her frock, or does she select a frock that can be worn beneath her coat?

Undoubtedly, there was a time when the frock took precedence—that was back in mid-Victorian days when women spent much more time indoors, and outdoors was generally looked upon by fashionable women as an impossible sort of region that had to be passed through to get from one real place to another. Then, doubtless, shawls and the loose sunsightly dolmans that women wore were the favorite type of wraps because they were the only sort of wraps that could be worn over immensely bouffant skirts and ballooning sleeves. Now, women think much more concerning their appearance outdoors than they did then.

But this question has raised itself this spring. Can the fashion for straight-sleeved coats persist if frocks with sleeves puffed below the elbow continue in favor?

Ruth Clouts His Fifth And Sixth Homer Of The Season

YANKS SECURE LEAGUE LEAD

Babe Ruth Slams Two Homers in Game With Athletics.

SENATORS WIN 6-0

NEW YORK, May 2. — (Canadian Press).—The New York Yankees assumed undisputed possession of first place in the American League by defeating the Athletics here yesterday, 7 to 3, before more than 60,000 fans. Babe Ruth hit his fifth and sixth home runs of the year, the first coming in the first inning with one on base and the other in the eighth with none on. Lou Gehrig also slammed for the circuit, his fifth of the season. The visitors got twelve hits off Pennock against five for the home club.

Starting his first major league game, Lisenbee held Boston to seven hits at Washington yesterday and Washington won, 6 to 0, by bunching hits off Russell. Goslin got his second home run of the season in the first inning.

The Chicago White Sox ran their winning streak to six games yesterday by defeating St. Louis, 7 to 6, in a hectic contest. Pitchers came and went with great regularity, but Thomas finally managed to stop St. Louis just short of victory. Bud Clancy delivered the winning single with Falk on second from a single and a sacrifice.

Earl Whitehill, backed by perfect support, shut out Cleveland, and Detroit took the closing game of the series, 7 to 0. Benny Karr started in the box for Cleveland, and for five innings he and Whitehill staged a spectacular pitchers' battle. When the sixth inning opened, the Tigers held a one-run lead, then proceeded to clinch the game with five additional tallies.

BROOKLYN WINS THIRD STRAIGHT

Stage Rally in Ninth for 4-3 Victory Over Giants.

CARDS DEFEAT REDS

NEW YORK, May 2.—(Canadian Press).—Brooklyn overtook the Giants in the ninth with a two-run rally yesterday to win its third consecutive game, by 4 to 3. A fly to short centre by Pinch Hitter Jacobson allowed Garey to come home from third with the winning run. It was Dazzy Vance's first victory in the present campaign. He struck out seven batters and retired 15 Giants in order in the last five innings. About 30,000 Brooklyn fans were in attendance.

Charley Root blew up in the ninth inning at Chicago, and after walking three men, was touched for a hit which sent two runs across the plate, giving Pittsburgh a 7 to 6 victory. The Cubs came from behind, overcoming the visitors' lead with the aid of home runs by Hack Wilson and Charley Tolson, the latter bagging his with the bases filled in the seventh inning. A crowd of about 35,000 was present.

The St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Cincinnati Reds in the final game of the series between the two teams at St. Louis yesterday. Frankie Frisch, Cardinal second baseman, hit his third homer in two days. Jim Bottomley added another homer. The Cardinals left today for a month's tour in every city on the National circuit.

Only three games were scheduled in the National League yesterday.

BRITISH HURDLERS WIN RELAY HONORS

Defeat Cambridge University in 480-Yard Relay Championship.

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—(Canadian Press).—Racing over soggy turf in a downpour of rain, the crack British team of hurdlers from Cambridge University, captained by their titled star, Lord David Burghley, brought their United States invasion to a triumphant climax Saturday in the Pennsylvania relay carnival.

Where they had failed in bids for individual honors, the day before, the British quartet came back as a team, to score a brilliant and clean-cut victory over Yankee rivals in the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay championship, performing skillfully and faultlessly in spite of the heavy and treacherous footing. The Britons captured their trial heat easily, then romped away from Yale and Pennsylvania in the final, gaining a six-yard margin on the first leg that their anchor man, Lord Burghley, stretched to twelve at the finish.

The other invaders, the relay team from Delta Collegiate Institute of Hamilton, Ont., failed to get better than fourth place in the only event in which they were entered, the mile high school relay. The Canadians got off to a poor start, but in the last two legs developed a burst of speed that carried them to fourth position in a field of twelve. Kearney High, of New Jersey, won the race in 3.32 1-5.

MASSEYS GAIN LEAGUE POINTS FROM QUAKERS

James Opened the Scoring — Willis Added Number Two.

SCORE 2 TO 0

Quakers Played Too Much Football — Edgar Brilliant.

Punctual to schedule time the local soccer teams made their initial debut before the public in a league fixture at King Edward Park before a good attendance of spectators. After a very strenuous tussle, the Masseys gained a hard-earned victory over the Quaker Oats by the score of two goals to nil. The teams were evenly balanced from the goal-keeper out to the forwards. Both custodians gave a perfect exhibition in the goals, in fact Edgar being the brilliant performer throughout the entire ninety minutes.

Quakers Win Toss.

Referee Ward started off the game in the usual style when the Quakers gained the decision of the coin and compelled their opponents—Masseys—to face the strong sun, which made full backs keep alert as a dropping ball would come into goal. The Quakers initiated a clever move on the left wing with Foster crossing into the centre of the goal, but nobody there to convert. Grant punted clear to midfield, where the Massey halves forced the ball into the Quakers' territory. Laidler, lying unmarked on the wing, accepted a pass cleverly while on the run, drew the defence close upon him, then centred into goal.

James' Smart Goal.

Curtis covered up his man with precision but James connected quickly as he turned around with a right foot drive that found the back of the net. Edgar had no chance to save. From the centre the Quakers made trace for Fowler's charge. Mayette bringing the custodian to his knees with a lightning drive. They continued the pressure but found the defence in a positive mood. Each goal was visited in turn without any success although the Masseys were more aggressive at this period.

Edgar Brilliant.

The triangle football on the left wing caused the Quakers a lot of trouble, time and again it was perfect, and it was through their tactics that Edgar was kept busy saving his citadel from a downfall. On one occasion James broke through on his own, while on the run he left drive for goal, but Edgar received a round of applause when he diverted the sphere for a fruitless corner. The Quakers fell away considerably which left H. Curtis and Honor, on the defence, the prominent factor in holding the elusive Massey forwards outside the shooting area. It was pleasing to watch Edgar come out of his goal repeatedly to punt the ball off the heads of the attacking forces. Just before the whistle announced half-time, the Masseys tried hard to increase their lead. Masseys 1, Quakers 0.

Half-Time.

On resuming the teams started at a fast pace with each goal going under a seige of long range shots. Two free kicks against the Masseys let the opposition make progress into their goal area. The forwards tried to evade the full backs with too much soccer, instead of swinging the ball, which gave the full back ample time to clear up field.

Willis Scored Second.

Play deteriorated into a kick-and-rush style as the game progressed. It was accompanied with rough tactics that did not improve the play in any degree. With only ten minutes to go the Masseys gained their next goal through Willis, who made no mistake with a shot that went in below the cross-bar into the net, after Edgar had made a sensational save from the foot of James. George Blowers tried some of his left foot drives against Edgar but he found him no easy mark to defeat. In the remaining minutes of the game, the Quakers' goal-keeper diverted all shots ranged at him in an easy manner. There was no further scoring and nothing particular took place. Masseys 2 Quakers 0.

Goal-scorers—James and Willis.

Quakers—Edgar, goal; Honor and Curtis, backs; Maker, Wilson and Williams, halves; Mayette, J. Cross, Carmichael, Wilson and Foster, forwards.

Masseys—Fowler, goal; Wade and Grant, backs; Westlake, W. Logan and Blowers, halves; Willis, Nicholson, James, Geo. Logan and Laidler, forwards.

Referee—John Ward.

N.Z. CRICKETERS TO VISIT ENGLAND

Counties Teams Play Opening Games Early in May.

LONDON, April 29 Canadian Press. Cricket comes back to its own again in England in the first week in May, when most of the Counties play their opening engagements. The season will be better than average, although it will not present the impressiveness of last year, when the Australians toured the country and when the mythical "Ashes," the cricket championship between the Old Country and Australia, returned once more to England. This season a New Zealand team is a visitor. This is the first time a team from New Zealand has visited the Motherland. It will be under the captaincy of T. C. Lowry, the old Cantab, and brother-in-law of A.P.C. Chapman, who captained the English eleven which defeated Australia in the last test match. From a County point of view there will be a fine struggle, it is expected, on the part of Yorkshire to regain the supremacy it lost to Lancashire last season.

The newspaper experts are warning cricket officials that they should be on the look-out this year to find likely players for the next English team to visit Australia, in the winter of 1928-29. It is pointed out that England cannot rely for ever on Rhodes, Hobbs, Woolley and Hendren. It is known that the next English team for test matches in Australia will contain much new material.

On the technical side the coming season is of particular interest because a new and smaller ball is being tried out in an effort to increase the effectiveness of bowling, and thus reduce the complete mastery batsmen seem able to establish when they settle down to deliberate "stone-wall" tactics.

LONDON, May 2.—(Canadian Press).—Corporal Will Attenborough, of the Royal Horse Guards, made what is claimed to be a world record in weight lifting.

PLAY TO DRAW.

NEW YORK, May 2. — (Canadian Press).—The Hakoah soccer team of Vienna in the third game of its American tour played a 2-2 draw with the New York Giants of the American Soccer League before a throng of 38,000 at the Polo Grounds yesterday.

The famous racing car with which Captain Malcolm Campbell has shattered numerous automobile records cost nearly $50,000, and it took several mechanics two years and a half to put the car together. The gear box alone cost over $5,000 and the tires $400 each.

HUDDERSFIELD OUT

Made Strong Efforts for Eleventh-Hour Come-Back.

LONDON, May 2 (Canadian Press cable)—The championship of the English Football League was wrested from Huddersfield Town Saturday when at St. James' Park, Newcastle United acquired two points by defeating Sheffield Wednesday and thus placed themselves in the undisputed possession of the league title. The score was two goals to one, but sufficient for the Tynesiders to secure their championship. Up until Saturday the issue, while not very much in doubt, nevertheless held an element of chance for Huddersfield Town were making strong efforts to stage an eleventh hour come-back in an attemupt to retain the crown which they had held for four years. But Bolton Wanderers also had a say in the matter, for the Yorkshiremen succeeded only in emerging from the game with the biggest trouncing they have had this season — four goals to nothing against them. Thus the problem which was opened last August is now settled and nothing more remains but to play off the last scheduled games of the 1926-1927 season.

The teams which were demoted to the lower circle were decided a week or so ago. West Bromwich Albion and Leeds United go down to the second division with Middlesborough obtaining promotion. Who will accompany Middlesborough is not yet known nor will it be known until the last game of the season. Portsmouth's defeat at the hands of South Shields was a dangerous issue for them for, coupled as it was with the drawn game at Stamford Bridge between Chelsea and Manchester City, it brought both of these teams into more direct contention. Portsmouth's fate may be decided in mid-week when they play the Pensioners in a previously postponed game. Notts Forest were practically knocked out of the running yesterday at Southampton.

Bradford City go down to the third division and with them will go either Clapton Orient or Darlington. Stoke City come up from the northern section of the third division into the second string, while Bristol City will do likewise from the southern section. Bristol City are four points ahead of Plymouth Argyle with each having two games to play, but Plymouth have kept their comeback until too late and will have to be content with staying in the third division for another year at least.

The championship of the Scottish League, whose games ended Saturday goes to Glasgow Rangers with a total of 56 points against 51 for their runners-up, Motherwell. Dundee United go back to the second string and will be accompanied by Greenock Morton who were nosed out at the last minute by Dunfermline Athletic. Both Morton and Dunfermline were equal in aggregate points—28—but Morton had the poorer goal-average, which is the deciding factor in the case.

Bo'ness won the championship of the Scottish second division and are promoted while Raith Rovers return to the upper circle from which they were dismissed last season.

The games yesterday were marred by a tragedy at Bramall Lane where Sheffield United were entertaining Bury. Wynne, Bury's right back, fell unconscious on the field and died a few minutes later. The game was abandoned by mutual consent.

ORIOLES BREAK TIE FOR SECOND

Stage Rally in Ninth to Defeat Rochester Ten to Five.

SKEETERS LOSE

NEW YORK, May 2. — (Canadian Press).—The Baltimore Orioles broke the tie for second place existing between them and Rochester by winning the first game of their series at Rochester yesterday by 10 to 5 before a crowd of more than 15,000. The Orioles staged a five-run rally in the eighth to come from behind to win.

Again led by Captain Bill Huber, who blasted a three-base hit with two out, two on and two runs needed to tie in the eighth inning, the Bisons came from behind and trounced the Jersey City Skeeters at Buffalo by a score of 11 to 10. Huber, after chasing the tieing runs home, tallied the winning marker in the same inning on Fischer's vicious drive to left.

The Stars' ninth inning rally fell short yesterday and Newark took the opening game of the series at Syracuse, 5 to 3, winning in the ninth with a four-run raid climaxed by Elliott's home run. The Stars found Davies for three hits in the ninth, but were stopped by Zubris.

Only three games were scheduled in the International League yesterday.

BRITISH YOUTHS WORK ON FARMS

Party of 36 Arrives at Montreal For Training at Macdonald College.

MONTREAL Que. May 2 (Canadian Press).—Thirty-six British youths drawn from secondary schools in almost as many parts of the British Isles have arrived in Montreal and have been sent to the Macdonald Agricultural college at Ste. Anne de Bellevis near here. The lads have come out to Canada under the scheme for farm training operated jointly by Macdonald college and the department of colonization and development of the Canadian Pacific Railway. After two weeks' rudimentary training in Canadian agricultural methods they will be placed at wages upon selected farms in Quebec province for the summer and fall to return to Macdonald college at the end of that time to take the winter agricultural course.

Something new in the way of insurance was transacted at the college when the 36 young men were covered with a blanket policy of death sickness or accident. This is a precaution which the supervisory committee composed of officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Macdonald college authorities thought it wise to take to cover liability during the youths' period of residence at the college or afterwards while in farm employment and still the charges of the committee.

OBITUARY.

The funeral of the late Hugh Masterson from the home of his daughter, Mrs. T. A. Walsh in Hastings, on the morning of April 29th, to St. Jerome's church, in Warkworth, where Rev. J. B. Ferguson celebrated Requiem High mass, assisted by Rev. J. J. O'Brien and Rev. Gerard Maher, of Peterborough, as deacon and sub-deacon, ably assisted by the choir and Rev. J. McCauley, of Ennismore, who preached a very fitting sermon, after which the cortege continued to the cemetery, to inter in his last resting place an old and very respected citizen whose worth was made evident by the large number of relatives and friends who were present.

The pallbearers were Casey Masterson, a nephew of the deceased, Peter Brahaney, John Jones, John Collins, John O'Rielly and Patrick Cooney.

Honorary pallbearers were chosen from his old neighbors and life-long firends, Edward Weir, Thomas Drope, James Convey, John Coughlin, Robt. Campbell, James Mooney and John Brickman.

Mr. Masterson always took a keen interest in the affairs of his vicinity and township, acting as good samaritan wherever needed and was many times councillor, commissioner and later Reeve, always proving himself a worthy servant in every capacity.

MRS. E. LAYFIELD.

On Sunday evening sitting in her chair reading, there passed away one of the older residents of Peterboro. Mrs. Layfield has been a resident of Peterboro since 1891, coming to Peterboro with her husband and family from Sherbrooke, Quebec.

Born in New Ireland, Que., in the year 1844, her parents, both from the north of Ireland, she belonged to a family of the early settlers of Canada. Her life has been full of devotion to her family and to her church. She was a member of St. John's parish and always took a deep interest in all the activities of the parish.

She took a deep interest in the soldiers during the war and was a member of the Patriotic Society, and after the return of the soldiers has performed many kindly acts to returned men or their families.

She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, Mrs. T. H. Mather of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Miss Jane Layfield, at home; also one son, R. E. Layfield.

The funeral will be from her son's residence and will be of a private nature. No flowers, please.

MRS. KATHERINE HOWDEN

The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon of Mrs. Katherine Howden, from her late residence, 194 Sherbrooke Streets. It was attended by a large number of friends and acquaintances who asembled to pay honor to one who was held in the highest esteem by all who knew her and whose passing will bring sadness to many hearts. She was of a cheerful disposition, one whom to know was to love. Although she was in frail health for nearly two years, she bore her suffering with quiet fortitude. She was born in the Township of Emily, where she spent her girlhood days. She married the late Wesley Howden and came to Peterborough, where she has since resided.

The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Wren of Trinity United Church, who spoke very feelingly on the 23rd Psalm. He said that David did not fear death, for the Lord, his Shepherd went through the valley with him. He told of the life people were to live here to gain that glorious life after death. He gave the assurance that the dear one who had just passed away had gone to claim her habitation with the blest. The pallbearers were namely Messrs. Alfred Williams, Wilfrid White, John Fisher, James Donlie, Hugh Howden and George Latchford. Interment took place in Little Lake Cemetery.

THOMAS GOSSELIN

The death occurred at half-past seven o'clock on Saturday night at St. Joseph's Hospital, of Thomas Gosselin, 269 Perry Street, after a fortnight's illness following an operation.

The deceased, who was fifty-one years of age, was a native of the city and a lifelong resident. He was a man of sterling character, highly respected by a large number of friends and neighbors, and a devout member of his church. He was also a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters. The late Mr. Gosselin was connected for many years past with the Canadian Packing Company, occupying the position for some time of manager of the Sherbrooke Street store.

Survivors are his sorrowing wife; one son, Louis of Detroit; and three daughters, Muriel, Olive and Alma, at home. Two brothers are Joseph and Isadore, of Peterborough, and four sisters also survive, Mrs. George Johnston of Toronto, Mrs. H. P. Kidd of Moosomin, Saskatchewan, Mrs. M. D Heath, Aylmer Street and Mrs. H. Riches, Romaine Street.

The funeral will take place at nine o'clock on Tuesday morning from the late residence to the Sacred Heart Church, thence to St. Peter's Cemetery for interment.

MRS. WALTER F. HAMLIN.

The death occurred this morning of Edith Huston, wife of Walter F. Hamlin, in Nicholls Hospital. The deceased was 33 years of age. The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of her brother, Harry Huston, Lot 23, Concession 16, Otonabee. Interment will be made at the Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough, with the Rev. J. W. Gordon officiating.

MRS. EDWARD VINETTE.

The death occurred suddenly of Angeline Daignault, beloved wife of Edward Vinette, at the family residence, on Saturday, April 30th. Mrs. Vinette is a highly respected woman of this city, and will be sadly missed by all who knew her. The deceased was 52 years of age, and has lived here all her life.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her sorrowing husband, and four daughters: Mrs. H. Constable, Gearsine, Kathleen, and Edith, and seven sons: Alphonse, Napolean, Hossanna, Edward, Baptiste, Adelard, and Albert. She also leaves three sisters: Mrs. Strickland of Portage Du Fort, Mrs. M. Tobin of this city, Mrs. Daveley of Montreal, and one brother, Mr. J. Daignault, of Toronto.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 20 Lisburn Street, at 8.45 Tuesday morning to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, where service will be held. Interment will then be made at St. Peter's Cemetery.

COMPANY PUT TO BIG EXPENSE WHEN CARS HELD UP AT BORDER INSPECTOR TELLS COMMISSION

J. S. Hope Explains Injurious Effect of "Switching" Cars on C.N.R.

BILLINGS CHANGED.

C.P.R. Official Questioned Regarding Mysterious Movements of Car 74,210.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 3 (Canadian Press).—The injurious effect on the Canadian National Railways of the practice of "switching" beer - laden cars and camouflaging them so that their contents may be smuggled into the United States, was emphasized before the Royal Customs Commission yesterday afternoon. John S. Hope, investigation inspector of the Canadian National Railways, was asked by Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., Commission counsel, what effect this practice had on the system.

"Well," he replied, "when the American Customs discover a case of this kind, they immediately take steps to examine all cars at the border. This causes delay and expense in opening the cars for examination and it may result in friction with the consignees of goods." Mr. Hope added that the Canadian National was doing all in its power to end the "switching" practice, and he believed that two or three men had been discharged in this district as a result of the efforts.

Under False Billings.

A large part of yesterday's sitting was devoted to looking into the process whereby cars of beer turn into cars of milk, canned peaches, waste paper, or sugar when it comes time for them to cross the border into the United States. The first witness of the afternoon was Walter Graham, an investigating officer for the Canadian Pacific Railway. He was asked about an investigation which he made into the mysterious movements of car 74210 which, he stated, was loaded with some 350 cases of beer at Carling's Brewery, London, Ontario, during the month of May, 1924. This car, he said, had been covered by a regular billing to Windsor, Ont., before it started, telephone instructions were received to hold it up. It was placed on a team track, and while there, the original billing was changed from beer to waste paper. The car went forward to Windsor as waste-paper, and was seized there.

The story was further developed by Joseph R. Nickle, senior Customs examiner at Windsor.

"Do you remember car 74210 " asked Mr. Rowell.

"Yes." Mr. Nickle said that he had seized this car which he found to be loaded with beer.

"Whose beer was it?"

The beer bore the label of Carling's, stated Mr. Nickle. It was concealed by several bales of scrap paper. In connection with the seizure he had received a telephone call from a liquor dealer in Windsor called J. B. Bannon.

"Bannon said, 'Why didn't you call me up before you seized the beer?' " said Mr. Nickle. Bannon, he said, had told him that it would have been worth more to him before the seizure than after. Later Bannon came to see him.

"He asked me how I got next to it," stated the witness.

"I asked him if it was his beer. He said it was not, but he knew who owned it and he was just trying to help that man get it out."

Sought Release.

Then W. A. Jacques, special preventive officer for this district, told of the investigation which he had made into car 74210. In this connection it was shown that letters had passed between W. M. Egan, who has been mentioned already in the investigation here, and A. F. Healy, former Liberal member for North Essex in the House of Commons, and between Mr. Healy and R. R. Farrow, Deputy Minister of Customs at that time, in regard to obtaining release of the seized car, Mr. Egan pointed out to Mr. Healy that the consignee of the beer, C. B. Granby, of Grand Rapids, Mich., was awaiting the delivery of his goods. Mr. Healy, under date of May 22, 1924, suggested to Mr. Farrow that the car might be released as bills appeared to be in order and the interested parties were not attempting to unload the beer in Windsor.

Mr. Jacquest told how he had made inquiries in London to find out where the waste-paper which was used to camouflage the beer had been obtained. He discovered that it had been obtained from Sam Harris, who, Mr. Jacques said, admitted that he knew the paper was to be used to "camouflage" a car of beer.

Bannon Questioned.

J. B. Bannon, of Windsor, recalled something about car 74210 but was not very clear in regard to the men who had taken part in the transaction. He had been called up from London by a man who asked about the car.

"What was the name of the man who called you up from London?" asked Commissioner Wright.

"I don't know," responded Mr. Bannon.

"You don't ask us to believe that a man called you up from London and you didn't get his name?" asked the Commissioner.

Conscience As Guide For Bathing Pool Garb

ATLANTA, Ga., May 3 (United Press).—"Let your conscience be your guide," said Councilman John A. White, Monday, in announcing rules for bathing suits to be worn at the municipal bathing pools of Atlanta this summer. The pools open at noon May 28th.

"There will be no restrictions whatever on bathing suits. Bathers may wear one-piece suits or anything else that their conscience dictates," said Mr. White.

RETURN TRADE BEING PROBED

Smuggling of Goods Into Canada Goes With Liquor Business.

FLORIST EXPLAINS.

WINDSOR, May 3. Canadian Press.—Whiskey, silk and flowers and their movement across the Detroit River, occupied the attention of the Royal Customs Commission this morning.

For the first time during the Windsor sittings, the commissioners heard something of the "return movement," which it is claimed, goes hand in hand with the liquor smuggling from Canada to the United States. Morris Baruch, who, according to some witnesses, was involved in this business denied any association with silk smuggling, although he admitted bringing liquor from Montreal some years ago and selling it in the Windsor district.

Miss Lucy Bamford, of the Windsor Flower Shop, of Windsor was called to explain certain importations of ferns and pottery, some of which were brought in on double invoices, and others which, apparently, were not declared to the customs.

Miss Bamford admitted that some ribbons purchased for her flower store had not been declared to the customs.

"How did they come into Canada?" asked Mr. Calder.

"A friend brought them in."

"Do you get most of your goods in Detroit?" asked Chief Commissioner Brown.

"No; we buy all we can here."

"And you bring things in as cheaply as possible?"

Double invoices for ferns, one to go to the cutsoms being lower than the trade invoice, Miss Bamford explained, were made out by the Detroit firm.

She could not tell how much her purchases in Detroit had totalled during the year, beyond saying that they totalled more than $1000 and less than $5000. Double invoices by this firm had ceased in 1925, Mr. Calder said.

INJUNCTION BREACH MOTION DISMISSED

TORONTO, May 3 (Canadian Press).—Chief Justice Latchford today dismissed, with costs, the motion to commit Rev. Dr. Wyllie of Erskine Presbyterian Church, Ottawa, for breach of an injunction. The injunction had restrained Dr. Wyllie from presiding at congregational meetings of the Church and from dispensing the Sacrament.

Australia Abandoning Steamship Enterprise

SYDNEY, N. S. W. May 3. — It is authoritatively reported that the federal public accounts committee, after a long inquiry, has decided to recommend that steamers of the Commonwealth line should cease to exist as government enterprises, thus ending the estimated annual loss of £500,000 sterling. The line was founded as a wartime emergency, and later encountered serious post-war competition from a privately owned combine of navigation companies.

JUSTICE CALLS TWO REPORTERS

Defence Counsel In Withrow-Brooks Trial Claims Comment Improper.

HEARING RESUMED.

TORONTO, May 3. — (Canadian Press.)—On request of defense counsel, Mr. Justice Logie, presiding at the trial of Dr. O. C. J. Withrow and Bartlett Brooks, jointly charged with manslaughter and an attempt to procure an abortion in connection with the death of Ruth E. Dembner, ordered that the persons responsible for reports of the trial which appeared in two local newspapers attend court this afternoon. Counsel claimed that the matter referred to in the reports should not have been commented on as it was not mentioned in evidence.

Chief Inspector J. Miller, of the Ontario Provincial Police, was the first witness called. He told of an interview he had had with Dr. Withrow, when the latter said he did not know Ruth Dembner, but knew her as Mrs. Brooks. Dr. Withrow, according to the witness, had advised Miss Dembner to enter the hospital and have a proper operation. She had asked the cost and been told $50, which she had paid.

Dr. Withrow had said he had performed an ordinary operation which he had often done and other doctors as well. Evidence was given by Mrs. Kirkness, supervising nurse at the Strathcona Hospital, who testified that the operation performed there on the girl by Dr. Withrow was a minor one.

Mr. Justice Logie asked who authorized the departure of Miss Dembner from the hospital, but Mrs. Kirkness was not definite on the question.

WEEK END RAIN STOPS SEEDING

Slight Delay Occasioned on Prairies—Plenty of Moisture.

APRIL RAINS HELPED.

WINNIPEG, May 3 (Special to The Examiner).—The weather over the West during the past week was generally favorable until the week-end, according to reports reaching Canadian Pacific Railway headquarters here to-day, when rain and some snow were reported in most sections of the three provinces. In Manitoba showers prevented the general commencement of spring operations, but it is expected that work generally, including seeding, will be under way by Wednesday.

There is ample moisture in the soil everywhere, the result of the snowfall during the winter, and the precipitation last September and October. Again during the month of April there was more rainfall than normally, and all sections now have sufficient moisture to carry the crop until at least the end of May.

Indian Maidens Used Cosmetics and Hand Mirrors Out West in Pre-Historic Days, Archeologists Find

HAZELTON, B.C., May 3—While there may not have been beauty parlors in the prehistoric days, the Indian braves and belles who inhabited what is now central British Columbia had their own methods and appliances for enhancing their charm. The "rouge and cosmetics" used were obtained from natural coloring materials, but a discovery made here to-day shows that hand mirrors also existed in those days. The discovery was made by a Dominion archeologists party in the prehistoric part of the ancient Gitksan Village site immediately below Hazelton of one of the extremely rare stone mirrors known to have been used by the totem pole Indians of the Skeena Valley era.

The specimen is a thin slab of black stones, one end of which is narrowed for a handle and the other end has its flat surface highly polished. One of the older Hazelton Indians demonstrated to the archaeologists how this was used. The mirror surface was wet, and when this is done, the polished surface actually reflects the human face so clearly that individual hairs and the color of the eyes are discernible.

This Indian stated that such mirrors were used by the Indians when they were "making up" their faces for tribal dances and ceremonies in the days before the white man introduced the present day looking glass.

The specimen secured is being sent to the National Museum at Ottawa for preservation among the prehistoric Indian relics.

MEN STRUGGLE TO HOLD LEVEE ON WEST BANK

Mississippi and Red Rivers Spread Out Towards Arkansas.

RELIEF MEN ACTIVE.

Thousands of People Driven From Homes in Northern Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, May 3 (Canadian Press).—Successful termination of the fight to hold the levee line against the charge of the Mississippi River today became a question of grim endurance in the Natchez sector while the relief squadron ploughed through the muddy waters to remove residents from the inundated lowland parishes of North Eastern Louisiana.

The flood waters from the Red and Mississippi Rivers, streaming from breaches in the levee systems, continued their invasion, widening their territory northward and westward as they moved to meet the coming flood from the Arkansas River.

The dike fight became desperate on the west bank of the Mississippi in the neighborhood of Vidalia and a crew worked throughout the night on the electrically lighted embankments. At Newellton also the situation became critical as the waters slopped over the levee tops and emergency measures were speeded to stop the flow. The crisis was expected between Delta Point and Deer Park, in the same territory, within the next two days.

With thousands of persons already driven from their homes in Northeastern Louisiana, the crest was but approaching Vicksburg, Miss. Many towns in Concordia, Catahoula, Ovoyelles, and neighboring parishes in Louisiana already had been deserted, but in others reliance was placed in the protection levees. Residents strengthened their defences before the coming flood.

Sympathy from King George

WASHINGTON, May 3 (Canadian Press)—President Coolidge received a cablegram to-day from King George of Great Britain expressing sympathy for the flood sufferers in the Mississippi valley.

WILL CONSIDER ECONOMY PLAN

Forke and Malcolm Going To England This Summer.

COMBINE OFFICES.

LONDON, May 3. — (Canadian Press.)—Hon. Robert Forke, Canadian minister of immigration, and Hon. James Malcolm, minister of trade and commerce, while in England this summer will jointly consider the feasibility of combining in one building the branch offices in Britain and, on the Continent of their reipective departments, it is understood. Such a procedure would eliminate duplication of premises and to a certain extent duplication of office staffs.

Mr. Malcolm has already received intimations that the allocation of $100,000 for advertising Canadian goods in Britain will not go very far in making a widespread appeal. It is understood that one suggestion meeting favor is that when big British stores take a large space for general advertisement, Canada should pay a proportion of the cost for whatever amount of space calls attention specially to Canadian goods.

SAYS FLOOD CONDITIONS ARE VERY BAD

Mr. Fred Hamilton, An Old Peterboro' Boy, Passed Through Some Dangerous Spots To Reach Here.

Mr. Fred Hamilton, a brother of Mr. Vic Hamilton, who was called home, owing to the death of his father had quite an experience on his way to Peterborough.

His home is in Eldorado, Arkansas, and below St. Louis, Mo., he passed through some of the flooded districts in the southern part of the United States.

On one occasion the train on which he was a passenger crossed a considerable length of track which was several feet under water, and the swaying of the train was an evidence that the road bed of this particular part of the track was not in good condition, and getting worse.

Mr. Hamilton is a locomotive engineer himself and he says there is a great deal of anxiety in the south as to the probable damage yet possible due to the flood.

He is quite anxious to reach his own home again and intends leaving within the next day or so.

Approximately 1,497 awards have been made, while thirteen remaining cases remain to be reported upon by the Commissioner. It is expected that this final report will be available in the near future.

A list of the number of successful claimants is being withheld until the whole question of payment of these claims is considered by a sub-committee of the Cabinet.

ROADS TO CITY TO BE SIGNED

Automobile Club Will Mark All Highways Within 30 Miles.

POPULAR ACTION.

A committee representing the Peterborough Automobile Club is working on a plan for the erection of signs indicating the roads leading into Peterborough, the secretary said today. These signs will be placed outside the city within a radius of thirty miles. An order will be placed with the Ontario Motor League in Toronto and a man will be engaged to place the signs in position along the roads.

The idea is to place "Peterborough" signs on all roads leading into the city and other signs designating roads out of here. The signing of roads is one of the most popular actions of the Peterborough club and it aids not only the members of the local league, but it also points toward better tourist conditions.

POSSIBLE CLUE TO MISSING BOY

Brother Hears About Youth Being Chased By Watchman.

LOST FOR TEN DAYS.

TORONTO, May 3 (Canadian Press).—A posisble clue as to the whereabouts of Vincent Runyon, 15-year-old son of Henry Runyon, wealthy Jersey City business man, who disappeared from his home on April 23, has been unearthed by Henry Runyon, Jr., brother of the missing boy, and a private detective who accompanied him to this city in the search for Vincent, the Canadian Press was informed this morning. A night watchman in the east end of the city is reported to have chased a boy from a wagon load of hay on Saturday night, and the belief is expressed by the boy's brother that it may have been Vincent.

Local police and customs officers are collaborating with Henry and the private detective and no stone is being left unturned in the search.

CITY COUNCIL WON'T ATTEMPT TO LIMIT OR STOP OPERATIONS OF COONEY AND JOPLING BUSSES

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID

Refused to interfere with the Cooney and Jopling busses until a definite proposal is made by the Border Cities Transit Company.

Passed the necessary by-laws for the purchase of a motor driven ladder wagon for the fire department.

Ordered Ald. Phelan to hire a dog-catcher with instructions to enforce the law strictly.

Made it necessary for every citizen to clear the snow from the sidewalk in front of his home.

Decided to submit a by-law to the people at the next municipal election giving the Western Clock Company a fixed assessment on a new building to be erected this year.

Promised to oil the streets as soon as the weather is warm enough to permit of economical application.

Wants Written Proposal From Other Firm Before Considering Step.

TO HIRE DOG CATCHER.

By-laws Passed For Purchase of Ladder Truck—Snow By-law Changed.

A written proposition of transportation service for a term of year will be asked of the Border Cities Transit Company before the City Council will consider taking any step to limit the operations of Cooney and Jopling or attempt to remove them. This was the decision of the Aldermen last night at the May meeting when the Mayor reported that the Border City Company was barely breaking even on operating expenses and not meeting its overhead, and would probably pull out at the end of the thirty days gentlemen's agreement if not given some assistance.

Mayor Holloway recounted the information given him by Messrs. Perry and Porter of the company recently. Cooney and Jopling are getting just enough to spoil the chances of getting a bus corporation to take over the transportation business definitely. The Hydro wishes the Border City company to buy the car barn, but it is not willing to do this while there is competition.

His Worship admitted that if the people wish to patronize the Cooney and Jopling busses it is their own business, but he feared that this would leave the city without adequate transportation. The time at which the Hydro ceased operations was unfortunate for the city because it was a bad time of the year for the bus business, giving the company a poor start.

Some people might say, continued the Mayor, that the Council was being hard on Cooney and Jopling, but the only way to get the other company to give service was to get it business on a paying basis even if meant paying a bonus, as other cities do.

Ald. Hancock argued that the people would not patronize the busses because the service was not sufficiently frequent. The Mayor retorted that the company would not run the busses up and down empty.

Ald. Greene warned that if Cooney and Jopling stopped operations, the bus company might still say in short time that business was not paying and quit, leaving the city worse off than ever. The Mayor's answer to this was that the company, if an agreement was made for five years, would buy the barns and have an investment.

Ald. Denne pointed out that the city could not cancel the license. The Mayor said that it could be done, although there would be nothing to stop Cooney and Jopling from picking up passengers outside the limits and bringing them in or taking them on in the city to carry them out. Again, the Council, through the Police Commission, could fix a route so that the two lines would not conflict. Ald. Denne asked if this would satisfy the other company, and the Mayor said that it would not but that it probably would continue operations. At present the heads of the company hate to see the business go by their door.

Ald. Ackerman suggested seeing Cooney and Jopling about the matter. He said they got credit for supplying transportation when the city needed it. It could be put up to them that the other firm is losing money ;they had admitted that they were losing money themselves; the responsibility then for causing the city to lose its transportation facilities would then be on them.

Ald. Denne advised a course of diplomacy. The Hydro never gave service where Cooney and Jopling began to run their busses. Then it brought in busses and ran an opposition and Cooney and Jopling offered to sell to the Hydro. He proposed that the Council ask the Police Commissioners to go into the matter and allot routes for the two lines.

Ald. Phelan opposed taking any action until a proposition in writing setting forth what the Council might expect is received from the Border City Transit Company. Ald. Stocke set forth the opinion that any person could run a vehicle on the "King's Highway", and asked if the licenses could be cancelled, receiving the Mayor's assurance that they could.

Ladder Truck Debated.

The purchase of a motor driven ladder truck for the fire department was the subject of considerable debate before the Aldermen voted unanimously to pass the by-law, which called for the borrowing of the necessary $13,000.

Ald. Macdonald questioned the amount to be paid; he said he understood that the quotations received last year were around $5,000 or $7,000.

Ald. Cotton explained that this was for a chassis only to carry the present ladders.

Mayor Holloway pointed out that

Brooklyn Police Seeking Mate For Kidnapping Girl

When the girl protested, Johnson is said to have drawn a revolver and ordered her to accompany him.

Thank You, Ladies

To The Ladies' Organizations of the City:

The Kiwanis Club of the City of Peterborough greatly appreciated the letters of acknowledgment from the various ladies' organizations with whom the club has corresponded in connection with requesting their support in the clean up campaign now under way in our city. The various committees of the Kiwanis Club are now diligently at work on this important matter and at presetnt the duties are chiefly of a "get around" nature and there is little of this work they would like to ask the ladies to perform. However, the club would appreciate the ladies of the city reporting to the Central Committee any property that might come to their notice which requires attention and in addition to use their best efforts to have their own property put in good shape and also offer suggestions to friends and neighbors regarding the clean up campaign and in this way the ladies of the various organizations can be of 100 per cent service to the cause and will permit the members of the different committees to do the manual portion of the work required. Please rest assured that your whole hearted co-operation is very sincerely appreciated and doubtless with such assistance we may have a more beautiful and healthful city in which to reside.

Yours very sincerely,
MARK BREDIN,
Kiwanis Club Central Committee.

ROTHERMERE SAYS THAT ITALY HAS NOW FOUND HER SOUL AGAIN

Are the Happiest People in the World To-day, He Declares.

UNDER FASCISM.

People Had Long Suffered From An Inferior Complex.

LONDON, May 3 (United Press).—Italy has "found her soul again" under the leadership of Premier Mussolini and fascism, Viscount Rothermere said in a signed article published yesterday by the Daily Mail, of which he is the publisher.

"The Italians are one of the most prosperous, most confident and happiest people in the world to-day," Rothermere wrote. "Thirty years ago, Italy suffered from an inferiority complex. The people accepted it as natural and inevitable that they should be poorer and less powerful than other western European nations.

"Her share in the victory in the Great War first roused Italy. But before she reached the degree of national well-being she now enjoys, she passed through a period of social and industrial anarchy, which seemed likely to reduce her to the same conditions of squalor and despair that reached Russia.

"Seven years ago, budget deficits almost bankrupted the treasury. The cost of living was rising. Communist organizations practised extortion with impunity. Strike after strike paralyzed industries. Communist employees seized factories.

Best-Organized Power.

"From the state of disorder and despair, Italy has been raised to the position of Europe's best-organized country by one factor alone—courageous and intelligent leadership.

"It is not yet five years since Mussolini imposed his authority on the nation. The record of reform introduced by the Fascist Government is the most eloquent possible testimony of the practical benefits of strong, enlightened government.

"Italy has often led the world into new eras of human thought and achievement. We are witnessing yet another revolution of the world's ideas brought about by the fertile genius of the Italian people.

"The contrast of the discouragement and poverty of Italy five years ago with her prosperity, self-confidence and contentment to-day, is the measure of how disastrous toward the nation are the effects of weak leadership and sloppy, slovenly political thought.

Government Stagnant.

"Those influences which Italy is shaking off are rapidly gaining ground in Great Britain. Beneath the stagnant crust of the Government, the national spirit may still run strongly, but the timidity of weak ministers and obstructions of economically ignorant politicians prevent us from refloating our national fortunes as Italy has hers.

"Five years more of the present kind of government is likely to bring Britain not far from the brink of national disasters."

The Daily Mail, commenting editorially on its publisher's article, suggested that Britain might turn over to Italy, with the consent of the League of Nations, her mandates over Palestine and Mesopotamia.

PRESERVING TOTEM POLES

Government Restores Fallen Ones and Fixes Up Damage.

IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

HAZELTON, B.C., May 3.—(Special).—Preservation of Indian totem poles in the Skeena Valley is being continued this year by a party of Dominion Government officials under the direction of Harlan I. Smith of the Victoria Memorial Museum, Ottawa. Yesterday the necessary outfit for the preservation work arrived at Skeena Crossing, over the Canadian National Railways. A flat car of hoisting material includes a huge derrick used for erecting the fallen poles. This gear was used last year at Kitwanga where preservation work ,carried on during the last two years, has proved of great interest to tourists who are allowed to walk through the Gitkean Indian village, the Canadian National trains halting for a few minutes while the inspection is made.

This year, the work of Totem Poles preservation will be carried on at Gytsogyucla, a village a mile from Skeena Crossing where there are eighteen huge totem poles close to the river bank plainly seen from the windows of the railway cars fur over half a mile as the train passes along the bank of the Skeena to Nash one mile west.

The northern end of the Pacific highway is at present within four miles of Gytsogyulca and the road is expected to be pushed along toward Kitwanga during the present season.

Scientists Produce Live Fish From Egg Placed Under Rays Of Powerful Ultra-Violet Machine

CHICAGO, Ill., May 3—The Herald and Examiner yesterday said that two University of Chicago scientists had been successful in experiments to produce living organisms by ultra violet rays.

A live fish was produced, the newspaper said, by placing a fish egg under powerful ultra-violet rays for five to ten minutes. In this manner, the account added, Dr. Ralph Little and Dr. M. A. Hinrichs conducted the tests.

"We placed the eggs of the sea urchin under the rays of the ultra-violet light machine for from five to ten minutes and the egg became a swimming fish larvae," Dr. Hinrichs said. "This eliminated the male entirely.

"The same experiment was performed on star fish and a number of other lower animals. Curious deformities were produced by placing the embryo chicken under the ultra violet radiation. The chick grew to have one eye and a heart broken up into several pieces, each of which we found to be pulsating independently. These deformities all were caused by the powerful effects of the rays."

In a quest for the origin of life started 30 years ago by the late Jacques Loeb, then at the University of Chicago, experiments finally produced the fertilization of an egg in a super-salt chemical solution.

EUCHRE PARTY GREAT SUCCESS

Ladies of St. Paul's Church, Lakefield, Present Good Programme.

LAKEFIELD, May 3.—The ladies of St. Paul's church held a very successful euchre party in Leonard's Hall on Tuesday evening last. The room was prettily decorated and looked very home-like and cheery. Twenty tables of euchre wereplayed. Miss Katherine Buckley and Mr. Louis Sabatino winning the first prize while Miss Bissonette and Mr. H. Jewell won the consolation prizes.

After the serving of refreshments a group of the boys put on a clever little sketch, "The Speed Limit," which was much appreciated by everyone present. The boys filled their parts admirably and kept the audience in roars of laughter with their quips. The district attorney pressed the charges against the speed artists who came tearing into town at a speed of four miles an hour and were arrested for exceeding the speed limit of three miles an hour. The policeman filled the part of the pompous guardian of the law, while the judge gravely sentenced the speedsters to pay a heavy fine, the prisoners became unruly at what they deemed was an unjust sentence and the court (?) broke up. The court, which was really made up of disguised hold-up men was well depicted and all who saw the play were impressed with the amount of dramatic talent displayed by the boys in this, their first effort. The caste was as follows:

Judge—Patrick Allen.
District Attorney—Wilfrid Pluard.
Policeman—John Charlton.
Speed Artists — John Gibson and Bernard Allen.

The prizes were presented by Rev. J. J. Garvey, who thanked all who attended, contributing toward the evening's success.

The W. A. of St. John's church held its last meeting for the season on Tuesday last, when a substantial bale was packed and shipped to the Mackay Indian school, Manitoba.

DEMAND FULL INVESTIGATION

Ousted Elders of Erskine Presbyterian Church To Make Protest.

REQUEST MEETING.

OTAWA, May 3.—The nine elders of Erskine Presbyterian Church whom Rev. Dr. Wyllie and his friends would have stripped of their robes of office are not going to be thrown out without a protest on their part.

J. C. MacPherson, who prior to the rumpus was treasurer of Erskine, announced yesterday that the deposed elders would call for the fullest investigation. Just what steps are going to be taken he would not say, claiming he was not at present at liberty to say.

Mr. MacPherson stated that the nine elders who were Sunday deposed by a meeting of the Session which was attended by five members, take the position that putting them out of office is illegal, and also contends that a congregational meeting held on April 13th, when the nine elders were ousted from office, was also illegal.

The deposed elders, Mr. MacPherson said, had requested Rev. Dr. Wyllie to announce the calling of a meeting of the full Session of the church, but that he had failed to do so at either of the services held Sunday. At the meeting of the session Sunday there was only one of the group, which has not come to be termed the 'Famous Nine" Elders, present, this being Mr. R. A. McIntosh.

ARKANSAS MOB HUNTS SLAYER

Negro Hidden From An Angry Crowd of Little Rock Citizens.

KILLED CHILD.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 3 (United Press).—Fearing repetition of mob violence, police yesterday continued to guard carefully the hiding place of Lonnie Dixon, 16, negro, who confessed he killed Florella McDonald, 11, a white girl, who disappeared from her home here last April 12.

A mob went through the city Sunday seeking the negro. Dixon confessed he had murdered the child in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church here and then carried her body to the belfry.

The body was found Saturday by Frank Dixon, janitor of the church, Lonnie's father.

When the word went through the city(a mob formed and threatened the jail where the negro was held. Police took Dixon out of town.

Jails in and near Little Rock were stormed and searched by the mob, but the negro could not be found. Several persons in the mob were arrested.

FOR RADIO READERS.

George Olsen, one of the most popular radio entertainers heard over the Blue Network of the National Broadcasting Company each week, makes the radio fans decide the arrangements of his programs.

Mr. Olsen, who conducts the Stromberg-Carlson Orchestra, believes the logical way to discover just what the radio fans want in the form of entertainment is through correspondence. He believes that in this way not only is an indication of the popularity of his programs obtained, but that suggestions and expressions of preferences may be found in such letters that have a valuable hearing upon the subsequent popularity of his programs. Mr. Olsen makes it a policy to send a letter of acknowledgement to every letter that is received, and for this purpose a staff of six people is maintained at his offices solely to answer the tremendous bulk of mail which is received every week.

By personally keeping in contact with his mailing department and by reading the letters that are turned over to him which happen to contain valuable suggestions, Mr. Olsen is able to keep his programs live and interesting. George Olsen and his Stromberg-Carlson Orchestra are on the air every Tuesday evening from eight to nine P.M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, from stations WJZ, KDKA, WBZ, and KYW.

ISHBEL SPEAKS FOR HER FATHER

Takes Ex-Premier MacDonald's Place on United States' Platform.

DESCRIBES FIGHT.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 3 (Canadian Press Service)—The British Labor Party is trying to create such a strong sentiment against war that "those in command will not dare to declare war," Miss Ishbel MacDonald told the Ethical Culture Society.

Miss MacDonald spoke in place of her father, J. Ramsay MacDonald, former Premier of Great Britain, who is recuperating at the Jefferson Hospital from a sore throat.

"In Great Britain," said Miss MacDonald, "we are trying to show that it is better to live for one's country, than to die for it."

"The Labor Party is not a trade union, but an association of thinking people who desire to form a great brotherhood all over the world."

Kingston Barbers Boost Price Of Shave To 25 Cents

KINGSTON, Ont., May 3.—(Special).— Commencing yesterday the barbers boosted their prices to 25 cents for shaves, and 50 cents for hair cuts, with hair cutting for children at 40 cents. Formerly the prices were 20 cents for shaves and 40 cents for haircuts. Judging from the complaints about the boost in the price of shaves it looks as if many will start shaving themselves.

THE SWAMP.

'Mid the Tamaracs and Spruces,
Where the arbor vitae cloisters,
And the pussy-willows sprouting
Keep the silences intact,
Find the Joys of Resurrection—
In the wonders of springtime,
Where the shafting shoots of sun shine
Bids again the bud and bract,
Here the pitcher plant arises
From its sleep among the mosess,
And the ferns their tendrils waving
Welcome back the day of life;
Splendid orchids, pink or yellow,
Or the brownish little ram's head,
Followed by the Arethusa
Bursting forth in glory—rife.

There's the flag or graceful iris,
Beauty born among the rushes—
The golden glistening cowslips,
And the violets or blue;
And then there is the whisper—
Meant for ears attuned to hear it—
I am glad you love my treasures
And have kept your rendezvous.

There's a "Tramp" on every Street

On almost every home street—or business street, too, for that matter—there is an "eye sore." Where most houses and grounds are good to look upon, ship-shape, and in perfect order, there squats a disreputable "tramp"—Neglect.

Lawns are weedy and uncut, flowers are allowed to shift for themselves, the back yard, which might boast a truck garden, is a barren place—fences need patching, the house needs paint. Unconsciously, people say to themselves: "Somebody, who lives there, lacks civic pride," which, of course, when all is said and done, is painfully true.

There are no logical excuses for neglecting the outside or the inside of your home. You are a living part of your community. It is "all for one and one for all," down the entire street and throughout the entire city.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

STAY IN SCHOOL

First find the thing you would like to do,
My boy,
And then learn to do it.
The world has need of a boy like you,
My boy,
If you only knew it.
It wants a boy
Who has learned his task,
It wants a boy
Who won't need ask,
So stay in school
Till your work is through,
For the thing right now
Is to learn to do!

First find the thing that you do the best,
My boy,
And then do it better:
For knowing how is the only test,
My boy,
Of the real go-getter!
Life wants a boy
With his lifework planned,
Life wants a boy
With a skillful hand,
So stay in school
Till your schooling's done,
For now is your chance
To learn, my son!

BRINGING UP FATHER — By Geo. McManus

NEGLECT, Dirt, Rust, Wear and Decay are on the run once more, prodded from their dark corners by the flashing sword of the "Crusader."

Nothing that harms health—nothing that depresses the spirit, will be tolerated. This Clean-Up and Paint-Up Crusade is nation-wide in its scope. But always, in every section and along every street, the individual worker is absolutely essential. "One for all and all for one" is an ennobling slogan, which fits this situation with peculiar significance.

You, in your own right, are one of the Crusaders, with obligations and duties not alone to your community and your city, but to yourself. A Nation is measured by the character of its homes. Leave no task undone that will make this home more livable, more pleasing to the eye of the passerby.

KIWANIS CLUB

A High Quality House

By Shorey & Ritchie, Architects.

Frankly this beautiful home as here illustrated, with its requirement of a wide lot and approximate cost of thirteen thousand dollars, is not for the family of too limited means; but it stands a splendid example of English domestic architecture from which all may derive both a true appreciation of the splendid work in this style now being executed by Canadian architect, together with many delightful features of exterior and plan which could be well applied to smaller homes.

A study of the plans reveals skilful incorporation of all the modern but rational features which the home-builder is likely to desire. The living room, particularly is a well-proportioned large room, having a fireplace flanked by bookcases occupying one end wall and in common with all except service rooms is decorated with a brush applied plastic wall finish which is colored dark ivory throughout the ground floor. Directly across the main hall, which is provided with a coat closet is the dining room—a charming room having a built-in china cabinet and lighted mainly by the large front window which affords a delightful vista across the terrace. The service rooms are all bright and of ample size, and comprise rear entry with stairs to basement laundry kitchen and pantry with door to dining room arranged "en suite" in the order named.

Direct communication has been provided between the house and garage an arrangement which where building ordinances permit proves very convenient although passengers would usually alight at the side terrace steps.

On the second floor are three large bedrooms having the walls tinted in such soft pastel shades as pink and blue-mauve, two tiled bathrooms a sleeping porch and an abundance of clothes and linen closets in all rooms and the hall. The master bedroom which with the living room under occupies an entire wing has two clothes closets, a fireplace and a private bathroom and affords absolutely the utmost in beauty and convenience.

The exterior walls are of brick painted white, an unusual treatment giving a beautiful effect which age only improves and which forms a delightful combination with the purple slate roof.

Other features included for the before-mentioned price are metal sash windows oak floors and trim, hot water heating, and stained cypress exterior woodwork.

Readers desiring further information regarding the plans and specifications of this house should communicate with the architects direct. Address Messrs. Shorey & Ritchie 360 Beaver Hall Square Montreal P.Q.

FARMERS HAULING GRAIN OFF FIELDS

Unusual Occurrence in Spring in the Norham District.

NORHAM, May 3.—One of the unusual happenings in this district is that of seeing people out in the harvest fields hauling grain, some oats, others barley or millet. The oats farmers say are worthless, while the barley will be threshed and can be used for feed. The straw is no use, but the fields must be cleared for cropping again. Seeding is progressing rapidly and although the weather has been cold there is some grain up and looking well. The cool weather is an advantage on account of so much ploughing having to be done.

TRAPPING IS POOR AT KING'S WHARF

Catch This Year Small—Farmers Delayed By Wet Ground.

KING'S WHARF, May 3.—The trappers have taken in their traps and it was the worst year ever along Pigeon Lake. Whether the rats were trapped out last fall or not, there was no rats here this year. Local trappers were disappointed with both the number of rats caught and the price. A few trappers caught live rats and shipped them to Dr. Nesbitt, of Lindsay, for his muskrat farm back north.

The syrup season is also over, and the run was splendid for a few days, the pails over-flowing. A large number here made maple syrup and it sold for $2.50 per gallon.

The fall wheat and clover look fine and wintered well. It has got green those warm days and there are a number of fields around here. There is not much work done on the land here, as it is too wet. The frost seems to be coming out now and the ground is very wet.

The cattle are out on pasture where there was long grass last fall and are doing fine.

This is a fine spring for lambs and the sheep owners are pleased with the number of lambs.

The roads around here are almost impassible in places. There are a few places where cars get in so deep that they have to be drawn out by horses.

The butcher, Mr. Tate, from Omemee, made his first trip through here this year Saturday, as did the baker, Mr. Byrson, of Lindsay. It looks like summer to see the butcher and baker on their rounds.

Germany plans to hold a competition of types of tracklaying tractors in order to determine one suitable for use in German agriculture, forestry and other fields.

HOGS SHIPPED FROM WARSAW

First Shipment Made Under New Plan—Farmers Busy.

SEEDING NEARLY DONE.

WARSAW, May 3.—The first hogs were shipped from Warsaw on Monday, April 25. E. Brown, of the Peterboro' Shipping Board, was at Warsaw, between thirty and forty hogs were shipped. The shipping is to be every two weeks. Mr. Brown will always be in charge. E. R. Hamblin and David Payne are representatives from this district. As a whole the farmers seem satisfied, and there are expectations that the new venture will work well.

Many farmers have taken their cattle to the ranches for the summer. The grass is quite good. Probably all will be taken by next week.

Those who have warm, dry soil have their gardens in and some even have green onions and lettuce.

Seeding is progressing rapidly. A few are wholly done, and by next week all will be.

The main roads are in quite good condition, except where there are spring holes. On the Dummer road there is a very bad place at Mahony's corner. There are a few other quite bad places.

In spite of all the night frosts, fall wheat and meadows generally look quite well.

FAMOUS "HUSKY" Can Now Be Had IN THIS CITY

Wonderful Spring Tonic Which Is Relieving Thousands Of Sufferers in Ontario, Offered Local People.

Husky, the wonderful spring tonic which is giving new health to thousands in Toronto, Hamilton and other Ontario cities and which is well-known to many local residents, can now be obtained in this city. Husky is recommended to relieve stomach, liver, kidney and bowel ailments and the ills brought on by disorders of these organs, such as headaches, dizzy spells, indigestion, gas and sour stomach, constipation, catarrhal affections, rheumatic pains, nervousness, unsound sleep and weak, worn out feelings.

Husky is a reconstructive tonic as it builds up the body as it gives relief. It is nature's own remedy as it is compounded from the pure juices of certain herbs, roots, barks and berries and contains no harmful drugs or chemicals. It is famous throughout Canada because it does all that is claimed for it.

Mrs. McKim Speaks.

One of the very interesting cases which prove the merit of Husky is that of Mrs. Edith McKim, 67½ Augusta Ave., Toronto, who tells of her experence with Husky as follows:

"My health was badly affected. I suffered from stomach trouble. My appetite fell away until I ate very little. The little I did eat would not digest, my food would form in a ball and lie in the pit of my stomach. Gas would form and I would have a terribly bloated feeling. During these spells I could hardly get my breath. Constipation added to my misery. My nerves were in a weakened condition and I could not sleep well.

"Husky has relieved my ailments. This medicine has overcome the stomach trouble. I can now eat heartily and never suffer from indigestion, gas or bloated feeling afterward. Those smothering spells are a thing of the past. I now enjoy regular bowel action and my nervous system has also been strengthened. I can now sleep soundly and feel rested and refreshed when arising in the morning.

"I will take Husky for some time yet. I can notice more improvement each day. It is a pleasure to tell my experience, and after the way I have been helped I can recommend Husky to any person who suffers in any way I did. I have found Husky will do all that they say it will."

At Good Drug Stores.

Every person in this city suffering in any way Husky is recommended to relieve, is urged to investigate this medicine and begin its treatment now. Husky can be obtained at good drug stores everywhere.

FARMERS ON LAND AT DOWNEYVILLE

DOWNEYVILLE, May 3.—The few fine days made the land dry around here and every one is working, some plowing and some sowing. If it keeps on dry in a few weeks they will be all finished as the land here is very high and dry and fit to work early.

Mr. Charles Downey is preparing to build a fine big barn and is working at it now.

Mr. Joseph Gooslau is building a new driving shed for Mr. Ed. Costello.

INSURANCE ON SEYMOUR ROADS

Council Takes Out Policy Protecting It From All Liability.

REGULAR MEETING.

Campbellford, May 3. — The Seymour township council at its regular meeting here on Monday afternoon, invested in an insurance policy covering all accidents on the township highways. The policy is through the Globe Indemnity Co. through the local agent J. P. Archer. A. A. Bain, of the head office Toronto addressed the council outlining the benefits of of the policy. The insurance company assumes all liability for all accidents of any kind from fence to fence on every road in the township up to $5000 when one person is killed; up to $10,000 when more than one is killed; plus $1000 property damage, and the protection of the company's legal department. In fact they assume 100 per cent. responsibility, the council's only duty being to notify the company immediately any accident occurs.

Mr. Bain cited several cases where accidents had happened in townships insured with his company, one in particular with which all members were familiar, the accident in Percy township last year, when a ten ton engine crashed through a bridge. He also pointed out the change in the Highway Act whereby in event the township was not to blame in any way it was held legally responsible for at least a portion of the cost of an accident. All the councillors were in favor of taking out the policy.

W. E. Babe of the Pedlar People, Oshawa, also addressed the council in regard to the purchase of metal culverts. Giving the history of metal culverts Mr. Babe said that twenty years ago metal culverts were made of of pure iron. In 1921 his company had added a percentage of copper to the iron prolonging the life of the culvert by many years. This year it had added another mineral, "Molybenum," developed during the war, and now decribe the culverts as, "Toncan Copper, Molybenum Iron."

JUNIOR FARMERS DEBATE ON FAIRS

Value of Rural Fairs Questioned By Negative, Which Wins.

NORHAM, May 3.—The Junior Farmer's Improvement Association held its regular monthly meeting in the council chamber of the Town Hall, at Warkworth, on Thursday evening. The president, Gordon McCubbin, called the meeting to order. After the reading and confirming of the minutes, Walter Smith, B.S.A., of Brighton, announced that there was to be a Junior Farmer's picnic at Presqu'ile Point, near Brighton, on July 20th, at which there would be all kinds of sports and games common to such gatherings.

John Bound and Arthur Wartman were appointed a committee with power to organize a soft ball team and procure supplies for the same. Mr. Smith reported that Castleton has a team ready. Wooler expects to play, but has not decided to enter the county league. Campbellford has made no report.

A number of the young men are in the competition with grain, hogs, and cows. An impromptu debate, "Resolved that Rural Fall Fairs are a benefit to the Community," was given by the following twelve young men: Affirmative, Arthur Wartman, Reginald McCann, Hayden Newman, John Bound, Blair Huycke, and Clayton Bradley. Negative, John Goodfellow, Arthur Meneilley, Edward Huycke, Douglas Woof, Kenneth Somerville and Harry Weir. Following are some of the points brought out:

By the Affirmative—Fairs encourage farmers by showing them what good stuff there is in the country. They act as a time of re-unions. Both the people who grow exhibits for the fairs and the country are benefited. Exhibits brought to fairs are an advertisement. They show what is possible and awaken interest in the careless. Afford the farmer a time of recreation period. They help farmers find out what machines are available and give them an opportunity to judge between them. They create a spirit of competition.

By the Negative—Grain, etc., produced is not always fresh as the same article may be shown year after year. Working people waste their time that they ought to be home. They have a bad moral influence and are a waste of money. They make men restless and unsteady and do not help keep boys on the farm. The town man often says unkind things about the produce and even of the producer and this is hurtful to the farmer. Produce shown is sometimes stolen, and so cheating is encouraged. Midway and racing are not helpful to the community. They often make trouble between neighbors. They are the cause of accidents and often induce poor people to spend their money foolishly. They are an expense to the community in the erection and maintenance of buildings and paying of salaries. They are the means of spreading infectious diseases.

Gordon McCubbin and Walter Smith acted as judges and decided in favor of the negative.

There are to be no more meetings of the Association until fall unless specially called by the president.

OLD TYME CONCERT REPEATED AT CAVAN

Millbrook United Church Choir Gives Entertainment For W.M.S.

MILLBROOK, May 3.—The "Old Tyme Concert" given by the choir of the United Church, Millbrook, in the Cavan Community Hall on Friday evening drew an audience that filled three-quarters of the auditorium, the busy time on the farms, and another entertainment at a nearby point, having an effect in lessening the attendance.

The programme, which was presented in recent weeks in the local church, was of exceptional merit, every number receiving a well-deserved tribute of applause from the listeners.

The stage was attractively arranged as an old-fashioned parlor, and the costumes of Mid-Victorian style, added much to the charm and interest of the programme. The items included:

Parade of characters across the stage, the ladies making graceful curtseys, and the men such 'bobs and bows' as each, apparently, felt was in keeping with the occasion.

Chorus (singers unseen), "There's Music in the Air;"

Solo, "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree," by Mr. W. H. Coombe, with full choir joining in the chorus.

Selection, Junior Orchestra—Miss Ella Elson, pianist; J. Larmer, ukelele; E. Burnham, cornet; M. Byam, violin;

Recitation, "Jemima's Courtship," by Miss Dorothy Crossley;

Song, "The Gypsy's Warning" (in costume), by Mrs. G. W. Sayles and Miss May Byam;

Round, "O How Lovely is the Evening," by the choir, the graceful grouping being an attractive feature;

Encore, "Sweetly Brays the Donkey;"

Piano Solo, "Old Black Joe," with variations, by Miss Elson;

Selection, Junior Orchestra;

"Before the Lights Were Lit," one of the most popular numbers of the evening in which Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston, Misses E. Elson and M. Byam and M. McDowell took part in song and conversation; besides the title number, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," and "Tom, Tom, the Piper's Son," were sung;

"Song, Peanut Song," by the four McDowell children, Dorothy, Madeline, Marjorie and Beatrice, with Mrs. McDowell at the piano;

Encore, "I have a little Pussy;"

Recitation, "The Courtin'" by Miss S. Hetherington;

Solo, "The Floral Dance," by Mr. Coombe;

Pantomime, "Old Black Joe" (G. W. Sayles), the singers being Mr. H. W. Johnston for the verses, with a quartette joining for the chorus;

Anthem, "Blessed be the Lord Forever," by the full choir;

Addresses by Rev. J. O. Totten and Rev. F. H. Howard;

Play—"A Bachelor in Search of a Wife", characters: Mr. Robb (G. W. Sayles), Maid, Rosalie (M. Byam); Neta Nott (Miss Elson, Mary Pickford (Edith Sheppard), Annette Stewart (Mrs. Sayles), Miss Billie Burke (Miss M. Duncan), Widow Maloney (Mrs. F. H. Smith); her six children, P. Stinson, G. E. Burnham, M. Challice, Bernice Smith and Mary Burnham (the twins), and Thelma Ball; Mrs. Vipond (a grass widow, Miss M. E. Needham, who does not come in answer to Mr. Robb's advertisement for a wife, but just to "ask a small donation for our Ladies' Aid Society."

Mr. Robb's decision to marry his maid was a happy climax, his remark, after the widow with her noisy family, had been ejected being forcibly made, "Lock the gate, Rosalie; I didn't know there were so many species of females running at large."

All the characters were massed upon the stage for the National Anthem. The entertainment was on a fifty-fifty basis, the W.M.S. of the Cavanville church having the event under its auspices. Financially, the results were as satisfactory as the low admission fee could reasonably lead the two organizations to expect.

The many friends of Mrs. V. C. Lambert will be glad to learn that she is recovering from her recent serious illness.

Mr. Frank and Miss Jessie Fallis, of Toronto, were in town for the week end, and with their mother, Mrs. David Fallis, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Fallis, Fallis Line, on Sunday.

The Women's Institute has the Hawaiian entertainment on Friday evening, under its auspices; the programme is being prepared by pupils of Mr. Harry Wagner, Toronto, and there will be assisting artists. The programme will begin at 8:15 in the town hall.

PETERBOROUGH'S FLYING SCHOOL.

The establishment in Peterborough of a flying school in which young Canadians will be trained to take the positions that await skilled aviators, will give this city not only a civic air field but a vast amount of advertising.

The fact that already pupils from as far away as Saskatchewan are arriving to begin the course under Capt. Harold P. Ayres, formerly of the Royal Flying Corps, means that attention will be drawn to Peterborough from all parts of Canada.

An admirable plant is being assembled by Captain Ayres, and within a short time the first pupils will be receiving their initial instruction in the air.

There is no accurate way of foretelling how extensive will be the development of the use of the aeroplane for commercial purposes, but undoubtedly the near future will see a much more general use of aerial machines, and it is gratifying to know that Peterborough is to have a prominent place in the training of flying men.

The school is organized and conducted for the purpose of training young men for commercial flying only, and while it is registered with the Government of Canada, it is not a military proposition.

The school is, therefore, a welcomed addition to the city's industries, and it is to be hoped that it will be as successful as the enterprise and vision of its founder merit.

THE MAN NEXT DOOR.

An angle of the clean-up campaign that may not have presented itself to every citizen is involved in the question, "How do your premises look to your neighbors and to the people who pass by?"

One dirty backyard can spoil the appearance of a whole block; and many a citizen, after labouring faithfully and successfully to beautify his premises, has almost given up in despair as he surveyed the condition of the adjoining yard and realized that no matter how trim and immaculate he made his own grounds the disorder next door would destroy a good deal of the effect.

Every citizen can materially assist in the success of the campaign by cleaning up his yard and grounds, and it is certain that if some residents had an idea of just how their premises look to the man next door there would be an immediate effort to improve conditions.

No magic is required to make a clean-up campaign successful; really all that is necessary is a general awakening to the desirability of every householder cleaning up and beautifying his home and its grounds.

Many citizens have already enlisted in the drive; let us make it unanimous.

DAYLIGHT SAVING CONFUSION.

Whatever may be one's opinion of daylight saving, there is no disputing the fact that the present system under which some municipalities refuse to change their clocks and others operate according to summer time is responsible for a considerable amount of confusion and inconvenience.

In the Niagara peninsula, for example, all the municipalities have adopted daylight saving time save the village of Thorold, whose Council refuses to allow a departure from standard time.

Toronto, of course, is a firm believer in the summer time, and is now conducting its business according to that system, while in between the daylight savings area in the Niagara peninsula and the daylight saving Queen City is Hamilton, which adheres to standard time, a condition that must cause a good deal of inconvenience to the people of the Ambitious City.

Here in the East we have daylight saving in force in some municipalities, including Kingston, where the system is popular, while other cities, Peterborough included, are satisfied with the old system.

It is a haphazard arrangement all round, but what can be done about it?

THE ARMY'S GREAT WORK.

Through the medium of a tag day on Saturday the citizens of Peterborough are being asked to contribute to the social service work of the Salvation Army.

Nearly everybody has been brought in touch with some activity of the Salvation Army to an extent sufficient to impress the value of this work, but it is doubtful whether there is any real idea of the extent of the Army's efforts on behalf of the unfortunate and the destitute.

In the district of Canada East, for example, the men's metropole institutions of the Army supply 102,990 meals and 165,716 beds each year, while in the Army's industrial institutions meals are provided for 4,213 and beds for 37,973.

In a year the Army has held 16,136 interviews with prisoners, has met 1,963 on their discharge, provided employment for 1,206 discharged prisoners, and has conducted meetings in Canadian prisons with a total attendance of 80,750. Similar work is carried on in connection with the police courts, while the Army's labour bureau has found positions for 11,835 men.

In the women's social departments a similar story is told. In the Army's hospitals there were 5,203 adults and 3,354 children admitted in a year, while the total of births was 2,786.

In the receiving homes there were 296 girls admitted during the year, while the rescue homes admitted 487 adults and 409 children.

These figures convey some idea of the magnitude of the Army's work—it reaches out and gathers in the homeless, the weak and the poverty-stricken.

Peterborough people have always generously supported the Salvation Army, and there is no reason to anticipate a different story in connection with Saturday's appeal, which comes in a form that makes it possible for all to contribute.

BRITISH SPORT.

Although the huge attendance at the English soccer cup final on Saturday is not the record for a football game, it is striking evidence that there must be "something in" soccer to attract such a throng. The gate is something like the aggregate attendance at the baseball "World Series," spread over a period of several days.

Incidentally, there is nothing to prevent the English calling their cup final the "World's Championship." But they are not addicted to the boastful habit of applying grandiloquent titles to what is, after all, only a national championship.

Several millions of spectators watch the football games in the Old Country every Saturday afternoon, played by several hundred professional teams and something like twenty-five thousand amateur clubs, to say nothing of the sand-lot organizations.

Cities one-fourth the size of Detroit, or half the size of Toronto, have average soccer crowds twice as large as these cities have ever had at a ball game. Frequently the crowds are only limited by the capacity of the ground.

It is a little strange that Canada, a country peopled by British-born and their descendants, gives so insignificant a place to the British game of soccer, and primary place to the Yankee game of baseball. It is just another instance of the result of juxtaposition.

Real soccer is a beautiful and thrilling game to watch, a game of science, speed and stamina, in which team-work is seen at its best.

Soccer leagues exist in nearly fifty countries. Baseball is played—in how many lands?

The English game of cricket is regarded with some contempt by the baseball player. He finds it "slow."

Slow it is, but the soccer fan finds baseball slow for the same reason that the baseball fan finds cricket slow, viz., virtually only one team is playing at a time; the others are looking on from the side benches.

In soccer the whole twenty-two players are at it hammer and tongs, and the fluctuations that occur in a few seconds give the spectators and players tremendous spasms of excitement.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

A RECENT ACHIEVEMENT.

Often in describing the relations between Canada and the United States, it is said that there has been peace for more than a hundred years. This is true, but it does not tell the whole story. For a long time after the war of 1812-14 the fear of war was present. Great Britain had troops in Canada, and a fleet on the Atlantic and on the Pacific coast, the only purpose of which was defence against a possible invasion by the United States. The route of the Intercolonial Railway was mapped out with a view to maintaining uninterrupted communication within Canada in case of war with the United States. The Rideau Canal was located in a similar way. During and after the Civil War in the United States, the relations of that country with Canada and the British Empire were strained almost to the breaking point. After the Trent incident several thousand Imperial troops were sent to Canada, and a militia bill was introduced in Canada but defeated, and this defeat was the subject of unfavorable comments in the press of the Old Country. One of the causes leading up to Confederation was the intimation from Great Britain that Canada must do more for her own defence. In fairness to Canada it ought to be said that the Trent incident which nearly caused war had nothing to do with Canada.

The speeches made during the debate on Confederation contained more than one reference to the danger of war with the United States. John A. Macdonald said: "Instead of looking upon us as a mere dependent colony, England will have in us a friendly nation—a subordinate but still a powerful people—to stand by her in North America in peace or in war." The words "in North America" show that a possible war with the United States was what he had in mind. Sir John went on to say that "we stand in danger, as we have stood in danger again and again in Canada, of being plunged into war and suffering all its dreadful consequences, as the result of causes over which we have no control by reason of their connection. This, however, did not intimidate us." Again he clearly pointed to the possible enemy when he said: "Although the people of this country are fully aware of the horrors of war, should a war arise, unfortunately, between the United States and England—and we all pray that it never may—they are still ready to encounter all perils of that kind, for the sake of the connection with England." D'Arcy McGee, in the same debate, dwelt upon the enormous military strength acquired by the United States in the Civil War, and the lesson he read to Canada was "Prepare! Prepare! Prepare!"

So that our friendly relations with the United States do not date back farther than Confederation; and as late as 1895 there was talk of Canada being invaded because of a dispute between Great Britain and the United States over Venezuela. These friendly relations are of immense value to Canada, to the British Empire and to the United States. They enable us, on both sides of the line, to go about our business of peaceful development without any thought of war, so far as this continent is concerned. They are also of the utmost benefit to the rest of the Empire. Soon after Confederation Great Britain withdrew all her troops from Canada. Later on, the Imperial fleets on the Atlantic and the Pacific Oceans were withdrawn. British statesmen are now relieved from all anxiety so far as this continent is concerned. Instead of British troops being required in Canada, Canadian armies have taken part in wars in South Africa and in Europe. This would have been impossible if it had not been for the assurance of friendly relations with the United States. That assurance is a boon to English-speaking people, and it may be a boon to the whole human race. It may become the greatest practical achievement for peace and friendship in the history of the modern world, provided the English-speaking peoples keep their minds and hearts steadily fixed on that object.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If you believe that the boys of Peterborough are the city's best asset, your co-operation on behalf of Boys' week, May 9 to 15, should be forthcoming. It will be a big event, done in a big way.

Oshawa is building between 200 and 300 houses this spring. Not bad for a city that a year ago thought that it was on its way to the dogs.

Peterborough does not go in for daylight saving, but the dustless sweeper wakes its citizens early just the same.

Even worse than the flight of the Belgian people before the advancing German armies seems to be the exodus from the Mississippi flood areas. Scores of thousands are being driven out of their homes as the flood engulfs new sections of country.

The longer the Customs Commission sits the harder seems the task of Hon. W. D. Euler. The Minister has a real job on his hands.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., May 3 (Canadian Press)—A moderate amount of business was worked in Canadian spring wheat in the Montreal market over the week-end with the continent, but the demand from the United Kingdom was of a very limited character and only sales of odd loads of scalping oats were made.

Owing to the strength that developed in Winnipeg for oats and in Chicago for corn, the local cash market for these grains was stronger and prices for the former were marked up one cent per bushel, and for the latter three cents per bushel. The volume of business was small. Car lots of American No. 3 yellow corn were quoted at 91 1-2c, No. 4 yellow at 86c, sample corn at 83c per bushel.

The undertone to the market for spring wheat grades of flour was stronger, but there was no change in prices. The demand from the United Kingdom was fair, but the local trade was quiet.

A fairly active business was done in winter wheat flour and prices were unchanged.

Prices for all ines of millfeed were well maintained under a steady demand. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet and prices were unchanged.

The volume of business transacted in eggs was large and prices ruled steady. The receipts were 2,525 cases.

An active business was done in butter and values were firm. The receipts were 648 packages.

The cheese market continued quiet and spot prices are difficult to quote in the absence of transactions. The receipts were 495 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 3 (Canadian Press)—Every kind of grain yesterday scored a substantial advance. Big decreases in domestic visible stocks together with the fact that May deliveries went into strong hands and that monthly wheat crop summaries appeared bullish, all tended to stimulate buying and to lift values.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1 to 2 3-8c net higher; corn 1¼ to 2¾c up; oats at 5-8 to 1½c advance and provisions varying from 20c decline to a rise of 10 cents.

Provisions were inactive and for the most part showed but little change.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

GOD'S RESPONSIBILITY

There are thousands of men, women and children in different parts of the world, dying from want and sheer starvation. In Canada, United States, and other countries, there are untold human beings in a warfare, a grim struggle for a bare existence, with chances of sickness, accident, and no work; from which there is no release but death. No doubt there is a proportion of those suffering ones, who have done much to make the conditions in which they find themselves, but there is a large percentage of people, who are no more responsible for the poverty and suffering they have to endure, than they are responsible for the fact that they are in this world.

There are thousands whose existence in this world appears to have no immediate relation to their own personal happiness and well being. No thoughtful person can get away from the fact of the inequalities of the conditions of man in the present, and the suffering many have to endure from causes that they have not instituted, and from circumstances over which they have no control. Putting the question of man's inhumanity to man aside for the time being, to the thoughtful person the question arises, namely, does God care? Speaking with all due reverence, does God hold Himself responsible? The writer answers: "God does care." God does hold Himself responsible. The divine revelation given in the Scriptures, concerning the resurrection of all who have died and the promised time of restitution in the future goes to show that all present wrongs shall be righted; then all who have mourned in the present, in the future shall be comforted. God who commands the intellectual confidence and trust of His creatures accepts the responsibility of a Father. The thousands of suffering helpless ones who compose this large, lonely procession have a claim upon their Maker. We need not shrink from speaking reverently of the responsibility of God to man, His creature. The great redemption that is in Christ Jesus is proof positive of the fact.

RINGWORMS

Correspondents have been writing in recently asking about the cure of ringworm. It seems that there is a real epidemic of this trouble in many parts of the North American Continent. The epidemic has become so great in some cities that children affected with ringworm are not allowed to come to school.

There is no question but what ringworm is contagious and is caused by a small micro-organism which burrows down in the skin, making a circular path of inflammation in the form of a ring. As these marks appear on the body they can be very easily cured by painting them with a solution of silver nitrate, iodine, or mercurochrome.

The trouble is that as soon as one is cured, another ringworm is liable to appear some other place. The reason for this is that the only soil in which ringworms can grow is a body suffering from acidosis. Children who are fed on cereals with sugar, or bread and jam, are liable to develop such an acidosis.

Only those children who have been fed on improper food combinations will develop ringworm. In rare cases, some child in perfect health who comes in close physical contact with another child suffering from ringworm may be able to also contract a single ringworm. But, with a child whose blood is in perfect condition, the ringworm will quickly disappear and no more will develop.

An epidemic can be stopped in two or three days if the parents can be taught to feed their children properly so as to avoid hyper-acidity of the stomach and the consequent systemic acidosis.

School children are often fed a cereal with sugar at breakfast and then, at lunch, have an apple or a sandwich. At noon—more sandwiches with ice-cream or malted milk. Then, after school, in the afternoon, some more fruit or lunch and when dinner-time comes they, of course, do not enjoy simple wholesome food. As the stomach has labored so hard all day with incompatible mixtures, do not be surprised that the child does not seem eager for spinach and the valuable green vegetables which are so necessary. There is no excuse for school children eating more than three meals a day, and no lunches should be given between times.

If a ringworm does appear, treat it as I have advised and start dieting at once to correct the systemic acidosis.

Moirs, Limited, of Halifax, Canada, long famous in Canada for their confections, have now received international recognition for the exceptional quality of their products.

This recognition for Moirs Limited was given by the Sesquicentennial International Exposition held in Philadelphia last year, who have awarded this firm the Grand Prize for the excellence of their chocolates, and the Gold Medal for the superior quality of their cakes.

These are the highest honors for merit within the gift of the International Jury of Awards, a body composed of many leading business and professional men of the United States and other countries, chosen because of their reputation and outstanding qualifications for passing judgment on the merits of the various products displayed. Before arriving at decisions, extensive comparisons were made not only between the lines exhibited, but also with similar lines known to be on the market.

The winning of these high awards is an achievement of which not only the Maritimes, but the whole Dominion can well be proud.

Milwaukee Baseball Team Is Again Owned By Woman

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 2 (United Press). — For the second time in its history, the Milwaukee American Association Baseball Club will be represented by a woman owner.

Mrs. Ruby Borchert, widow of the late president of the club, has announced that she will continue to operate the team with the assistance of Henry Killilea, Milwaukee attorney and personal friend of the Borchert family.

Mrs. Agnes Havenor, widow of another owner of the brewers, operated the team for a time, more than a decade ago.

TEN MILE RACE ON THURSDAY

Dick Bates Will Run Against the Indian Speed Artist.

FROM LAKEFIELD.

On Thursday afternoon, Louis Yeotes' protege, the Indian runner, George Whetung, will compete in a race from Lakefield to Peterborough against Dick Bates, representing the Y.M.C.A. If the Indian upholds the record that he claims he formerly made in this district, the race should be a spectacular one, for the time he claims he made before was 9 miles in 49 minutes.

The race will start at five o'clock from the Post Office in Lakefield and finish, in Mr. Yeotes' estimation, about six p.m. in front of his tobacco store on George Street. If the Indian is successful in winning the race, Mr. Yeotes told The Examiner, he will back him in any future contests, amateur or professional, in which he would see fit to enter.

Dick Bates, the Y.M.C.A. representative, is backed by many as a sure winner, so the race should prove a very close one. On Saturday he ran the ten miles in 59 minutes.

MILLBROOK TROOP.

MILLBROOK, May 3.—The Millbrook troop of Boy Scouts held its weekly meeting on Thursday evening in the Presbyterian Sunday school room, with twenty-four in attendance.

Mr. Jones, the field secretary of the Provincial Council, was present in an official capacity. Scoutmaster Barnes presented George Harkness and Garnett Russell to the field secretary with the request that, as each had recently passed his tenderfoot test, he would invest them as registered scouts. Mr. Jones questioned both boys on their tenderfoot work and scout promise, and both having given satisfactory replies, the investiture accordingly took place.

Assistant Scoutmaster R. Shaw then presented the boys with their tenderfoot badge, and Scoutmaster Barnes was the first to shake hands with them in scout style.

The introduction of Mr. Jones to the troop led the boys to respond with the song, "How do you do, Mr. Jones?" Pianist: Scout Donald Rutherford, officiated at the piano. Following this song, the scout song, "There may be other scout troops," was heartily rendered, the verses referring to the scoutmaster, his assistant, troop leader, patrol leaders, and patrols, being sung as usual, and out of compliment to the field secretary, Mr. Jones, and to Councillor J. R. Eakins, a member of the troop committee who was also present, two extra verses were added and sung with particular enthusiasm.

Instruction in connection with the uses of the flag, and also in reference to the second scout law, "A Scout is Loyal," was then taken up by the scoutmaster. Mr. Jones, in his address, related many amusing and instructive incidents in connection with his work among a large number of troops.

Games, under the charge of the assistant scoutmaster, and the troop leader, were the next feature of the evening, and entered into with plenty of vigor, Mr. Jones and Scoutmaster Barnes acting as judges and referees.

Two other members of the troop committee, Messrs. J. Steel and L. C. Russell, having arrived, a hearty welcome was extended, especially as their part of the proceedings included an invitation to an adjournment to Lambert's confectionery where a treat of ice-cream was enjoyed.

Previous to the adjournment there was more singing, the old standby, "Onward Boy Scouts," and the National Anthem, making a suitable close to a most successful gathering.

Mr. Jones stated, after the meeting was over, during his conversation with the officers, that a very marked improvement was noticeable in the troop since his last visit, and he congratulated both the officers and members on the advancement in scouting.

The field secretary's promise to be present at the boys' camp this summer was greatly appreciated, and the members of Millbrook troop felt more firmly convinced than ever that scouting is really worth while.

LONDON STATUE AGED BY COFFEE

New statues speedily become old ones in London. When a recently erected statue of Joseph Chamberlain in the House of Commons lobby was found too glaringly new to harmonize with its dignified surroundings, reports Popular Science Monthly, the art work was given a coffee bath that effectively subdued it. A previous washing of the statue with tea had failed to steep the newcomer in tradition.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S FAREWELL PARTY

"Don't go too far away from the bungleump today, my dears!" called Um, the cute little wooden lady, to the six Wogglejig children, who were playing around in the woods near by.

"Why don't you want us to go far away?" asked Gazie, taking out her white tail to trade in fun for her brother Bumple's green one.

"Because this is the last day Uncle Wiggily is going to stay with us for some time," answered Boppy, the little wooden man. "Um and I are going to give him a farewell party and we want you Wogglejigs to come to it."

"Oh, we'll be there!" cried Dumple, putting his red head on upside down to look as funny as he could.

"Where is Uncle Wiggily?" asked Mazie, the light blue Wogglejig.

"Off in the woods, looking for an adventure," said Boppy.

"Oh, maybe he is having one with the Fox again!" cried Dazie, "and we girls can roll our heads down hill to scare away the bad chap as Dumple, Wumple and Bumple did."

"Oh, let's do it!" shouted Mazie.

But just as the little Wogglejig girls were rushing off to do as their brothers had done, which I told you about in the story before this one, all of a sudden the rabbit gentleman came hopping back to the bungleump.

"Is anything the matter?" asked Um.

"Did an adventure chase you?" asked Boppy.

"No," answered Uncle Wiggily, "I didn't find any adventure in the woods. But I hurried back to pack up, for I am going home today."

The Wogglejigs, Boppy and Um, felt a bit sad when they remembered that this was the last day of Uncle Wiggily's long visit among them. But every one laughed when Um said:

"Before you leave us, Uncle Wiggily, we are going to give you a farewell party. And we might as well start it now."

"That will be nice," said the bunny. "But I don't really need a party. It is only to be a farewell for a little time. I shall be back with you soon, helping Boppy and Um to unscramble the Wogglejigs."

"Oh, but we must have a party!" cried Um. "I have baked a sawdust pie especially for it, and some shaving cake and wooden pudding."

Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose on hearing this. For though he knew, full well, that Boppy, Um and the Wogglejigs, being made of wood, could eat food of sawdust and shavings, still he did not like such things. As he was a rabbit he needed carrots, lettuce and spinach. Um must have guessed what Uncle Wiggily was thinking about, for she laughed and said:

"Oh, you don't have to eat sawdust pie and shaving pudding, Uncle Wiggily. Your wife and Nurse Jane sent over a turnip shortcake for the little farewell party we are going to give you." Then the rabbit laughed and soon it was time for the party.

They all gathered together in the bungleump, with Uncle Wiggily sitting at the head of the table as the guest of honor. Boppy placed the turnip shortcake in front of the rabbit gentleman, and at each place where a Wogglejig child sat was something good to eat made of wood, like clothes pin cream puffs, rolling pin salad or lead pencil tarts.

"Oh, what a lovely farewell party this is!" sighed Bumple, his mouth full of door knobs broiled with keyhole dressing.

"And don't say too long before you come back!" begged Dazie, who was eating some sawdust pie.

"I'll be back some day," promised the rabbit. And just then there was a loud noise at the door and in came rushing the Bob Cat, with his silly little tail.

"I hear there's a party here!" he growled. "Well, I want something good to eat!" and he looked hungrily at Uncle Wiggily's ears.

"Throw something at him! Throw something at the Bob Cat!" cried Dazie.

"Throw legs at him—we have more legs than anything else!" yelled Mazie.

Then the Wogglejig children took off their twenty-four wooden legs and with them they pelted the Bob Cat so hard that he was glad to run away without nibbling the rabbit gentleman. Then the party went on in more jolly fashion than before, after the Wogglejigs had put on their legs again, and when it was over Uncle Wiggily went back to his own hollow stump bungalow for a time.

TINY PLANE FOR SUBMARINES

In three minutes a tiny new French seaplane, said to be the smallest in the world, can be assembled piece by piece on the deck of a floating submarine and made ready for flight, reports Popular Science Monthly. These planes will be carried by every submarine in the French Navy. They are said to rise from the water in nine seconds, and a few minutes later to attain a height of two thousand feet.

Theatres

AT THE GRAND

A wealth of scenic beauty, beautiful girls, Broadway players, a real dancing chorus, and the most sophisticated type of humor, are said to be the outstanding features of the new seventh edition of George White's Scandals, which will be seen at the Grand on Friday May 13th.

Rarely, it would seem does any New York management send on tour so complete a production and so large a company, but the management of the current Scandals promises that the edition this season will be presented here exactly as during the year-long run at the Apollo Theatre, New York, in so far as scenic and sartorial investiture are concerned. The producers of the current Scandals feeling that the public throughout the country is entitled to a first class performance in every respect have spared no expense to make this a memorable tour, and it is understood that their rewards have been great, for the company is reported as having played to capacity audiences throughout its tour so far.

The result of this faithful attention to detail, and this apparent forthright determination to present in all cities the finest cast available, and the original production has, therefore, seemingly, brought its own reward to the sponsors. The public is quick to acclair an ultra-smart production and a cast of distinction and merit, and so, if advance reports can be relied upon, the present Scandals will undoubtedly afford local amusement-lovers an opportunity of enjoying a thoroughly Metropolitan revue.

Heart Palpitation Dizzy, Sinking Spells

Mrs. M. A. Gagnon, Donatville, Alta., writes:—"Some time ago I was very nervous, could not sleep at night, often had dizzy, sinking spells and palpitation of the heart, and was so run down I could not do my housework, but just leave everything and sit down.

I spent a lot of money using medicine from the doctor, but it did not do me any good.

At last a friend told me to use MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS and after using a couple of boxes I was not the same woman. I began to feel so much better, and after a few more boxes I was in perfect health. I always recommend them to all those I know who are suffering from heart trouble."

MASSIVE SPIRE BEING REMOVED

Christ Church Cathedral Steeple Rests on Poor Subsoil.

AN OLD LANDMARK.

MONTREAL Que. May 2 (Canadian Press).—For 70 years one of the features of Montreal's skyline has been the spire of Christ church cathedral which was 240 feet high. Now it is to disappear as the general vestry of the church has decided to take it down. The cathedral is situated on St. Lawrence street west.

The removal of the massive stone pile follows upon the recommendations of a commission of three experts who reported that its removal while not a matter of immediate necessity is advisable owing to the great weight bearing on unsatisfactory subsoil because of certain faults in the original design and because of the deterioration of some of the stonework in the tower and spire.

A careful examination of the tower structure has revealed no present danger but owing to the construction of large buildings in the neighborhood and other forces the subsoil conditions are changing and it was decided to face the situation now rather than to await signs of further deterioration. Dean Carlisle rector of the cathedral expresses deep regreat at the removal of what is regarded as one of the most graceful and picturesque of the city spires and the hope that means will be found to strengthen the foundations and reconstruct it in a manner in keeping with the general architecture of the cathedral. Recently another aspect of St. Catherine street west underwent a great change when it was decided to build shops fronting St. James Methodist church.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"THE FAMILY UPSTAIRS."

"The Family Upstairs" is a Fox comedy picture that provoked plenty of merriment from its audiences at yesterday's matinee and evening performances. It is one of those entertaining stories of real life that aim to represent the average family as it really is. Pa and Ma Hallor and their children, trying to get along on their own earnings and Pa's thirty five dollars a week salary as a street-car inspector, live "upstairs," among the Cliff Dwellers of New York City. Pa is a patient individual whose wife reproaches him constantly because he formed the obstacle that prevented her from making a more brilliant marriage, and Ma herself is the hit of the piece. She is a reincarnation of the famous Mrs. Partington, who mixed her words, and said she went to Venice, where a chandelier rowed her around in a dongola. Similarly, Mrs. Hallor suffers, as she says, from "infernal" trouble, she "deranges" a lunch for the family and she is desirous of removing to better "andirons." She mixes matters up pretty considerably for her daughter, Louise (Virginia Valli), who is a stenographer, and conceives a mad passion for a reciprocating bank teller. When he calls at the Hallor home, he is bluffed by Ma into thinking the Hallors are too grand for him, and departs, miserably. Pa, however, manages to mend matters, and the affair ends happily for the lovers. "The Family Upstairs" is a fun-provoking comedy that has plenty of merriment in its humorous episodes. —Jeanette.

AT THE REGENT.

GOETHE'S "FAUST."

Under the auspices of the Local Council of Women, who are selling tickets for the production, "Faust" is being presented at the Regent Theatre during the first half of this week.

This picture is one of those unforgettable screen dramatizations of a famous story in which nothing has been spared to heighten the powerful effect. It is dramatic and awe-inspiring. The cast, from the names, appears to be German throughout, and they interpret the tragic story of Dr. Faustus and Marguerite with wonderful power.

The Prince of Evil dominates the picture throughout. This is a different devil from the pictured figure in "The Sorrows of Satan," and presents more accurately to the mind a conception of the personal devil in whom so many people believe. It is not a far-away essence of malign power that pulls the strings to which these puppets dance, but a real creature walking in human flesh, powerless himself at moments to defy the power of the Cross, and also unable, until awakened by the angel, to see the influence of all-pervading good which walks by the side of Faust and takes him up, instead of down, at the final moment.

The powerful acting of the cast impresses one as the most wonderful aspect of this massively-staged production, done, for the most part, in a half light which seems to suit the character of the story and harmonize with the potent forces for evil that work through it. Emil Jannings is the bold-faced, handsome Mephistopheles of malign power, companioning at all times the sin-ridden Faustus (Gosta Eknau), while the role of the gentle, weak Marguerite is played by Camilla Horn.

Opening with a shadowy glimpse of the three scourges, War, Pestilence and Famine, that recalls to mind the figures in "The Three Horsemen of the Apocalypse," the picture shows the wager between the angel and Satan for the soul of Faust, and its consequent unfolding. The aged alchemist, maddened by his failure to devise a potion that will save the lives of his plague-stricken people, sells his soul to the fiend for a day only. But the devil, first appearing in the guise of a leering, bloated satyr whose disgusting presence is more repelling than that of the later Mephisto, offers him his lost youth, and Faustus gives his soul forever after death to live once more on this earth the youthful years he has wasted in a search for knowledge. Passion and revelry sicken him finally, and he longs for home. Wafted there on the magic carpet of Satan, who bargains to minister to his wants through life, he meets Marguerite and falls in love with her. The tragic story, in which an impish touch is given by the flirtation of Mephisto and the stout Dame Martha, unfolds, to its tragic conclusion, with the death of the girl's mother and brother, of her babe, and finally of herself on the burning pyre.

The last satiric element in the picture is the changing of the handsome youth back to the aged Faustus, at the moment when he strives to help the dying girl, but the arch tempter is foiled at last, when he seeks for the soul of his victim, and finds it saved by the magic word.

From the angles of dramatic interest, romantic lure, superb acting and artistic screening, "Faust" is a wonderful production, and the moral, working out through scenes of passion and sin, is adequately emphasized.—Jeanette.

YOUR FOOTPRINTS BETRAY YOU

Footprints are better than fingerprints or any other scientific method of identification. Dr. Joseph J. Interland, New York scientist, believes. Every human foot, he declares in Popular Science Monthly, shows unmistakable individuality. A study of a thousand pairs of feet has convinced him that their differences are even more striking and varied than the finger's loops and whorls. He is now engaged in demonstrating his method of "footprinting" to police officials.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

The Devotion of the Forty Hours opened at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning with a Pontifical High Mass celebrated by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien a Procession of the Blessed Sacrament and the chanting of the Litany of the Saints. The Devotions will continue until Tuesday evening with morning Masses at half past five seven and eight o'clock and services in the evening. A special sermon on the Real Presence in the Blessed Sacrament was preached last evening by Rev. Father McGuire.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHURCH

"I am the good Shepherd. The good Shepherd giveth his life for his sheep," was the text taken by Father Guiry for his sermon at the morning masses yesterday.

It is astonishing in what simple language God spoke to the people. His explanations were readily understood, yet cognizant and convincing.

Palestine was and still is chiefly a sheep grazing country. The shepherd tended his sheep carefully all day and at night drove them into the sheep-fold to guard them better against wild animals.

"Our Lord likens us to sheep and the church to the sheep-fold. If we keep within the laws of the church we are safe but when we stray away evil befalls us and we are in great peril. Just as sheep scatter and get into danger so do we human beings, and it is only the helping hand which mother church holds out to us that keeps us from falling by the wayside.

"The shepherd, leaving his flock went to seek the lost sheep and bringing it home rejoiced. In like manner does the church seek her erring child for as our Lord said: 'There is more joy in Heaven at one sinner doing penance than for ninety-nine just.'

"Holy church gives us every opportunity to strengthen ourselves against temptations but we very often let these opportunities pass. Our Lord, who is our Good Shepherd, does all he can to help us, even, as he says 'giving his life for his sheep'."

Beginning next Sunday the Devotion of the Forty Hours commences at the Immaculate Conception.

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The large number of young people in the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Sunday evening furnished a striking indication that the special evening services for young men and young women, one of which was observed Sunday evening, are being thoroughly appreciated. The sermon subject was appropriate, it being "Is beauty of form and face a blessing or a curse?" The choir assisted with suitable selections. The musical features, including the organ prelude, are a part of the Sunday evening services which is being increasingly appreciated.

Preceding the sermon one of three questions answered from the pulpit was "Should a minister conduct the funeral service of a suicide?" A suicide, Rev. Mr. Allan said, breaks the law of God and of man in the same act. It is self-murder. The minister's function is not to settle the destiny of the deceased, although some ministers act as though they thought they had such power. Instead, the duty and privilege of a minister is to give comfort and consolation to the bereaved. Have those people who think a minister should not officiate at such a service no compassion? Christ had. No suicide at the moment he commits such an act can be in his rational mind. Therefore he is not quite responsible for his act. It is certainly the duty of the minister to officiate at such a service.

The Sermon.

The text for the sermon was taken from Psalm 90-17: "Let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us." After pointing out that it seems to be taken for granted that when beauty of form or face, is spoken of, reference is invariably made to women, although this may not necessarily be the case, Rev. Mr. Allan said that he would accommodate himself to this viewpoint by referring in what he had to say, to women whose beauty was recorded in the Scriptures. For some reason difficult to explain, good looking women often select homely husbands, while fine-looking men not infrequently select women not noted for their good looks. What is beauty of form or face? It is the mask behind which there functions in desires, thoughts, feelings, motives and moods the real being whom we cannot see and can only touch and understand by means of what they do and say. What is that person's master passion? Is it angelic, or animalistic? If it is the first, then beauty of form and figure will be a blessing, while if it is the second, it will be a curse. In the last analysis the answer to the question "Is beauty of form or face a blessing or a curse?" is determined by the kind of person who possesses that beauty.

In the Book of Genesis we read that Jacob met a young woman with whom he fell in love at first sight. It is recorded that he served seven years in order that he might win her, and because of the greatness of his love this period of service seemed but as a little while. Thus Rachel made work to be play for Jacob, and time to pass rapidly. With most people work is a labour and not a pleasure. Continuing, Rev. Mr. Allan drew attention to different women recorded in the Scripture, and to the effect of their lives on others. Abagail, the wife of Nabal, was a beautiful woman who was married to a churlish, ugly husband. Through making a peace offering to David, she saved her husband's life, and then waited, as a wise woman would, until Nabal was over his drunkenness, before she told him about the results of his actions. She sought to maintain peace, and to save the life of the unworthy man to whom she was married. Esther became the wife of the king, but in her high estate did not forget the people of her race, and in a time of storm for them was the means of their salvation.

Scripture records the effect of the actions of another type of woman, Jezebel, the wicked wife of King Ahab, became synonymous with all forms of wickedness, and her death was in accordance with her deeds. Bathsheba, through no fault of her own, but because of her beauty of form and face, caused King David to transgress. Delilah discovered the source of Samson's strength, and betrayed him to his enemies. Thus her beauty became a snare to him. In Ezekiel 28-17, we read—"Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty; thou has corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness; I will cast thee to the ground, I will lay thee before kings that they may behold thee; thou has defiled thy sanctuaries by the multitude of thine iniquities." This passage refers to Satan, who was the fairest of all God's creatures. It verifies the point that it is the person on the inside of the beauty who determines whether the beauty shall be a blessing or a curse.

Through the sin of Adam all people have been caused to sin and have been cut off from God. Through the righteousness of Christ and His atoning work, all who so desire may be restored to God's favour. We are either in Adam or in Christ. If we are in Christ, then we are a new creation, and we have been given a new disposition. Spiritual beauty often has the power to transform human features. Beauty without virtue is like a flower without scent. Through acceptance of Christ we may partake of the beauty of His nature, and in the hereafter find compensation for everything that we may feel that we lack in this life.

C.N.R. STARTING NEW BRANCHES

Extension Programme Calls For 470 Miles of New Track.

IN THREE YEARS.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 3 (Canadian Press)—The Canadian National Railway System will shortly start work on its new three-year branch line construction programme. The building of 470 miles of branch railways is proposed at an estimated cost of approximately $20,000,000.

Authorization to proceed has just been given by Parliament, the necessary legislation having passed the House of Commons and the Senate and given the Royal Assent.

Many of the new branch railways will be for the purpose of general development and colonization of the Dominion; while others will afford economic and operation advantages to the system.

The Prairie provinces will benefit by far the greatest extent. In Saskatchewan, it is proposed to construct nine additional branch railways with a total mileage of 315.8. Most of these lines will be located in the northern part of the province, which is now being rapidly developed.

In Alberta, three new branch railways covering a total distance of 68 miles will be built. Two of these lines will be in the northern part of the province, while the third will be in the nature of a "cut-off" to make possible shorter and faster routing of freight between Edmonton, the provincial capital, and Camrose, Alberta, and other points beyond.

Ontario will benefit by a "cut-off" near the United States boundary necessitated by the continually increasing business through the international gateways at Niagara Falls. This line will connect Pilkington and Niagara Junction, and will be 16.7 miles in length.

Quebec will have three new branch railways. The new constructions for development and colonization purposes in the Lake St. John district, will be from Hebertville to Savanne Falls, and from St. Felicien to the Mistassini River. A further railway branch will be from Grand Mere, through Shawinigan Falls to East Burrils. All three points are large centres of activity of the pulpwood industry, and it is in the Lake St. John region that British capitalists propose to stimulate development by investing 500 millions of dollars over a period of years.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Annual Meeting of Catholic Women's League at Ennismore.

ENNISMORE, May 2.—At the annual meeting of the Catholic Women's League held in the Parish Hall last week, the election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. C. Cavanagh, who has been president of the League for two years, was made by Miss Zita O'Donohue. Mrs. E. O'Donohue read the address. Although taken very much by surprise, Mrs. Cavanagh very ably replied, thanking the members very heartily for their kindness.

CITY COUNCIL WON'T ATTEMPT

the recent demonstration showed that the ladders at present in use to be inadequate. He remarked that the City of Toronto has ladder waggons costing $16,000.

Ald. Cotton said that last year the proposition was for a commercial truck and that the Bickel Company offered $700 for the ladders.

Mr. Macdonald said that he still was of the opinion that they had discussed the whole equipment.

Ald Fife, in the chair, held that the committee had gone into the matter thoroughly and had decided to get a regular fire truck, rather than a commercial truck. The purchase of the pumper had shown buying the best to be a wise policy.

Ald. Denne said that the ladders the city has now will not reach high enough.

Ald. Macdonald claimed that last year the city had been promised the "ladders it asked for." He held that the city was paying $6,000 more for a few feet of ladder. Ald. Cotton said that the proposal last year called for 100 feet less of ladders.

Several other aldermen uphield the purchase of the LaFrance apparatus, Ald. Phelan pointing out that the other trucks have to be spliced for the purpose, which he held to be unsuitable.

When the explanation clauses had been read Ald. Fife asked that a unanimous vote be given. Ald. Macdonald said he wished to make his position clear; that he was not opposed to the purchase of the ladder wagon but to the price. He claimed that cities as large as Peterborough are using equipment on commercial trucks. When he cited Stratford the Mayor answered Stratford paid more than Peterborough. Ald. Cotton announced that St. Catharines had paid more under the system proposed by Ald Macdonald than the $13,000.

Ald. Fife pleaded for the purchase of a real fire truck and when he called for the vote it was unanimous. This drew the admiring comments of his colleagues on his skill as an exhorter, with the reminder from one Alderman that he ought to be as he sells insurance.

By-Laws Passed.

By-laws were passed as follows:

To borrow $13,000 on debentures for the purchase of a motor ladder wagon for the fire department.

To execute an agreement for the purchase of the ladder truck.

To construct a sewer on Caddy street from Armour road to the end of the street.

To construct sidewalks on Aylmer street, west side, from Edinburgh street 35 feet north; on Murray street, south side from Bethune street to the end of the present sidewalk; on Cambridge street, west side, from Walnut street to Murray street.

To construct pavements on George street from Charlotte street to C.P.R. tracks; on Aylmer street from Charlotte street to Hunter street; and on Water street from Hunter street to Brock street.

To amend bylaw 2662.

To amend bylaw 915.

To authorize grants to the various musical organizations.

Ald. Denne simulated a fear that by-laws might be upset, as was the market by-law, and objected to the standard clauses of the local improvement by-law being taken as read. His objection resulted in several being read in full.

When the resurfacing of parts of George, Aylmer and Water streets was authorized, Ald. Denne, from the chair, asked what was to be done on the pavement at Hunter and George, repeating the Mayor's suggestion that a strip be placed alongside the street car tracks.

Such repairs would have to come out of the general fund anyway, it was pointed out, so the matter was dropped.

The Board of Works will attend to the patching required.

Amended Again.

Laughter greeted the by-law to amend by-law 2662, which sets out the citys traffic regulations. The latest change make it illegal to park within 80 feet of a bus stop.

Another amendment of interest was to the "snow by-law." Every citizen will be required, in future, to shovel off the snow from the sidewalks in front of his own property.

Bond Plan Changed.

The resolution that the City make its bonds out on the serial plan was repealed because of opposition by the City Trust on the ground that not as good a price would be received. No debentures were issued in this way. This was reported by Ald. Phelan while the Council was in committee and it was decided to rise and report progress on the by-law under consideration. As soon as the Council was resumed Aldermen Phelan and Cotton moved the resolution be rescinded. Immediately the Council went back into committee to continue discussion on the bylaw, which had been left, as it were, in the air, with clause six under consideration.

Extensions Planned.

J. H. Vernor of the Western Clock Company discussed the matter of a new building to be erected by his company at a cost of $75,000 to $100,000. He expressed the hope that he might appear on such a matter every few years. He asked that a fixed assessment be granted on the new building for ten years. He called attention to the fact that it did not mean full exemption from taxes but only from general rates, school taxes, etc. being still levied.

A by-law will be submitted to the people at the next municipal election, with the endorsation of the council, to give this exemption.

Mayor Holloway urged the aldermen to support the proposal, informing them that the company has other extensions in prospect.

James Juby, president of the Peterborough Automobile Club, headed a deputation from the Club to ask for help in certain work.

F. G. Stinson, secretary of the Club, presented the requests, suggesting that the signs near Port Hope be composed of straight wording, without the picture of the Lift Lock. The fact that the signs need repainting anyway was stressed by Mr. Stinson.

He also suggested that a dog catcher be appointed on a straight salary. The speaker complained that the dogs were becoming such a menace that he dared not go out without a thick stick. They are also a menace to motorists who have narrowly escaped accidents in trying to avoid dogs.

R. H. Turner supported Mr. Stinson's argument, stating that the signs should be reworded so that "he who runs may read" and that the Motor Club might consider paying half. In discussing the dog question, he referred also to the matter of flowers and the clean up campaign.

Ald. Greene asked who erected the signs originally and was told that the City and Club had each paid half.

Hiring Dog-Catcher.

Ald. Phelan was again given the task of hiring a dog catcher.

Ald. Denne moved the resolution urging that the matter be cleared up as there are too many running loose. The catcher will be given orders to enforce the by-law strictly.

The City will pay half the cost of renovating the signs at Port Hope, Ald. Greene being appointed to co-operate with the Motor League in this matter.

Eating House Licenses.

Licenses for eating houses were granted to the following:

Louis Cafe, J. Stewart, Mrs. S. Roy, J. Dean, Miss M. Asta, P. J. Harrison, J. McDonald, T. J. Brooks, H. Holbrook, H. Easterbrook.

Ald. Greene asked if these were for seven days a week. Ald. Denne proposed the plan of getting an agreement not to open on Sundays.

Ald Phelan pointed out that some of these were for stores to sell soft drinks and ice cream. He favored allowing ice cream parlors to stay open on Sunday, especially in summer, saying that any complaints could be adjusted later.

One request, which was for a booth, was refused, in keeping wit the resolution passed several weeks ago.

Pumping Station Proposed.

Fred H. Rowan asked about a sewer for his land on Reid street. He said he had bought the land without knowing that he could not get a sewer. He had asked the Plumbing Inspector if he could build a septic tank and was told that the ground was not suitable.

Ald. Denne asked if a pumping station could not be installed and was told that it could.

Ald. Greene asked if it would not be feasible to build a sewer from the existing sewers and said that if it could be done it should be done.

Mr. Parsons explained that a sewer to take care of Mr. Rowan's lot would not be low enough for the houses already there and that a pumping station would be necessary.

He will prepare a report of the cost and feasibility of a pumping station to take care of all that corner.

Clean Up Campaign.

Harry Dickin headed a deputation from the Kiwanis Club seeking support from the City Council in cleaning up parts of the city, such as the streets and river banks. He predicted that all the citizens would get behind the campaign if the Council would take action.

Mayor Holloway referred to some of the suggestions on lists passed around by Vernon Morphet. In the matter of oil he, explained that this cannot be applied until the weather is warmer. The streets cannot be flushed until all the sand is off the pavements as it ruins the surface drains.

With regard to the west bank of the river, City Engineer Parsons said that the city keeps it smooth but citizens come down and throw their rubbish any place they like instead of at whatever spot the city is using as a dump.

As they left Mr. Morphet remarked that the few points noted were the only bad spots found in the whole city.

P. Manning, appearing for the Decoration Committee for the Diamond Jubilee celebration, asked permission to erect arches on the streets if this scheme should be adopted.

The Mayor said he had hoped to keep the expense down on the decorations so that a loud speaker could be purchased for the Governor General's visit and the Diamond Jubilee celebration.

Mr. Manning explained that his request was only conditional on the scheme being adopted, so that if the committee should decide to build these arches there would be no delay.

He was told that a special meeting will be held next week at which this could be settled.

Cottages At Disposal Plant.

Hugh Fuller proposed that the cottagers at the sewer disposal plant be allowed to pay a ground rent for their property instead of being forced to remove.

Ald. Denne pointed out that if a rental were charged the city would have to pay taxes to Otonabee township on the entire property.

Ald. Phelan proposed that the cottagers sign an agreement not to claim the land, adding that they would probably leave very soon anyway.

The report of the Board of Works in this matter, recommending that the cottagers be ordered off, was adopted.

The chairman of the Parks Committe was authorized to appoint caretakers for James Stevenson Park, Inverlea Beach and the Tourist Camp.

Ald. Denne reported that the first tourist of the season camped there last night.

A letter from the Drumheller Unemployed Miners' Association, asking for endorsation of a letter to the Minister of Labor about the use of Alberta coal, was received.

A request for a sewer of Charlotte street from the Monaghan road to Albertus avenue will be acted on now so that it will be done before the road is paved by the government.

Ald. Hancock suggested that the Council agree to recompense the Utilities Commission for any slight deficit incurred in laying a watermain on Euclid avenue. He said that the sewer now laid is useless, and that with the water there the Board of Health would be able to force them to install conveniences. When this is done, he predicted, the deficit would be wiped out. The suggestion was adopted, a limit of $50 being set.

Harry Wheeler's offer of $155 for the salvage of the house No. 1, Hunter street, was accepted, the work to be completed by June 15. The Parks Committee was given authority to dispose of the balance of the property.

There were present His Worship Mayor Holloway and Aldermen Phelan, Cotton, Stocker, Fife, McIntyre, Hancock, Macdonald, Ackerman, Greene, and Denne.

PLAN OF REDS IS FRUSTRATED

Men Steal Flags Put Over Borough Buildings at Stepney.

NOT UNION JACKS.

LONDON, May 3.—(Canadian Press Cable). — The Council of Stepney a few days ago decided to follow the example of their fellow East End London Borough, Battersea, and hoist the red flag with the borough's public buildings. Five red flags were purchased.

One flying over the free library disappeared in the night, while two men captured the red flag from the town hall. The Mayor, endeavoring to replace this by bringing a red flag from another building, was frustrated because the hoisting cord had been cut. Another library flag could not be hoisted because the council had forgotten to provide a flagstaff.

Fish Eggs Hatched By Strong Ultra-Violet Rays; Chicago Scientists Succeed In Interesting Experiment

CHICAGO, May 3.—(Canadian Press).—The Herald and Examiner today said that two University of Chicago scientists had been successful in experiments to produce living organisms by ultra violet rays.

A live fish was produced, the newspaper said, by placing a fish egg under powerful ultra violet rays for five to ten minutes. In this manner, the account added, Mr. Ralph Lillie and Dr. M. A. Hinrichs, who conducted the tests, created life without the male sperm.

"We placed the eggs of the sea urchin under the rays of the ultra violet light machine for from five to ten minutes and the egg became swimming fish larvae," Dr. Hinrichs said. "This eliminated the male entirely."

Chief Constable Samuel Newhall received the following letter from the Chief of Police for the City of Albany, N.Y., who is seeking John Jacobie who, when last heard of, lived in this city.

"We are endeavoring to find the whereabouts of John Jacobie, a Canadian soldier during the war, and a former resident of this city. His mother died recently and his relatives are anxious to locate him so as they may settle the estate. His last known address was 569 Albert street, Peterborough."

If any person knows where this man is Chief Newhall would be glad if they would furnish him with the information as to his whereabouts.

WOMAN AGED 80 TRAVELS ALONE

Comes From Streatham, England, To Make Home in Canada.

TO JOIN DAUGHTER.

MONTREAL, Que., May 3.—(Special).—Though a great grandmother and having lived a decade beyond the alloted span of three score years and ten, Mrs. Sophia Cooling, late of Streatham, England, but now enroute to London, Ont., to live with her daughter, had no qualms as to the new experiences she would encounter enroute to her new home when she stepped aboard a Canadian National train at Bonaventure station yesterday. Mrs. Cooling, despite her eighty years of age, made the crossing from England alone on the Cunarder Ausonia to join her daughter, who is Mrs. J. Ellis, and who came to Canada with her husband seventeen years ago.

Mother and daughter do not expect to separate again, as Mrs. Cooling is looking forward to making her home in Canada for the rest of her life. On her journey as far as Quebec, where she disembarked from the Ausonia to take a Canadian National train to London, Mrs. Cooling declared she enjoyed her seavoyage.

On the same boat were a party of girls coming to Canada for domestic service, under the care of a conductress.

A large number of families also crossed on the Ausonia, which had the largest immigration passenger list to leave the south of England this year. Five families came out under the "3000 families scheme and there are also eight families for Canadian National Railways land settlement. Seventy-one single men who will take up agricultural work were aboard and also 33 girls for domestic rsevice.

He Has Earned His Leisure

His income is assured

HE and his wife can look calmly out on the world. He is old and can work no longer but, he is independent—his income is assured.

How did he do it? He was fond of good things; he didn't live a miserly life. He couldn't save money in the ordinary way any more than the rest of us could, for only three men in a hundred are able to save enough money, unaided, to retire upon at sixty.

Long ago he did a wise thing. He called in one of our trained representatives who helped him to systematize his spending and showed him how a few dollars deposited each year with The Imperial Life would give him independence in his old age, and also provide for his family should he die prematurely.

He has earned his leisure—his income is assured. Will this describe YOUR future? Why shouldn't it?

May we tell you about the income you can insure for yourself twenty or thirty years hence, by making small deposits now—when you have the money?

IMPERIAL ETHYL GASOLINE — Knocks out that "Knock"

IMPERIAL ETHYL

The Gasoline which eliminates "knocking" under all conditions

Makes present-day automobiles perform more efficiently

Be sure to differentiate between Imperial Ethyl and other so-called Anti-Knock Gasolines. It is because Imperial Ethyl contains Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound that it can be depended upon to eliminate knocking entirely—no matter what causes the knock. This compound was developed by General Motors Research Laboratories after eight years of scientific research which resulted in these two important discoveries:

1 That "knocking" is an inherent characteristic of all gasolines. What had previously been called a "carbon knock" or "ignition knock" or "engine knock" is in reality a fuel knock.

2 That "knocking" could be completely eliminated in gasoline by the addition of Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound.

So superior is Imperial Ethyl Gasoline to other anti-knock fuels that it has been adopted wherever unusual performance is required. That is why the United States Navy uses Ethyl Gasoline in its latest types of aeroplanes. That is why Ethyl Gasoline is used by the racing car drivers who are setting up new records. That is why Imperial Ethyl Gasoline is used by the Royal Canadian Air Force. That is why the Ontario Government uses Imperial Ethyl in its aeroplane Forest Patrol.

What Imperial Ethyl Will Do in Your Car

1 It will end all carbon trouble and make carbon formation an asset.

As carbon forms, both temperature and compression (pressure) are increased. Imperial Ethyl Gasoline neutralizes the higher temperature and the increased compression becomes increased power.

2 It will give you more power, particularly on hills and heavy roads.

3 It will make your engine operate more smoothly.

4 It will reduce gear-shifting.

5 It will increase acceleration, making your car easier to handle in traffic.

6 It will eliminate "knocking" under all driving conditions.

7 It will reduce vibration and engine wear and tear.

8 It will save the expense of carbon removal.

9 It will give you more power from each gallon of fuel that you use.

THE HALL STORE

HON. J. R. COOKE IS HONORED BY MADOC PEOPLE

Member For North Hastings Guest of Honor at Banquet.

MANY SPEAKERS.

Hon. Mr. Finlayson Represents Ontario Cabinet at Dinner.

MADOC, May 3.—A most successful banquet was given in honor of Hon. J. R. Cooke, M.P.P. for West Hastings by the Conservative Association of Madoc on Friday evening.

Covers were laid for one hundred and fifty in the assembly room of the Orange Hall, which was effectively decorated with streamers in rainbow colours. The long tables were made attractive with dark red snap-dragons, red candles, and centre strips of red crepe paper. Bountiful and delicious viands were prepared and served by Mr. and Mrs. T. Blue, managers of the St. Lawrence Hotel.

The guests were seated at half-past eight, and between courses the dinner was made merry by community singing with Mrs. V. Reid at the piano, and Mr. Thompson, of The Radio Quartette, of Belleville, as leader. When justice had been done to all the good things, Reeve Fred Curry, who acted as chairman and toast-master for the evening, opened the formal programme with a few appropriate remarks and after proposing the toast to the King, which was responded to by the singing of the National Anthem, called upon W. T. Nugent, of Belleville to propose the toast to the Ontario Legislature.

Mr. Nugent gave a brief resume of the composition and history of the Legislature, and then drifted off on his favourite topic, Hastings County. As Mr. Nugent expressed it, he had been "cradled in the woods," of North Hastings, for not only was he born and brought up in this county of beautiful woods and lakes, but he had slept in a cradle made from the bark of Hastings' trees. Mr. Nugent spoke of the benefits that had been conferred upon his native county by the honored guest of the evening, "Bob" Cooke, who is one of the most popular members of the Ontario Legislature, as well as the idol of his riding.

Hon. J. W. Finlayson.

Hon. J. W. Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Foresta, responded to the toast. Mr. Finlayson brought the felicitations of Hon. Howard Ferguson, who regretted his inability to be present at the banquet, and who had sent Mr. Finlayson to represent the Government in joining with the hosts in doing honour to Hon. Robert Cooke. "You think you know Mr. Cooke," said Mr. Finlayson, "but you really know very little compared with what the Chief knows."

He spoke of the responsible position which Mr. Cooke held on the Hydro Commission, in practically stepping into the shoes of Sir Adam Beck. No one ever did more for Ontario than Beck. No man has ever contributed the same general scheme for the welfare of the Province, the same amount of good-will, as Sir Adam, and it speaks well for the ability of the Hon. Robert Cooke, that he was chosen to help carry on such a great piece of work as the Hydro Electric, a scheme for the general good of the whole Province, one which turns the wheels of industry all over; one which has helped the small manufacturers and enabled them to put in more equipment; one which has aided all the small municipalities as well as the larger centres; one which has carried comforts to the housewives all over the Province of Ontario and which will enable the housewife to enjoy still more comforts in the future.

Mr. Finlayson tried to give his hearers a grasp on the enormity of the work of the Hydro Commission by comparing it to the Bank of Montreal, which has a Board of fifteen to direct a capital of thirty million, but Hydro Commission is a Board of three, with over three hundred million under their control, and a system that is scattered all over the Province. "Your representative is one of those three," said Mr. Finlayson, "and you are doing the fit and proper thing in trying to honor Mr. Cooke. Yet you are only doing what the Province has already done. Mr. Ferguson sends his greetings, and he wants you to know he also appreciates Mr. Cooke."

The Timber Problem.

Mr. Finlayson then spoke at some length on the timber problem. He deplored the fact that Ontario's lumber had been wasted in the past. Ontario had had a wonderful heritage in white pine, but now Southern Ontario is denuded. He spoke of the destruction by fire of vast quantities of wood in Northern Ontario, and of the precautions that had been taken during the last few years, and that would be taken this coming summer. Mr. Finlayson dwelt on the policy of the Government in giving trees to farmers and urging them to plant. Any farmer can have five hundred trees for a hedge and another three thousand-five hundred trees to attain their full height and growth. The speaker urged the planting of hedges which are so much more beautiful than fences. He spoke of the Scandinavian treatment of trees. Farmers there knew when the trees were matured, ready for cutting, and would not cut them before. No circular saws are allowed there. Every year their timber wealth is increasing. That is what Ontario should do. Farmers should go over the farm and pick out places suited to the growth of trees. He advised the planting of trees in the bed of a creek, thus providing shade, shelter and moisture for the cattle. He spoke of the value of trees as windbreaks, protecting the buildings and enabling the farmer to let the cows out more in the winter time.

Mr. Finlayson spoke of the unfortunate conditions in some of the northern counties where men had been placed on land that was not suitable for farming. The Government is now seeking to remedy this by closing up three Townships, where wasteful extravagance is resulting from efforts to keep schools going for only two or three pupils. The Government proposes to group the people of these Townships on land suitable for farming in Northern Ontario, with one central school, and use the vacated land for reforestration. Another scheme that the Government has under consideration is one whereby a man can put in what he likes in timber and will not be assessed any more than he would for vacant lots.

Mr. Finlayson spoke again of the losses by fire and the system of detection by the air-force and of prevention. He regretted that it seemed impossible to prevent people from throwing away lighted matches and cigarettes. Mr. Finlayson concluded his interesting and informative address by again expressing his pleasure at being present at the gathering.

The next number on the programme was a dance by little Billy Hawthorne in Irish costume which as usual proved a most popular number.

James F. Hill, M.P.P.

Mr. James F. Hill M.P.P. for East Hastings was the second responder to the toast to the Ontario Legislature. Mr. Hill expressed his pleasure at being present to do honor to Mr. Cooke. He spoke of the value of such a banquet in aiding to keep up the organization as well as to do honor to Mr. Cooke and mentioned other banquets in Toronto at which he had been present which had been found an excellent means of keeping the Conservativ organization up. In Toronto they never let the organization go down he said.

Mr. Hill spoke of his esteem for the Hon. Howard Ferguson and of his increased faith in him since the last election. He mentioned the activity of the ladies and the benefits to the party that they had been. He believed that the spirit of Sir John A. MacDonald was still living and encouraging the Conservative party. The memories of Whitney and Beck are also incentives. "When Mr. Cooke is up in the House talking Hydro you can hear a pin drop" said Mr. Hill. The memory of these men will live on in their works he said.

The light touch of the comedian was then given by F. Gillespie in his songs "Cecelia" and "I Never See Maggie Alone" which were heartily applauded.

Dr. S. Eagleson.

The chairman then called on Dr. S. Eagleson to propose the toast to the Federal Parliament: "Those who have known Mr. Cooke have learned to appreciate his integrity" Dr. Eagleson said. "Position has not spoiled the man." He hoped this would be only one of many banquets tendered to Mr. Cooke. Dr. Eagleson then gave a brief but comprehensive review of the Federal history and the Federal constitution before proposing the toast.

W. E. Tummon, M.P.

W.E. Tummon M.P. for East Hastings responded saying he did not wish to speak at length but was there to do honor to "Bob." There are some men who have had a greater part in the building up of Canada than others. Mr. Cooke has helped to make this part of Canada better and he referred to his work in connection with roadbuilding and the Hydro. Mr. Tummon spoke on the costs of transportation and the problems facing the Government at Ottawa. He spoke of the Diamond Jubilee and of Canada's vast resources referring particularly to her mineral wealth.

Dr. A. T. Embury, M.P.

Mr. Tummon was followed by Dr. Embury M.P. for Hastings-Peterborough. Dr. Embury expressed his faith in Hon. Howard Ferguson and felt that he would do well with the problems confronting the Provincial Government. Dr. Embury caused much laughter when he spoke of being interested in Mr. Finlayson's speech until he came to the part where he had decided to deport the citizens of the north but he felt consoled in saying "all we raise in the north is Wardens and M.P.'s and as they are not of much use they might as well be moved anyway. Maybe the Government would pay them a good sum for getting out." "Hon. J. R. Cooke is a graduate of their county council but he's reformed (more laughter)—Well anyway" the speaker retracted "he's different." He supposed Mr. Cooke was a little nervous with all these eulogies heaped upon him but "we can't say too much regarding his natural ability integrity and honesty of purpose." The speaker then referred to Canada's financial condition. "In spite of the Government Canada is prosperous" was another of the mirth-provoking statements which punctuated Dr. Embury's speech.

William Hawthorne was then called upon for a song and rendered an amusing Irish lilt "I Owe Ten Dollars to O'Grady" which was heartily encored.

Our Guest.

The toast to "Our Guest" was proposed by George West who said that on behalf of the Executive of Madoc Village he wished to thank those who had come to do honor to Mr. Cooke. He considered it a great honor to propose the toast to Mr. Cooke and remarked that if he were to tell all he knew about him he would keep them there until the wee sma' hours. He reviewed the work Hon. "Bob" had done for the riding and quoted a portion of Hon. W. H. Price's letter eulogizing Mr. Cooke. Mr. Price regretted that he had been unable to be present.

Hon. Robert Cooke.

In replying Hon. Robert Cooke said the gathering brought to his mind recollections of the intense loyalty of his friends and he found difficulty in seeking to express his gratitude, but he could only do so in the simplest words he knew—"I thank you."

Mr. Cooke spoke of the changes he had seen, both in the riding and in the Legislature since he had entered political life. When the Legislature had assembled for this last session there were only three who had been there when he first became a member in 1911, and three others who had gone in when he did. The situation is an outstanding illustration of how quickly men come and go across the stage of public life, he said. He was glad he was still a part of the Legislature, and of all that public life had brought him it was confidence such as had been shown that night, that was the most valuable to him. He spoke of the high ideals for which men in public life have striven. He reviewed the history of the fall of the Hearst Government and the results that followed the placing of inexperienced men in control. What else could follow, but debt? He spoke of the problems leaders have to face.

Speaking as a Canadian citizen more than as a politician and looking back over sixty years of national life in this country, it was not with a spirit of political prejudice, but pride, with which he recalled its history and the statutes against which there can be no dispute. He spoke of the Workmen's Compensation Act, Women's Franchise and the Mothers' Allowance Act, with its subsequent amendments and improvements. He then went on to the Highways Improvement Policy, and hoped that in the near future the people of this county would have reason to be more vitally interested in the Provincial highways than they had before. He reviewed briefly the history of road building in Ontario. He then gave a comprehensive outline of the way in which revenue is derived by the Province to carry out these works, and quoted statistics from the Departments of Game and Fisheries and Lands and Forests. The four greatest sources he said, were:

The auto.
Succession Duty Tax.
Corporation taxes.
Amusement and race taxes.

Since 1923, when Hon. Howard Ferguson became Prime Minister, not even a shadow of suspicion has been cast upon his government, he said. Ontario is the banner province. He breathed a prayer of gratitude for the preservation of this Empire to which we all belong.

A Presentation.

When the applause following Mr. Cooke's speech had died away, Mr. F. Burnside presented Mr. Cooke with a handsome club bag on behalf of the local Conservative Association, while little Miss Helen Whytock presented a bouquet of roses to be conveyed to Mrs. Cooke, who, on account of illness was unable to be present. Mr. W. J. Hill, after a few preliminary remarks read the following address:

"To be requested by my fellow associates to express feelings of confidence admiration and affection, for one of the County of Hastings' native sons, our guest, the Hon. J. R. Cooke, is a delightful task, yet in proportion difficult to perform to do justice to its merit; and I must leave it to sentiment to supply where words fail to convey the degree of our regard and appreciation of his faithful stewardship of Hastings' interest.

"Never has, nor never will, those holding public office be free from attack or escape criticism, and our sympathy goes out to those holding important office and intimate with its complexes and responsibilities, who are, in spite of human limitations, earnestly endeavouring to legislate for the greatest good to the greatest number.

"The various toasts, ably proposed and so capably responded to, have provided a programme of unusual interest and enjoyment to all present. The glowing tributes paid our honoured guest, both on his personal merit, and his achievements as our representative, must bring some degree of satisfaction, and in some measure compensate him for his untiring efforts on behalf of his constituency and his attention to the demands of important office.

"Pleasant gatherings such as these, and the many kind words spoken are always held among our cherished memories and though by desire we can recall these happy scenes, yet on behalf of your friends I ask you to accept this club bag as a small gift and a visible expression of our regard, for there is none who stands higher in their esteem, who exists more enduringly in the affections of those who know you than our worthy representative, the Hon. J. R. Cooke.

"To your good wife, Mrs. Cooke, whose absence we sincerely regret, kindly present these roses, which convey our compliments and every good wish."

In expressing his heartfelt thanks Mr. Cooke said that "Human memory is like the sea, because while it conceals many shipwrecks, it also holds many treasures" and he felt that the confidence and good-will of those among whom he lived made him a wealthy man. He was rich in a host of friends, and as long as he was a member there would never be an act that would discredit him or his constituency. Particularly was Mr. Cooke touched with the remembrance of Mrs. Cooke, and spoke of it in tones of deep and sincere emotion.

To The Ladies.

The toast to the ladies was proposed by T. Burnside, whose humorous address was provocative of much laughter. In serious vein, Mr. Burnside referred to the improved conditions for women and to the numerous positions they were filling with credit. "We can analyze all that has been said here to-night," said Mr. Burnside, but what inspires these men to do their best? Is it not the wife or sweetheart at home? Why is it that when we look at roses or daisies or violets we think of the ladies of our country and we never give a thought to the members of our Cabinet?"

The toast was responded to by Mrs W. Nugent, of Belleville, who remarked in her reply that this occasion was the first time a lady had been asked to reply to a toast at a political banquet since the Franchise had been granted. The speaker voiced her confidence in Mr. Ferguson, who, she felt sure, would not fail the home-makers and the youth of the country.

Mrs. Charles Whytock was the second responder to the toast and expressed in gracious manner her appreciation of the evening and her hope for many long years as member for Hon. Mr. Cooke, the honoured guest.

The last toast to the host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. T. Blue, was proposed by W. Whytock, who, in speaking of the splendid banquet set before them that night, said he was sure Mrs. Blue had reached all their hearts that night, Mr. and Mrs. Blue were known in many parts of the United States as well as in Hastings County, for tourists like tramps, had signs, and it had been made known that their hotel was the only place to stop between Belleville and Weslymkoon. Grateful thanks were returned by Mrs. Blue for the words of appreciation.

PAPER ADVISES GIVING ITALY TWO MANDATES

Says Britain Would Do Well To Hand Over Palestine and Mesopotamia.

ITALY CAN USE THEM.

Needs Some Place To Dispose of Her Surplus People.

LONDON, May 3.—(United Press). — Suggestion that Great Britain might deliver to Italy her mandates over Palestine and Mesopotamian was made editorially in the Daily Mail today in its comment on Lord Robermeres article on Premier Mussolini.

"So great has been the progress of Italy and so rapid has been the advance in her population that provisions for outlets for her immigrants is yearly becoming a matter of increasing urgency", said the Mail.

"It would be well for both her and ourselves if we could hand over to her mandates which were received at the Versailles peace conference for Palestine and Mesopotamia.

It is true that disposal of the mandates if we withdraw, would rest finally with the League of Nations, but there can be no possible doubt that Great Britain's recommendation that Italy be named her successor would carry great weiht. Our old ally France, which has many interests in the Mediterranean, would not have reason to regard such a dissolution with disfavor.

NIGHT OFFICER BECOMES CHIEF

Campbellford Council Decides To Hire Local Man as Night Officer.

MAYOR'S VOTE DECIDES.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 3. — At last night's meeting of the Town Council, Constable Light was appointed Chief of Police to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of former Chief Brown. And the Council will advertise in the local paper for a night constable to take over the duties now performed by Constable Light.

Whether a chief of police and night constable were needed, or the entire duties to be thrust on the shoulders of a chief of police, with an assistant when circumstances demanded, resulted in a lengthy, and at times heated debate. Some of the Council contending that two police cost the town very little more than one formerly did, when it was necessary to appoint a truant officer, sanitary inspector, and a man to enforce the snow by-law, in addition to the police chief under the two man system these duties are all taken care of in an efficient manner.

Deputy-Reeve Davidson fired the opening shot when he stated he was in favor of promoting Constable Light to Chief of Police, and appointing another night constable. He said the two police system would not cost much more than the one man system, and he was of the opinion that the Council could appoint a capable man for the position without going out of town.

Councillor O'Sullivan couldn't agree with the deputy reeve. He was in favor of reverting to the old system for a trial at least. Campbellford is a peaceful, law-abiding town, and he didn't think it necessary to employ two policemen.

Asked who would perform the duties of truant officer, sanitary inspector, and enforce the snow by-law, Councillor O'Sullivan said the road foreman could perform part of these duties. Councillor O'Sullivan made a motion to the effect that the Council appoint one man as police chief and get an assistant whenever necessary.

Councillor McDonald, in seconding the motion said, personally he was in favor of two men, but he had heard so many complaints about the town employing two policemen, he would like to let the people try the one man system.

Deputy-Reeve Davidson to Councillor O'Sullivan: "Do you expect one man to perform the duties of two?"

O'Sullivan: "A capable man could be found to act as sub-police, and you wouldn't have to go out of town, and it would cost you less than $300 a year."

Reeve Bygott: "I am just as anxious to save the town money as Councillor O'Sullivan, and I am not sticking or fighting for two police, but we want efficiency, and I am of the opinion two police are necessary."

Deputy-Reeve Davidson moved an amendment, seconded by Councillor Wiggins: That Constable Light be made chief of police and that the Council advertise for a night constable, preferably a local man.

For the amendment: Reeve Bygott; Deputy-Reeve Davidson; Councillors Wiggins and Abernethy.

For the motion: Councillors Cole, McDonald, Stone and O'Sullivan.

Major Kingston cast the deciding vote in favor of the amendment, and declared the motion lost.

The Clerk was instructed to advertise for a night constable, applications to be received up to 12 o'clock noon May 16th.

The Mayor was authorized to sign a contract with the Municipal Road Spraying and Oiling Co. for the oiling of the streets. The council expects to have the streets in shape for applying the oil about May 16th. This is the company that did such satisfactory work in applying the oil last year.

A petition signed by practically all the residents on Queen street, north of Church street, was presented asking for a sewer and water main.

This sewer would have to connect with the main sewer at Napier street, and would effect residents on Queen street between Church and Napier streets, some of whom already have private sewers. Also, the council was of the opinion that the sewer would have to be so deep at the corner of Church street, to pass under the large culvert, that it would be too low to connect with the main sewer. It was decided to engage an engineer to take the necessary levels and report at the June meeting.

Dr. Watson and George O'Sullivan on behalf of the School Board asked the council to tile drain the ditch on Rannie street.

The Mayor stated it was an expensive proposition and they would like to confine this year's work to as small an amount as possible. He thought it would cost in the neighborhood of $1.50 a foot for tile.

Councillor John O'Sullivan, with an eye to economy, thought a concrete drain could be built cheaper than a metail tile drain, and it would give more employment to town men. He asked the representatives what rebate the school board was prepared to grant if the work was done.

Trustee George O'Sullivan said he could not sanction a rebate without the consent of the school board, but he could promise a reduction in the school rate that would probably equal the cost of constructing the drain.

Dr. Walton stated the continuation of the drain across the road, under the Presbyterian church shed also needed repairing and suggested the council meet the board managers of St. Andrew's re the necessary repairs under the shed.

Action in both matters was deferred till the next meeting of the council.

Councillor O'Sullivan reported on the installation of bath and fixtures in the armouries. He was of the opinion that Mr. Jacobs had completed a first-class job in every respect.

Councillor O'Sullivan brought to the council's attention the dangerous corner at Front and Market streets caused by the billboards obstructing the motorists' view. He was appointed by council to interview the owner of the property, asking to have the boards moved farther east to give a better view of the corner.

After passing the pay sheet the council adjourned.

FIRE DESTROYS DUNSFORD HOME

Mr. and Mrs. W. Robertson Away From Home at Time of Blaze.

OVERHEATED PIPES.

DUNSFORD, May 3. — The home of Mr. Walter Robertson was completely destroyed by fire, supposed to have been caused by overheated pipes on Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson left early after dinner to visit her sister, Mrs. Will Hall, near Lindsay, but before they arrived, her sister had received the news by telephone. They started back at once, but although crowds of friends and neighbors had gathered to fight the flames, very little could be saved.

COMPANY PUT TO BIG EXPENSE

"I got his name, but I have forgotten it," was the reply.

Later in the day, said the witness, the man had driven up and asked about the car of beer. He was told that it had been seized.

"Did you tell him to get into touch with Egan?" asked Mr. Rowell.

"I think I told him to go and see a lawyer—Egan or some other good lawyer," replied Mr. Bannon.

Sam Harris denied that he had told Officer Jacques that he knew the waste-paper was to be used for camouflaging the car of beer.

From M. T. E. Loney, local freight agent for the Michigan Central Railway, came a statement that he had been approached by a man called Savard, in December, 1926. "He asked for information as to how a car could be routed so as to avoid the American Customs at the border," said Mr. Loney. "I told him that, as far as the Michigan Central was concerned, it couldn't be done."

There was no further inquiry into the movements of car 74210 yesterday.

After the wheels of two coaches of an electric train in Heswell, Ireland, had run over her and caused fatal injuries, the only thought expressed by Sarah Farrell was, "I wonder who will look after my dog now."

Was Nearly Crazy With Boils All Over His Body

Mr. S. L. Burke, Barronsfield, N.S., writes:—"For some time I was nearly crazy with boils all over my body. I tried everything I could think of to get rid of them, but to no avail, for as soon as one was healed up another would appear to take its place.

I was advised to take

and after I had used two bottles the boils had all disappeared and I have not been troubled with them since."

MEDICAL PROFIT SEEKERS DELAYING GREAT ADVANCE

British Physician Says Preventive Medicine Is Goal of Profession.

NEED OF CIVILIZATION.

CHICAGO, Ill.; April 29 (Canadian Press)—Preventive medicine is the crying need of civilization, but the goal will not be achieved so long as the medical profession thinks in terms of pecuniary profit, Sir James Barr, M.D., distinguished British physician, past president of the Royal Medical Society and Knight of Grace of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, declares in an article in the current issue of The Journal of the American Electronic Research Association.

Sir James several years ago created a stir by advocating the payment of physicians by results, further contending that in case of death medical attendants should be required to pay the funeral expenses. "Albert Abrams and His Critics," is the article written by Sir James, in which he defends the pioneer of electronic medicine against charges of seeking personal gain.

"It is unfortunate but no less a fact, that the so-called leaders of the medical profession in America as well as in England, have no use for any discovery which does not make money easily," Sir James charges. "There is no desire to seek for absolute truth, the only test of truth is, does it work and pay; all else must be discarded or virulently opposed until its practical benefits overwhelm opposition."

Abrams' methods are efficacious but they do not create millionaires, he says.

"I am more interested in the prevention of disease than in its treatment," Sir James asserts, "and my appreciation of Abrams' methods is due to the fact that disease can thus be often diagnosed and arrested before it has assumed serious proportions. I should like to see a healthy, virile, intellectual race who would be independent of doctors and undertakers to an advanced age.

"A diseased man is of no use to anybody but to his doctor and himself.

"Matters do not seem to be improving in America. According to the Medical Press and Circular, of the 20,000,000 children in the United States, 14,000,000 suffer from some physical defect. Of these some 2,000,000 are suffering from grave malnutrition; 10,000,000 have badly diseased teeth; 2,000,000 suffer from obstructed breathing due to adenoids or enlarged tonsils; a similar number have cervical glands; at least 10,000,000 are or have been infected with tuberculosis; 4,000,000 have defective vision; more than 1,000,000 have defective hearing; about 1,000,000 have spinal curvature or kindred deformities; nearly half a million have organic heart trouble, and at least 1,000,000 are predisposed to some serious form of nervous disorder.

"This vast array of diseases are nearly all preventable and does not reflect much credit on the medical profession; in fact it is a positive disgrace to medical teachers, medical journals, and leaders of medical thought, who, if they were all scrapped, would never be missed.

"We want the preservation of health and the prevention of disease from the cradle to the grave.

"There is not a medical school in England or in America where preventive medicine is taught as it should be taught; the fact of the matter is that there is no use in anyone trying to disguise the fact, preventive medicine does not pay, but it will pay when the public recognizes that health is a factor independent of disease. Preventive medicine, as Dr. Andrew Balfour says, would pay any community intellectual enough to see that it was carried out in its broadest sense.

"In 1911, in an address in Montreal, I looked forward to the time when our hospitals would be half empty and would be looked upon as relics of a decadent age. This ideal is still a long way off, but I am pleased to be able to say that the public's conscience is now aroused and the public will not long submit to the holocaust of preventable diseases."

ST. ANDREW'S CHOIR CONCERT

(By Jeanette)

The annual concert of St. Andrew's Church Choir was a successful musical event of last evening. This church choir has the reputation of successful annual concerts behind it, and last night's programme lived up to the standard of former years in its well-arranged, finished and artistic atmosphere. Under tuition of Mr. John Crane, organist and director, the choir gave a number of splendid selections, assisted by Mrs. H. F. Doig, soprano, Mr. Frank Oldfield, baritone, of Toronto, and Miss Agnes Logan, pianiste. The Choir was assisted by members of sister organizations in the city. Enthusiastic appreciation was general for the varied choral and solo selections on the programme, the final number getting as generous a meed of applause as the opening renditions. A pretty setting was afforded by the quantities of spring flowers that decorated the choir loft.

About three hundred and fifty people were in attendance last evening for a concert which opened with two choral numbers, "Praise the Lord," a reverent, full-voiced rendition of sacred music which was followed by an unaccompanied offering of Noble's "Come, O Thou Traveller." The compact, rounded tone, precision in attack and release, well-balanced volume, and clear-cut phrasing which characterize the work of this choir, directed by Mr. John Crane, were apparent in these, as in the following choral selections, which included Mendelssohn's "Hear My Prayer," with beautifully shaded passages in soft tone, Gounod's "All Ye Who Weep," also in the "a capella" fashion which tests the abilities of choral singing and one of the popular negro spirituals, with sliding cadences and reiterated refrain, finely interpreted, in "Deep River," accompanied by the piano. Applause was general for this favorite number, also for the lovely rhythmic music of Dvorak's "Going Home" from "The New World Symphony." The most ambitious and exacting of the choral numbers was possibly the final selection, "Trisagian and Sanctus" written in eight-part harmony and sung without any accompaniment, affording an effective demonstration of the fine work in shading, tempo and rhythm of the concerted singers.

Mrs. H. F. Doig, soloist at St. Andrew's Church, was at her best last night, singing in noticeably fine voice. The sweet, throaty richness of her soprano voice was manifest in the solo work of "Hear My Prayer," for which the choir formed a background, and there was a quality of bird-like, charming brilliancy to the trio of lovely songs which she sang alone. The vibrant lyric timbre of her voice was paramount in the graceful, pastel-tinted measures of "Starry Woods," the descriptive character of "The Dancers" and the piquant quality of the soaring sweetness of "At The Well." Applause was repeated at the conclusion of this trio.

The shadow of Mr. Frank Oldfield evidently never grows less. His appearance last evening evoked a storm of applause, which followed each number, and echoed again and again until he came back for encores. Mr. Oldfield's extremely easy method of singing, the manner in which his reverberating voice rolls out unhampered by mannerism or affectation, and the wonderfully rich, resonant quality of the powerful tones, modulated to silver sweetness at will of the singer, makes his music a thing of delightful charm. He sang at first "The Broad Highway" from "The Dream Girl," by Herbert, and "The Sergeant-Major," the rollicking, carefree music of the wanderer of the road and the sergeant-major on parade," both solos suiting his voice admirably, and bringing him an encore to which he responded with "Arise, O Sun," in which the wonderfully fine portamento quality of the music was demonstrated in the advancing and retreating measures of the rich tones.

The power and volume of the stanzas of "I am Fate" and the humorous philosophizing of "If I Were a Fellow of Nineteen or Twenty," followed, with an encore in the resonant outpourings of "Shipmates o' Mine." The last appearance of Mr. Oldfield brought a rendition of "Honour and Arms" from the oratoria, "Samson," strikingly sung and a sacred number in "Praise," also beautifully interpreted. As a final encore, Mr. Oldfield sang, by request, the favorite "Ragged Vagabond," acclaimed by many as the finest number on his fine programme, with a moving sonority to the pathos of the song of the knight of the road, whose luck is "never up, but always down."

Separate choral numbers arranged for male and female voices demonstrated the fine control and interpretive power of the singers in their excellent shading and interpretation A chorus for ladies' voices, with a crooning refrain, was a "Lullaby," and a male chorus gave two numbers, "Good Night, Beloved," and Dudley Buck's "In Absence."

One of the most beautiful numbers on the programme was the organ and piano arrangement of Ravini's "Adoremus," played by Mr. John Crane and Miss Agnes Logan, with an encore in Widor's "Serenade." Both of these selections were unusual in type and splendidly presented, the two fine musicians uniting in an artistic production of the softly-modulated music, with a good deal of the "vox humana" (voice) and "Gamba" (string-like) stops on the organ noticeable, and a reiterated beat in the melodious piano music.

The sympathetic accompaniments for choral and solo numbers alike played by Miss Agnes Logan, added the usual artistic touch of this young musician to the effectiveness of the programme.

"I DIDN'T GO WEST—"

Airman's Health Restored by Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

"I didn't 'go west' in France, but came home to Canada carrying my death-warrant, the doctor declared. I weighed exactly 126 pounds — not much for a six-footer. Look at me now! 185, and as hard as nails!"

The speaker (name if requested) was a young Canadian who served overseas with the Royal Flying Corps, and returned in 1918 a mere shadow of a man. His uncle, a prominent doctor, suggested Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. After one month's trial, he felt better. He persevered, and in three months was back at his position, healthy and happy.

The best part of the story is: his health has lasted as only health gained in a natural manner can last. He is still holding his strenuous position as editor of a successful publication.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will relieve constipation and the chain of ills that arise from it, permanently and naturally, if eaten regularly. Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily — in chronic cases at every meal. Only ALL-BRAN can conquer constipation.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

For six days Faith had watched witnesses being sworn, had seen them settle nervously into the big, high-backed chair, and pitied them or hated them, had wondered how it felt to be the cynosure of all eyes, to have one's every word seized upon by the flying pen point of the court stenographer. And now she was to be a witness herself, not a witness for the defense, for lovely, stricken little Cherry, but for the terrible little man with the burning eyes and the caustic, lashing tongue who was determined to send Cherry to the electric chair for a crime which not even Cherry's own admission could have made Faith believe she had committed.

"Don't be so frightened, darling," Cherry whispered, one of her little cold hands pressing Faith's nerveless fingers. "I know you can't help it, and so does everyone else."

She walked jerkily to the little platform on which the witness chair stood, stumbled as she mounted it, raised her right hand automatically as the clerk mumbled the ritual of the oath to tell "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God."

A pen and ink artist sketched her portrait hastily as District Attorney Banning put his first questions, in a low, deferential voice.

Then: "You are the sister of the defendant, Cherry Lane Wiley?"

"I am." Faith faltered, and tried to hide the trembling of her lips behind her handkerchief.

"Miss Lane, I will show you this envelope, with a message written on it in pencil, and ask you if you can identify it." Banning said, still in that low, courteous voice, as he handed her Cherry's pitiful scrawl, her farewell message to Faith written just before she had crept out of her window to elope with Chris Wiley on the night she was to have married Ralph Cluny.

"I can." Faith answered, looking at the message with swimming eyes. "It is the note that my sister left for me the night she—she ran away—Thanksgiving night."

Banning leaned toward her, took the message, introduced it into the record with the permission of the judge and of Stephen Churchill, then handed it back to Faith and asked her to read it aloud.

She began to read in so low a voice that Banning had to request her to speak louder:

"It says, 'I'm running away, Faith. Tell Muggy I'll be all right. Don't worry. I couldn't do it after all, Faith. He was so old! Please don't try to follow me. Give me time to get away or I'll kill myself. Love, Cherry'."

"Now, Miss Lane, kindly tell the jury in your own words when and how and where you found this message from your sister," Banning directed.

Faith's low, clear voice, faltering only on Cherry's name, told the story of Cherry's elopement with Chris Wiley on Thanksgiving Day, less than an hour before she was to have been married to Ralph Cluny. She told how she had entered Cherry's locked room by the window, at half past eight, how she had found the discarded wedding dress on the floor and the pitiful little farewell note on the dressing table, weighted down by the little pile of jewels which Cluny had given his fiancee; how she, Faith had rushed, distracted, to the church to break the news of the elopement to the bridegroom and rector.

Banning allowed her to tell her story uninterrupted, then, when she had finished, he asked deferentially, but with unmistakable significance:

"Miss Lane, you knew, did you not, that your sister was marrying Ralph Cluny for his money and that she hated him?"

FOR WEDNESDAY MAY 4 1927

Good and evil aspects are read by astrologers for today, but the benefic influences predominate.

This is a favorable planetary government under which to start on a journey and is especially promising for ocean voyages.

A great volume of foreign travel is foretold for the summer and many will make pilgrimages to the Orient.

Although this is not a favorable rule under which to start a new business enterprise or to take any sort of risk, the forecast for the next few months in the United States indicates marvelous prosperity.

Commerce is to expand in a remarkable degree and to bring to this country immense profits.

Within the year new American millionaires will develop and they will be famous for their patriotic devotion to the country.

Again bankers and financiers are subject to the best possible direction of the stars. They are to meet big problems and to lead the world in big undertakings.

The last of the old leaders in politics and finance are to make their exit on this side of the Atlantic as well as in Europe within the decade, the seers prophesy.

There is a sign of promise for all who deal with newspapers under this sway of the planets. Advertising should be especially profitable.

Strikes and other labor troubles, which will disturb great Britain now, will be slightly reflected here, but will not be serious, it is prophesied.

As Washington and New York are to be affected by this lunation disturbances are forecast.

Storms and seismic shocks may be expected even as spring wanes and there may be serious property damage reported from certain regions.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year in which they will accomplish much in the way of pushing their affairs. There may be courtship and marriage for many.

Children born on this day are likely to have vaulting ambition and there may be a temptation to live beyond the income.

PRETTY HANDS.

The housewife who wants pretty hands will keep a slice of lemon, a bottle of lotion and a brush right at her sink and apply first aid after each household task that soils the hands.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Negligee of mauve and purple satin trimmed with silk fringe.

Once there was a thought of invalidism or a gentle sort of debility associated with the idea of a negligee. The stalwart young woman who prided herself on keeping fit in season and out sometimes boasted that she needed no negligees. A bathrobe was the only sort of boudoir gown she needed. To her there was even something a little old ladyish in the idea of a tea gown or a negligee, a breakfast coat or a matinee.

But now, young girls are as addicted to the wearing of negligees as are older women. In fact, there is something quite debonnaire about the lounging robes and other negligees that they have to choose from. The girl in boarding school who might once have been content with a single terry-cloth bathrobe comes home now with a conviction that a really luxurious sort of negligee is quite as essential to her happiness at school as a gymnasium uniform or a tennis outfit.

The negligee shown is one of the rather sophisticated looking new ones of the sort that appeals to the young woman nowadays. It is made of mauve and purple satin trimmed with silk fringe.

Women have borrowed from men the idea of having their tailored jackets made to do double duty—that is, two skirts with but a single coat between them. And the idea is a rather good one, since one short jacket will usually remain in good condition for the time that it takes two skirts to grow shabby. The idea is especially good now that it is smart to wear skirts and jackets of different materials. You can have a black rep jacket made with a black skirt as well as a skirt of fine black and gray striped material.

Many women feel that the fashion for striking handbags has passed. The handbag should be very good looking but should be chosen to match a darker or neutral tone of the costume. Thus it is that in the hands of really well-dressed women we see fewer of the bright green and violet hued handbags than was the case some months ago.

Keep Baby's Skin Soft as Velvet

Prevent and Relieve Eczema

Mrs. Albert Bishop, 38 Laplanche St., Amherst, N.S., writes:—"In one week my baby was entirely relieved of eczema by the use of two boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment. He had sores all over his back."

EVERYWHERE Dr. Chase's Ointment is known and appreciated by mothers who have with gratitude witnessed the benefit it has brought to their suffering children.

Chafing and cracking of the skin is often the beginning of eczema. The trouble develops where two surfaces of skin rub together—as in the neck, armpits or between the legs of fleshy infants.

Dr. Chase's Ointment applied after the bath brings relief from this condition and prevents eczema.

HOME NURSING COURSE USEFUL

Trained Woman Link Between Scientists and Housewives.

LONDON, Ont.; May 1 (Canadian Press).—"We can thank God we live where we do; we may not have cathedrals here, but we do have bathrooms." Dr. F. W. Routley, director of the Ontario division of the Canadian Red Cross Society, said to the Women's Canadian Clubs. "The well-trained nurse is the backbone of public health," Dr. Routley said. "She is the link between the scientific processes of public health measures and the public that has to use these." He told of the public health nursing courses established at a number of Canadian universities; of the founding of nursing outposts; the establishment of T.B. traveling clinics, now financed in a large measure by their own districts, and the instruction of thousands of women in home nursing, a study which will, before long, he thought, be added to the regular school curriculum.

Referring to the Junior Red Cross as one of the very important phases of the work, Dr. Routley said: "Terrific as are our social diseases, if you could take every child out of school with a health conscience you would go a long way toward doing away with these diseases completely."

WOMEN DISCUSS RIGHT TO CAREER

Lady Lawyer From Paris is the Guest of Quebec Suffrage Committee.

MONTREAL, Que.; May 3 (Canadian Press).—Miss Dorothy Hencker of this city who, though fully qualified as a lawyer, may not use the term in this province, but has to call herself "a legal lady," welcomed a woman lawyer of Paris at a luncheon tendered by the Provincial Suffrage Committee to Madame Suzanne Grinberg, vice-president of the Women's Franchise Union, in France. The gathering was composed of both French and English-speaking women to the number of about sixty, the former predominating.

Mrs. E. T. Sampson, the English president of the committee, spoke of the accusations of sentiment levelled at women, but said that in their campaign for the franchise, women of this province had approached the legislators with reason and logic, but had been answered with sentiment, thus demonstrating the reverse of what masculine opinion holds.

Self-determination for women in the matter of careers was the point stressed by Mrs. John Scott, who claimed that there should be no obstacle raised when a woman wished to become a lawyer or an architect. "We object to the paternal attitude of men, who say, "yes, dear, you may be a doctor, but not a lawyer.' Marriage should be the chief calling of a woman, provided she secured 'a good man,'" Mrs. Scott affirmed, but she declared that there was not enough of any sort to go around, and that, therefore, women should not be hampered in the choice of careers.

Mme. Grinberg said: "Men have shown lack of reason in speaking about women's lack of reason. Both men and women may be successful in law if they will work hard or if they are lucky." She attributed her own success to her willingness to work, both as a student and in independent practice. On the eve of war, she said, there were 30 women lawyers in France, where there are now about 200.

CANADIAN PLANTS FOR BYNG GARDEN

More Than 1,500 Varieties Planted at Thorpe Hall.

LONDON, May 3 (Canadian Press) —Over 1,500 different Canadian plants and shrubs have been planted at Thorpe Hall, near Claxton-on-Sea, where the ex-Governor-General of Canada, Viscount Byng, resides with Lady Byng. Since their return to Thorpe, Lady Byng has made wonderful changes in the grounds in front of the house. She is an enthusiastic gardener, and a "Daily News" representative found her busy in the grounds.

There is a large lake, where various Canadian waterfowl are rapidly making themselves at home. Not far away a noisy waterfall feeds two smaller lakes, and stepping-stones, little islands and natural haunts make up a beautiful picture. Everywhere there are strange and peculiar plants, some taken from the Canadian prairies and dropped into quiet Essex soil; some sent by Canadian friends, and many brought by Lady Byng herself from Canada.

The much-talked-about swamp frogs have not arrived yet. They are coming from Ontario, and a nice swampy piece of ground awaits their arrival.

Walking among the trees one constantly sees nesting boxes conveniently placed.

SAFEGUARDING MILK BY PASTEURIZATION

(Report of M.H.O., Toronto, Continued from Saturday)

Furthermore, the cases of tuberculosis that develop in even certified herds during the course of the year, have been found to range from 5 per cent. to 25 per cent. A striking example of this occurred in November, 1914, when it was found that 191 tuberculous cows were taken out of a herd of 632 animals. This was one of the most celebrated certified herds in the United States.

The extent to which tuberculosis exists in all dairy herds is much greater than is generally supposed. In one herd in the United States in December, 1914, 72 tuberculous cows were found in a herd of 86. This was a "model" dairy where every expense and precaution had been taken, but was not a certified herd. Our Department of Public Health veterinarians advise us that from 25 per cent. to 35 per cent. of the cattle supplying milk to Toronto are tuberculous. Approximately 30 per cent. of the dairy cattle in New York State are suffering from tuberculosis and about 40 per cent. in Europe.

It is, therefore, now the consensus of opinion of health authorities that even certified milk should be scientifically pasteurized before being used as food for infants. It would, therefore, seem that we are left no alternative. If we are to safeguard our entire milk supply it must all be scientifically pasteurized.

PASTEURIZATION.

The history of pasteurization dates back to the studies made by Louis Pasteur from 1860 to 1864, in connection with wines and beer, which revealed the fact that the diseases of wines were caused by yeast and bacteria, and that this yeast and bacteria could be killed by the heating of the wines to from 50 to 60 centigrade, for a few minutes. In 1868, under Pasteur's instructions, a cargo of wine that had been submitted to this treatment, was sent around the world on a ship and returned to Paris without any of it having spoiled.

In 1870 Pasteur studied the disease in beer, and found that the organisms causing this were destroyed at a temperature between 50 and 55 centigrade.

An Ex-Buck Private Goes Back to France

Lots of Corners on Liner Just Right for Harmonizing.

It's not so perplexing when an experienced soldier gets over into the sacred territory of the navee if he'll just figure it out.

To change the hours into bells on shipboard all he need do is multiply the number of revolutions of the ship's screw per minute with the number of his cabin, added to his street address at home. This result, divided by his regimental number (halved if it was a box-car) gives the bells desired. The player is also entitled to three times the value of the trick.

In the matter of port and starboard: port is the right side of the ship when one stands facing the prow, and starboard is left, or vice versa. In case one is facing aft, port is left and starboard right, or vice versa. If it can be remembered that port is just opposite from starboard in every case, the same as aft is opposite from forward, no possible confusion can arise.

O! the Cavalry, the Cavalry,
With dirt behind their ears;
They couldn't lick the Infantry
In a hundred thousand years.

D'ye remember singing that as we lay below-decks on one of the ships of a convoy ploughing up the foamy lather on the blue of the Atlantic in the neighborhood of the Gulf Stream back in '14, '15, '16? And then you eased out of your bunk (or one of those hip-wearing hammocks) and went up on deck for a breath of air. You were quartered forward, and you argued with the guard about going aft. What didn't we argue about? And if you were like me, Mac, you got two days in the smelly, sea-sick hold — just for telling a new-made sergeant to wash his ears.

We learned rapidly, though, that it's more pleasant in the army to get things by subterfuge than by fighting. There was, for instance, the buck who was always hungry. He noted that the batmen waited on table for the officers' mess, and that their only distinguishing mark was a napkin carried over the left arm. He slid into line, borrowed one of these white bandages, and presented himself for a tray of food at the kitchen. He ordered a regular dinner, not having seen the menu, and the steaming viands were placed on a tray. He took it, returned the napkin, and went out on deck. Then and there he had the first good meal of that trip over. He worked that stunt every day till the ship docked, and he kept the stunt secret. In fact, his face has been censored out of the picture, because even yet he might suffer (he thinks) if the higher command found out.

The surprising and the unusual feature of this trip across is the chow. It seems so unreal to sit down and order the best of everything the ship's larder offers. The promenades about the decks with new-found friends are wonderfully interesting—the springy bunks are comforting—the entertainments are interesting—the deck games are exciting—the ship's pool is very refreshing. All these points of appeal have their merit, but the eating predominates all.

As we near France I am debating to what part of the battlefields I should go first. Not that it matters much. A man could not walk across the old line anywhere between Steenstrat on the Yser Canal and Noyon on the Oise River without treading ground over which the Canadian troops fought and marched and counter-marched, and threw the butts of their "Ruby Queens" and "Oros." You know, Mac, we never boasted much, but since I have had the opportunity to read the official statements of the Allied leaders I begin to think we were some aggregation! Do you remember the black spring of 1918, when Fritz made his last effort and crumpled the line? Do you remember (can you ever forget?) how we "stood-to" night after night ready to be thrown in as a last hope—and how eventually we spread ourselves over the landscape at Arras when Heinie was within three miles of the city? Well, here's what Doug Haig said:

"In all the dark days of the fighting — and God knows they have been dark enough—I have had one comforting thought, that we still had the Canadian corps. I knew we could never be beaten until the old corps which had never failed had been put out of the fight."

Foch was well aware, too, of our existence. "Foch's Pets" they called us when he said of us. "Toujours vainqueur, jamais vaincu."

And speedy! It was no wonder Brother Bosche hated the Canucks. I read the other day an official German statement given in 1918 in which he had magnified his enumeration of the Canadian corps units to the strength of about three armies, including no less than 26 machine gun battalions. We MUST have been mobile!

Boasting? Nunno! I'm just telling you.

Well, Mac, I feel like I used to just before zero hour. All funny inside. You know; you've been there. You don't know what's ahead of you, but you're on your way. I've been thinking of the places we knew so well, and wondering whether I'll know them; wanting to see them, and not wishing to anti-climax the memory I have of them. Does the old tower still stick up above Mont S. Eloy? What is left of the old White Chateau at Lievin that Fritz shelled every day at 9 ak emma and 4 pip emma? Does a new Poziers crown the ridge, and has the sugar factory been rebuilt? Are there any boets on Zillebeke Lake?

Only a few days now, and I'll be able to tell you. I'm not out to make any tactical survey, or criticize commands—I'm going to look for the little homely touches that were so familiar to you and me. And I have already, in commencing this pilgrimmage, found a new delight in realizing that the old Canadian corps still lives through the Canadian Legion and in the militia—both of which should exist to keep alive the spirit of those other days.

Matinee Ladies

BY William B. Courtney

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, a poor college student, working as a dancing partner for rich women, falls in love with Sally Smith, a cigarette girl. She warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the roadhouse, who finds her "thrill" in "hunting" Bob, who, however, trusts her. She offers him free use of her secret apartment. Bob talks it over with Sally, but quarrels bitterly with her when she refuses to send back a gift of clothes from Mannion, a rival suitor. He leaves in a huff, determined to go to Mrs. Hammond.

His mind made up, Bob resolutely hopped a bus, after consulting the address Mrs. Hammond had given him, and started downtown. At 57th Street and Fifth Avenue he alighted, and walked two blocks east to Park Avenue. The apartment house was about a block and a half south of there; he found it without any trouble. A mammoth, opulent, ornate hive in the line of a whole wide avenue full of luxurious hives. Good heavens, the money represented on this Park Avenue! Why, a man with only $100,000 a year income would be a poor man here! Bob boyishly fell to romantically thinking of the day when he would live in the grandest of these grand apartments—by virtue of his princely income as the country's—nay, the world's!—foremost engineer.

But that was the future. Here, in the stark present, was the gilded entrance of the apartment house corresponding to the address Mrs. Hammond had given him! Oh, gosh, the magnificence of the place frightened him. The dignity of the mammoth, beribboned and beuniformed doorman overawed him. Bob halted on the sidewalk directly in front of the entrance, and surveyed it tentatively, debating in his mind whether or not he really ought to go in. Now that he was at a crisis of his decision, he faltered, like a man who has walked bravely under a cold shower bath, only to shrink back from the first contact with the water.

Bob caught a positively baleful look from the suspicious doorman.

The doorman was glaring at him suspiciously. Bob couldn't think comfortably while he was being stared at in that manner. He'd walk around a bit, and ponder. He did so. Then, upon approaching the entrance again, still dubious, he was more than ever the mark for the doorman's vigilant, fishy eye.

"Gee, I can't go in now, after stalling around like this. He'll surely think I'm a yeggman!"

Bob walked by, whistling to camouflage his feelings, and resolved to come back a little later, when the major-domo would in all probability have forgotten this incident.

He sought a cheap restaurant over on Lexington Avenue, a block to the east. Funny how the blocks change in New York, he reflected, as he settled on a stool to his supper of a plate of soup and platter of beans: one block millionaires, next block paupers. It was just like in society, like in life; the step between the two classes wasn't so very difficult, after all. It was largely a trick, and a matter of getting the "breaks." It would be fun fighting, working, for the "break"—and then taking little Sally Smith up to great wealth with him!

For Sally Smith, resent her actions and attitude though he may, always slipped back into his consciousness when he began to dream. She naturally fitted into his hopes and plans for the future. It was significant. After all, he probably had been a bit too quick-tempered with her. He had not given her any chance to explain. Perhaps there was a good reason why she had got those clothes from Mannion. Her mother, Bob knew, favored Mannion. Suddenly it occurred to Bob very significantly—and he cursed himself as a dunce for not having thought of it before—that no doubt Sally's mother had had a hand in Mannion's munificence.

He felt, over his coffee and pie, to betting himself that if he went back to talk things over more rationally, more coolly, with Sally, he would find that everything was perfectly on the level.

He sauntered from the lunch room, with half a mind to each of two things; either to go to Sally first and conclude his discussion with her in a sensible way, or postpone another call upon Sally until after he had definitely gone up to see Mrs. Hammond and accept her proposition.

Walking slowly, thinking, he reached the apartment house again at length; and again he stopped, undecided. See Mrs. Hammond, or see Sally first—which?

Bob, looking up suddenly, caught a positively baleful look from the suspicious doorman. Abruptly, Bob turned and hurried away—his mind made up. There was no doorman outside Sally Smith's home!

Some time later, when he rang for the second time that evening, the bell on the Smith house, it was Mrs. Smith herself who answered the signal.

"Sally is not at home. She's gone out for the evening with Mr. Mannion!" she snapped, in answer to Bob's timid question. It gave her a great deal of pleasurable triumph to be able to tell Bob that; and to be able, immediately thereafter, to slam the door in his face and thus preclude any further questions.

Bob turned and descended the steps slowly. He was plunged in misery and uncertainty again. Heavy-hearted, he wondered where she had gone with Mannion. Perhaps the answer to that question would provide him with a clue as to the harmlessness, or otherwise, of the clothes gift and of the evening's event.

He encountered, providentially, one of the Smith boys on the sidewalk near the house, evidently returning from an errand. It cost Bob a dollar as a bribe—but the information he got was worth any expenditure.

"Yeh, Mister, I know where she and Mr. Mannion's gone. They went to a party at Miss Revere's!"

CHAPTER XV.

A party at Mazie Revere's was no small or mean event in the gay night life of New York. True, it was more apt to be reported in TOWN TOPICS than in the society notes of the EVENING POST. But it was also true that, although the hostess was not listed in the Social Register, every dowager's son of her male guests was. Indeed, they would have to be—to get on Mazie's envied mailing list!

Mazie's was one of those places where a prominent banker or broker who know an equally prominent banker or broker in Wall Street during the day as Jones, would encounter him frolicking here under the name of "Brown." Not that secrecy was at all necessary at Mazie's; only the novitiates resorted to it, in fact. Anyhow, Mazie knew who they all really were, so there was no purpose in nom-de-plumes after the first guilty feeling had worn off.

For crass wealth alone was not enough to win a sportively inclined clubman inclusion on Mazie's mailing list. His honest-to-goodness blue blood, and the number and exclusiveness of the clubs he belonged to, had to outweigh his "pile of rocks," as Mazie was wont to refer to material wealth.

"Them birds with real social prestige," Mazie would often philosophize to Madame Leonine and other of her lady friends, "is less liable to raise ructions if they get wise that they have had their legs pulled. You know, family honor and the old Yale spirit keeps their traps closed. But them common new rich fellows, like bootleggers and pickle wart makers, gee! they're liable to mash in a girl's face."

Therefore, the nouveau rich knew not Mazie's hospitality.

On the night when Sally and Tom went to Mazie's, they and the others fortunate enough to be among those present were treated to a display of her talent for bizarre and colorful entertainment at its lavish best.

Among the novelties that kept a dozen of the best clubmen in New York away from the best clubs in New York, were a dozen of the most beautiful girl dancers Mazie had been able to beg, borrow or steal from her wide acquaintance with cabaret and chorus managers. These young persons of charm and pulchritude were gracefully disported through the various rooms as living statues, wearing costumes—or, rather, a lack of costumes—that would have stopped any musical show in town.

SURE EARTHWORMS SING

If you don't believe that earthworms have voices and use them, tiptoe into the garden some warm summer evening, says Dr. Rudolph Ruedemann, of the New York State Museum, Albany, in a statement in Popular Science Monthly, confirming observations of German scientist, Prof. O. Mangold.

Listening one evening in the garden, Dr. Ruedemann observed "a chorus of almost unbelievably small voices." Aided by a flashlight, he caught several worms in the act of "singing." The worms, he thinks, make these noises by dragging their minute bristles over the edges of their holes in the ground.

BACTERIA IN THE MOVIES

Deadly bacteria took their turn as movie actors in amazing films recently exhibited by Dr. H. J. Gerstenberger, of Cleveland, Ohio. "Cold light," developed expressly for this form of microphotography, made possible his remarkable pictures, according to Popular Science Monthly.

Motion pictures of bacteria hitherto have been impossible because the intense heat of the ordinary moving picture light source instantly killed all germs in its path. In taking the new pictures, a current of ice water was arranged to flow beneath the glass slide bearing the living bacteria, to filter out the heat from the powerful light.

Conditions Governing Tickets For The New Free 'Whippet'

In connection with the NEW "WHIPPET" COACH which we are giving away absolutely FREE, we respectfully beg to advise that each person is entitled to ONE ticket only.

If anyone signs more than one ticket their tickets obviously will be nullified.

Each day's tickets are being carefully checked, and it has already come to our notice that a few have signed two tickets, due, very likely, to the fact that two instead of one had been handed to them by mistake.

If anyone remembers having signed two tickets, please advise us so that the mistake may be rectified.

We are giving this car away absolutely FREE and unconditionally, and we are extremely anxious that everyone be given a fair and even chance.

In order to have an opportunity to win this car the person filling in the ticket must be present.

All the cards in connection with the contest will be thoroughly investigated before the car is delivered, so that if anyone who, for any reason whatever, does not qualify according to the rules it must be understood that the car will not be delivered to them.

The Motor Exhibit will continue every day and evening of this week. The public are cordially invited to attend.

THE EDUCATION OF CHILDREN

(By J. H. Burnham.)

If there is one thing more pitiful than another it is the hopeless agony of poor young boys and girls unable to support the burden of life. The burden of life is usually supposed to be the burden of providing the necessaries of life, but in this case it is beyond doubt the burden of studies which have led these youths and maidens to self-destruction. This is a fast age. It rejoices in that fact, and yet it has eternity before it if it is not content with that portion of eternity called "time." It is so excruciatingly silly and so utterly sinful for people who ought to know better, and do know better to hurry on their sons and daughters in that head rivalry which modern life has given rise to. It is all so unnecessary and so useless. Hurry is no guide to learning. In fact, knowledge of any kind, practical or theoretical, cannot be acquired through hurry. The upset of the nervous system alone would preclude the possibility of doing so and yet knowing that, and knowing that the greatest intellects of all time sought retirement and quiet in order that they might bring forth the great works which have made them immortal. They push on. This frightful burden of studies and the hopeless future before the young minds have produced a depression and a despair which, in sensitive natures, is bound to end in a breakdown and often as we see in suicide. Every day the statement that truth lies between extremes becomes more certain and every day the extreme of hurry, prevailing as it does, in these wretched days over all forms of deliberation and caution has proven by the ghastly results of self-destruction that slowness is no reproach, but often a necessity.

The great characteristic of this age, and, we may say, of our present system of education on this continent, is superficiality. Hurry in the parent of superficiality.

America has few original thinkers, it is admitted. The few she has are nearly all foreign-born. They will not take time to think, or even to eat.

It has been the wonder of older countries as set forth so frankly in the preface to the American astronomer, Mitchell's "Astronomy," that the U.S. (and Canada) have so little originality, and have produced little but disciples, exploiters and imitators. Child-suicide, therefore, is directly traceable to hurry, and hurry is directly traceable to a belief that this life "ends all", and that if we do not go fast, someone else will go faster and beat us out. No one who believed in the continuance of life after death would worry so about this one. Nature will not be trifled with, and any attempt to hurry her is fatal, even to keep up with the Joneses.

There was never a time when mere "appearances" so dominated the world. Spiritual powers are finding it difficult to stem the tide. A cry has been launched upon the world for help to restrain the unrestrained.

Common prints satisfy people now, where formerly beautiful steel engravings were demanded. This is so typical an instance that it is unnecessary to cite others. The spread of fashion to the great masses of the people has no doubt cheapened it. Formerly the "quality" reserved to themselves the right and privilege of tasteful things Now it is the "quantity" that must be looked to. In time no doubt the quantity will be come quality, and the cheap and vulgar will develop into the good and true. That will be, however, when democracy has had time to develop taste. Hence, we need not despair. Cheapness and general distribution really indicate the innate love of "nice things" in human nature, and the grotesque in music (jazz) will take the grotesque in art (impressionism and cubism) yield to the more intellectual and the higher grades. When this takes place we may look for less "hustle" and finer work in everything. Individuality will be restored and instead of as at present, with everybody looking the same as everybody else and people will cultivate individual taste the more, with the result that a higher kind of culture, a true culture, will rule, where at present a merely meretricious desire for sameness and flash, the latter being the true product of hurry or hustle, characterises the general taste. Then grown-ups and children will both regain their poise and the painful tendency to child suicide will disappear. The haste of these days has precluded originality and that is why we depend upon the ancients in all branches of philosophy, literature and art. Much of what is called science is mere invention or discovery and while it dazzles us with its results, it only tends to hurry us the more. Science and culture are foes, not friends. We no longer walk in quiet contemplation. We must fly. Human nature cannot endure such haste and thus beyond doubt has arisen the extraordinary development of cancer and other diseases directly traceable to a physical nature unable to endure the strain we put upon it. Native races and simple peoples are not so affected.

HEART BEATS TOO FAST, BLAMES BAD STOMACH

"I had stomach gas bad, making my heart beat too fast and causing weak, nervous spells. Adlerika relieved me right from the first dose." —L. Smith.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis a diseases due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Doctors Praise Adlerika

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities ware eliminated from my system."

Dr. F. M. P. (name withheld by request): "I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose."

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists.

In Peterboro at McDermid & Jury and other druggists.

When Henry VIII was given by a stock company at Hobart, Tasmania, recently, it was the first time that the Shakespearean play was ever produced in Australia.

BOARD PROPOSES INCREASE IN PAY

Majority Recommends Four Cents, With C.N.R. Member Favoring Two.

OTTAWA, May 3.— (Canadian Press).—A minority report by Peter White, K.C., Toronto, company's representative on the conciliation board which considered the wage dispute between the Canadian National Railways and certain of its employees, recommends an increase of two cents per hour for hourly rated employees and an equivalent increase to monthly rated employees. This recommendation is in opposition to the majority report published on Saturday, recommending an increase of four cents per hour to hourly rated employees and a proportionate increase to monthly rated workers.

Mr. White agrees, however, with the recommendation in the majority report for an additional increase of "one half cent per hour for hourly rated employees and the equivalent to monthly rated employees", to remove inequalities between different groups of the same class of employees, "particularly between certain employees on the old Grand Trunk system and the rest of the system."

ST. ANDREW'S ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.

St. Andrew's United Church was attended by two large congregations last Sunday morning and evening, when Rev. James Rollins of Renfrew, and a former pastor of St. Andrew's, preached anniversary sermons. His text in the morning was "They shall mount up on wings as eagles," and coupled with this, "With a great price obtained I this freedom." The sermon was a study of how by battle, struggle and faith in God man overcomes all obstacles and finally emerges triumphant. It was a truly great sermon.

In the evening taking "Joseph" as his subject Mr. Rollins proceeded in a most searching way to probe the deep recesses of the human heart, and to show the way to safe high living.

Many old friends from all over the city were present and crowded about Mr. Rollins at the close of the service to greet him and to hear his kindly word of remembrance.

The choir provided splendid music for the day.

SALVATION ARMY TEMPLE.

The services this week-end have been of special character in that we celebrated the forty-second anniversary of the establishment of the Salvation Army in this city. Major Thompson Walton who, some 15 years ago, was the officer in charge here, was with us and led the services. Commencing Saturday evening, in each service messages were read from former officers of the corps, from the many who have left the city and are now laboring in various fields of Salvation Army activities, from the leading citizens of the city, the Rotary club, the Kiwanis club, and Commissioner Maxwell, the territorial commander for Canada East, in fact, messages from Montreal, Edmonton (Alta.), Winnipeg, Toronto, Boston (Mass.), Manitoulin Island, Hamilton and Penelon Falls.

Commissioner Maxwell.—"I congratulate you on your forty-second birthday. The Salvation Army has been owned and blessed of God in the city of Peterboro'. The Army is making history—the history is not for a day or for a year, but for eternity. What a privilege we must count it to have a part in this history-making. Let all your efforts—direct or indirect—lead to bringing about a new era in the souls of men and women who have not yet been 'born again.'

"We are looking forward to seeing you in a week's time.

"Stand by the flag! Keep up the Bible and the army standards! Fight the good fight of faith! Hold fast to the end."

His Worship the Mayor, W. T. Holloway.—"I understand that the Salvation Army will celebrate the forty-second anniversary of the invasion of this city by the Army on April 30 and May 1.

"Perhaps I should not say invasion, but rather theinvasion of the forces that make for evil, and during the 42 years that your Army has been in Peterboro' it has done excellent work in the fight inaugurated by its great founder. It would be impossible to calculate the good it has done and the people it has aided."

His Honor E. C. S. Huycke.—"Best of all, however, is the great series of good works it has accomplished during the past years. Of course, I have not known it for all those years, but from what I have heard, as well as seen, I can testify to the great and good work done by the Salvation Army in Peterboro'. I congratulate you and all your officers, past and present, on the great success attending your efforts through all these years and hope your success and usefulness may be even greater in the future than in the past."

The Chief Constable.—"During those long years, many of which I have seen, your splendid results are on hand and in almost every part of the city I see men and women grown, who, but for the tireless efforts of the Army, would still be leading a wasted life—now they are a credit to the city."

The Rotary Club, President A. L. Kiflaly.—"Would you kindly accept congratulations from the Rotary Club on this occasion. We should also like to extend our best wishes for your continued success in the good work your organization is doing in our midst."

The Kiwanis Club, President I. P. McNabb.—"MIy be permitted to offer my sincere congratulations on your anniversary. The work of the Salvation Army speaks for itself. The fact that every citizen, irrespective of denomination, has nothing but good to say of your great organization must be a source of joy to you and all your members. Every member of the Kiwanis club joins me in wishing you well."

The Canadian Legion, President C. H. Ackerman.—The faithful and diligent way in which you have performed the task of assisting both spiritually and materially so many people in this locality during the years of your operations, has contributed very materially toward the success that the city of Peterboro' enjoys as a municipality."

The Hon. G. N. Gordon.—"During the many years I have known the activities of the Army in Peterboro', I have always held the view that we possessed no greater organization for good and for the well-being of the community than the Army.

"I trust that the Army's activities will continue to grow and that it will be endorsed with the most hearty and unselfish support that the people of this city can give."

Major McElheney.—"Another milestone passed—new year ahead, may it be the brightest and best for the Kingdom and the Army."

These are paragraphs from a few of the messages read.

The meeting, held in the Capitol theatre after the ordinary services on Sunday evening, was addressed by Major Walton, who gave glimpses of the social work of the Army in Canada East. The major is at present responsible for the operations connected with the Army's work amongst the prisoners in the various prisons and penitentiaries in Eastern Canada, and gave the following interesting facts: "That officers of the Army regularly visit Burwash, Guelph, Mimico, Dorchester Jail, St. Paul, Montreal and Kingston. Figures computed for 1926 showed:

Interviews held with prisoners, 7,415; spoken for at court, 932; handed over to the Salvation Army, 198; remanded, care of the Salvation Army, 166; meals supplied to prisoners on release, 4,658; beds supplied to prisoners on release, 1,095; pieces of clothing, 1,332; hours spent by officers in courts, 8,261; employment found for discharged prisoners, 196.

The following statistics are of the work connected with the larger penitentiaries of this province: Prisoners interviewed, 14,058; prisoners met on discharge, 1,953; employment found, 206. Meetings held in prisons, 1,073; attendance, 8,750. Professed conversion, 189; hours spent in prison work by officers, 12,645.

In the city of Toronto, during 1926, 654 families of prisoners were supplied with food, $1,139.25 was paid in rents for prisoners' families, $875 in Christmas gifts.

There also were 192 members of the Brighter Day League, members of which are serving terms of imprisonment, but have accepted Christ and are faithfully endeavoring to follow His footsteps, and on release from prison to be better citizens.

There is also another section of the work that Major Walton has charge of, that of the Missing Friends' Bureau. This enables those who have lost trace of relatives and friends to trace their whereabouts through the medium of the Salvation Army, and no matter how long the absence and the distance, every effort is made to find the missing ones. In 1926 the bureau was successful in tracing 117 individuals out of 538 applications made.

Then, again, there is relief work, and in Toronto baskets of food, made up for an average of five per family and valued at anything from $2.85 to $3.75, were distributed to 2,082 families. Five thousand, one hundred and sixty-two pieces of clothing were also given the needy. Casual employment was found for 5,538 men. One hundred and seventeen families in distress through unemployment were assisted, while at Christmas 950 baskets were given to specially needy families.

In the brief outline I have given you, the major concluded, you will see the necessity of assisting the Salvation Army in its great self-denial campaign that it is at present engaged in.

Envoy Rushton, of Belleville, who is inspector of the Children's Aid Society, a visitor in the city, also lauded the activities of the Army, making special mention of the assistance given in some of the difficult cases that come under his notice.

Musical items, rendered by the band, and the solos of Mrs. Mendell Braund, made the programme complete.

That the forty-second birthday of the local corps was a success reflects considerable credit on the present officers of the corps adjutant and Mrs. Ham.

EARLY START IN STUDY OF MUSIC

Children Should Begin About Time They Start School.

EAGER TO LEARN THEN.

It is an established fact that the most fluent linguists are those who learned foreign languages in their babyhood. Why do we not realize that the same is true regarding the language of music? A child of 5½ or 6 is not too young to study music, provided a good teacher can be found. By a good teacher is meant one who specializes in beginners, and who, where possible, gives class work as well as private lessons.

Those early years are the acquisitive age—the time when children take in things with especial readiness—and as such they should be used to advantage. The capacity to absorb information develops much earlier than people realize, and is particularly strong at about six years of age. The elements of music, when clearly and interestingly explained, are quite within the grasp of the average child. It is only adult lack of faith and ignorance of modern methods of teaching, that make the study of music seem a subject beyond childish comprehension. The grown-up with memories of dull and endless hours associated with music study should see a present-day class of small beginners playing and singing and writing music, as naturally and as happily as they repeat poetry or follow graceful dancing steps.

When Starting School.

At the start of the first year of school work is a fine time to begin music lessons. The child is learning to read, interpret, and write English, and the new language of music is taken up much more naturally at this time. Some maintain that it is too much to expect a child to begin both school and music in the same year. This is not usually the case, for the child is eager for the new impressions. When music is presented along with the first work in number, reading and writing, he takes to it readily and easily. The new symbols he meets with are no more strange or difficult than those which represent number or language, and he grasps their meaning with a sureness and speed that surprise the incredulous adult.

When the child is started in piano work at 10 years of age or older, it is apt to seem "babyish" to him. The content of the music is so far below that of any subject which he is studying that there is a tendency to become discouraged and to lose interest. However, the small child, playing the very same things, would be proud of his achievement, and would be doing work appropriate to his years, and to his length of study. His work in music will parallel his work in school; it will be of similar interest and difficulty. The tiny stories in reading are full of thrill and the 8 or 16-measure tune is as complete in its way and as satisfying both to the small performer and to the listener.

As music deals with hearing sight and touch the child should have the advantage of beginning his study when small ears eyes and fingers are alert and meeting the unknown with joy.

When Home Work Is Light.

Older boys and girls have so many outside interests that time for music becomes a problem and the start should be made while there is little or no home work to be prepared for school and more time for practice. There will also be fewer of the corollary activities that make modern school life so enjoyable but fill the child's all to-few free hours.

Early years are also the habit-forming period. Through music study the child learns the physical habits of sitting well and of good hand position. Mentally he is trained in concentration. As a part of his character development he learns the blessed habit of regular work willingly done. He also gains the ability to entertain others and the art of doing so graciously.

If the child begins when he is between 5 and 7 by the time he is 11 or 12 he has reached a point where a comparatively small amount of practice will keep him progressing. His music will be a pleasure to others and he will be advanced enough to enjoy and appreciate it himself. If he is at all talented he will voluntarily find time for his practice.

The age at which the child should begin to study may be largely dependent on his physical and mental development. This by no means implies an exceptional child but simply normal physical stamina and mental alertness. The idea of some mothers that "Nancy cannot study music she is too nervous" is usually a sign that Nancy is spoiled and uncontrolled. In the needed concentration of practice Nancy will very likely forget to fuss and soon the joy of playing and singing will be so delightful a form of expressing the bubbling energy that the cherished symptoms will disappear.

The old notion that a child must be able to reach an octave before he begins work at the piano is long since exploded. The material used in these days for young beginners is very simple and musical usually a melodic line divided between the hands. The more arduous technical work is not introduced until the child is prepared for it by both musical experience and bodily growth.

When shall your child begin the study of music? If he is six years old and normal the answer is—now!

The ABOVE pictures are of particular interest in view of the reported murder in China by bandits of Rev. Morris Slichter and child of Toronto and the capture of his wife and other child, together with Miss I. M. Craig. The porch of Mr. Slichters residence at Anshun is shown on the occasion of the visit of an official of the governing body of the China Inland Mission. The pupils of the mission school are shown surrounding the group of people that compose the staff of the mission. From LEFT to RIGHT they are: A lady worker, Miss I. M. Craig, captured by bandits; Mrs. Slichter, also captured, holding her daughter, murdered; Mrs. Fish, wife of the doctor in charge of the mission hospital; Mr. Warren, official of the headquarters at Shanghai; Mr. E. S. Fish, head of the hospital, holding his daughter, Priscilla; Rev. Morris Slichter, murdered, holding his son, John, captured, and Dr. D. W. Rees, also with the hospital. Rev. General Trend Upward Continues At New York

NEW YORK, May 3 (Canadian Press).—Major speculative activity in today's stock market was again on the upside, although a number of new weak spots developed during the session. General Motors continued in brisk demand, touching $195 a share by early afternoon. Most of the other motors improved in sympathy, and there were several points of strength in the oil, food, mercantile, public utilities, and steel groups.

Grain Market Is Stronger Crop Reports Less Favorable

CHICAGO, May 3. Canadian Press—Influenced by reports of less favorable prospects for spring wheat in the northwest and the continued large consumption of bread stuffs abroad, wheat scored a fresh early advance to-day. Liverpool quotations much higher than were looked for, gave additional encouragement to the buyers. Starting unchanged to 7-8c higher wheat ascended all around. Corn, oats and provisions also developed strength, corn opening unchanged to ⅛c up and later showing a general advance.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May, 138 5-8; July 133¼; corn, May 74⅝, July 80 1-8; oats, May 47¼, July 47 7-8.

Unlisted Stocks Are Strong Scoring Large Advances

TORONTO, May 3. Canadian Press — Heavy dealing in International Nickel on the listed, and Kirkland Lake, Noranda, Seagrams and Hiram Walker on the unlisted markets, featured to-day's session on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

The market generally was firm and gains outnumbered recessions. Nickel gained ½ at 56½, Noranda was up 36 at 22.75. Seagram gained 38 at 25 1-8 and Hiram Walker was down ½ at 8¼. British American Oil (new) was down ¼ at 27½. While there were many minor transactions in other isues, the bulk of the trading took place in the small group of stocks mentioned. The new issue of Massey Harris received some attention, 70 shares changing hands at 37. Imperial gained ¼ at 44¼ on small lot. International Petroleum declined ⅛ at 30½ also on a small sale.

Prices Remain Firm Many Issues Are Stronger

TORONTO, May 3 (Canadian Press).—Business was brisk on the Standard Mining Exchange today and a wide range of issues was dealt in. Prices were firm for the most part, gains outnumbering losses. Argonaut Consolidated gained 3½ to 46. Chaput Hughes was ⅝ higher at 12⅝. Columbus Kirk was ⅛ higher at 4½, and Consolidated West Dome Lake gained ¾ at 8¼. Corona, with a decline of one point at 18, was one of the weaker issues. Kirkland Lake, down three at 134, and McKinley Darragh, down 1-8 at 16, were also on the lower side of the list. Amulet, in the unlisted stocks, showed a gain of 25 at 116, while Osiko, which had been a feature of the market lately, showed a gain of ten at 100.

Outstanding Reports From Two Silver Mines

(From the Financial Post Syndicate.)

Among the many reports issued by mining companies during the past week there were two outstanding ones, those of Nipissing and Mining Corporation. These are the two largest silver producers of the Cobalt camp. Taking their reports at their face value, the picture presented is not encouraging. In fact, without a background of understanding and a knowledge of the ramifications of the two companies, the first conclusion would be that the stocks are a sale. But when one understands these two companies the reports are more easily understood and a different impression is gained.

The writer cannot help but think that the Nipissing report carried just about all the gloom that could be packed into it. It caused a flood of selling, but it is to be noted that there were eager buyers on hand to take up every share. They were not small buyers either as can be understood when one appreciates that $150,000 was put into this one stock in one trading session in the Toronto mining exchange. Mining Corporation report was much more favorable when compared with Nipissing's, and it may be that for the moment the directors went as far as justified in telling of the Manitoba developments. This stock, on the strength of the Manitoba results, has moved up 50 points recently.

Nipissing's Cobalt property is slipping materially, but it is believed that the poor showing of the past year's operations was much worse than the position of the mine warrants. The low price of silver was undoubtly a big factor in this. Mildly favorably is the way the report might be sized up in regard the Montbray-Quebec property which Nipissing has under option and on which three distinct zones have been discovered. The fact of the matter is, that the results obtained have been quite sensational, with high copper values and a high gold content, the latter around $20 per ton, over good widths and for material lengths. The report was given out that the results to date, while spotty, justify further exploration. Engineers who have been on the property state that sensational values were secured in many of the diamond drill holes, and that only about one in three holes were failures. This is remarkable when it is considered that the formation is buried under hundreds of feet of overburden.

In regard to Mining Corporation, the big interest is in the Flin Flon development in Northern Manitoba. The report to shareholders states that it is too early for definite results, yet the advance in the market is discounting already the expected good news. Our information is that Whitney interests erected to test out in, actual operation the metallurgical process evolved in the tests made at Denver, has resulted in an extraction 10 per cent better than expected. The ore is complex and the difficulty has been to recover the $5 in zinc. If this can be done the ore will average $14.30 per ton and it is known that there are 20,00,000 tons proven.

Our information is that the pilot mill shows an extraction of 90 per cent. This will make the operation very profitable, returning something like $3.50 per ton. The Whitney people have until August to close the option with Mining Corporation and the deal calls for the payment of $3,000,000 cash to Mining Corporation, which company also retails a 15 per cent interest. The development of this property means the expenditure of $20,000,000, of which $4,000,000 will be on railway construction, and an equal amount on power development and the balance in smelter and refinery costs and mining development.

The present flurry in International Nickel is due to a new development at Frood Mine, which on diamond drilling showed an ore body high in copper. That it will be a copper rather than a nickel copper mine is also shown by these results. With this announcement came the news of a decision to erect a copper smelter and refinery. This will be an electrolytic plant and the product will be electrolytic copper instead of blister copper as it is proposed to produce at Noranda in Quebec. It is understood that the diamond drills have indicated 25,000,000 tons of copper ore. The company is now sinking a deep shaft on the mine, and it will be at least two years before the production stage will be reached.

This, with the lead-zinc development going on at Chelmsford, will mean that about $20,000,000 will be spent in the Sudbury section this year. Big power development will be spent in the Sudbury section this year. Big pawer development will be necessary to run the new smelter of nickel and as the electrolytic process is the best to-day in treating zinc lead ores, it is likely that the large mill which Bunker Hill Sullivan will erect at Chelmsford, will also require a large amount of power. Judging from the large plants which Consolidated Smelters has erected at Trail, B. C., to treat copper, zinc and lead ores, it is safe to predict that an estimate of an expenditure of $20,000,000 will be a conservative one. It is also to be noted that in handling its various ventures in 1926, Smelters paid wages totalling $7,100,000.

Quite a flurry took place in Dome stock this week. The reason is believed to be that some favorable indications have been secured in diamond drilling in the Chelmsford area.

BRITAIN SEEKS UNITED ACTION

Also Considers Acting Alone in Seeking Reparations For Nanking.

WAR LEADERS CONFER.

LONDON, May 3. Canadian Press.—The British government is still trying to reach an agreement with the other powers involved in the Chinese crisis, the British United Press learns, while at the same time the possibility of individual action is being discussed despite Great Britain's reluctance to take any such steps.

Members of the government are determined not to let the situation created by the Nanking outrage dissolve itself, and the fighting heads of the sea, land and air forces have been called into cabinet consultation to see what action can be taken along the Yangtse River should the necessity for force arise.

McMURRAY RESIGNS.

LONDON, May 3. Canadian Press.—An Exchange Telegraph despatch from Tokio says despatches from Peking state that John Van A. MacMurray, the United States Minister to China, has resigned.

Report Denied

WASHINGTON, May 3 (Canadian Press)—Frank B. Kellogg, secretary of State, authorized to-day a flat denial of reports from Tokyo via London that Minister John A. MacMurray at Peking had resigned and it was added at the State department that there had been no intimation in any official despatches that Mr. MacMurray was contemplating such action.

HABEAS CORPUS HEARING DELAYED

TORONTO, May 3. Canadian Press—Application for the release on habeas corpus of John A. Martin of Toornto, at present a prisoner in the jail at Napanee, was to-day adjourned before Mr. Justice Hodgins until Friday. Martin was convicted on four charges of making false statements as to the financial condition of the Arden creamery, Ltd.

The accused complains that he was sentenced to six months in the Ontario reformatory and that sentences to that institution can only be for indefinite terms.

Competent to judge

There is no better way for you to learn the true value of commodities in general use than to read the advertisements day by day—regardless of whether or not you have any immediate intention of buying.

Those young housekeepers whose first experiences in marketing began in war-time have a fixed idea of high prices. Those of an older generation have an equally strong conviction that prices should be lower.

With the shifting changes of a rapidly moving world both prices and values are bound to fluctuate. A financier studies these trends with scrupulous care in published financial reports compiled by experts.

An intelligent housewife may similarly make herself a competent judge of values by studying each day's advertisements of the things she needs—just as the broker studies his stock list.

Then as she comes to buy she may do so with full confidence in her knowledge.

Leafs Take First Game Of Series From Reading 4 to 0

LEAFS HOLD KEYS RUNLESS

Lawry, Lamotte and Hargrave Chalk Up Two Hits Apiece.

HEAVY HITTING.

MAPLE LEAF STADIUM, May 3. —The Aces of Reading, who have been the dirty deuces of the International League for two seasons, made a brave fight to beat the Leafs in the first game of the series yesterday afternoon, but the champions trumped every lead they made to win by a 4 to 0 score. Two of the local tallies were earned, but the other pair were in the shape of a gift from Umpire Hayes, who gave the home club the benefit of the doubt on a bunt down the third base line, with the result that a brace of tallies came over the plate on Rapp's wild hurried throws and a long fly. Maley pitched steadily and well, keeping the visitor's nine hits widely separated.

He was especially strong in the pinches and was accorded fair backing on the whole, although a fobble by Lamotte made some trouble for him in the 8th. The shortstopper fobbled a throw from Harrington with a double play in the offing and Maley had to pitch to the limit to keep his escutcheon clean. Harrington's work at the middle base was a feature. He was the pivot in three fast twirr killings and accepted nine chances all told. His only error was one of omission, the second sacker failing to cover the base on a good throw from Hargrave when Merkle pulled a delayed steal and the ball rolled unmolested to centre field.

Slappey, previously of Baltimore, turned in a nice performance, barring the fifth, when the Leafs bunched three hits, a double by Maley, a single by Lawry, and a triple by Lamotte for two runs. The latter tried to make a homer on this drive to right centre but was caught at the plate. It is reported that Carl Schmehl will be turned over to Reading after the present series. Heath is wanted by Merkle, but it is not likely that he will be permitted to do.

The Orioles made it two straight over Rochester yesterday by winning, 9 to 5. A seven run rally in the third inning drove Thormahlen off the mound and clinched the game for the Orioles.

Al Grabowski, veteran left hander, making his first start of the season, hurled Syracuse to a 4 to 2 decision over the Newark Bears at Syracuse. Grabowski started slowly, allowing a walk and a hit which, combined with an error, gave the Bruins two runs in the first inning. Thereafter, however, Grabowski pitched steadily and strongly and backed up by three double plays.

The Buffalo Bisons extended their winning streak to six straight games yesterday when they vanquished the Jersey City Skeeters, 5 to 4. Del Bissonette, former Skeeter, accounted for the winning run with a long home run in the eighth round. Brice fanned Shanon for the last Skeeter out, with runners on second and third.

Baseball has its Ty Cobb, Walter Johnson and Babe Ruth.

Football has its "Red" Grange. The turf, Man o' War. But to patrons of the six-day bike-racing sport, "Reggie" McNamara is a greater hero.

Walter Johnson, starting his 20th campaign as a major league pitcher, is a heroic figure, but to the "bike" fans, McNamara is the "iron man" of all sports.

McNamara is 40 years of age and has been riding 21 seasons. He has never ridden as an amateur, stepping right into the pro class and making good. He has taken part in 52 six-day races.

In his brilliant career as a six-day rider, he has seldom been out of the money. When he won the recent event in Paris, it made the 13th time he had flushed over the line first. He isn't superstitious about number 13 either, insisting it will be his 14th victory after the next time out.

Statistics show he usually gets some of the dough, finishing second on seven occasions, third nine times and fourth in four. Six times he has been victor in the biggest of all six-day events, the New York classic.

SENATORS DROP FIRST GAME 9-6

Slugging Yankees Collect Seventeen Hits Off Four Washington Pitchers.

INDIANS DEFEATED.

NEW YORK, May 3 (Canadian Press)—The Senators dropped the first game of the series at Washington to New York yesterday, 9 to 6. The slugging Yankees got seventeen hits off four Washington pitchers, Lazzeri putting a homer into the center field stands in the eighth.

Before the game Walter Johnson, Washington's star pitcher, was presented by Speaker Longworth with a silver loving cup, won in a popularity contest.

The Athletics won the opener of a four-game series at Philadelphia with the tail end Boston Red Sox by a score of 6 to 5. The game went ten innings.

A wild throw to first by Wanninger in the tenth allowed Hale to score from second with the winning run.

Rallying in the ninth inning for five runs ,the St. Louis Browns defeated the Cleveland Indians, 7 to 6. Sisler started the scoring in the last half of the ninth by hitting a home run with one on. Schang, who got four hits yesterday, singled to bring in the winning run to-day. Barns got four safeties, including two doubles.

Seven Straight

The Chicago White Sox ran their string of consecutive victories to seven yesterday by defeating Detroit in the opening game of the series there, 3 to 1. Lyons, outpitching Holloway from the start, beat the Tigers for the second time this season. He held them to five hits and aided by brilliant support in the infield, was master in all save the seventh inning. In addition to his excellent pitching Lyons contributed a home run to Chicago's cause.

GIANTS LOSE FIRST PLACE

Opening With Heavy Batting Attack Dodgers Defeat Giants 10-7.

GAME POSTPONED.

NEW YORK, May 3. — Canadian Press. — Opening fire with a heavy batting attack in the first inning the Brooklyn Dodgers toppled the New York Giants out of first place in the National League yesterday by trouncing their metropolitan rivals 10 to 7.

Six of McGraw's pitchers were bombarded during a long drawn out struggle, Babe Herman collecting two home runs. One of the circuit smashes was coupled with a round trip blow by Partridge during the initial frame's blast of hitting.

The Philadelphia-Boston game was postponed, as was the Cincinnati-Chicago game. Only three games were scheduled.

Fifty years ago this spring, the Oxford-Cambridge boat race over the Thames course resulted in a dead heat, the only time this has occurred in the long series of races between the two Enlish universities extending over a period of nearly one hundred years.

Tea was served in the School after the close of the Peterborough innings, which was greatly appreciated. The umpires were Mr. Fletcher of the School and Mr. Hart of Deloro. The later gentleman, who has joined the local club, is also a member of the Toronto and District Umpires' Association.

LOCAL CRICKET SEASON OPENS

Peterborough Club Starts Well With Win Over Grove.

ON SCHOOL GROUND.

The local club journeyed to Lakefield on Saturday to open the schedule in a match with the Grove School. The weather was beautifully fine and bright with a slight wind which developed in strength as the grame proceeded. It was ideal except for the winter touch still with it.

A match so early in the season shows up the weakneses in all teams, and the local team did not show up nearly so well in the field as did the home team. The School was handed out several chances in the field, all of which were accepted except one, when the fielder misjudged one long drive, the sun being right in his eyes. One particularly hot drive was that taken low down by Pringle to retire Massey Cooke. However, the local team did well to win by 87 to 46. The School ground is only temporary this year, as the old one is being relaid and bids fair to be a very fine ground.

The local captain, Charlie Thorpe, won the toss and decided to take first crack at the School. Dunkerley opened for the locals with Thorpe against Robertson and Peck. The score rose steadily to 19, when Dunkerly was tempted to reach out to Peck and was stumped. It was a bowler's wicket and one could not take chances. There was no remarkable partnerships and the Peterborough innings closed for 87 runs. Of this total Charlie Thorpe contributed 23, and Manning and Monkman 16 and 15 respectively; Peck and Kenneth Mackenzie being the most successful bowlers with four wickets each.

The School opened with Robertson and Peck again F. Dyer and C. V. Elliott. It opened disastrously, for with only three runs scored Robertson fell to a catch by Thorpe off Elliott. Griffith was the incoming batsman who forced the pace and shaped well., making 24 runs, and was the only man for the School to reach double figures. He is a left hand batter and made all of his runs by pulling the ball to leg. The School innings closed for 46, Elliott taking four wickets, Thorpe three, and F.

NEWMAN LEADS IN BILLIARDS MATCH

Reece Using Pendulum Cannon Stroke Makes Break of 2,265.

MANCHESTER, Eng., May 3. — Canadian Press. — At the close of play last night in the professional billiards championship match of 16,000 points between Tommy Newman, champion, and J. Davis, Newman was leading by 312 points, the scores being Newman, in play, 9,334; Davis, 9,022.

BREAK OF 2265.

LONDON, May 3. — Canadian Press Cable. — In his billiard match with Arthur Peall at Thurston's yesterday, Tommy Reece, using his questionable pendulum stroke, made a break of 2265, unfinished. On April 30th ,Reece made a new world's record break of 3964 points with his pendulum stroke.

Jack DeMave, the Holland-American heavyweight, who has made an excellent showing in his recent bouts has a fighting style very similar to that of the late Harry Greb.

NEW PANATROPE IS DEMONSTRATED

Not a Phonograph, Says Representative of Brunswick Company.

The characteristic qualities of the New Brunswick Panatrope were ably explained and demonstrated by O. P. Harris, special Chicago representative of the Brunswick Balke Collender Company, at the recital held in the Canadian Legion Hall last night under the auspices of Ye Olde Firme Heintzman & Company.

First and foremost, declared Mr. Harris, the New Brunwick Panatrope is not a phonograph—it does not have a sound box or a horn. The only resemblance the machine bears to a phonograph is that it plays records. The music is obtained as the vibrations are picked off the record by a magnetic pick up amplified by means of tubes and a cone.

The records used by Mr. Harris in his demonstration were of the new light ray Brunswick type which are designed by a method that results in a genuine reproduction giving every detail of the voice or instrument. Through this process, declared the speaker, the Brunswick Company, are able to reproduce the full compass of any known instrument.

Mr. Harris demonstrated records of all classes of music played by a great variety of artists on many different instruments. He showed that the volume of sound could be regulated in keeping with the music, and the size of the room or hall without impairing the tonal qualities of the Panatrope in the slightest degree.

Examiner Readers From Other Provinces Patronize Local Advertisers in The Examiner.

Readers of newspapers and advertisers as well, sometimes wonder whether the claims of newspaper publishers regarding the efficacy of newspaper advertising, is always justified.

Manufacturers of Moon's Emerald Oil made arrangements with Bond's Drug Store for introducing and distributing this preparation here. It was a new product in Peterborough, and Mr. Bond insisted on its being advertised in the Examiner, and just to show that an advertiser can never tell from what point he will obtain his advertising results the following correspondence from a subscriber of the Examiner in the west, which is taken from a number, though nearer to Peterboro, goes to show how far afield newspaper advertising is read, and results obtained:

Stone, Sask., April 7, 1927.

Dear Sir: I saw in the Peterboro Examiner about this wonderful medicine called Moon's Emerald Oil.

As my son has eczema, and has tried several medicines, if you would please let me know the price a bottle will cost, and for postage as well.

Mrs. E——

Stone, Sask., April 20, 1927.

Bond's Drug Store,
Corner George and Hunter Sts.,
Peterborough, Ont.:

Dear Sirs: Received your letter with price given, and I thank you very much for the same.

Would you please send me one bottle of your Moon's Emerald Oil, and oblige.

Enclosed you will find $1.27.

Mrs. E——

The game for Saturday is Masseys versus Thistle at King Edward Park. Kick off at three o'clock. Referee, William Rickard.

All signed players of the Thistle Club are requested to turn out tonight and Thursday evening at King Edward Park for a practice game, at six o'clock.

W. Rickard's application as a referee was accepted under the jurisdiction of the senior association.

James Buchan made an application to the board to be permitted to play soccer, but he must abide by the law and appear before the association to receive the necessary sanction.

Ernie Hanson and J. W. Sharman were added to the registered list of players of the Masseys.

Archie Lang, James Cameron, James Waddell, and Alexander Burges were registered players of the Thistle handed to the association last evening.

A select team will be chosen from the C.G.E. to play the C.G.E. (Toronto) team at Cobourg on the 24th of May, in the annual tusise for the White Cup.

The Quaker team intends holding a practice game on Thursday evening at King Edward Park. Players please attend.

There will be no soccer game in the city on Saturday, May 28th, because a large number of players intend going to witness the Scotch team play in Toronto.

J. Avis, of the Quakers, was granted his release, but he cannot sign unless club pay his transfer fee.

JUDGE AVERTS FIGHT BETWEEN TWO LAWYERS

Stern Remonstrance Prevents Counsel From Coming To Blows.

AT SNYDER TRIAL.

District Attorney Says Mrs. Snyder Lied—She Denies Confession Story.

NEW YORK, May 3.— (Canadian Press.)—Counsel for Mrs. Ruth Snyder and the State almost came to blows at the Snyder trial to-day.
Asistant Distraict Attorney Froessel asked Mrs. Snyder in cross-examination if she had made a mistake or lied in reply to a question when her lawyer, Edward F. Hazelton, shouted at the prosecutor and moved belligerently to meet him. A clash was narrowly averted by the stern remonstrance of the court.
Mrs. Snyder denied almost entirely the confession version from the time of meeting Gray through the killing of her husband. Excitement ran high as she answered "yes" to a question whether she had seen Gray out of the house after the murder.
"Why," Froessell shouted, "you were lying bound upstairs at that time."
"Yes, of course I was," she replied as her hands fluttered to her mouth.
"Then you were lying just now," Froessell thundered, and Hazelton jumped to his feet protesting against the "tactics of the State Attorney."
The lawyers moved belligerently towards each other, but the swift rebuke of the Judge prevented their coming to blows.
Mrs. Snyder testified to-day when she saw her corset salesman, paramour and co-defendant, Henry Judd Gray, beating her husband she fainted and after reviving made no effort to find whether her husband was dead or alive.
Mrs. Snyder was under cross-examination by Assistant District Attorney Charles Frossell and maintained that she had no hand in the murder.
"You didn't even look to see if your husband was warm or cold?" she was asked. "No."
"Dead or alive?" "No."
"And you stayed in the next room with Gray for two hours?" "Yes."
The woman then told of Gray binding her to make it seem a burglary had been committed. Gray then left and she lay for two hours before waking her daughter and calling in the neighbors.
"And then you lied to protect the man who killed your husband and the man for whom you left doors open though you knew his intention to be the murderer of your husband?" "Yes."
"And you hid your jewellery?" "Yes, from Gray."
"Madame, were you not more concerned about your jewellery than your husband?" "No."
"But you protected your jewellery from Gray, although you did not protect your husband from him?" "Yes."

CANADIAN UNIONS MUCH CONCERNED

Will Make Representations To Proper Authorities About U. S. Border Laws.

OTTAWA, May 3 (Canadian Press) —"The executive council of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada is deeply concerned over this question and will continue to make such representations to the proper authorities as the interests of Canadian workers may demand," Tom Moore, President of the Trades and Labor Congress, stated today when discussing the new United States border regulations.

OTTAWA, May 3 (Canadian Press) —"The United States is no different from Canada, or in fact any other country, in claiming as a strictly national matter the right to decide who may or may not become permanent or temporary citizens of their respective countries," continued Mr. "It is felt, however, by the workers on the Canadian side of the border that in exercising this right, due recognition should be given to the customs which have prevailed during the past several decades, especially at border points, of allowing comparatively free passage backwards and forwards of bona fide citizens of both Canada and the United States.
"It is understood that the present serious situation has been aggravated by the numbers of immigrants from overseas countries who are claimed to have used Canada as a back door to obtain entry into the United States, contrary to the provisions of the United States quota law and immigration regulations. Immigrants of this class are of no value whatever to Canada, and any measures which may be taken either by the Canadian or United States Governments to prevent such practices will receive the fullest support of organized workers in Canada."

New Army of Homeless Flee From Flood to Hills

OUTLOOK IS SERIOUS FOR GRAIN CROPS

Floods and Stormy Weather Holding Up Seeding in West.

RIVERS RISING.

Hundreds of Homes Surrounded By Flood Waters in Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, May 4.—With the opening of the month of May a serious situation in regard to wheat seeding in western Canada has been brought home to the grain trade in this city. It had been snowing in Alberta for 46 hours up to yesterday. The snow is moving east and it was raining or snowing all over western Canada yesterday. There has been very little seeding done in the entire country with the exception of southern Alberta and central and south-eastern Saskatchewan. None has been done in Manitoba and as Manitoba hard northern wheat takes a long time to mature and ripen there is not much hope of wheat seeded in May being ready to cut much before early September when it runs into the frost line.

Yesterday's rain and snow means another week's delay in farm work. It is cold and cloudy.

Continued Cold.

Calgary and Edmonton Alta. reported six inches of snow falling. Moose Jaw Sask. another great grain center reported 24 hours of rain. In Alberta it has snowed clear across the international boundary into Montana.

Cash wheat in Winnipeg advanced Monday about three cents to $1.49.

Flood conditions in western Manitoba are serious farms and farm buildings in Brandon Oak Lake Virden and other district points being flooded to a serious extent in the valley of the Assiniboine river.

Floods.

Flood conditions prevailed yesterday along the low-lying lands of the Assiniboine valley from Brandon to Kemnay a 50-mile stretch. The river rose rapidly during the week-end overflowing its banks at many points and flowing over fields and gardens in the district affected. At least hundreds of homes are surrounded by water and residents are busy moving their belongings by boat to higher ground. Farm lands affected will not be ready for seed for several weeks and some will probably not be seeded this season.

Water is within a few inches of what is known as the Valley road near the experimental farm Brandon and is within a foot of grades leading into that city from the north.

The area affected by the flood is along the Assiniboine river north of the Canadian Pacific railway tracks. These flood waters have never reached Brandon city proper at any time that floods have occurred as the city is situated on a hill overlooking the river.

Leave Homes.

As the river valley offers rich soil for gardening many north side Brandon residents prefer to continue to live in their small cottages even though running the danger of flood conditions. Many of these people are being taken in by relatives or friends whose homes are on higher ground out of reach of the flood.

Hall's bridge west of Brandon had to be supported and lashed last night to prevent it being carried away by swollen waters of the river. The flood at that point is about one and a half miles wide.

The flood is playing havoc with roads and bridges wherever there is an overflow in the grades. Reports from the west indicate that higher water is on its way so the peak of the flood here has not yet been reached. Many bridges in rural districts have been washed away.

OPENING DATE NOT YET FIXED

D. B. Hanna Says Toronto Stores Won't Open Until About May 21.

NOT ENOUGH READY.

TORONTO, May 4 (Canadian Press).—Expressing his belief that the Government liquor stores would not be in operation in Toronto until about the end of the third week in May, D. B. Hanna, chairman of the Liquor Control Board, according to a Toronto paper, stated last night that while public opinion seems to have fixed the date of the opening of the liquor stores as May 16, the Board could not officially fix a date until it has a number of stores ready for operation.

General Chang has ordered 4500 Bibles and 66000 New Testaments for the officers and men of his army.

Jailed For 70 Cents Tax Is Prisoner Five Months

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 4.—Rather than pay taxes amounting to 70 cents, Charles Ford, 50, of Monongahela City, has served five months in the Washington County jail here, and the end of his term is not yet in sight.

Attention was called to the case when the question of the responsibility to the county for his "keep" was raised. County Controller T. J. Underwood ruled that Monongahela City, which threw Ford into jail for his failure to pay taxes would have to pay the county. Ford's board bil with the county is many times larger than the amount of taxes. It costs 20 cents a day to feed prisoners.

MORE RECRUITS JOIN REGIMENT

Peterborough Rangers Fast Approaching Full Establishment.

ON PARADE A WEEK.

More recruits were received at the parade of the Peterborough Rangers last night, and the unit is fast approaching its establishment. The class of recruits received has been good, and both old and new members of the regiment are displaying commendable smartness in dress, drill and deportment.

It was announced last night that only one parade a week will be held from now on. These will be held on Tuesday evenings, with the exception of next week, when the regiment will march out with the 3rd Company, 4th Battalion, C.M.G.C., on Wednesday evening. There will be no parade to-morrow night, nor any succeeding Thursday until further notice.

BRITISH VIEW ON WAR DEBTS IS SENT FORTH

Believed To Be Contained in Note Sent to United States.

SURPRISE IN LONDON.

No Intimation Of Preparation—Follows Controversy of Ministers.

LONDON, May 4. —(Canadian Press).—Full exposition of the British viewpoint as regards the war debts is believed to be contained in a lengthy British note which has been dispatched to the United States and publication of which is set for to-morrow morning. News that the note had been sent caused surprise in London, as there was no intention of its existence until word was received that Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador had delivered it to the United States State Department.

The note is understood to be the outcome of the controversy over the wor debt between the Secretary of the United States Treasury, Andrew M. Mellon and the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Winston Churchill.

It is thought to be in the nature of a reply to Secretary Mellon's viewpoint that Great Britain is receiving more from her continental war debtors than she is paying annually to the United States under the Washington debt funding agreement.

BILL BEGINNING OF RUINOUS WAR

Lloyd George Says It Is Oil On Embers of Industrial Strife.

MAKES MATTERS WORSE.

BLACKPOOL, Eng., May 4 (United Press).—The proposed Trades Union Bill is a barrel of oil flung on the cooling embers of industrial strife. Former Premier Lloyd George declared in a speech yesterday. "We are beginning to engage in one of the most ruinous civil wars imaginable," he said, "not with rifles, but by pitting one organization against another. The bill will create the greatest industrial strife Great Britain has ever known."

EVACUATING AR EA NEAR BREAK

This photograph shows the beginning of the exodus from the St. Bernard and Plaquemines parishes in Louisiana, which were flooded by dynamiting the Mississippi levee near Poydras in order to prevent a great disaster at New Orleans. Mrs. Tony Nacosia, mother of ten children, eight of whom are shown in this picture, was among the first of the refugees to reach New Orleans, with some of her household goods packed on the truck. Her husband and two other children rode mules to the city.

NON RESIDENT PUPILS RATE IS INCREASED

Board of Education Decides To Charge 80 Per Cent of Maintenance.

DEPUTATION HEARD.

No Action Taken in Regards To Essay Writing Competition.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education, held last night, it was decided to charge country pupils attending the city public schools eighty per cent. of the cost of maintenance. At a previous meeting it had been decided to charge 100 per cent., but Mr. Strickland moved the amendment last night to charge eighty per cent.

Dr. Craig thought it was a little high, but it was pointed out to him that this eighty per cent. was only taken on the cost of maintenance and not on the interest charges and the amount required for capital expenditures. He suggested 60 per cent.

A deputation headed by Warden Middleton of the County of Peterborough asked for special consideration in the matter as they thought it was a big jump from the present rate which they acknowledged was too small to this high rate.

No Action Taken.

In view of the many requests which the Board have been receiving for essay writing competitions, it was decided to take no action in regards to the communication from the Kiwanis Club asking the principals of the schools to aid the Club in its essay writing competitions among the school children on the clean-up campaign and the Grafton Company on the Confederation essay competition. Mr. Mowat said that both things were very commendable, but that they interfered with the school work.

Permission was given to the Property Committee to call for tenders for coal and supplies for the coming school year.

The Trustee Board of S.S. No. 2, North Monaghan, wrote asking the Board to reconsider its decision in regards to charging 100 per cent., the cost of maintenance for the outside pupils attending the city public schools. The Monaghan trustees offered to pay $2.00 a month for every pupil attending and asked that a guarantee be given that accommodation would be supplied for 100 children for three years, starting from June 30th next. The Board, after considerable discussion, passed a resolution requiring the outside pupil to pay 80 per cent. of the maintenance.

Dr. Macpherson reported making 191 examinations in the month of April, in which he sent out 33 defect slips. He also suggested that all children below the school age be innoculated for diphtheria.

Dr. Green reported that he made 51 examinations at South Central during the month, in which there were 40 fillings and 14 extractions. He noted that the condition of the pupils' teeth in Central School was greatly improved. School Attendance Officer James Abraham reported bringing the parents of two boys before Magistrate Langley for failure to send their boys to school. The Magistrate severely criticized the parents and warned the boys in each case.

WATER COVERS TEN PARISHES OF LOUISIANA

New Break Threatened at Villa Clara, Below St. Joseph.

200,000 NOW HOMELESS.

Flood Waters From Four Rivers Spreading Out Across Country.

NEW ORLEANS, May 4. —(Canadian Press.)—The bulging flood tide of the Mississippi river after carving a new gap in the Louisiana levees yesterday, was thrusting viciously today against a weak spot at Villa Clara plantation six miles below St. Joseph, La., adding to the stream of refugees fleeing before the deluge.

Every parish in North Eastern Louisiana for the first two tiers along the river, extending ten parishes down stream to the mouth of the Red river, has felt the grasp of the waters which already have covered seven million acres of land and rendered more than 200,000 people homeless as they moved upon the Gulf of Mexico.

Water streaming from four breaches in the Mississippi river levees was moving to join the back waters from the Red river, while flood waters from the Ouachita and the volume released by the breaks in the Arkansas covered other portions of the territory.

The Tallulah Valley was abandoned as its population fled to Vicksburg and Delhi Lake before a flood released by a break in the Mississippi embankments near Milliken's Bend.

New Crevasses.

New crevasses above and below St. Joseph between Vicksburg and Natchez occurred to-day along the Mississippi, loosening flood waters which will make more thousands of people homeless and add immensely to the vast stretch of territory now under water.

WESTCLOX CO. STARTING WORK ON EXTENSION

New Building To Cost $100,000 To Be Erected This Summer.

23,520 SQUARE FEET.

Will House Buffing and Plating Departments and Provide Storage.

The Western Clock Factory will begin operations on their new addition to the present factory on the first of next week, it was announced by J. H. Vernor, manager of the company, this morning.

The new building will be 140 by 80 feet, and will comprise 23,520 feet of floor space, which is 21,120 feet more than the building that was proposed last fall. It will be used for buffing and plating and for storage room. The old plant on George street south has been used for a temporary storage plant, but this is all to be removed and the building sold. Some offices may also be installed in the new addition.

The building is to be built entirely of brick and steel, and will embody some unique fixtures; one of which is that the entire width of eighty feet is to be spanned by a single steel truss without posts. The structure will be two storeys in height when completed.

"The approximate cost will be $100,000" said Mr. Vernor, "but even though it will be a large building, it does not necessarily mean that our staff will be increased until the new building is up and our output is at a larger figure than it is at the present time."

Mr. Vernor stated that the present output of the company is 1770 pieces daily, and the Peterborough clock is sent as far as the Straits Settlement, Borneo, British Guiana and Great Britain and Ireland. They also supply the Indian market and the British West Indies. "This," said Mr. Vernor, "is due to the preferential tariff that Britain has obtained."

Nearly all the parts of the clock are made in the local factory, and when the new addition is erected all the parts will be made here.

Contracts have been let for the new plant to the General Structural Steel Company, Campbellford, and the Dominion Bridge Company at Toronto. The Western Clock Company is composed of two plants: the main factory at La Salle, Illinois, and the local branch. Two hundred and twenty persons are now being employed here but Mr. Vernor expressed his hope that in a short time the Peterborough factory will be able to give employment to a great many more.

This company has already sounded Peterborough's name through many foreign countries, and this new addition will be a great aid in the advertising of the city in future years, for not only have the company this addition in view, but plans have been drawn up for some future date that will give Peterborough a complete up-to-date factory, that will give employment to many persons, men nad women alike.

CHAIRMEN TELL JULY 1 PLANS

Central Committee in Charge of Celebration Has Meeting.

SHAM BATTLE ?

Reports presented last night at a meeting of the Central Committee arranging the Peterborough celebration of the Jubilee of Confederation showed that progress is being made towards making this the greatest display in the city's history. All committees are enthusiastic, and the work already done shows that people who decide to spend the double holiday in Peterborough will be well repaid.

The Parade Committee has plans drawn up for such a procession as has never been seen in this district. All manufacturers, merchants, and associations are co-operating in the building of floats, and there will be bands galore. The Alderville band, through Alderman Greene's efforts, will be a feature of the parade, and practically all the Indians from the reservation will march in native dress.

And decorations! E. F. Mason told of plans to string colored electric lights on George Street, from Smith Street to the Exhibition Grounds and it is likely that various associations will build arches to brighten the intersections. Merchants are being asked to decorate their premises with bunting, and citizens are invited to dress up their homes in spirit with the gala occasion.

Worth Coming For.

The celebration in Peterborough will be worth coming many miles to see, and all towns and villages in the district are being asked to make this the headquarters of their celebrations. Invitations have been sent to schools and townships to enter floats depicting progress in their sections, and their school children are asked to join the parade.

Arrangements are being made for pageantry suited to the spirit of the day, and the programme of sports hinted at last night leaves nothing to be desired. Many details are yet to be decided, but the broad outline is complete and the sub-committees are showing themselves quite capable.

Among other proposals not yet decided upon is that to stage a sham battle, with ground attack and defence, and an air battle with four or more combat planes participating.

MORE FLOODS ARE FEARED IN LOUISIANA

Endangering Towns and Fields in North-eastern Part of State.

WATERS RISING.

Warm, Clear Weather Lightening Hardships of Refugees in Highlands.

NEW ORLEANS, May 4 (Canadian Press).—As the determined fight to protect the vast areas in Central and Southern Louisiana went steadily forward yesterday, flood waters from the raging Mississippi and its tributaries claimed new towns and fields in North-Eastern Louisiana.

Serious problems of rescue and care of refugees were presented, but the enormous machine hastily built up by Civilian Dictator Parker was functioning smoothly and thousands had been evacuated to high ground without the report of a single loss of life.

Everywhere along the line except at Milliken's Bend, across the Mississippi from Vicksburg, the levees were held. At that point the Mississippi racing madly under the added pressure of flood water from the delta region flowing back through the Yazoo River and flowed over the embankment, threatening to send a torrent of water into Tensas parish, already partially inundated.

Reports to Former Governor Parker were that if this flow were not checked it probably would carry from six to ten feet of water into Tallulah, parish seat of Madison, which has a population of approximately 1,500 people. The town itself is about 10 miles from the river.

Spread Over New Territory.

It was estimated by officials that if this break materialized it would result in the early inundation of approximately 2,000 additional square miles of territory in Madison, Tensas East Carroll, West Carroll, Morehouse, Franklin, Richland, Catahoula, Concordia, Lasalle and Rapides parishes, much of which already is under flood or backwater.

Immediately upon receiving word of the danger spot, Dictator Parker directed that rescue and relief operations be conducted from Vicksburg and Natchez with additional craft sent from here if they should be needed.

Harrisonburg, parish seat of Catahoula, to the west, already is under many feet of water, it was shown by photographs taken to Baton Rouge by naval aviators, who daily are winging their way over the flooded territory to search out marooned persons and direct their rescue. In the picture only a few housetops in Harrisonburg were visible.

Jonesesville, great hardwood lumber milling centre south-east of Harrisonburg, has all but disappeared other pictures showed. Only the top layers of huge lumber piles could be seen.

Still another photograph showed the complete inundation of all the territory near where the Red River empties into the Mississippi. This is regarded as one of the major danger points in the flood area as it is here the water from the upstate funnel will go back into the parent stream.

First Time Flooded

Far to the north, in Morehouse Parish, Mer Rouge, never before flooded in the memory of white men was slowly succumbing to the flood coming down from the Arkansas River. These waters as well as those from the Ouachita River rapidly were covering much of the north-eastern part of the state and barges and small outboard motor craft were combing the lowlands rescuing those who had been marooned.

In the highlands around Bastrop hundreds of refugees were quartered on hills without tents, thankful that the clear weather was lessening their hardships.

Water still was moving into West Monroe, forcing several hundred families from their homes. But the situation in the twin city of Monroe was reported as improved with the levees being strengthened and raised against the coming flood crest with its record height of water.

Strengthen Levees.

Along the Mississippi south of Natchez and on the Red River below Alexandria, small armies of men were battling tirelessly to prevent threatened breaks in the levees. These were reported as still holding all along the line in those territories. Former Governor Parker summarized reports made to him with this terse statement:

"Weather fine. Everything holding and fighting to beat the band."

Although engineers have pronounced New Orleans safe, there was no relaxation of vigilance here. Levees along the river front were being raised and strengthened against the coming of the flood crest and embankments where the city faces Lake Pontchartrain were being strengthened and raised to keep out backwater from the lake should there be a break in the main levees north of the city.

WILL APPEAR BEFORE BOARD OR LIQUOR SUPPLY BE CUT OFF

Commission Counsel Says Regarding Mr. Savard's Appearance at Enquiry.

IDENTITY UNKNOWN.

Evidence Shows One Export Agent Made $8,000 Yearly Bonus.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 4. — By Canadian Press. — The Royal Customs Commission will hear the evidence of F. Savard of Detroit, or Mr. Savard may find that the Canadian source of his extensive liquor business has dried up.

Yesterday when the commission was informed that Mr. Savard "does not care to come over" the Detroit river to give evidence, Hon. W. N. Rowell, K.C., commission counsel, suggested that he might change his mind if the proposition was put before him clearly.

"Supposing Savard had to choose between coming over and having his liquor consignments stopped, what would he do?" counsel asked Harry Lowe, who has looked after many of the export shipments of liquor going to Savard.

"I don't know. I will get in touch with him and find out," Mr. Lowe replied.

F. Savard is the "mystery man" of the Windsor sittings. Witnesses differ as to his real name. He is referred to as "Ben" Savard, as "B. Syring," and as F. Savard. There has been some conjecture as to whether he is a real person at all. Mr. Lowe, however, states that he is.

"I think no court should countenance these 'aliases,'" Commissioner W. H. Wright remarked during the course of the discussion about Mr. Savard's coming. The chief commissioner agreed with Judge Wright that the real name of Mr. Savard should be known.

J. H. Clark, solicitor, representing Mr. Lowe protested against his client being asked to reveal the name of Mr. Savard. Mr. Lowe had done thousands of dollars worth of business with Mr. Savard and the latter might have revealed his real name. It was unfair to extract the name from the witness.

Mr. Rowell then said that he would ask the commission to make a recommendation that Mr. Savard's supplies be cut off if he refused to come over and give evidence. He suggested that Savard be given until to-day to turn up.

Mr. Lowe said that he would try and get into communication with Mr Savard but he doubted whether it would be possible to have him on hand to-day. Mr. Savard was a very busy man and he might not even be in Detroit.

"If he is so busy as that he can do without his liquor consignments," interjected Commisioner Wright.

"Well, we will give Savard an opportunity to appear," decided the chief commissioner finally.

Th matter therefore goes over until to-day.

Severed Partnership.

When the sitting opened in the afternoon, Francis A. Landriau, one-time partner of W. N. Egan in Windsor, was called. He said that he and Mr. Egan had severed partnership in March, 1926. The last time he had heard of Egan the latter was in Detroit.

Mr. Rowell drew his attention to the fact that S. A. Griggs, former president of the Walkerville Brewing Company, had stated that he paid $12.000 to Mr. Egan.

"Did any of that money go into the firm's account?" asked counsel.

"Absolutely not," was the reply.

"You had no knowledge or anything to do with that?"

"No sir; Mr. Egan was much too secretive to take the rest of us into his confidence in that way."

Mr. Landriau said that he had not heard from Mr. Egan in any way for several weeks. His last transaction had to do with a chattel mort-

LOAN COMPANY UNLIKELY TO GET LICENSE

Winnipeg Firm Figured Largely in the Dispute in Ottawa.

APPEAL POSSIBLE.

Report of Non-Enforcement of the Act Is Denied.

OTTAWA May 4.—The superintendent of insurance has intimated that the Great West Permanent Loan company of Winnipeg will not be licensed on July 1. This is the concern that figured so conspicuously in the fight against the recent legislation in regard to the regulation of loan companies.

In a memorandum drawing attention to the published statement that because of protests of a couple of provinces the recently (passed act might not be enforced pending a reference to the courts Mr. Finlayson gives this report a most specific denial and suspects it to be "propaganda." The bill passed both houses of parliament in the face of the same objections neither the house nor the senate attaching any force to them.

Appeal Possible.

The superintendent makes it pretty clear that on the record of the Great West Loan company's condition as established before the banking committee a license will not be granted that concern when the licensing time occurs on July 1.

All the companies affected are being notified of the newly-enacted statute and its provisions. Under the new act an appeal to the governor-in-council may be taken if and when a license is refused.

The wheel is considered by many at the greatest invention. Without it modern transportation and motive power would be impossible.

LIQUOR STORES OPEN IN NORWAY

Change is Effected Quietly—"Hard Stuff" in Demand.

WINES UNPOPULAR.

OSLO, Norway, May 4 (United Press).—Norway's change from dry to wet came into operation here quietly when the sale of liquor in bottles began. Thirteen stores were opened at 11 o'clock in the morning and numerous customers stood in line waiting to put into effect their new-found liberty.

Brandy and whisky were most in demand, while wines were not so popular. The only restriction is as to the age of the purchaser, the age limit being fixed at 21. Any amount can be bought and paid for until five o'clock in the afternoon.

Prohibition was formally abolished by the Storting on April 4, but extensive parts of the country will remain dry. The law regulating liquor prescriptions by physicians is still valid.

The cable was signed "George R. I."

The Government also cabled through Ambassador Sir Esme Howard an expression of sympathy directed to Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg.

Never Marry Woman Near Your Own Age Says Actor On the Eve Of His Sixth Matrimonial Adventure

BOSTON, May 4 (UP)—Five times a widower, J. Theodore Murphy, 55-year-old vaudeville actor, will say "I do" for the sixth time Sunday. Accompanying him on his latest trip to the altar will be Mrs. Aldena Marie Fanion Whitney, 27, of New Haven, Conn., who last year divorced the father of her eight children.

Murphy, plump, genial, veteran of two wars, told newspaper men here, after filing marriage intentions, that he never had proposed. His plan, he said, was to merely announce that he and the girl in question were to be married and then not wait for her reply.

He said he had tried this in New Haven two weeks ago when he met Mrs. Whitney for the first time, and as usual, it worked. Mrs. Whitney said she was not the least bit superstitious over the fact that each of Murphy's five wives had died.

Asked for something in the way of advice to the lovelorn, Murphy said: "Never marry a woman near your age. Take a young chap of 20. He will marry a girl of the same age. When he is 40 he is still a young man, but she has lost her charm for him. A man of 45 should marry a girl of about 20. And then when she is 40 or 45 he will be too old to chase around, as the saying goes. And then if he does die, she is still young enough to marry again, and not spend her last days in a rocking-chair at the old ladies' home."

PLAY PRESENTED OF MORAL TONE

Fairview Young People Put on 'The Old' Fashioned Mother."

LAKEFIELD, May 4.—The Fairview Dramatic Club presented their play "The Old Fashioned Mother" in the basement of the Regent street church on Thursday evening last under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid. The attendance was good and the performance fully justified its excellent recommendation. The tone of the play was highly moral, depicting the mother whose self sacrifice is annually commemorated on Mothers' Day and not the gadding, jazzy modern substitute which is too often seen. The entertainment was highly successful and much enjoyed.

Rev. Ira W. Pierce, secretary of the Armenian Relief Association of Canada, will give an address in the Lakefied Memorial Hall on Monday evening, May 9th at 8 o'clock. Mr. Price, it is expected, will be accompanied by one or two boys from the farm at Georgetown.

Mr. D. A. MacDonald had the misfortune to have his right hand badly cut with a rip saw in the Lakefield Canoe factory on Friday morning.

RESERVE FIRE FOR BALDWIN

Laborites of Opposition Laying Low Pending Premier's Speech.

SPEAKS TO-DAY.

LONDON, May 4 (A. P.)—Debate in the House of Commons on the government's trade unions bill was calmer yesterday. Heckling of government speakers by the Opposition continued, but it lacked the violence of the outburst which occurred Monday when Sir Douglas Hogg, attorney general, moved for the second reading of the measure, which aims to prevent general strikes and coercive measures by labor unions.

The Laborites of the opposition are credited with reserving their fire for Premier Baldwin, who is to speak today. Since the prime minister's health is not robust, his supporters show some anxiety over the ordeal before him. The Laborites also are expected to pay their respects emphatically to Sir John Simon, former attorney-general, who incurred their anger last year by contending that general strikes are illegal.

The general plan of action of the Laborites is to carry noisy obstruction to government speakers as far as possible without laying themselves open to suspension by the speaker. Neither side has offered a sustained line of argument during the debate. The hardest struggle is expected when the bill reaches the committee stage and is studied clause by clause.

Yesterday's principal speakers on the government side were Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, war secretary, and Sir Robert Horne, Arthur Henderson and Stephen Walsh led the assault for the opposition.

Defends Bill.

The war secretary made a fighting speech in defence of the bill and was under a constant fire of interruptions similar in character, but less noisy, than those to which Sir Douglas Hogg was subjected two days ago. The speaker frequently had to intervene and warn hecklers.

The noisiest period came when Sir Laming referred to the recent speech in defence of the bill by George Spencer, expelled Laborite. Every sentence of the passage was punctuated with jeers from the Laborite benches.

Arthur Henderson attacked the bill as vindictive and punitive. Like other Labor leaders, he accused the government of drawing from the United States the inspiration for the bill.

The irrepressible "Jack" Jones, Laborite from West Ham, was as prominent in the heckling yesterday as he was two days ago, when his activities caused the speaker to order him to retire. After numerous outbursts yesterday he drew a reproof from the speaker. Thereupon he exclaimed: "Well, I am very sorry. I won't do it any more." With that he disdainfully walked out of the House.

OLD MASTERS

The old order changeth, yielding place to new,
And God fulfills Himself in many ways,
Lest one good custom should corrupt the world.
Comfort thyself; what comfort is in me?
I have lived my life, and that which I have done
May He within Himself make pure! but thou,
If thou shouldst never see my face again,
Pray for my soul. More things are wrought by prayer
Than this world dreams of. Wherefore, let thy voice
Rise like a fountain for me night and day.
For what are men better than sheep or goats
That nourish a blind life within the brain,
If, knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer
Both for themselves and those who call them friend
For so the whole round earth is every way
Bound by gold chains about the feet of God.

—Alfred, Lord Tennyson: Arthur's farewell, from "Morte d'Arthur."

YOUNG BANDIT GETS TWO YEARS

Gordon Hutton Found Guilty of Auto Theft at Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 4 (C. P.)—Gordon C. Hutton, the "baby face" bandit, found guilty on a charge of auto theft, was sentenced to two years in Stony Mountain penitentiary yesterday. The court ordered the warrant to be held for twenty-four hours so that Hutton might be turned over to Deputy Sheriff Tanner of Bremner Wash.

The 18-year-old Ottawa boy took his sentence calmly, entering the dock with a smile. Hutton will be taken back to Washington where he is wanted on charges of attempted murder, grand larcency, jail-breaking and theft.

Hutton, who looks more like a public-school boy than a police character, was arrested by Winnipeg detectives while operating a stolen automobile. On the witness stand he stated that he had bolted from the Washington jail because he had "been bullied" into the belief that a serious charge would be brought against him at the end of his term. He professed to have sought refuge in Canada with the intention of "going straight."

HIAWATHA GIRL HOLD-UP VICTIM

Compelled To Lie on Floor With Other Employees of Detroit Firm.

NO MONEY SECURED.

HIAWATHA, May 4.—Miss Gertrude Cowie, who is in the city of Detroit, Michigan, last week had the experience of being held up with the rest of the people in the establishment where she was working.

On Thursday in writing to her parents she mentioned the occurrence.

The bandits at a little before five o'clock entered the building and placed a man with a revolver at each door. All people there were compelled to lie down on the floor and put their hands up in the air. In writing Miss Cowie said that her arms felt at least three inches longer as they were made to hold them up very high.

No one was hurt and as the money which the robbers were after had been deposited in the bank during the afternoon, they secured nothing. The bandits escaped.

WEDDING BELLS.

GREENLEY—LISCUMBE.

NORWOOD, May 4—A wedding took place at the home of Mrs. A. Liscumbe, Vivtoria St., Norwood, on Tuesday, April 26th at 10 oclock noon, when her eldest daughter, Beatrice Maud, became the bride of Mr. David John Greenley of Warkworth. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. F. Stillman of the United church.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a Paris gown of blonde embroidered georgette over shell pink satin.

After the ceremony a dainty wedding dinner was served, the table being decorated with white carnations.

The bride and groom left later on a honeymoon trip to Toronto, Drayton and Galt. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Greenley will reside in Warkworth.

ROWE—BYERS.

CAVAN, May 4.—On Saturday, April 30th, at one-thirty p.m. a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Byers, Tenth Line, Cavan, when their eldest daughter, Mildred Alice, became the bride of Mr. Stanley Wellington Rowe, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rowe, of Campbellcroft, in the presence of twenty-five of the relatives and friends of the bridal couple.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. O. Totten, pastor of Cavan United church, under an arch of evergreens, decorated with white roses and wedding bell.

The bride, looking dainty in a gown of peach colored satin, with trimmings of gold, and wearing the groom's gift, a rope of pearls, entered the parlor on the arm of her father, to the strains of "Cennutis" wedding march, played by Mrs. Lloyd Kennedy of Bethany.

She carried a bouquet of pale pink roses and maiden hair fern.

During the signing of the register, which was witnessed by Miss Irene Howson and Mr. Milford Byers, the Misses Susie and Alberta Byers, the little sisters of the bride sang, "He Walks With Me". After receiving the congratulations of the friends present, the bride and groom led the way to the dining room, where the wedding dinner was served.

The young couple left by motor, for a short honeymoon in Oshawa, the bride travelling in a sand gabardine coat with hat to match. On their return they will reside in Welcome.

The bride received many pretty and costly gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rowe and sons, Delbert and Melville of Campbellcroft attended the Rowe-Byers wedding on Saturday.

Mr. Walter Byers, Omemee, spent the week end with his brother, A. E. Byers.

OLD DANCES RETURN.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 4.—The old square dances are coming back to the cattle country, and old-timers who used to saw a mean fiddle and call the dances are finding themselves in demand. At ranch houses and country halls the old call of "swing yore partner like the hinges on the gate" is being heard again.

The Tragedy of the Neglected House

The Moral of the Clean-up Paint-up Fix-up Idea

Yes, it most assuredly is tragedy. A house that should have stood for many years longer, perhaps as a pretty and pleasant nest for several generations to come, has fallen into neglect and decay. On the real estate market, it would bring little or nothing. Even the grounds have "gone to seed." There is a moral lesson in this—the best-built house will sooner or later fall into the same decay if it is not painted, kept up, cared for, watched, summer and winter.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE HONOR OF THE SCHOOL.

he game was close, the score was tied;
A hit, a run, a mighty slide,
A sh ot, and "Safe!" the umpire cried.

And then the shout became a roar,
For some opposed, and some were for,
And all depended on that score.

The umpire slowly turned about.
"How was it, son?" I'm some in doubt."
The youngster answered, "I was out."

That's how we lost the game that year.
The trophy cup, the chance to cheer,
And all that students' hearts hold dear.

At first we talked about "the fool,"
About "the honor of the school"—
Until our heads had time to cool.

For soon we heard, from here and there,
Our rivals saying everything,
"Well, there's a school that's on the square."

Yes, even to this very day,
Whatever school we ever play,
That's what the other fellows say.

And, looking back to that old hall,
Of all the fellows we recall,
The one we honor most of all

Is that one boy we used to shame;
Who, when his greatest moment came,
Dared tell the truth, that lost the game.

THE JUBILEE SPIRIT.

A noteworthy speech was made by Premier Ferguson last week, during the course of which he declared that Canadians generally, in view of the fact that this is the jubilee year of Confederation, should lay aside their political prejudices and be Canadians first and partisans afterward.

The tone of the Premier's address was highly commended, even by newspapers not always friendly to him, but even more important than that, his speech has already had some concrete results.

The evidence? . . . . . .

Merely the fact that Canadian newspapers carried the story yesterday that Premier Mackenzie King had decided to take up poultry raising, and that he had acquired the nucleus of a flock of White Wynadottes through the purchase of several settings of eggs from Hon. John S. Martin.

A Liberal Premier buying eggs from a Conservative Minister of Agriculture—there's a real demonstration of what Mr. Ferguson said.

At that The Toronto Star will probably warn Premier King to be on his guard because the Conservative hens will be laying for him.

PLAYING ON THE STREETS.

Police officers in St. Thomas, attempting to keep the children from using the streets as a playground, have encountered opposition from parents, who object to their youngsters being interfered with in this manner.

The complaint of the parents is difficult to understand; the action of the authorities is based entirely on safety first principles, and would naturally be expected to secure the support of fathers and mothers.

Under modern traffic conditions the street is impossible as a playground for children, and if parents are not successful in impressing that fact upon the juvenile members of the household, it becomes necessary for the police to act.

The youngster who darts unexpectedly out into the roadway in pursuit of a rolling ball takes his life in his hands, and helps to shorten the life of the motorist who happens to be passing at the time.

With automobile traffic as heavy as it is, children must be kept off the streets and taught to play in safe places, and this, of course, entails the responsibility, so far as the community is concerned, of providing sufficient playground space.

Death lurks on the street; and parents should constantly impress that fact upon their children.

MUST PLAY THE GAME.

D. B. Hanna, head of the Liquor Control Board, has not been doing much talking save to deny some of the rumours floating around, but he made one statement the other day that sounded as if he meant every word of it.

That was his declaration that the Control Board intends to wage vigorous warfare upon the bootlegger, and to jail not only the man who illegally sells liquor but his customers as well.

At the same time Mr. Hanna served notice on the brewers and distillers that they too will have to play the game.

In this stand the Chairman of the Control Board is in thorough accord with the sentiment of the majority of people.

They want to see the new Act given a fair chance, and they will have no sympathy with those who for private gain attempt to violate the regulations.

The bootlegger will find that he has not as many friends as the O.T.A. brought him, while there will be no sympathy wasted upon brewers and distillers who fail to measure up to the Control Board's ideas of square dealing.

THE TRANSPORTATION QUESTION.

To the many citizens to whom some regular system of transportation is a necessity, the situation in regard to the bus service here is still far from satisfactory.

It is to be hoped that the Border City Transit Company will make a proposition to the City Council that will justify the latter in endeavouring to provide conditions offering the company some chance of operating at a profit.

By its attitude toward opposition to the street railway the Council undoubtedly speeded up the demise of that system; care should be taken that the same mistake is not made in the case of the present bus company, leaving the city without adequate transportation.

The simple fact is, that Peterborough cannot do without some satisfactory system of transportation, and the absence of such facilities would mean a decidedly backward step.

For the sake of industrial workers, for the sake of women and children living a long distance from the centre of the city, and in the interests of the business community, this transportation problem should be definitely and satisfactorily solved, and members of the City Council should regard the seeking of that solution as one of the most serious responsibilities at present resting upon their shoulders as elected representatives of the people.

THE MURDEROUS DRIVER.

Newspapers and individuals in a number of communities are turning the guns of criticism on the reckless automobile driver. In a few of the larger cities the police have deemed it necessary in the interests of public safety to adopt stern methods in treating the reckless driver. It is not a quarrel between pedestrian and motorist, but a movement on the part of careful drivers, pedestrians and authorities to make the streets and highways as safe as possible under existing traffic conditions.

Reckless driving does not consist of exceeding a statutory speed limit. In fact, those charged with the enforcement of traffic rules separate speeders into two classes and concern themselves with only the one.

Acts of reckless driving considered especially objectionable are driving on the wrong side of the road at curves and hills, fast driving at street and road intersections, crowding other cars on any thoroughfare, passing standing street cars where there is no safety zone, excessive speed in heavy traffic, and passing the car ahead at points where the road is concealed from the driver's view and where such passing is made hazardous by traffic congestion.

The reckless driver is as great a menace to the careful motorists as to the careful pedestrian, and both are equally anxious to make the highways safe for themselves. They concede that the most cautious driver and pedestrian will make mistakes and will distinguish between these and the deliberately and habitually reckless.

Eliminate the careless driver and many existing traffic laws would be unnecessary, as the active judgment of the majority is as good or better than that of the lawmakers. Permit the reckless driver to continue his murderous and destructive career and there will be more statutes and ordinances to inconvenience and annoy the cautious.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

A WESTERN VIEW.

With regard to the utterances of the woman member of Parliament on the subject of Britain and China, I am inclined to believe they are what we sometimes class as "half baked." She blames Britain for the Boxer upheaval. Quite likely by a similar process of faulty reasoning it would be possible for a mind not sufficiently well informed to justify itself in the conviction that the Almighty is to blame for the existence of evil in the world. One might imagine from Miss MacPhail's reasoning that before Britain and other world powers began to take an interest in China there were no such events as armed risings in that great country. The fact is that throughout the whole history of the Chinese race the country has been the scene of innumerable revolutions and insurrections. The civil war now in progress is but another of the uncountable number of greater or lesser importance that have been recorded from times as remote as before the Christian era. That there have been fewer of them in later times is due to the fact that Britain has aided the Chinese people to realization of the foolishness and waste of that sort of thing. Not that British influence has been invariably for good in China by any means; frequently the opposite has been the case, as, for instance, in the opium trade. But, generally speaking, British influence has been a great benefit to the Chinese. Today, the people have reached a point in national consciousness where they are demanding more freedom from foreign influence. Britain is making great concessions to this demand and her attitude in the present internecine struggle is thus far altogether admirable and praiseworthy."—"The Observer" in The Alberta Farmer.

CASHING IN.

If you want visitors you must make adequate preparations to handle them. If you don't it's certain that they'll never come again.

The tourist industry is one of Canada's greatest assets. It is bringing us in millions every year, and nothing like the maximum point has been reached as yet. Good roads, of course, form the chief essential for the attraction of tourists and Canada is providing good roads at a rate that would have been considered impossible a few years ago. As an example, during the year 1926, no less a sum than $45,563,000 was spent on construction and maintenance of provincial highways in all parts of the Dominion. A total of $15,978,000 went into the maintenance of highways already constructed.

Other figures, equally interesting are contained in a news despatch from Ottawa. Ontario, of course, led in the road expenditures with an outlay of $21,170,000, of which $14,030,000 was on construction and $7,150,000 on maintenance, the total mileage involved being 15,861. Nothern Ontario spent a total of $4,000,000, of which $2,400,000 was on construction and the remainder on maintenance, the total milage of road s being 2,552.

Quebec was second with a total of $3,170,000 was spent on construction and $2,000,000 on maintenance, the total mileage being 3,858.

The expenditures in other Provinces were as follows:

Nova Scotia, $1,900,000, of which $300,000 was on construction; Sackatchewan, $3,925,000, of which $2,000,000 was for construction of rural road and $1,775,000 for construction of main market road, total mileage 2,400; British Columbia, $3,478,000, of which $2,000,000 was spent on construction, total mileage involved 4,000; Alberta, $2,140,000, of which $1,970,000 was spent on construction, total mileage 1,928; New Brunswick, $1,450,000, of which $900,000 was spent on construction, total mileage 1,725; Manitoba, $1,100,000, of which $950,000 was on construction, total mileage 800; Prince Edward Island, $230,000, of which $100,000 was on construction, total mileage 700.

The total mileage of highways in Canada last year was 5,788, and the largest mileage in any province was New Brunswick with a total of 1,004, older Ontario with 859, Northern Ontario with 823 miles, Quebec with 718, Manitoba with 665, Alberta with 652 (of which 273 was colonization roads), Saskatchewan with 480, British Columbia with 303, Nova Scotia with 252 and Prince Edward Island with 30 miles.

Of Quebec's total mileage constructed last year, 563 was gravel road, 100 was improved earth road, 25 waterbound macadam and 25 sand clay. Of Ontario's road construction 525 was gravel, 124 waterbound macadam, 73 bituminous macadam, 42 asphaltic concrete and 94 cement concrete.

Expenditures of this kind do not represent extravagance. They are an investment purely and simply—an investment which will yield handsome returns—Border Cities Star.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., May 4 (Canadian Press)—The export business in grain in the Montreal market overnight and during the day was fairly active. The principal demand was from the continent for rye and some large sales were made, but the trade in wheat with the United Kingdom was only fair, while the demand for oats and barley was somewhat limited and only sales of odd loads were made.

There was a fairly good demand from exporters for Manitoba spring wheat in the domestic market and sales of some fair sized lots were made at C.I.F. prices here. The trade in coarse grains was rather quiet, but prices were firm.

On account of the further strength in the Winnipeg cash wheat situation yesterday, the local market for spring wheat grades of flour was stronger and prices were marked up ten cents per barrel. The local and export demand was fair.

There was no change in prices announced for winter wheat flour but the tone was firm.

The millfeed market was moderately active and firm. The undertone to the market for rolled oats was stronger, but there was no change in prices and only a moderate amount of business was done.

The demand for all grades of eggs was good and values were well maintained. The receipts were 3,693 cases.

Owing to the more liberal supplies of butter coming forward, a weaker feeling deevloped in the local market and prices scored a decline of ½c to 1c per pound. The market was quiet. The receipts were 562 packages.

Extreme dullness again marked the cheese trade. Current receipts were quoted at 15½c to 16c per pound. The receipts were 1,261 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 4 (Canadian Press) — Big export sales, adverse weather northwest and a less favorable crop outlook southwest combined yesterday to send wheat higher. It was estimated that Europe bought 1,500,000 bushels of North American wheat and 1,000,000 bushels of rye. Wheat closed firm, 3-4 to 1 5-8c net higher; corn 1-4 to 7-8c up; oats unchanged to ¾c advance, and provisions varying from 15c decline to a rise of two cents.

May deliveries of corn and oats were strong but there was selling pressure apparent on the deferred deliveries. Country offerings of corn to arrive were meagre, despite Monday's sharp advance.

Provisions averaged lower, responsive to scattered selling of lard by carriers.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

QUOITS VS. QUARTS.

Exercise and the outdoors are substitutes for wild parties, a psychiatrist advises. One of these evenings when you attend a party you won't know whether a man is asking you for quarts or quoits. . . . No party will be complete without a couple of disci on the hip. . . . When somebody suggests a necking affair, propose instead a chinning contest. Thus the horizontal bar soon will supplant the punchbowl in some of our best families. . . . But if the outdoors is a good antidote for spooning, then those park benches certainly fail to react.

A REAL HEALTH SERVICE.

This column is written each day with one object in view, and that is to give you who study these articles a better understanding of how to preserve your health and how to have health more abundantly.

Only a certain space can be used daily as the proper space must be reserved for other features and news articles. It is also best for you if I do not make the articles too long so you may properly assimilate each idea and not suffer from mental indigestion.

Many who have some particular problem have been disappointed in not seeing a treatise on their own trouble. If you will continue to read these articles each day you will finally see the information you have been waiting for, but many readers write to me asking questions, some of which can be answered in the paper and others request a personal reply. I am eager to answer any letters which come to me, but I must ask you to help yourself and others—also me, by observing the following rules:

Make your letters short—not over a hundred words.

I can not attempt to diagnose your case by mail. If you do not know the name of the trouble from which you are suffering, you should go to a physician and have a correct diagnosis made. Then write me and I will be glad to send you any advice which I think will be helpful to you.

If you have had a diagnosis made, simply write and ask me to send you a treatise on your particular disease and I will then send you a copy of an article which I have written on that subject.

If you wish a personal reply, always enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope and you will get a personal reply at once.

Do not take up time by making me read a record of your symptoms. Just name your trouble and I will understand the symptoms which go with that disease.

Do not ask me to recommend any drug or medicinal preparation.

If you expect your question to be answered in this column, you may have to wait a long time, as only a question or two can be published each day and only questions of general interest can be used.

Make your questions right to the point. The other day a lady wrote me a six-page letter telling me of her domestic troubles and the only question asked was at the end of the letter when she wanted to know if I thought, from what she had told me, her husband really loved her.

Remember, I have no remedies to sell and no axe to grind. Many readers write to me and say, "I saw your advertisement in the paper." Please understand these articles are not advertisements, but this newspaper pays me well for every one of my daily lessons to you.

Now, that we understand each other—send along those questions and let me tell you how to eat, exercise, and think for perfect health.

TREES AND RAIN FALL.

(By Dr. Frank Crane.)

There recently occurred in California a tremendous storm. Much damage was done by the floods caused by the rain.

Swollen by a hundred rain-flooded drains, the Los Angeles River rushed in a torrent during the four-day downpour, carrying away trees, small buildings and twenty bridges important to street-car and vehicular traffic.

In this connection it is interesting to read the report of George H. Barnes president of the American Reforestation Association who says:

"Trees make rain a blessing instead of a danger. It is through the physical action of the tree that seven-ninths of the rainfall is produced. Through the humus or leaf mould under the trees, 88 per cent of the water which fall as rain is absorbed by the forest floor, and it takes approximately twenty-seven months for its proper distribution under normal conditions.

"When this covering has been destroyed, either by fire or cutting, 92 per cent of the rainfall goes away in disastrous floods, carrying with it rich mineral phosphates, silt soil and detritus."

Beside this forests have much to do with inducing rainfall and in regulating the climate.

One cause of the disastrous floods in China is the denudation of the land there.

Trees are the best security against extremes in climatic conditions.

Trees are the best friends of men.

They not only control the weather, but they are the source of much of man's building supply.

A movement is on foot to preserve the redwoods of California and similar movements should be taken throughout the country to protect the forests.

Children should early be taught the importance of the tree and systematic arrangement should be made for reforestation. All those who have given this matter much thought agree in the importance of forests.

The United States is still a young country, but needs to take care of its tree crop for the benefit of its old age which is coming on apace.

Tree planting is probably given less attention in this country than in any other country in the world except China.

CAN ONE VARNISH BE USED FOR EVERY PURPOSE?

A MAN wouldn't use a spade to do the work of a hoe. A woman wouldn't buy a piece of fine silk to make a work apron.

Why would you expect one varnish, for general purposes, satisfactory?

Varnishes are compounded from a mixture of gums and linseed oil. But — just what gum, how much oil, how much "cooking" and what degree of heat, depends upon the purpose for which the varnish is intended.

It's not a difficult matter for you to decide what varnish you need. Simply tell the dealer at Paint Headquarters what the job is, or write Sherwin-Williams, 897 Centre Street, Montreal, for a copy of the "Household Guide Manual." There are good Sherwin-Williams Varnishes for every purpose and the world knows none better.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BOB CAT'S TAIL

"Hurrah! Hurrah!" sang Dazie Wogglejig, as she danced around the bungle-up one morning.

"Three cheers for the Lady Mouse teacher!" cried her brother Wumple, waving his yellow tail high in the air.

"Why are you all so joyful?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who had just looked in the glass to see that both his ears were on. For with the Wogglejigs taking off their legs and tails, to say nothing of turning their heads upside down, which they often did, the rabbit gentleman himself often feared that he would also become scrambled.

He blew a shrill blast on it.

"We are happy because this is the last day of school for the week!" answered Dazie.

"No more classes until Monday!" shouted Bumble, trading one of his green legs for a white one with his sister Gazie.

"Couldn't you give us a little treat this afternoon when school is out?" asked Mazie.

"What sort of a treat?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Do you mean for me to take you to the six and seven cent store and buy you some candy?"

"That would be nice, but it would be nicer if you would take us to the woods and show us how to catch adventures," said Bumple politely.

"I'll do that," offered Mr. Longears. "It will be better for you than eating candy, though a little candy is good for children. So study your lessons well and perhaps the Lady Mouse Teacher will let you out a bit early this afternoon."

That is just what happened and about 3 o'clock Uncle Wiggily and the six Wogglejig children were on their way to the woods.

"I'm going to find the first adventure!" cried Dazie.

"I'm going to find two!" boasted Bumple.

"I shall be well satisfied if you find even half an adventure!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "Adventures are rather scarce of late."

The Wogglejig children rushed here and there under the trees and behind the bushes looking for things to happen. But not one could be found. Even the rabbit gentleman himself only found the teeniest sort of an adventure. He saw a honey bee that had fallen into the brook and helped the struggling insect out.

"Thank you!" buzzed the bee as he flew to his hive.

"If you see an adventure send it this way!" called Uncle Wiggily and the bee promised to do so.

"I guess we aren't going to find any adventures at all," sadly murmured Gazie as she came back to where Uncle Wiggily was sitting on a green, mossy log.

"Well, why don't you try to find some early spring flowers to take home to Beppy and Um?" asked Mr. Longears. "I am sure the little wooden man and woman would like some violets."

"Where are any?" asked Bumple.

"Use your eyes and look," advised the rabbit.

The Wogglejig children were now as eager to find early blue violets as they had been anxious to seek adventures, and it was not long before, on a woodland bank, where the south sun had coaxed them up, they found a bed of violets.

While the Wogglejigs picked the flowers, Uncle Wiggily sat on a log and watched them, and it was just about this time that the Bob Cat, slithering through the woods, saw the rabbit gentleman.

"I'll slip up behind him and nibble his ears," thought the bad chap, for the rabbit had his back toward him. Softly and quietly the Bob Cat slithered up behind the bunny. When he was very close the Bob Cat sat down to make up his mind which ear to nibble first.

Then it was that Bumple Wogglejig saw the bad chap about to bite the rabbit gentleman. And, being a brave fellow, Bumple looked for some way to play a trick on the hungry animal.

Growing behind the Bob Cat was a Jack in the Pulpit, a sort of flower shaped like a pitcher. And as it had rained in the night, the flower pitcher was full of water. All of a sudden Bumple crept softly behind the Bob Cat, and, tipping Jack in the Pulpit over, spilled all the water in it on the Bob Cat's tail.

"Oh! Wow! Ouch! What's that? It must be raining!" howled the Bob Cat, as he felt his tail all wet! "Oh, it's raining and I have no umbrella. I'll nibble your ears after it stops raining, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Pray don't trouble yourself to come back!" chuckled the bunny gentleman as he saw the Bob Cat running away with his wet tail. Every one said Bumple was brave and never to play such a trick on the Bob Cat.

CANADA TO BE MIGHTY NATION
C. N. R. OFFICIAL PROPHESIES

Can Support Population of More Than Hundred Million.

RAILWAYS ADEQUATE.

Lines Now Built Enough To Serve Double Present Population.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., May 4.—Canada of the future; a mighty and prosperous nation with a population of 125,000,000, with entire new areas of virgin land under cultivation and new towns and cities built by future generations, was a vision of the national future as pictured by W. D. Robb, vice-President in charge of colonization, telegraphs, and other affairs of the Canadian National Railways, in an address before the Belleville Rotary Club on Monday.

Dealing in a comprehensive way with the immigration question, Mr. Robb pointed out that there had been doubt expressed as to whether Canada can support a large population. "To answer these doubters let me offer some figures of an interesting character," he said.

"The United States has a population of approximately 120,000,000, but, if you distribute that enormous population evenly over the square miles of the surface area of our great neighbor, Uncle Sam has only 35 individuals to each square mile. In comparison with this figure, England has a population of 700 on each square mile, while Scotland provides for 160 people on every square mile. Across the Channel, France has 187 people on the square mile, while its gallant little neighbor, Belgium, provides for 658 in the same space. Germany carries 348 to the square mile and Denmark, 220. Now recall and ask 'What population does Canada support.' The answer is that in this Dominion, just a fraction over two people inhabit each square mile of land, not crowded, you will admit. I am sure you will agree that there is no overcrowding in the United States, and if that great republic can sustain 35 people to every square mile, so can Canada. Taking that as a minimum figure, 35 people on every square mile of Canada would give to the Dominion a total population of 126,000,000 and there would be plenty of room for everybody, both to work and to play. Therefore, as you see, there is nothing to fear from a material increase in our population, but everything to gain; nothing to fear concerning the tranquility of our present economic situation, and everything to gain in an increased prosperity.

"With health congenial work, a home and kindly neighbors, happiness is not far off for normal people. All these Canada surely contains, and our people in Canada to-day are participating and enjoying these benefits, this is seen in the physical development of the Canadians, as well as being manifest in the courage and hope with which they enter to difficult enterprises.

Optimism The Keynote.

"Optimism is the keynote of the common life, and it is with a joyousness apparent on all hands that Canada is building for the future. It is for the future generations she is building her schools and universities. For the future her cities are so generously planned. The great transportation systems that span the continent are not for to-day or tomorrow, but for all time. Her citizens have harvested the mighty power of water far in excess of their needs for the encouragement of those who shall come after them. Boldness of design, confidence in ultimate triumph, with a dominant sense of security are evident everywhere. From Halifax to Vancouver there is nothing feverish in all this. Canadians know they are building on sure foundations. The power is permanent, the wealth real in mine and mill, in land and forest. Canada calls to the enterprising and industrious everywhere to enter this great heritage for the development of the empire and the well-being of the world."

Mr. Robb traced the immigration movement previous to the World War and its subsequent tendency of a selective policy, together with the imposition of restrictive measures. "Canada is big and best of all, British," Mr. Robb added, "and we must keep it so" to maintain its British allegiance, we must keep the country British in its population. Already our British settlers in the West are realizing the danger of a too free settlement of people from other lands, for we have noticed on the application forms submitted by them to our offices, requesting harvest and other help, that there has been an unprecedented demand for British help. Never before did we receive so many applications with the phrase, "British preferred" written upon them; in fact, they constitute more than fifty per cent. of the total number of farm help applications now being received.

In outlining the development of the Canadian National system, Mr. Robb drew attention to the great strides which have been made in the past four years and drew attention to the splendid showing made for 1926, when net earnings amounted to $48,125,000, sufficient to pay the interest upon all securities held by the public.

"A transportation organization is established to give service," Mr. Robb continued. "But the traffic offered must be of such extent as to make operations profitable. It is an economic railroad law that any system of railway transportation is dependent for its success upon the number of patrons per mile of track, and to increase the population along the lines of the Canadian National Railways is one of the reasons for the existence of the colonization department of the railroad. Therefore, transportation and colonization go together and must work hand in hand.

"It will be of interest to note that statisticians have furnished figures to amplify the statement I have just made to you. A railway transportation system should have at least 400 people per mile of track in order to provide sufficient traffic to make that system a financial success, just for the sake of comparison, allow me to state that in the United States there are 450 people for every mile of railway, in Australia there are 250, but in Canada we have an average of only 220 individuals to each mile of railway track. As another item of interest in this comparison our neighbours in the United States possessed a total population of 40,000,000 before they had established one transcontinental line, while Canada previous to the amalgamation which now forms the National System, and with a population of less than 9,000,000 people, possessed no less than three transcontinental lines. These striking figures indicate clearly that it is necessary that for the future of this country it is necessary to obtain greater population."

In conclusion Mr. Robb spoke optimistically of the future. "The manner in which 1927 has commenced gives ground for belief that this year will surpass the excellent record of 1926. From January 1, to April 21, the gross earnings were $77,362,569. An increase of $4,360,249, over the corresponding period of 1926. And here I would like to make it clear that none of the Canadian National officers expect to receive the patronage of the people for sentimental reasons. We desire to be treated as a private corporation, and we appeal for patronage on one ground only—that of service, if we are giving as good, if not better service than a competitor then we expect a reasonable amount of patronage, the same as though we were a private railway and we base our appeal for business upon our quality of service only.

Railways Important.

"The railways in Canada are one of the most important factors in building up the Dominion. We railway people believe that the railway situation in Canada offers a field of patriotic endeavor unequalled in any industrial phase of our national life. The transportation systems are the arteries through which the life stream of the nation must flow, to keep these arteries from becoming unhealthy and atrophied devolves upon the railway people and the people of the Dominion. We do not forget, gentlemen, that the eyes of the whole world are upon the men who operate the roads upon which we must travel if destiny is to be fulfilled. Happiness lies in the furthering of service for the millions who have yet to people this vast heritage."

"WINNING OF BARBARA WORTH"

"The Winning of Barbara Worth", Samuel Goldwyn's presentation of the Henry King production of Harold Bell Wright's best selling novel, with Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, comes to the Capitol Theatre as the feature photoplay tomorrow.

The dramatic romance which features Ronald Colman and the lovely Vilma Banky, reunited on the screen after a year's separation in other films, is a glowing tale of those pioneers who battled with the menace of water, first in its total absence and then in its overflowing presence. It is at once the story of vast lands reclaimed and the reclamation of a man's soul.

"The Winning of Barbara Worth" presents the most unique eternal triangle of any of the more important films, with Willard Holmes, eastern engineer, coming to love Barbara just as Abe Lee, desert-bred westerner does; and poor Barbara does not know her own mind, loving both. Gary Cooper, one of the year's "finds", plays Abe Lee to Ronald Colman's Holmes. And Miss Banky is Barbara Worth, daughter of the Jefferson Worth who knew the west should be reclaimed.

The ten million readers of Mr. Wright's best seller will find all the salient features of the dramatic narrative preserved. Abe Lee and Holmes ride for their lives with the money, the poor benighted townsfolk flee in a splendidly staged stampede away from the waters, the sandstorm of the desert whips and lashes Jefferson Worth and his beautiful wife in the prologue, orphaning the baby Barbara. And Henry King has beautifully photographed a tornado for the first time in a motion picture, made possible through a stroke of fortune while the company was on location in the desert.

With E. J. Ratcliffe of Greenfield, hated Eastern capitalist, and Charles Lane af Jefferson Worth, the motivation of the story is in capable hands. Clyde Cook, Follies comedian, Sam Blum and Erwin Connelly the stage manager of "Kiki") handle the comedy, and that colorful role of Seer who dreamed of greener fields is played by Paul McAllister, with a great flowing beard.

Sharing interest with the widely read dramatic narrative of Harold Bell Wright and the fame that already attaches to the picture Henry King, maker of "Stella Dallas", has made "The Winning of Barbara Worth," is the reunion of Goldwyn's complementary stars, Mr. Colman and Miss Banky. Critics in New York and Los Angeles have been fervent in their praise for the work of these stellar players and with them coupled with King's masterly direction and Goldwyn's gigantic staging of the whole.

Samuel Goldwyn, the veteran producer of "Stella Dallas", "The Dark Angel", and other conspicuous contributions to the screen, admitted that he paid $125,000 for the screen rights to the Harold Bell Wright best seller. The same Mr. Goldwyn was horrified only a little more than a decade ago when he and Jesse Lasky were forced to pay $10,000 for the screen rights to "The Squaw Man", the first film Goldwyn made. Mr. Goldwyn purchased more than the screen rights to a dramatic story when he bought "The Winning of Barbara Worth" for the screen, since the sale of the book exceeded that of any other Harold Bell Wright story or indeed that of any other book in modern times running into ten million copies. The human interest and universal appeal of a story liked by the millions of four continents in its written version could not fail to entertain these same millions and many more in the grippingly expressive medium of motion pictures.

AT THE GRAND

"FAUST" A GREAT FILM: GLAMOR IN EVERY FOOT OF IT

"Faust," glamorous, virile, romantic and tragic, has finally reached the screen, in an U.F.A. production, directed by F. W. Murnau, released through Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, now playing at the Regent Theatre. Emil Jannings gives a stirring performance as Mephisto, and Gosta Ekman is a marvel of make-up and character portrayal in the title part, but to Camilla Horn, a screen "find," must go the histrionic honors. She makes of Marguerite a pathetic, lovable girl of human quality, who sins and suffers for love and is redeemed by it when the end comes. Yvette Guilbert, distinguished French diseuse, appears as Martha.

The story of "Faust" is the story of the struggle between the good and the evil in every man, and the temptation that power and riches offers.

Mephisto presumes to rise to heaven, to challenge supremacy of the Lord. Famine, Death and Pestilence, in the shape of three hideous horsemen, ride the world. But an angel bars the path of the lord of the underworld. There is a dialogue.

"Show me the man whose soul I cannot win," says Satan.

"Faust is the man," the angel retorts. "Faust, the good man, devoted to humanity, using his knowledge to better the lot of mankind."

And so Mephisto comes to earth, spreading the plague in the town in which Faust lives. He forces that scholar and savant to sign a covenant agreeing to give up his soul in exchange for power to heal the sick. But that power avails him nothing when with it comes a horror of the cross, so that his townsfolk attempt to stone Faust.

In despair Faust attempts to kill himself. But Mephisto does not allow this. He shows Faust a vision of his youth and tempts him to live again the dead past, with the knowledge of his maturity.

Fabulous scenes of magical transformation follow, then a breath-taking flight on the devil's cloak by the young Faust and Mephisto to the wedding of the Duchess of Parma.

Orgy follows orgy, till wealth, wine and women pall on Faust, and he longs again for his homeland. A word to Mephisto is sufficient, and they are whisked back. It is Easter and the townsfolk are on their way to church. Among them the beautiful Marguerite.

Faust sees and falls in love with her. Mephisto prospers his courtship to the danger point. When the couple are discovered together by Marguerite's mother through the connivance of the devil, her mother dies. Valentine, her brother, rushing to avenge his sister's honor, duels with Faust, only to fall from a thrust in the back by Mephisto, who then rushes about the town crying bloody murder.

Faust must leave town, the while Marguerite stays to face the music. Ostracized by her kinsfolk, Marguerite gives birth to a child in the midst of a fearful snowstorm. No one will take her in and in an incredibly beautiful and sad scene, Marguerite's child dies.

Accused of killing the infant the unfortunate girl is sentenced to burn at the stake. Her last despairing cry, as she is led to the flames goes through the ether to Faust. Horrified, he commands the devil to take him at once to his sweetheart. At the last they are joined in death, their souls rising to heaven. Again the scene changes to the pearly gates. Mephisto has come to claim Faust's soul.

But the angel bars the way. Faust belongs to God, he says, because of LOVE. And so it ends.

CANADA IS A NATION.

Canada is a nation, some day in the near future she will be a great nation, and it is within the range of possibilities that she will be the greatest unit of the British Empire. It is a wonderful country, a country, of unlimited resources and magnificent possibilities. As a nation she celebrates her sixtieth anniversary this year. What better way for you to celebrate it then by taking a trip "Across Canada and Back", and seeing for yourself the reason for this optimism about the future. Prof. Laird of Macdonald College, Que., has arranged with the Canadian Pacific Railway for a special train of sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 25th, cross the continent and get back to Toronto on August 15th, and in that space of 21 days to see all the principal cities and the noted beauty spots of the West. After Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, and the principal cities of the prairies, there is the magnificence of the Rockies, and those famous beauty spots, Banff, Lake Louise, Emerald Lake and Yoho Valley. Then there are two wonderful motor drives, from Banff to Windermere 104 miles, and from Field to Lake Louise 40 miles. The Kootenay district of which Nelson is the capital, and Okanagan Valley fruit country in which is located Penticton will be visited, and Vancouver and Victoria, those rapidly growing Pacific Coast cities, will delight everyone.

An illustrated booklet descriptive of the tour is now ready, and can be had on application to W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, or to Prof. Sinclair Laird, Macdonald College P.O., Que.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE

CLXXI—Laennec's Tragic Story.

by MAX HAHN

THERE IS PATHOS IN THE LIFE OF RENE THEODORE LAENNEC, ONE OF THE GREATEST MEDICAL SCIENTISTS WHO EVER LIVED AND THE MAN WHO INTRODUCED THE STETHOSCOPE. NO DOUBT YOU HAVE SEEN A PHYSICIAN LISTENING TO THE SOUNDS IN A PATIENT'S CHEST TO DETERMINE HIS TROUBLE.

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

THE STETHOSCOPE BELONGS TO THE LONG LIST OF INVENTIONS MOTHERED BY NECESSITY. A YOUTH CAME TO DR. LAENNEC IN PARIS FOR AN EXAMINATION. DR. LAENNEC'S PROBLEM WAS TO TEST THE LAD'S LUNGS. THE DOCTOR WAS ELATED TO DISCOVER THAT BY ROLLING UP PAPER HE COULD HEAR THE LUNG SOUNDS MUCH MORE PLAINLY THAN WITH THE UNAIDED EAR.

DR. LAENNEC SOON LEARNED TO DISTINGUISH BRONCHITIS, PNEUMONIA AND TUBERCULOSIS FROM OTHER DISEASES SIMPLY BY THEIR SOUNDS. HIS FAME GREW AND HIS SERVICES WERE IN GREAT DEMAND. IT IS IN LAENNEC'S FAVOR THAT WHEN HE WAS SO BUSY THAT HE COULDN'T SEE EVERY PATIENT WHO KNOCKED AT HIS DOOR, HE OFTEN ADMITTED THE POOR AND TURNED THE RICH AWAY.

THE TRAGIC ELEMENT IN DR. LAENNEC'S DISCOVERY OF THE STETHOSCOPE LIES IN THE FACT THAT HE DISCOVERED, BY MEANS OF THE INSTRUMENT, THAT TUBERCULOSIS WAS ABOUT TO KILL HIM. DEATH CAME IN 1826, JUST SEVEN YEARS AFTER HE HAD ANNOUNCED TO THE WORLD THE DIFFERENCES IN LUNG AND HEART DISEASES TO BE DISCOVERED FROM THEIR SOUNDS.

The following communications were received:

From the Diamond Jubilee Federation Committee outlining plans for celebration.

George Parks of Peterboro re drainage system for the village.

Circular from the Peterboro Committee for Diamond Jubilee Celebration extending an invitation to Havelock to take part in Peterborough's celebration by sending a float.

On motion by Councillors Haig and Leeson, the following accounts were ordered paid:

Stanley Miles, cutting wood, $1.00; R. McCutcheon, drawing fire engines, manse fire, $5.00; Charles Dewey, caretaking, $8.50; E. Williams, drawing fire engines, McCutheon fire, $5; Prov. Treasurer, war tax, $4.85; Charles Dewey, caretaking, $11.00; Charles Dewey, streets and engines, $4.00; School Board $1100.00; Bank of Toronto, $11.40; James Ketchen, team for street work, $5.00; A. M. Buchannan, work on streets, $3.00; J. Newton, garbage, $2.25; J. Newton, work on streets, $1.80; H. F. McNichol, balance collector's salary, $20.00;

The collectors report was received showing a balance of$363.05 in uncollected taxes.

Moved by Councillors Leeson and Haig that roll be taken from collector and handed over to clerk. Carried.

On motion by Councillors Spencer and Haig, a correction was ordered in Wiliam McKay's 1926 assesment. This property was assessed in error at $2400.00 instead of 1675.00 and rebate was ordered by difference in amount of taxes.

Moved by Councillors Gordon and Haig that council adjourn and go into Court of Revision.

The following appeals against the 1927 assesment were dealt with:

R. S. Dickson estate—property on Ottawa Street, assessed for $1025.00. On motion by Spencer and Haig, the assessment was sustained.

Mrs. Edith Johnson, property on Ontario Street assesed for $575.00. On motion by Leeson and Spencer, assessment was sustained.

William McKay, assessment $1900. On motion by Spencer and Haig, his assessment was lowered to $1700.

George Patterson, 2 lots west of J. Harrison's property, assessed for $100. On motion by Spencer and Gordon assessment was sustained.

Thomas Stillman, 2 acres (8 lots), assessed for $300.00. On motion by Leeson and Spencer, assessment was sustained.

Bank of Toronto assessed for $4750 for property and $2375 for business tax. H. F. McNichol, the manager of the local branch of the bank pointed out that the assessment was out of proportion to the other assessments in the municipality; as it was with one or two exceptions more than double any two business blocks while the business tax had been assessed to the limit which he contended had not been done with the other business assessments. The assessment on the property was lowered $500 this year but the business assessment had been increased $375.00. On motion by Leeson and Gordon, the business assessment was lowered to $2000, a reduction of $375 and the assessment on the property was sustained.

Mrs. M. Sexsmith, assessment $1025. Mrs. Sexsmith did not think her property should be assessed for any more than the property owned by Mrs. O. Parcels which had the advantage of a corner lot, the houses being the same. On motion by Haig and Gordon, the assessment was lowered to $975.00.

A. Aboud, property assessment $2100.00. Business assessment $450.00.

It was discovered that the livery barn, occupied until just recently by Ray Scott had been assessed in error to Mr. Rylott, instead of A. Aboud, owner. Mr. Aboud's assessment was sustained and on motion by Gordon and Haig, the assessment of property at $650.00 to M. Rylott was changed to A. Aboud, owner and Ray Scott was assessed business tax, $100.00 on lots 26 and 27 Oak Street.

Mr. Aboud's total assessment is $3200.00, livery barn $650.00. Block and lot $2100.00. Business $450.00.

F. Barlow made a request for schedule for assessment on his double house and blacksmith shop on Ontario street. This property was assessed for $1,000, which Mr. Barlow thought was too high. On motion by Spencer and Haig, the assessment was lowered to $800. (House and land $400, blacksmith shop $400).

George Jones, Ottawa street, property assessed for $550.00 On motion by Spencer and Haig, the assessment was lowered to $400 same as last year.

George Jones(George street property, assessed for $650. This appeal was left until next meeting, as the court of revision adjourned to Monday, May 9th at 7.30 p.m. On motion by Leeson and Spencer, when a special meeting will be held to conclude the appeals before the courts. The income tax appeals will be heard then.

A. A. Bain, a representative from the head office of the Globe Indemnity Co. of Canada, addressed the council with reference to a special line of insurance which he claimed ninety per cent. of the municipalities carried. Every municipality is responsible for the condition of its streets and bridges and the insurance offers protection up to $10,000 for a premium of $100 a year against claims for personal injuries resulting from accidents from traffic, dangerous places in the sidewalk, ice and snow, etc.

On motion by Leeson and Gordon Mr. Bain was authorized to send policy on thirty days' approval for study, to be either taken out or sent back at the expiration of the above time.

On motion by Gordon and Spencer, the clerk was instructed to order a barrel of soda for use in the fire engine.

A discussion took place re engaging an engineer for supervision of work which the council intends to have done on the main drain in the near future. Nothing definite was done in the matter.

On motion by Leeson and Spencer the clerk was authorized to order a one-team grader for work on the streets, the cost to be around $130.

Council adjourned to meet Monday evening, May 9th, at 7.30 p.m.

HOBO DIGS UP FARE

DENVER, Col., May 4.—The hobo has become a source of considerable revenue to at least one railroad in the United States. The Denver and Rio Grande Western collects about $20,000 from them every year for rides they steal. Special agents inspect each passenger and freight train and herd their captives to the ticket window. It means either jail or a ticket—so they usually pay.

SETS HIS OWN LEG.

MT. VERNON, N.Y., May 4.—Answering a summons for jury duty, John Armour limped into court fifteen minutes late and was severely reprimanded by the judge. He explained that he had been hit by an automobile and had broken his leg. To offers of sympathy, he asked for adhesive tape rolled up his trouser leg and bandaged the fractured limb. It was a wooden one.

During the last three centuries, 190,000 persons have lost their lives through volcanic eruptions, 176,500 of these fatalities being in the Pacific area.

Annual Sucker Hunt Held By Westwood Folk

WESTWOOD, May 4.—The annual Westwood sucker hunt was held on Monday, May 2, at Welbeck, the home of W. J. Brackenridge. There was a large crowd of people from the various surrounding villages and townships, their number being roughly estimated at five hundred.

The suckers, as usual, were large and plentiful, and everyone went home with his desired number of sacks filled.

The ptarmigan, snow bunting and dotterel are the only birds that make their homes in the High Tops, as the Alpine country of Scotland is called.

GRAY CLAIMS HE REFUSED TO AID WOMAN

Secured Information About Poisons For Her But Declined Active Part.

WAS SLAVE TO LOVE.

In Condition of Helpless Submission at Time of Killing.

NEW YORK, May 4 (Canadian Press).—Henry Judd Gray secured information about Lethal poisons for Mrs. Ruth Snyder, his co-defendant, on the charge of murdering Albert Snyder, he testified to-day, but when she suggested his active participation in the murder of her husband he refused.

Under direct examination in his defence he said she had asked him to shoot Snyder after her attempts with poison and gas had failed and he told her, "You will have to see this thing through alone."

He admitted that he once promised Mrs. Snyder to help her obtain poison to kill her husband.

During his recital he seemed to be struggling with a lump in his throat and at times sighed deeply. Mrs. Snyder sat with her head bowed low but she did not cry.

Gray said that after she had told him of her domestic troubles he urged a divorce but she said that was not the way out. He told of a motor trip to Newark, Kingston, Albany, Troy, and Amsterdam, and declared that her love-making was so aggressive that he became to all intents a slave to love.

It was in this condition of helpless submission that Gray's counsel says the corset salesman was at the time of the killing.

At Amsterdam, said Gray, Mrs. Snyder learned by telephone that her husband was ill. He said he suggested that she return home, but she replied, "Let the old crab die."

REPORT RECEIVED FROM PRESIDENT

Mrs. Parnall Tells Queen Alexandra Branch About Convention.

The regular monthly meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association was held on Monday evening, with the honorary vice-president, Mrs. H. G. Walker, in the chair.

Routine business was attended to and announcement made of a paper collection to be held shortly by the children of the school. A donation of $10 was made to the Well Babies' Clinic, and it was reported that Mrs. H. Tremaine has the visiting committee well organized. Letters from the Kiwanis Club were read, asking the assistance of the society in the Clean-Up Campaign. An excellent report of the recent convention in Toronto of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations was given by the president, Mrs. R. Parnall. Solos by Miss Helen Mulligan, with accompaniments by Mrs. S. Purdy, were much enjoyed. The banner was again won by Mr. F. H. Dearborn's room.

WARSHIPS FIRED ON.

SHANGHAI, May 4. — Canadian Press. — Indiscriminate firing on British warships on the Yangtse river continues. The gunboat 'Cockchafer' was under rifle fire to-day near Nanking, while convoying steamers, but there were no casualties. The destroyer 'Wanderer' was fired on at Kiangyin, and a member of the crew injured. Both warships returned the fire.

The early Romans at first had only one name, later three, called praenomen, nomen and cognomen.

OFFICERS PAID FOR WATCHING

Would Warn U. S. Bootleggers If Any Information on Detroit Side.

NO LOSS TO CANADA.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 4 (Canadian Press)—Robert J. Calderwood, former Customs officer, told the Royal Customs Commission this morning that Canadian Customs officers on duty at the Windsor-Detroit ferry accepted money from drivers of United States cars containing liquor. He admitted that he had accepted money himself and that for a time he acted as a sort of distributor of the cash collected. The money was paid in 1924 and the witness said he did not think the practice continued beyond 1925.

"It was going on when I joined and I just butted in on it," Mr. Calderwood said.

"What did you do for the money?" asked counsel.

Paid for Warnings

The witness explained that the money was paid to him and his associates for telling the drivers of the cars if there was any information against them on the Detroit side of the river.

"I figured that I was not defrauding the revenue in any way, so there didn't seem to be anything wrong in it," said the witness.

"How much did you get?" Mr. Calderwood said that the amount received was ten dollars a car.

"I received about three payments," W. J. Lafferty, Customs officer informed the Commission. Mr. Lafferty said he had been transferred from the ferry to the river front, but he had never taken any money after leaving the ferry, though it had been offered to him.

"Who offered it to you?" "Harry Lowe."

This money was to be paid to him if he permitted empty beer kegs to come in without reporting them.

Causing Inconvenience

The witness said W. M. Egan called him to his office and told him that he (Lafferty) was causing "inconvenience" to some of his friends who wanted to take liquor over to the United States.

Egan, he said, introduced him to David Caplan, who told him he was paying money for information in regard to liquor cars going across and "told me to get in on it." "I didn't make any decision at that time," he said. Later, however, he said, he had accepted three payments. "Then I applied to be removed from the ferry to the river front." Mr. Dalzell had refused to transfer him, the witness stated.

GIRL'S STATEMENT IS NOT ADMITTED

TORONTO, May 4 (Canadian Press).—In the trial of Dr. O. C. J. Withrow and Bartlett J. Brooks for manslaughter in connection with the death of Ruth Dembner, Mr. Justice Logie to-day ruled out as not admissable the sworn statement taken from the girl forty minutes before she died in hospital at Gravenhurst on February 19. The Judge ruled the so-called "dying declaration" out because it was not shown that Ruth Dembner was going to die, and he held that such a declaration should not be taken unless made by a person who had abandoned hope of life.

The declaration of Miss Dembner had been admitted at the inquest and also at the preliminary enquiry in the Police Court.

Much evidence was taken, with the jury absent, as to the circumstances surrounding the taking of the statement, care being taken to avoid any mention of what was actually in the declaration.

Wheat Prices Go Down After Opening Strong

CHICAGO, May 4. — (Canadian Press).—Wheat re-acted to-day after an early advance. Unexpected strength at Liverpool, further big export business, and persistent adverse weather conditions north-west led to initial gains, but profit-taking on the part of holders, together with increased speculative selling, followed soon. Opening unchanged to 7-8 cent higher. Wheat subsequently receded all around to below yesterday's finish. Corn and oats also turned easier, corn starting unchanged to 3-8c up and later showing declines. Provisions were firm.

New York Market Rallies Because Of Short Covering

NEW YORK, May 4.— (Canadian Press.)— Constructive forces were again at work in to-day's stock market, which rallied briskly on the urgent retreat of an overcrowded short interest. Except for the lowering of the call money renewal rate to four per cent, there was nothing in the day's news to influence the price movement, which seemed to be governed by conditions within the market itself. Steel shares held relatively steady, Colorado Fuel mounting to the highest price in twenty-five years.

Short covering was particularly heavy in oils, many of which rallied one to nearly four points. Paige Detroit Motors was bid up to a new high, coincident with the announcement that Graham Brothers had acquired a controlling interest in the company. Chandler and some of the other low priced motors also were strong. Buying of the rails embraced both the seasoned dividend paying and the speculative issues.

Mine Trading Moderate After Recent Activity

TORONTO, May 4. Canadian Press —Business on the Standard mining exchange to-day was only moderate, the heavy dealing of the past few days being absent. Osisko, which has been gaining steadily for some days, suffered a relapse of 15c at 70 to-day, while Noranda was also down 10 at 22.35. Argonaut Consolidated dropped ½ at 47. Chaput Hughes lost ½ at 12. Columbus Kirk gained 3-8 at 4 7-8, and Consolidated West Dome Lake lost 3-8 at 8 5-8. Corona joined the weaker isues with a recession at 1¼ at 10. Duprat was down ¼ at 10. Stadacona was up ½ at 19, while Teck Hughes registered a gain of 19c at 7.25. Vipond Consolidated was also one higher at 122.

Toronto Market Session This Morning Very Active

TORONTO, May 4 (Canadian Press).—Starting the day's session slowly, business on the Toronto Stock Exchange gathered momentum, and at noon traders adjourned for luncheon after a hectic session. Five or six issues bore the brunt of attacks, International Milling, Seagrams, Central Manitoba Mines, Hiram Walkers, McKinnon Voting Trust, and Page Hersey being particularly heavily dealt in. International Milling gained 1 1-8 at 59¼ after nearly seven thousand shares had changed hands. Seagrams remained unchanged at 25½, Manitoba Mines lost two at 146, Walkers gained 1-8 at 48 3-8, McKinnon held firm at 22½, after dropping to 18½, and Page Hersey Common and Preferred each gained one point, the former at 69 and the latter at 137. On the mining section, Kirkland Lake gained one at 137, while Noranda dropped twenty cents at 22.30. British American Oil, New, was 1-8 higher at 27⅞. Imperial Oil was down ¼ at 44¼.

VALUE OF, ETC.

public. Also, on these occasions, it is our duty to consider what we are failing to do, and what we might possibly do, in the interests of both. From my experience gained through attendance at practically all our meetings during the past years I have no fear that the members will refuse to commend the good work that has been done, nor that they will lack in frankness of criticism concerning anything with which they are not in accord. Our association has become a very large influence, both in its relation to our individual lives as publishers and in its influence upon the public and community life of our country, and it is therefore our duty to carefully consider its various activities and to make the most of its possibilities.

Strenuous Political Year.

"The past year has been one of much newspaper activity. Immediately following our last annual meeting, the parliamentary session at Ottawa witnessed a political crisis of peculiar intensity. This was followed by a change in government and a subsequent appeal to the electorate under circumstances which, from our point of view as newspapers, were quite without parallel in our history. There followed a short and strenuous campaign, with another change in government resulting from the verdict at the polls, and the political situation did not become clarified until toward the end of the year.

"It is surely a tribute to this organization that throughout those six months of political turmoil the work of The Canadian Press in reporting the sessions of parliament, in covering the political campaign and in collecting the returns was taken quite as a matter of course by its member newspapers including all phases of political thought. The confidence in the integrity and impartiality of our service was, I think, justified by the results. Apart from the slight inaccuracies that result from condensation of public utterances we got through this period without complaint or criticism, and it is not too much to say that the reading public of Canada has now come to egard the reports of The Canadian Press with entire confidence in their completeness and fairness.

"It is well that we should remind ourselves frequently of the dignity and importance of our mutual news-gathering enterprise. We realize, as we examine the operation of our offices, its increasing value to us both as an insurance of coverage and as an economy in service. Year by year The Canadian Press is extending its scope, increasing its facilities, and taking on duties of reporting which previously had to be covered individually, and this additional work is being done without any increase in the cost of our operations at all commensurate with the increase in usefulness and service.

Canadian Press Means Much.

"Especially, however, should the people of Canada realize what The Canadian Press means to them. Through it they receive the world's news with a rapidity and accuracy not surpassed by any existing organization. They are also put intimately in touch with every part of their own country, so that news of Canada is reported for Canadians as it never was before and as perhaps the news of no other country is reported for its own people. But particularly is The Canadian Press of inestimable value to the people of Canada in that through it their sessions of parliament, their legislatures, public bodies and great occasions, however contentious they may be, are reported with a clearness and impartiality that assures to the reading public unbiased truth concerning all such events. Nothing in the life of a country could be more important than this fact, and therefore nothing can be more important than our duty to maintain the high standard of our association and to increase its activities and extend its usefulness with courage as well as discretion.

"The news report of the management tells of the chief news events of the past year. I may, however, be permitted to refer to and commend the report of the Imperial conference made by Mr. Hambleton, superintendent of our Ottawa bureau. This report reflected great credit on The Canadian Press. Also, may I refer to the work done by Mr. Champion, our London manager, in connection with the Labrador award. Mr. Champion was honored with the thanks of the Lord Chancellor and the board of the Privy council for the accuracy and completeness with which he reported this controversy. I would call your attention also to the establishment of a resident Washington correspondent in the person of Mr. Aldham, and I think you will agree that already the results have justified the management in understanding this new enterprise.

"In this connection, and indeed in others, your management would like to express its pleasure at the continuance of our mutual relations with our great ally, The Associated Press. Your general manager was the guest of its board of directors a few days ago and received from its president, Mr. Noyes, as well as from the board generally every assurance of their desire for still closer co-operation. The Canadian Press looks back with gratitude to the personal kindness of Melville E. Stone in its early days and cherishes its close relationship with that great news-gathering organization.

By-law Amendments.

"Several amendments to our existing by-laws will be submitted for your consideration some of them being intended to clarify the meaning of existing by-laws and some of them proposing changes in our existing status. I am sure they will receive your careful attention.

"Speaking as president I would like very much to express my thanks to Mr. John Scott our first vice-president for his unremitting co-operation during the past year. He has never failed in readiness to assist the management and myself. I would also like to speak of our honored friend and honorary president Mr. E. H. Macklin who has as usual given much attention to the affairs of our association especially in Western Canada. You join with me, I am sure, in deep regret at the death of our second vice-president, Mr. F. B. Ellis, which occurred last winter, and you are aware that, on his resignation at our October meeting, in his place the board elected Mr. Henri Gagnon of Quebec. It has been a pleasure to work thus closely with Mr. Gagnon, and although we realize that this office belongs by tradition to our Maritime division, it is none the less honored by Mr. Gagnon's present tenure.

"It is my duty as well as my pleasure to express my deep appreciation of the work of your general manager, Mr. J. F. B. Livesay, of his district superintendents, traffic officials and staff. The year has been a busy one in many respects but nobody in the organization from coast to coast has let us down on a single occasion. Mr. Livesay is to be congratulated, especially upon the improving condition of our finances, which is due in great measure to his constant care.

"The past twelve months have been reasonably prosperous to your organization and the seas about it are more calm than they were last year. I think we may look forward to a prosperous year to come and to increasing usefulness in our service. I have endeavored to gather impressions from our members in various parts of Canada concerning the general business position of our country, and am glad to say that from every province come reports of increasing trade and signs of increasing prosperity. The daily newspapers of Canada will do their share to confirm the confidence and encourage the energies of our people, believing as they do that our Dominion has turned the corner and is now steadily on its way toward great events and a great history."

All parts of the Dominion were well represented, the following being present from Eastern Ontario:

G. A. Disher, Ottawa Evening Citizen; E. Norman Smith, Ottawa Evening Journal; W. A. Moore, Brockville Recorder and Times; George H. Wilson, Lindsay Post; A. R. Alloway, Oshawa Reformer; R. M. Glover, Peterborough Examiner.

BIRTHDAY PRESENT FOR SEYMOUR MAN

Samuel Buchanan Honored By Children on 75th Birthday.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 4—On Friday evening, Mr. Samuel Buchanan was given a pleasant surprise when his children and grandchildren gathered at his home to celebrate with him, his seventy-fifth birthday. When the guests were all gathered together the following address was read by his granddaughter, Mrs. Donald McMullen of Campbellford:

"Dear Father:

"We, your children, grandchildren, friends and neighbors have all gathered here tonight to celebrate your birthday. As you are seventy-five today we though we should not let this opportunity pass by without remembering you in some tangible way, therefore we ask you to accept this small token (a ring engraved with the emblem of the Orange Order), not for its value, but for a long remembrance, and we expect to see you wearing it and not putting it away for a keepsake. You have spent many years among us and we all hope and trust you will be long spared to spend many more years with us all."

Signed on behalf of your children and grandchildren.

Mr. Buchanan, although greatly taken by surprise, responded to the presentation in a few well-chosen words, thanking all present for their kindness and thoughtfulness in making him this gift. The remainder of the evening was spent socially.

HOPE TO DEVELOP EUROPEAN MARKET

Hon. James Malcolm Plans Extensive Advertising Campaign on Continent.

OTTAWA, May 4.— When Hon Jas. Malcolm sails for England next week, one of his primary objects will be to establish in the United Kingdom methods for pushing Canadian goods in a market for which Australia and New Zealand are proving formidable contenders. In the last 12 months Canadian export trade has somewhat declined, while that of the other dominions with the Mother Country has been sustained. The latter, by advertising in various ways, are supplementing the empire marketing plan, and it is the idea of the Canadian minister that Canada smhould follow suit.

To that end $100,00 has been appropriated. It is planned not only to exhibit and advertise Canadian products generally, but to co-operate with Canadian producers and the big distributing houses overseas in pushing the sale of Canadian products and manufacturers. It realized that in such methods the southern dominions are now in advance of Canada.

WILL APPEAR BEFORE BOARD

gage in connection with which he had collected some money for Mr. Egan.

Difference in Price.

Mr. Landriau was followed on the stand by Onesime Paquette, a liquor export dealer. Mr. Paquette said he acts as the agent here for an American dealer called Clymer. He was asked the difference between the price which Clymer paid for the liquor and what he sold it at.

"It might be two or three dollars," he said.

"You don't do business on that cheap scale," commented Mr. Rowell.

"Sometimes we do it for less than that."

Mr. Paquette said that he had done business with Mr. Clymer for about a year and a half. Mr. Rowell asked him a number of questions in regard to various bank accounts of the witness which have been locked up by the auditors. Then he asked if Mr. Clymer had put in an income tax return.

"I couldn't say" was the reply of the witness.

"Did you put in your own?" asked Mr. Rowell.

Mr. Paquette replied that he had made a practice of doing so but he had omitted doing it this year thus far. He added that he was going to put it in. That his business was quite extensive Mr. Rowell indicated to the commission.

$3,000 Bonus.

David Caplan, another liquor export agent, gave some interesting figures about the mode adopted in paying him. He said he worked for M. Green of Detroit.

"How are you paid?" asked counsel.

"I am paid a salary and a bonus at the end of the year," was the reply. "The first year I worked for him I was paid $40 a week and my bonus amounted to $3000. The second year I got $65 a week and a bonus of $8000."

"You can have your wages if you'll give me your bonus," remarked the chief commissioner.

"That's what I'm after—my bonus," was the retort.

There was a laugh.

Further evidence was taken from C. A. Savard of Detroit.

Calculating from figures submitted by him, Mr. Rowell estimated that the profits on his liquor transactions with Mr. Harold Massey of Detroit, would be in the neighborhood of about $280,000 a year. This was figuring on the basis of 96,000 cases handled.

"Did you ever pay anything to Mr. Egan?" counsel asked him.

"No."

Mr. Savard said that Mr. Massey to whom he exports liquor, was not at his house in Detroit now.

"Did you ever make any payments to customs officers?" asked Mr. Rowell.

"No."

"To officers on this side of the river?"

"No."

"Ever make any presents?"

"No."

Mr. Rowell then called J. Bannon, who also deals in liquor.

"I find you have 100 customers for strong liquors," he told Mr. Bannon. He then produced a list. "There are some quite interesting names on the list," he said with a smile, handing the list up to the commissioners. The names were not made public.

Sam Harris, still another dealer in export liquor stated that he got his supplies from Gooderham & Worts, Hiram Walker & Sons, and the Western exporters. His United States consignee he gave as S. Benton. Some liquor had come from the Quebec Liquor Commission.

"Do you mean to say that you bought liquor in large quantities from the Quebec Liquor Commission?" asked Commisioner Wright.

"No," was the reply. "The people who supplied it had picked the liquor up bottle by bottle from stores."

The witness said his business ran from $150,000 to $175,000 a month."

"Would it run to $2,000,000 a year?" asked Mr. Rowell.

"Yes, I think it would."

"Has Mr. Benton made an income tax return?"

"No, sir."

"Have you made one?"

The witness said that he had.

Lowe on Stand.

Harry Lowe, vice-president of Carling's brewery, and an agent for liquor exports, was the last witness of the day. He was asked to explain a company known as the Wayne Products' Company. He said that it was formed while he was away, and he knew very little about it.

"Are these companies the successors of the Mexican Export Company?" asked the chief commissioner.

"No."

"These companies have as many aliases as the men in them," remarked Mr. Rowell.

"I wouldn't say that," Mr. Lowe replied.

The commission adjourned until to-day.

WARSAW, May 4.—The United Church Ladies' Aid held its regular meeting on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Roland Payne entertained the ladies. There was practically no business but the president had prepared a special Easter programme.

Mrs. Gordon Payne read the story as recorded by St. Luke. Mrs. Weller read an article on the "First Easter in Canada", Miss Viola Payne recited twice, Miss Willa Darling gave two piano solos, Mesdames David Taylor and Stuart Clysdale sang "Trust in Jesus," Mrs. Robert Matthews gave a very interesting talk on her winter spent in Los Angeles, and the trip there and back. She showed a number of beautiful shells which she had gotten there.

The hymns sung were Easter ones. At the close the hostess served a delicious lunch.

U.S. FILM INSULT SENATOR ASSERTS

Combats Evidence Given By Movie Leader Before Australian Board.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., May 4 (United Press).—Combating the evidence of W. A. Gibson, one of the most prominent figures in the Australian moving picture industry, before the Commonwealth Film Inquiry Board, Senator Guthrie described Mr. Gibson's views as regards the Americanization of Australia through the medium of the movies as lamentable, and declared that such pictures as "The Big Parade," before being censored, were an insult to every Australian soldier. The Senator further asserted that movie controllers here were exhibiting every war picture they could lay their hands on before showing the British film, "Mons," in order to sicken the public of war pictures.

That an American company situated in Australia had offered a record price for this "Mons" film so as to be able to hold it back until after "The Big Parade," was another of Senator Guthrie's declarations. Testifying several days ago, Mr. Gibson had given it as his opinion that the alleged Americanization of Australia wasn't doing any harm as Americans were a pretty live people.

Sinister planetary aspects rule to-day, according to astrology. It is a time to be calm and to avoid all impulsive action.

Mars is in threatening aspect and there is a sign indicating influences that encourage bad judgment and ill-advised policies.

War will be much discussed all through the summer, the seers prophesy and they predict for the military training camps tremendous popularity.

World agitation will be manifested in the United States by labor unrest and even industrial troubles, which probably will not develop into serious crises.

France may be especially susceptible to revolutionary propaganda all this month and there may be new prejudices against other nations.

Paris is to be greatly benefitted by the volume of American travel in the coming summer when tourists will encounter adventures not on their list of sightseeing thrills, the seers prophesy.

Warning has been given repeatedly in the last few months that many epidemics would start on land and sea. The summer should be a time when the utmost precautions in sanitation should be taken.

Crime will continue to be prevalent in the coming months; one will be committed which will shock the whole world.

Southern France, Jugo-Slavia and Italy are all subject to sinister planetary rule, a fact that will account for much that is disturbing to the whole world, astrologers declare.

Texas and states bordering Lake Superior may experience unusual conditions of weather and there is likely to be more than one sensation as the summer advances.

Interest in all sorts of sports will increase greatly at this time when there will be new records made in athletics.

Secret organizations of many sorts are to flourish at this time when there will be many mysterious movements among the people.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of many changes in the coming year. A great enterprise may enlist interest and a removal is probable.

Children born on this day probably will experience extremes of fortune. They are capable of attaining the heights of success.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Faith's white face quivered as if Banning's words had struck it like the blow of a vicious palm. Before she could frame an answer, Churchill had sprung to her assistance with an angry objection and the district attorney was forced to separate and rephrase the double-barreled question.

"Well, let's put it this way, Miss Faith: you knew—that is, your sister had told you, had she not, that she loathed the idea of marriage with an old man?"

"Yes," Faith answered with unequivocal honesty.

"Her only reason for marrying him was that he was rich, was it not?" Banning persisted pitilessly.

"He was kind and good and he adored her, in addition to his being rich," Faith answered in a low voice.

"Your sister had threatened to break the engagement, had she not?"

"She had, and I pleaded with her to do so, as did my father and mother," Faith replied without rancour.

"That is all, Miss Faith—and thank you," Banning released the witness with a bow and a smile that he tried to make sympathetic and kindly.

Churchill's manner, as he approached Faith, was that of a father toward a beloved child.

"Faith, the district attorney has asked you if your sister did not hate Mr. Cluny. Will you tell the jury what you know, from conversations with your sister while she was engaged to Mr. Cluny, about her feelings and attitude toward him?"

"She respected him and admired him and liked him," Faith answered slowly.

"She told you so?" Churchill drove his point home.

"Many times," Faith replied positively.

"You have testified that Cherry talked of breaking her engagement. Will you tell the jury the reasons, as she gave them to you?"

"Her sole objection to him was that he was so much older than she."

"Will you tell the jury, if you know the reason, that is, if Cherry confided the reason to you, why she did not break the engagement before the very day of the wedding?" Churchill asked in a gentle, persuasive voice.

"She intended to go through with the marriage so that she would be safe from the danger of marrying Chris Wiley," Faith answered bravely, her face flushing richly, but her eyes fixed steadily on her sister's lawyer.

He asked her only one more question before dismissing her:

"Faith, you have told Mr. Banning and the jury that your sister's note was weighted down with the jewels which Mr. Cluny had given her and that her fur coat, her going away costume, her expensive wedding dress, and other clothes that Mr. Cluny had paid for, with the exception of that part of her wardrobe which was packed in trunks to which Mr. Cluny held the checks, were left behind in her room when she ran away to marry Christopher Wiley. Will you tell the jury if Cherry took any article or garment which had been given her by her fiance?"

"She took nothing but her engagement ring," Faith answered with a flash of pride in her fine brown eyes.

Churchill smiled broadly at the jury, as if to remind them that the engagement ring had been returned to Ralph Cluny and that the maid, Mary Kearney, the state's star witness, had confessed on the stand to having stolen it.

BEAUTY HINTS

By HEDDA HOYT
(United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK, May 4.—(United Press).—Every woman should be an artist. Dame Nature gives her portion of human clay to work with and its up to her to turn out an improvement upon nature. The secret of transforming a plain woman into an attractive one is merely the A.B.C. work of an artist. In simple words, the artist molds and cleans his surfaces before splashing on his paint. And after painting, he blends.

The human body is the clay which woman has to start with. Fortunately for all of us, Dame Nature has seen to it that no one shall have a monopoly upon beauty. Beautiful bodies are seldom attached to beautiful heads and vice versa. One is extremely fortunate if one owns a passable figure and a passable face.

Let us begin as the artist does, by molding our clay. Faulty carriage is easily corrected. Excess weight can be reduced by correct diet and plenty of exercise. That takes care of the figure. As for the face, cultivate a happy facial expression. There's more beauty in the ugliest smile than there is in the prettiest scowl. Kindly eyes and a sweet smile brighten up any visage. They're easy to cultivate.

Next, let us clean our surfaces before applying our war-paint. Hair freshly brushed and glistening, white teeth, well-kept fingernails, bright eyes and clean complexions get us lined up ready for the color process. Color, you know, is the last thing to consider. Beauty is something you love to look upon and grease mixed with carmen is not beautiful unless it covers something beautiful, or at least, something expressing beauty. Unbeautiful features are forgotten if the hair, teeth, eyes and complexion have a healthy appearance.

Creams for toning the skin must be applied daily if rouge or powder is to be employed. After a thin layer of cream, powder and rouge and the lipstick may add the finishing touches. A clean powder puff should be finally used to blend the line between rouge and white powder. This should even be brushed lightly over the rouged lips as make-up should not be apparent. After the make-up don't forget that the main thing is the intelligent and happy facial expressions.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Selected for office wear by a practical business woman—this frock of brown crepe de chine with neck bound with tan linen and a bow of linen.

There is no dress that must be chosen with such care as the one that is to be worn to business. Dressmakers may design new modes with an idea first of suiting the needs of the fashionable woman of more or less leisure who may make several changes during the course of a day—but they know full well that much of their ultimate profit and success comes from making fashions that appeal to the woman whose devotion to business makes necessary a more versatile type of garment.

For these women it is not enough to have a dress that appears well when one is walking in the street, driving in one's motor car and spending an hour or so at a restaurant over luncheon or tea. Added to such smartness the business women's dress must be good for seven or eight hours' uninterrupted wearing in office or shop beside.

Some business women have eliminated the two-piece tailored suit as unsuitable for their requirements because, though it makes a smart street costume when worn with the jacket, it is less attractive when worn sans jacket with blouse entirely revealed. And this prejudice seems to persist despite the fact that a decade and more ago the shirtwaist and skirt was considered the ideal costume for the business woman during office hours.

After all is said and done there really is no sort of frock more suitable for most business women during warm days of spring and summer than the one-piece frock made of crepe de chine or other light-weight silk. Dark colors are usually best since it is only through good fortune that one can wear pastel colors eight hours at business without some signs of office grime. Detachable cuffs and collars of organdie or other washable material are well chosen, since they impart an air of freshness and can, without much difficulty, be frequently laundered or renewed.

The frock shown is of brown crepe de chine, with the V-neck finished with a detachable binding of tan linen that also forms a bow at the front and pipings for the cuffs.

DESCENDANTS OF ACADIANS DRIVEN FROM HOME AGAIN

Floods, Not Wars, Being Third Expulsion in Their History.

FROM LOUISIANA.

Flight Resembles Withdrawal of People of Northern France in 1914.

BY BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Writer.
(Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

NEW ORLEANS, May 4.—The exile of the Acadians has been re-enacted. Fate has repeated its cruel trick of two centuries ago. The people of Evangeline and Gabriel once more have had to bid their homes goodby and taken up the heart-breaking trail to the land of strangers.

When a mighty charge of dynamite ripped open the great levee between Poydras and Braithwaite, 15 miles south of New Orleans, and sent the flooded Mississippi boiling and swirling over the green fields and pleasant homes of St. Bernard and Plaquemines parishes, the Acadians were made homeless again.

For those two parishes were peopled largely by French-speaking descendants of the Nova Scotians whom the British removed by force from their northern homeland more than 200 years ago at the request of the people of Boston—the people about whom Longfellow wrote his immortal poem, "Evangeline."

History has repeated itself.

But whereas the first migration was caused by the wars of British against French, the second came as a result of the war of man against nature. The levee was dynamited so that New Orleans might be saved. The Acadians were in the way. They had to go—and leave to the destruction of the flood the homes they and their fathers had inhabited for many generations.

Prior to the destruction of the levee the exodus of the Acadians went on. It was a tragic sight; a sight to be compared with the frightened flight of French peasants in 1914 before the advance of the field gray armies of Von Moltke.

The Modern Acadia.

Five thousand people lived in this modern Acadia. The two parishes they occupied were well worthy of the name, Acadia. Homes were banked with bright flowers of blue and gold and crimson and creamy-white, such as a Louisiana spring brings borth in abundance. Their fields were green with sprouting corn. The orderly little gardens of the truck farmers were prolific with early vegetables for the big cities to the north. On the horizon was the flat, sodded line of the levee—the great earthen wall that held back the Mississippi and enabled the Acadians to live in peace.

Then came Governor O. H. Simpson's order to dynamite the levee. Suddenly the Acadians realized that this dreamy peace was a delusion. The exodus began.

And on Friday the blast was set off, and the modern Acadia was replaced by a dreary, slate-colored sea, turbulent and desolate, as the Mississippi broke through Lake Belery, down Bayou Terre aux Boeufs and through Breton Sound to the Gulf of Mexico.

Their Stoic Attitude.

Through all this the Acadians have complained very little. Perhaps the stoic ability to endure exile was bred in their bones by the forced migration from the northland, years ago. At all events, they bore their march to New Orleans with heroic spirits and Gallic gallantry.

The roads from St. Bernard and Plaquemines parishes to New Orleans were jammed for days. Companies of soldiers patrolled towns and farm lands, superintending the migration. Here and there in the crowds gleamed the blue uniform of New Orleans policemen, loaned by the city to the parish sheriffs. Clouds of dust went up from every road endlessly, to hang over the landscape like a pall, as seemingly endless streams of people made their way northward.

Flocks and herds accompanied the crowds. Men and women and little children, uncomplaining, trudged along the weary miles in the choking dust—dust raised by countless feet, by droves of cattle and sheep, by horses, by steel-shod wheels of lumbering farm wagons, by the rubber tires of great auto trucks.

On the other side of the levee the river swirled and foamed. It seemed to chuckle wickedly against pilings and wharves as though it knew that its long threat against the people of the delta was about to be made good.

The Chickens and Ducks Protest.

Day and night the stream of refugees poured northwest. Above the slatted sides of motor trucks stove pipes canted crazily, beds and bedding, tables and toys, clothing and furniture, rolled mattresses, tables—all, the curious collection of goods that go to make up a household's furniture—filled the strange loads that moved so incongruously beneath the blue sky.

Truckloads of chickens and ducks, loud with vocal protest agianst this sudden uprooting, moved in the procession. Ancient wagons drawn by oxen and mules were sandwiched in between motor trucks and touring cars. One woman sat in a truck loaded solely with innumerable potted plants and flowers.

The tale of the exile from Acadia was a household legend in nearly every home, handed down by word of mouth for generations; to it had been added the story of 1814, when the Acadians fled north before General Pankenham and the British troops, to return after Andrew Jackson's Kentucky riflemen had repelled the red-coated files. There was a Gallic, effervescing philosophy to sustain these people, bred in the bone by a tradition of exile, and it worked nobly.

Telling the Parrot About It.

An old, old man rode by astride a wobbly colt.

"Hola, mon vieux, tu es cavalier maintenant, n'est ce pas?" ("Hello, old chap, you are a horseman now, is it not so?") cried passers-by. His dust-stained, tired face lighted up in a smile. Another man rode by—a veritable knight-errant of old in ragged modern costume. On his wrist perched a huge parrot, resplendent in plumage of scarlet, gold and green. To the parrot the man retailed an endless story of the sights they would see in New Orleans.

Farm wagons and carryalls loaded with green vegetables dotted the procession, marking the migration of certain thrifty souls who refused to leave their first crops to the flood. Barefooted boys, hugely enjoying the upheaval, trotted up and down the line beating calves and lambs back into the procession. A constant babble of voices—French, Spanish, English and a host of intermediate dialects—arose from the roads with the dust.

But the refugees, huddling in improvised shelter in New Orleans, do not complain nearly as much as one would expect from those who have made such a great sacrifice.

The endurance of exile is bred in their bones.

Make Periodical Visits To Doctor

LIKE every other piece of machinery, the human mechanism requires careful examination from time to time. Periodical visits to your physician may mean a sacrifice of both time and money, but it is warranted. When we are feeling well, it is difficult to realize the advisability or the necessity of consulting a physician, but even when we seem well, very often we may be in the initial stages of some serious disease. Take, for instance, one of the most dreaded maladies—cancer. In the course of this disease, the symptoms do not become evident until the growth is well advanced. Up to the present date, science has found no cure for cancer except operation when it is still in the early stages. Many people have a foolish aversion to visiting a physician less they learn they have a diseased condition, but the only way to be sure that there is no abnormal condition present is to undergo a thorough physical examination. We should realize that if there is a disease present its progress will not be checked by remaining away from the doctor. It is impossible to run away from a fact. With the knowledge that many serious diseases may be cured if discovered in time all should resolve to make periodical health examinations part of their religion.

Their Happiness brings good digestion

Children hail with glee the meal that starts with Puffed Rice. They love the nutlike flavour and the crunchy crispness. They "chew their food" when Puffed Rice is served.

Their very happiness aids digestion. The stomach greets Puffed Rice because Puffed Rice pleases the palate. More abundant nourishment is taken from other food eaten at the same time.

Good at any meal • • • or in between meals • • • after school, for instance, or before going to bed.

Serve with whole milk or cream. Then children won't need coaxing to take the amount of milk food they should have every day.

Puffed Wheat, too

Quaker Puffed Wheat is another cereal delight—grains of wheat exploded like the rice. Most mothers get a package each of the wheat and the rice, and thus supply variety to all the family.

WORKMEN TRY TO SAVE MATE

Victim of Gas and One Rescuer Brought Out Dead.

WERE ASPHYXIATED.

DETROIT, Mich., May 4. —Bodies of two laborers who were gassed and drowned in a 125-foot shaft on the site of the new Penobscot building, Griswold and West Fort Streets, were recovered yesterday afternoon after fellow workers and two patrolmen had risked their lives in the attempt.

It was a grim story of heroism that was enacted at one of the city's busiest corners, while thousands of persons hurried by unmindful of the tragedy. George Brill, 43, an engineer working as a laborer because of shortage of jobs was overcome at the bottom of the 125-foot shaft, where he had gone to repair an air pulsometer pump that was to keep the shaft free from water. Before he collapsed. Brill cried out for aid, V. Jorginsen, also employed on the job, heard Brill's cries and immediately went down in a bucket to rescue him. Jorginsen, too, was overcome by hydrogen-sulphide gas.

Police and firemen were rushed to the scene but were unsuccessful in attempts to recover the bodies. Then Patrolman Joseph Graham, of the Harbormaster's Division, volunteered to descend into the shaft. He wore a gas mask to which a fresh air hose was attached. At the bottom he found the two bodies and succeeded in placing ropes around them, but they could not be extricated because of the pump in the shaft. Graham was partially overcome by the strong gas and had to be pulled to the surface after having been down for 30 minutes. Patrolman Charles Lyons also tried to get the bodies out but failed.

Then a fellow-workman, J. H. Mulligan, 22, descended without a mask, and with aid of another workman loosened the bodies and they were brought to the surface.

As the Hydro-Electric Power Commission had stopped the operation of the street railway in Peterborough and the council was desirous of securing local transportation the mayor was requested to ask the commission to release the Border Cities Transit Company from their contract for the use of buses in this city, which we understand does not expire until May 20.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, poor college student, working as a dancing partner for rich women, falls in love with Sally Smith, a cigarette girl. She warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the roadhouse, who finds her "thrill" in "hunting" Bob, who, however, trusts her. She offers him free use of her secret apartment. Bob quarrels with Sally over the offer, and leaves in a huff to go to Mrs. Hammond. Repenting, he returns to Sally's house, only to find she has gone to a wild party with Mannion, a rival.

CHAPTER XV—Continued

At certain frequent intervals these more or less undraped living statues came magically to life, and displayed very good form as waitresses.

Mazie and her intimates of the regal circle of queen gold-diggers were the accredited dancing partners for the twelve best clubmen. But at more oft-recurring moments, as the party grew mellower and into a more friendly and informal mood, one or more of the twelve best clubmen would bubble over with uncontrollable democracy and playfulness, and grab one of the statues for a few frivolous steps.

Mazie, who was a most tolerant person where the idiosyncrasies of the twelve best bluebloods were concerned, would restore order invariably with her quaint and en-

"I never expected to meet a girl like you at Mazie's party!"

gaging little manner of prying the gay clubman loose from the coy statue, and saying, "Be yourself, J. Van Pierpont, or Mazie spank!" Should the exuberant member of the Twelve persist in his boyishness, Mazie would grow austere, and declare, "Another wise crack out of you, Mr. Sub-Treasury, and I'll pitch you out the window!"

After which the party proceeded hilariously, the ruffled statue rearranged her seventh and only remaining veil, and Mazie returned her solicitous attention to her other guests, notably Sally and Tom Mannion.

Poor little Sally Smith, for all her bird of paradise finery, had remained a timid canary, obviously out of her normal flight in this New York apartment aviary. Madame Leonine and Mazie, no doubt a bit conscience-stricken under their flinty shells for their part in helping to stack the cards against her, had tried their best to make her feel at home. But to no avail. She clung, affrighted, to Tom's arm; somewhat to that young man's annoyance, for he was itching to wander around a bit, and mix his dances with the statues.

But more than by any spirit of contrition, Mazie was actuated in her kindliness toward Sally by an astute realization of the impression the girl's virginal prettiness was making on the twelve best clubmen: in particular, on the best of the twelve best clubmen.

"Gosh, kid," Mazie found a chance to breathe into Sally's ear during an intermission in the revelry, "you've knocked old Arlington Aldrich cock-eyed. He's my latest all-day sucker, too; so I ought to be jealous, but I ain't. We cigarette girls, ex- and present, must stick together. Say, you know who Arlington Aldrich is, don't you?"

Sally nodded, wide-eyed, too scared to speak. Who, in fact, did not know who the great Arlington Aldrich was? The international banker, of a long line of bankers, whose financial house was the rock upon which the world's whole capitalistic structure was built—and a man so remote that he never submitted to newspaper interviews. Yet, here he was, in the flesh, at Mazie Revere's wild party! Sally's little combed-honey head swam with the marvel of it; and with the terrifying realization that he had been staring at her almost ever since she had arrived; staring good-humoredly, but with pointed interest.

"Of course, you do," said Mazie. "Well, he wants a special introduction to you. Get that, dearie? Ain't a girl in this country tonight but whose heart would jump up against her back teeth to have HIM ask to meet her!"

Sally could not answer as to how other girls' hearts would bump. But for her own part she was suffering a most decided knocking together of her dimpled little knees as she saw the great financier approaching.

"Arlington, meet my little friend, Miss Sally Smith. She's about the only cutie you'll ever meet here who won't ask you for a diamond bracelet a minute after she's said, 'Pleased to meet you!'"

Mazie laughed loudly at her own frank joke. As Mazie always did!

Arlington Aldrich, Esquire, refrained from giving his usual appreciative chuckle at Mazie's witticism. For Arlington Aldrich, at the imperious snap of whose finger the mints and vaults of all nations would open and reveal their stored bullion to his cold gaze, was thinking that he had never seen, could never hope to see, riches to compare with the golden wealth of little Sally Smith's hair, the blue treasure of her eyes.

Mazie marched Tom Mannion off to a gayer coterie in a corner.

Sally found herself, all of a flutter, and moving as one in an incredulous dream—from which she might expect to awaken any moment and learn that she had fallen out of bed—sauntering off to the roof garden conservatory of Mazie's top floor apartment, guided by the firm, strong hand that could sign a check for a nation's ransom without making a blot.

Found herself, presently, seated across a tiny wicker table from the great financier, while a living statue, temporarily not statuing, served them iced drinks in tall, thin tumblers.

Still in a daze, hardly knowing what she was doing, Sally mechanically raised her glass, against which Aldrich clinked his, and sipped the beverage. It was a sweetish, confusing drink. It burned her throat, gave her the sniffles, and made her feel suddenly warm. The lights and the murmuring night noises of Bagdad-on-the-Taxicab, twenty stories below, grew remoter.

Aldrich's face, big and hazy, like those grotesque close-ups in the movies where they wanted to register something fearsome, was moving over the table towards her. His lips were forming words that seemed to come out of the air, some place high above.

"I never expected to meet a girl like you at Mazie's party!" he declared.

"Oh, dear," remarked Sally quite irrelevantly, blinking at the indistinct face in front of her, "I don't think I should have taken that drink!"

"By jove," said the Big Face, which was curiously changing into moving panoramas of three, six and nine faces, "I really believe you've never had a drink before. This is no place for you," he laughed, in a way which meant that it was just the right place for her so long as he was there. "Why did you take that drink then, Miss?"

"Because," said Sally in her naive honesty, "I thought you wanted me to!"

Aldrich chuckled—the kind of a chuckle that sounds a warning in virtuous ears, even when the owner of the ears may be a bit beclouded. His faces gradually focused down to one face again as his eyes feasted upon the pure and lovely countenance and form of little Sally Smith. He leaned even closer, as he asked, with an overtone of amusement, and an undertone of intense eagerness.

"I wonder if you'd be quite as willing to do anything I asked you to do, little girl?"

Aldrich was not a man accustomed to the need of sounding out any human being, any girl especially, as to their readiness to humor his desires. He had always known full well that the magic of his name and financial power made every man eager to be his sycophant, every woman eager to be his darling. However, here was one woman about whom he could not feel any such assurance. The phenomenon interested, even thrilled him. She was such an altogether desirable little vixen, too! This fresh beauty, this unspoiled likeness to a flower, this innocence—Jove! she was worth a room full of Mazies!

It was drowsy and nice out here, and Sally felt that this great man's interest in her imposed upon her an unusual responsibility to be polite.

"Of course," she stated, a little thickly, but primly polite, "I'd try to do anything you wanted me to do, Mr. Aldrich."

GREAT TEMPLE IS DISCOVERED

Found in Capital of Early Sumerian Kings—5,000 Years Old.

VALUABLE FINDS.

CHICAGO, May 4.—The magnificent temple of the Earth Goddess of Harsagklemma, built some 5,000 years ago by the Sumerians, and restored about 2,500 years later by Nabonidus, King of Babylon, has been completely cleared by the Field Museum-Oxford University joint expedition to Mesopotamia, according to a report received by D. C. Davies, Director of the Field Museum, from I. C. Watelin, in charge of the excavation work.

The temple was dug up from the colossal ruins marking the site of what was known as Harsagklemma, the seat of the earliest Sumerian kings. These ruins, some five miles long, are in Eastern Kish. Karsagklemma is repeatedly mentioned in the cuneiform inscriptions as a twin city of Kish.

Mr. Watelin made a number of valuable finds which may help throw light on the civilization of the dim past. Included in his shipment of objects to the Field Museum are two Sumerian statuettes made of alabaster, one of them very old, and six bricks which formed the foundation box under the altar in the temple. In the box he found fragments of a statuette of unbaked earth. On one of the pieces is the face of a god holding a thin blade of gold. In the wall back of the box was found some gold beads and stone bead necklaces.

Unperturbed by the furor caused by his reply to Charles C. Marshall, New York city lawyer, in connection with his religious views as relating to his policy of government while a public office-holder, Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York spent Easter Sunday with his wife and son at Atlantic City, N.J. Here are the popular governor and Mrs. Smith strolling on the boardwalk at the New Jersey resort with their son Arthur.

As a result of Alfred E. Smith's declaration of political faith, published in a letter to the Atlantic Monthly, there seems no doubt that he will be the next Democratic candidate for the presidency of the United States. The objection, most frequently heard to "Al" Smith's candidature was that he is a Roman Catholic. In his statement the governor says there is no conflict between religious loyalty to the Catholic faith and patriotic loyalty to the United States. No opposition to Coolidge's candidature for the Republican party has as yet arisen, so political observers conclude that the race will be between the two. "Cal" is shown left and "Al" right.
